New shades of dress silks, at Lyon & Co's. Fair Luna reached her first quarter last Monday. Fine straw hats for men and children, at Lyon & Co's. Millheim borough is preparing for Decoration Day. Don't buy any shoes until you have seen Lyon & Co's. Harry Green is the fellow who can sell you an A No. 1 cigar. Mr. Daniel Garman and lady are visiting in Philadelphia. For your lawns and summer dress goods, go to Lyon & Co's. Wanted—money in exchange for elegant goods at the Philadelphia Branch store. James Harris & Co. are headquarters for all reaper and mower repairs, and sections. Mrs. D. G. Bush, accompanied by her son George, arrived in town on Monday evening. Harry Green's cigars are much like the pretty girls—all the gentlemen are after them. The rapidly increasing popularity of Day's Kidney Pad is due solely to its intrinsic merits. He is indeed a person hard to suit who cannot be suited in the latest style at the Philadelphia Branch. To the farmers: At Harris' hardware store you can get repairs for all the leading reapers and mowers. The new residence of Prof. Smith, at State College, was finished last Saturday. It is a model of beauty and neatness. Mrs. Fanny Brown, wife of Mr. S. Brown, of Millheim, died of consumption, on the 6th instant. She had been ill about six months. To the farmers: Examine your mowers and reapers while there is time and send your orders to James Harris & Co. for all needed repairs. Mr. H. W. Hoover, of Unionville, lost 300 cords of wood by fire on his clearing, about one mile west of that place, last Thursday night. The steady increase in the number of people who come from all over the county to the Philadelphia Branch keeps Lewin and Sternberg busy showing their goods. R. M. Magee, Esq., has laid a new sidewalk before his residence on Penn street. Mr. Magee is the owner of a very beautiful property, which he always keeps in excellent repair. A very few dollars, if judiciously expended, will make a young man look so fine that his girl will have no reason to be ashamed of him. Lewin, at the Philadelphia Branch, can explain how it is done. Lewin, at the Philadelphia Branch, not only desires to sell his goods, but also wishes to have everything that is purchased please the buyer. If persons are not thoroughly satisfied, he does not wish them to buy. The Presbyterian congregation were treated, last Sunday, to a discourse on missionary work in Japan. It was delivered by Rev. Miller, a former missionary in that country, and contained some very edifying information. A creditable action. The Insurance Company of North America, in addition to its heavy losses in the Milton fire, has contributed five hundred dollars to the sufferers. This company is represented in Bellefonte by Geo. L. Potter. We are informed that by recent fires which prevailed in Snow Shoe township, Mr. J. Harbison Holt lost six extensive rafts. The residence of Dr. Stewart was also in imminent danger, its destruction being averted only through the most desperate exertions. Millheim recently lost two good citizens in the persons of Messrs. J. B. Musser and Allison Miller. These two gentlemen have gone to some enterprising town in the State of Illinois, where they will make their home in the future, and where we hope fortune will smile upon them. The latest big boom is in commercial travelers. The irruption of Goths, Vandals and Lombardians from their northern fastnesses was nothing compared to the deluge of these "road agents" upon Bellefonte during the last week. The Brockerhoff House closed its spacious maw over sixty-three and is still looking for more. The dramatic club of State College are practicing upon "Eugene Aram," a dramatization of Lord Lytton's tale of that title. They expect to have it ready for presentation on the 28th of May, and as they have been highly successful in all their past dramatic efforts, the coming entertainment will be anticipated with much pleasure. W. A. Sweeney is rapidly gaining the reputation of being one of the most expert trout anglers in the neighborhood. He wakes up about four o'clock in the morning and if he happens to think he would like to have a few of the speckled beauties for breakfast, he just falls out of bed, and, rod in hand, repairs to Reynolds' mill and in a little while he calmly returns and quietly deposits enough of the finny tribe on the table to make a feast for the gods.

The Morning News says that on Friday night the large saw mill of Trullinger & Co., of Snow Shoe, was entirely destroyed by fire. Desperate efforts were made to subdue the flames, but the task was found impossible. Mr. Henry G. Smith, of near Millheim, who died on Saturday the 8th instant, was one of the best citizens in that vicinity. His remains were taken to the Reformed cemetery at Aaronsburg, attended by a very large number of mourning friends and relatives. Sechler & Co. have a large amount of garden and flower seeds. As they are always receiving fresh supplies, buyers can go to the store with the expectation of finding what they want, and always get the best. Their meat market, too, has gained a reputation second to none in this place. Messrs. George J. Eldred, H. W. Brown and W. A. Hanna were the delegates chosen by the Agricultural Society of Clinton county to attend the annual meeting for the election of trustees of State College, which takes place on June 30. Mrs. John Eckley, of Benner township, sister of Mrs. Bartram Galbraith, of this place, died on Wednesday of last week, after a protracted illness. She was about seventy years of age, and leaves several children to mourn her death. A large funeral cortege followed her remains to this place on Friday. Would you buy gentlemen's clothing as cheap as they can be purchased in Philadelphia? Then go to the Philadelphia Branch. It is a part of a very large establishment in that city, and consequently goods can be sent from the city establishment to the branch store in this place and sold at astonishingly low rates. The maidens and widows of this place are preparing for a leap-year ball. Each lady donates half a dollar to the common fund to pay expenses, and then goes after her gentleman. The affair will come off in a few days, and it will be well for the gentlemen to receive modestly the advances of their female gallants. The Morning News says that Miss Rosa Apt, an estimable young lady of Hahlersburg, daughter of Martin Apt, deceased, died on Friday of last week, of consumption. Her remains were brought to this place on Sunday for burial. The funeral took place from the Catholic church and was largely attended. Master Oscar Myers, son of the genial proprietor of the Bush House, received and entertained several of his young friends last Thursday evening. The natural gaiety of the young folks, augmented by a bountiful feast spread in the large dining room, made the hours pass away to the entire satisfaction of the assembled company. Since the opening of May, Bellefonte merchants have been remarkably busy. Crowds of people with pockets full of money have been surging in and out of the stores. The scene at S. A. Brew & Son's grocery