John Hewitt turned his attention to angling for trout last Friday afternoon. He handles the rod skillfully. —Three and four button kid gloves from 38 cents up, at Lyon & Co's. —The Bellefonte Band, under its new leader, Mr. W. H. Herr, gave a pleasant serenade on Monday evening last. —Mr. James Welch, of book store fame, who recently has been living in Washington, is now visiting in this place. —The finest line of Hamburg, Nansook and Swiss embroidery, at Lyon & Co's. —Oliver chilled and Keystone plows, also all kinds of agricultural implements for sale at Alexander & Co's, near the depot. —Miss Martha Welch, who has been visiting with friends in this place for some time, returned to her home in Huntingdon on Saturday. —Miss Mary E. Schnell, daughter of the late Joseph Schnell, has departed to reside with her brother Joseph at Binghamton, N. Y. —Alexander & Co. sell Landreth's garden seeds, the best in the market. Four five cent packages for fifteen cents and eight for a quarter. —In every contest the Ohio Chilled Plow has been victorious. Sold by George W. Thomas, Brown's corner Allegheny and Bishop streets. —The "Great Challenge Statue Clog Dance," as performed by eight artists at once, in Baird's Minstrel show, is the great sensation of the season. —Mr. Daniel W. Myers, of Boalsburg, called at our office during a visit to town on Thursday last. He reports everything quiet and peaceful in that direction. —All styles of rustic and decorated flower pots, hanging and yard vases at H. K. Hicks' hardware house. Lowest possible price. Ladies are invited to call. —Mr. Lehman and family, who have been the guests of our mercantile citizen, Mr. Lyon, for some time, returned to their western home yesterday morning. —Rev. R. C. Crittenden and lady celebrated their china wedding on Monday evening last. The occasion was pleasant, and the happy pair received numerous tasteful accessions to their stock of china-ware.

—Cayuga plaster, finely ground, for sale at Alexander's coal yard at eight dollars per ton. Also guano and other commercial fertilizers. —A great rush for clothing is now being made upon the Philadelphia Branch establishment on Allegheny street. The suits which come from there are all very nobby. —Mr. Siney Hoffer had the misfortune to be thrown from a horse on Friday last and was slightly injured. Even the bravest and most gallant knights are sometimes unhorsed. —Mrs. Lane has had several workmen engaged during the past week in making the usual spring repairs and improvements to the handsome grounds around her elegant residence. —Rev. John Hewitt, of the Episcopal church, has been absent during this week on a visit to his father at Ridgway, Pa., and, as a consequence, the usual service was not held last evening. —Miss Gertrude Butts, of this place, is now making glad the hearts of her friends in Philadelphia by her presence with them. She will remain in the City of Brotherly Love for two or three weeks. —The nights are so dark now that it is almost impossible to find the way home; but they will not remain so long, as "new moon" appears again to-morrow morning at the 10th hour and 13th minute. —Below all others: Mackerel, quarter bbl., $1.88; Kits, 95 cents—weight and quality guaranteed. At George W. Thomas' new store, corner Allegheny and Bishop streets. Full line of groceries. —We enjoyed a visit from Mr. Andrew C. Schnell, of Junction City, Kansas, during his stay in town, and also return thanks for a copy of the Junction City Record, a newspaper printed at his home. —Rev. Seigle, of Monroe county, has concluded to accept the unanimous call tendered him to accept the pastorate of the Aaronburg Reformed church, and will immediately enter upon his clerical duties. —Mrs. Magee, of this place, entertained the members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society at her residence last Friday evening. The ladies voted it one of the most enjoyable meetings the Society has yet held. —Rev. J. Donahue preached a fine sermon from Matthew 12:29 last Sunday evening. His theme was upon the constant contention between the opposing forces of good and evil and the ultimate victory of the former. He was listened to by a large audience. —The Pleasant Gap literary society still continues its weekly meetings, greatly to the benefit of those in attendance. At its last session it debated the question, Resolved, That works of art are more pleasing to the eye than those of nature. It was decided negatively. —The death of Mrs. Phoebe Zeigler, of Marion township, this county, occurred on Sunday the 28th ultimo. She had just rounded her first half century, being 50 years, 3 months and 23 days old. Mrs. Zeigler was a Christian lady and possessed many fine qualities of mind and heart. —Millheim Lodge, No. 995, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held its semi-annual election on Saturday evening, the 27th ult., and elected the following list of officers: B. O. Deining, N. G.; R. A. Bamiller, V. G.; A. O. Deining, Assistant Secretary; John Long, Treasurer. —Miss Clara Lyon has returned to her home in this place, after spending a winter of severe study in the city, perfecting herself in music. In the absence of Miss Clare, organist in the P. E. church, Miss Lyon occupied her place on Sunday last, playing the new instrument in that church with unusual power and skill. —Mr. Harry Lindsay, last week, closed the little tobacconist stand on the Mill Race, which he has been conducting for some time. He has moved this stock, together with that kept at his Allegheny street store, into the desirable room in McCafferty's block on High street, formerly occupied by Alexander & Co. as a coal office. —Among the leap year rights which the ladies are embracing with all the activity which belongs to their energetic natures is that of purchasing fine groceries of Sechler & Co. Their husbands, to their joy, find the food prepared for them is better than ever, and give their good wives a kiss, with the sage advice to continue the practice in the future. —The attention of parties who have unemployed time on their hands, is directed to the announcement of General G. T. Beauregard, of New Orleans, La., in our advertising columns, relative to the agency in this vicinity, for the sale of the great work on the war, by the late General J. B. Hood, entitled "Advance and retreat, Personal Experiences in the United States and the Confederate States Armies." —A change in the management of the Brokerhoff House took place on the 1st of April by the retirement of Mr. Houseal from the firm of Houseal & Teller. The house is now under the exclusive control of Mr. W. R. Teller. Since Mr. Teller has been at the Brokerhoff, he has established an excellent reputation as a hotel keeper. The guests of the house always find him an obliging and courteous gentleman, and with the resources now at his command he expects to do more for the comfort and entertainment of those who favor him with their patronage than ever before. The house is now undergoing thorough renovation and repair, and will soon be in first-class order for the reception and entertainment of the travelling public as well of summer boarders.

—Most anglers were uncertain why trout were so scarce on Monday last. The speckled beauties passed by all the delusive flies and bait cast at them by others, and absolutely refused to bite, until they came to those in the hands of Messrs. Charles Schroeder and Frank Keller. The large number of trout that those skilled fishermen brought home with them was quite astonishing. —Lesson sweet of spring returning, Welcome to the thoughtful heart! May I call ye sense or learning, Instinct pure, or heaven-taught art? Be your title what it may, Sweet and lengthened April day, While with you the soul is free, Ranging wild o'er hill and lea.—Kebble. —If you desire your friends to think that you have just returned from the city, where you were fitted out in clothing at Wanamaker's establishment or some other equally famous clothing bazaar, just step into the Philadelphia Branch store, where Lewin, who is constantly receiving invoices of the most fashionable goods, can sell you a complete outfit which is at once seasonable, serviceable and a la mode. —The school at Pleasant Gap, which during the past year has been under the care of Mr. W. H. Noll, terminated on Friday last. The closing afternoon of school was rendered more important by special exercises in declamation, essay, oration, &c., which had received great care from the scholars in their preparation and were given on this occasion. The parents and friends of the children were present in large numbers, and everything passed off to the entire satisfaction of teacher, children and visitors. —The session of the Addisonian Club last Saturday evening was about an hour and a half in length, which time was consumed with the usual number of literary exercises and the discussion of the proposition, "Resolved, That the President and Vice President of these United States should be elected by the direct vote of the people." The question, however, was decided in the negative. The question now before the Club for discussion is, "Resolved, That the tendency of modern governments is towards centralization of power." —Mr. George W. Thomas, well and favorably known in this community, is about opening a first class grocery establishment, in the building of Edward Brown, at the corner of Allegheny and Bishop streets. Mr. Thomas has had large experience, and will keep full lines of everything pertaining to the trade in which he proposes to engage, all of which he intends to sell at remarkably low cash prices. He invites the attention of his friends to his business undertaking and hopes to receive a liberal patronage. —The lines of the American Union Telegraph Company will be extended to this place about the first of May—at least, so says Mr. Bates, the President of the company, who, with his handsome lady, was visiting at the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. Bond Valentine, in this place, last week. Mr. Bates is an exceedingly fine-looking gentleman. The news of the advent of the American line will be received with pleasure, as it will probably reduce the price of telegrams to about one-half the present rates charged by the Western Union line. —Mr. Henry Vittelani, late chief cook at the Bush House, has now taken the same position at the Brokerhoff House. But his first experience in his new position on Wednesday evening of last week was rather unpleasant. While looking through the hotel in company with Mr. Teller, the proprietor, he stepped backward through a door leading to the cellar, and fell down the steps. He was confined to his room for several days from the injuries received, but in the meantime, has been studying up new and delectable dishes with which to regale the patrons of that popular hotel. We hope he will soon be able to commence his duties. —We saw a gentleman the other day who wore upon his placid face that happy smile of blissful contentment which is the sure indication of peace and plenty at home and good digestion. "Friend," said we, "what event has occurred to cast over your countenance that aspect of such great happiness and peace?" "Ah, my friend," he made answer, "once my home was rent with constant turmoil; but at a happy hour I commenced buying my groceries of S. A. Brew & Son, and ever since my wife and children have rejoiced, breakfast, dinner and supper have all been scenes of peace, and my wife says that so long as I purchase of Brew & Son she will be perfectly content. —Mr. Harry Landis, the accomplished machinist, has resigned his position as master mechanic for the Snow Shoe Railroad Company. He will be succeeded by Mr. Martin Painter, said to be an excellent mechanic. Mr. Landis, who retires from the position, does so for the purpose of engaging more extensively in the duties of the new partnership in the machinery business, which he has recently formed with Mr. Newton Gordon. We hope the success which he so well deserves will attend him in his new relation. The firm of which he is now a member are agents for a large number of new and second-class machines, and those interested will do well to send to Gordon & Landis for a catalogue, or call on them at their present business place in McCafferty's block.

—The Star Literary Society, of Spring Mills, which gave its last public meeting on the evening of the 26th of last month, shows itself to be a lively institution. All of its public entertainments thus far have been well attended and enjoyable. —Mr. Ellis L. Orvis conducted the meeting in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association on Sunday afternoon last, opening it in his usual energetic manner. He read the 34 chapter of the Acts of the Apostles and spoke on the results of the sermon as preached by Peter and recorded in that portion of Scripture. The exercises that followed were all so exceedingly prompt as to render the meeting quite interesting. —Have you an attack of spring fever? Do you feel languid? Do you sometimes think that the world is not using you right, and that all things are certainly going to eternal smash? If so, do not blame the world, or your physician, or your next door neighbor; but go off as fast as your feet will carry you to Sechler's store. He can sell you groceries that will make you feel happy all the time, and make your home as bright as a fairy palace. —A special court was held on Tuesday to hear the motion for a new trial in the ejectment suit of Pruner against the Houtz heirs. The motion was argued before Judge Orvis and Associate Judges Franck and Diven, by General Beaver for the plaintiff, Mr. Pruner, who asks for another trial of the case, and by Hon. C. T. Alexander for the defendants against the granting of it. This suit involves the title to a valuable body of coal and timber lands, including the ground upon which the town of Houtzdale, in Clearfield county, stands, and was tried before our court last fall, when the jury decided in favor of the defendants. —The National Guard of this State are already thinking of the time and place for their usual summer vacation, or encampment, or "spreo," or whatever they may term it. Major General Hartranft, after carefully glancing over the field, thus addresses a circular letter to his officers: "In arranging for their vacation or travel, the officers and men of the First, Second and Third brigades will consider that a week in the early part of August will be assigned for their encampment; and those of the Fourth and Fifth brigades, a week in the latter part of the same month. The precise time and location will be hereafter announced." The encampment will bring about 6,000 troops and as many more visitors together, who will all be hungry and consume an immense amount of food, and in view of that fact, and also for the honor of entertaining the "bold soger boys," Williamsport has already put in her plea for them to assemble in that place. If they consult their own interest, however, they will come to Bellefonte. Centre county is a region "flowing with milk and honey" and soldiers, and never fails to give visitors a hearty welcome. Half Moon Hill would be a picturesque and desirable spot on which to pitch their tents. —Penn Hall was the scene of a pleasurable concert on the evening of Friday, March 26. A large and efficient class has been practicing under the leadership of Prof. E. F. Smith, and on this occasion rendered several bright jewels of music, consisting of anthems, choruses, glee, quartettes and solos. The anthems, "From his home on the mountains" and "Triumph at the Red Sea" were especially admirable, as was also "Blessed are the people." Among the beautiful songs and choruses were "Wandering back to the old home," by Birdie Musser, of Pine Grove Mills; "Oh dem golden slippers," by C. L. Runkle; "I'm going home to Chloe," by E. F. Smith; "The old church where you and I were wed," by Ella S. Fisher; "Drifting down to sea," by Miss Emma Hosterman, and "Finger prints upon the pane," by Mary Fisher. Prof. J. A. Weaver rendered a bass solo entitled, "I'm King o'er land and sea." There were also several songs from the little folks. Mary F. Whitney, aged 10 years, sang a pretty song entitled, "There is sunshine on the sea." Annie C. Heckman, a little girl of 11 years, gave the two songs, "I'm going to write to papa" and "Little dimpled hands." Master Frank Fisher, a lad of 12 years, sang the comic song entitled, "Popping corn." These, with the humorous song, "Limberger cheese" and the artistic violin solo, "Scenes that are brightest," by Prof. E. F. Smith, composed a most acceptable programme, which was listened to by an interested and delighted audience. —The collection at the M. E. church, of this place, is always taken during the singing of the second hymn. In the manner of doing it there is scope for the development of considerable skill. The baskets have long handles, which the collectors grasp in their right hands and go to work with a vim worthy of the cause. Mr. Fonte Crider and Mr. Fleming performed that duty last Sunday night and it was quite interesting to witness the progress they made. Mr. Fleming was ahead at the beginning of the race, but by degrees Mr. Crider passed him, and, although they each had exactly the same number of seats to collect from, the latter gentleman reached the end of the course ahead. Mr. Fleming, however, may have collected the most money and had the heavier basket, which would account for his slower progress. They each perform the duty very skillfully.

A STRANGE CIRCUMSTANCE—A LITTLE GIRL CARRIES A LARGE SHOE BUTTON IN HER NOSE FOR TWO YEARS.—Our friend, Mr. John F. Potter, has among his children pretty little twin girls, now about three and a half years of age. When Maggie was about a year old, she became afflicted with what her parents thought to be a bad cold. This growing worse and the parents fearing it might develop into catarrh, they summoned the services of the family physician. He said it was not catarrh, but as an ulceration had already formed in the right nostril, he prescribed an ointment to be occasionally applied, and also some constitutional remedies. He also advised a douche to force water through the nostril. The douche was used only three or four times, as the application seemed to give Maggie pain. She trembled and gave other evidences of fear when Mr. Potter attempted to use the douche. The other remedies, together with applications of bacon to draw the soreness out, were continued without effect, and the disease seemed to grow worse, becoming quite offensive. Of course, Mr. Potter was willing to do anything to afford Maggie relief. About six weeks ago, as Mr. Potter was in Squire Rankin's office, he fell into conversation with Dr. R. L. Dart, who was present. The Doctor was asked by Mr. Potter if he ever had success in curing catarrh. The Doctor replied in the affirmative. Mr. Potter informed the Doctor of Maggie's affliction, when the Doctor told him to bring Maggie to his office on the next clear day. Wednesday of last week was as beautiful as any day could be, and accordingly, at five o'clock in the afternoon, Mr. Potter repaired with Maggie to the Doctor's office. A strong western sun shone through the office window, and the Doctor, placing Maggie in a favorable position, commenced playing his instruments about her nostril. "If I cure Maggie of catarrh how much will you give me?" inquired the worldly wise Doctor. "Anything," replied the affectionate father. "All right; here it goes," said Dr. Dart as he forced Maggie's nose into a flat position and drew forth a large shoe button. Her nose bled freely, but since it was relieved of the button the offensive smell has disappeared and it is now healing. The parents could hardly credit the fact that it was the button that had caused all of Maggie's trouble, but are much rejoiced now that she is recovering. BREAD AND CAKES.—Mr. J. H. Sands opened his bakery on Allegheny street last week, and on Wednesday sent to many of his friends specimens of his new baker's best skill in cake and bread baking. His friends considered this an appropriate and proper manner of celebrating the occasion, and would rejoice to have a similar event occur frequently in the future. The new baker hails from the Vienna bakery in Philadelphia, and makes excellent Vienna bread as well as "horseshoe" and "cream" biscuits, two delightful and modern creations of the baker's art. Mrs. Sands has always been known as a champion fancy cake baker, and during the years in which she has not been practically engaged in the business, has rapidly improved in the beautiful art. She will be the presiding genius over the practical and ornamental departments. They are prepared to deliver whatever you want at your residences during any part of the day. Mr. Sands is to be congratulated on the auspicious opening of his bakery. PRESBYTERY OF HUNTINGDON.—We understand that Tuesday next is appointed for the meeting of the Presbytery of Huntingdon in this place. The occasion is expected to bring together about one hundred ministers and elders of neighboring denominations to deliberate upon affairs pertaining to the spiritual and temporal welfare of the church. Each of the Presbyterian households in this place will have one or more of these delegates to entertain. The first session will be held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock, and the sessions are expected to last over the following Wednesday. All the sessions of the Presbytery are open to the public, and doubtless some of the exercises will be of much interest. We trust it may result in enhancing the usefulness of this already glorious portion of the earthly Zion. —At the semi-annual election of Centre Lodge, No. 159, I. O. O. F., on Thursday evening, March 26th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term, and installed at the first meeting of new term, Thursday evening, April 1st: James Whitaker, N. G.; J. I. Rankin, V. G.; H. B. Pontius, Secretary; J. C. Brachbill, Assistant Secretary; H. H. Benner, Treasurer; B. Galbraith, Janitor. Appointments—H. Beck, R. S. S.; John Miller, L. S. S.; A. Stenberg, R. S. N. G.; David Parsons, L. S. N. G.; Cyrus Weaver, R. S. V. G.; Noah G. Stover, L. S. V. G.; W. B. Rankin, W.; Robert Laird, Con.; Wm. Long, I. G.; B. Galbraith, O. G. H. Y. Stitzer, Henry Beck and D. F. Fortney were elected Trustees for one year, and H. Y. Stitzer was elected treasurer of the Widows and Orphans' Fund.—Republican.

THE STORM.—If the thunder and lightning storm which spent its wrath upon this place last Sunday afternoon, about five o'clock, is a fair indication of what we may expect from the elements during the coming summer, those people who dread thunder, lightning and wind may well quake with fear, while the few who love to see a confusion of the elements have reason to congratulate themselves upon the frequent occurrence of such wonderful and sublime panoramas. The wind, which fanned all nature with April softness throughout the day, quickened to a strong and ever increasing gale; the loud rolling thunder and wild flashing lightning followed one upon another with unusual frequency; while the clouds coming together overhead darkened the air, and caused the night to come before its time. In the midst of this, dashes of rain flooded the streets and chased all travelers to a place of safety. Much of the storm prevailed along the railroad in the lower portion of town. One of the most beautiful shade trees in the handsome grounds surrounding the Stone mansion on the Thomas estate was prostrated. A short distance further on the wind lifted the heavy cupola from the top of the old glass works, bore it over one hundred feet through the air, and suffered it to descend through the roof of the Snow Shoe car shops. It is said to have weighed about one thousand pounds. Near Reynolds' mill the boardwalk was lifted and carried half way across the street. In Benner township the storm raged with tremendous fury. It happened that Rev. Wright, the pastor of the Presbyterian church, was returning from his ministerial appointment at Buffalo Run. He was riding with Mr. Joseph Marshall in an open buggy. In front of them in a top buggy rode Mrs. Marshall and a young man named Seibert. It is said that a gust of wind lifted the lady, young man, buggy and horse over a neighboring fence. Both the buggies were overturned and wrecked, but we believe little other damage ensued, the parties escaping with only slight bruises. A barn near Eagleville is also reported to have been demolished by the storm. Snow Shoe was visited by a very heavy hail storm, which broke considerable glass. In Brush Valley a spire was blown from the Evangelical church near Yearick's. In Clearfield county the lightning seemed to play havoc with justice, striking the dome of the Court House. After an hour's duration, the sunshine again burst forth through the clouds, and the first Sunday in April closed as beautiful as it had begun, though the flashes of lightning from the retreating storm were visible until a late hour that night. BAIRD'S MINSTRELS.—Bellefonte's assistant Burgess has made arrangements for another fine entertainment in Reynolds' Hall next Monday evening. The company is favorably known in Bellefonte, as they exhibited here to a delighted audience last December. The following from the Johnstown Morning Tribune shows that our neighbors also think highly of the company: Baird's New Orleans Minstrels performed Saturday night to a crowded audience, many being obliged to content themselves with standing room, though so completely enraptured were they, that we think they hardly knew whether they were standing or sitting. The first part, presenting twenty performers in a double semi-circle, was simply "immense," "Billy's Request," sung by Conway, being the funniest thing we ever heard. He responded to nine encores, and yet the audience were not satisfied. In the second part the great features were the big song and dance by eight performers and a clog tournament by the same number, the most magnificent performance we have ever had here. The banjo solos by Frank West, ventriloquism by Dixon and black-face Irish specialties by McCarthy were also pleasing features. —Constable Gorton, of Phillipsburg, visited this place last week, bringing with him a prisoner whom he consigned to the tender mercies of Sheriff Spangler. The man—Al. Snyder—had been entertained during the previous Saturday night at the residence of Mr. John Bordreau, residing near that place. Before taking his departure, Snyder stole a gold watch and chain belonging to Mrs. Bordreau, which he carried off with him. The theft being discovered and information of Snyder's whereabouts being received, Mr. Gorton obtained a warrant and started on Monday morning in search of him. He was caught at Woodland, Clearfield county. After receiving a hearing from a Phillipsburg magistrate and spending Monday night in the "lock-up" at that place, he was attended to Bellefonte on Monday by Constable Gorton. After transacting his official business here, Mr. Gorton favored us with a call, explaining the occasion of his presence in town. —A call at the store of Messrs. S. & A. Loeb, the other day, made us acquainted with the fact that they have completed and are now occupying the new extension to their business house. They now have room for a much larger display of merchandise on the first floor, and better facilities for conducting their extensive business in a convenient and expeditious manner than formerly. Their enterprise in making this improvement will therefore insure not only to their own advantage, but also greatly to that of their customers. MONDAY, January 5, 1880.—Our stock of woolens for the spring and summer season of 1880 just received. Leave your order now. Respectfully, MOSTROMERY & Co., Tailors.
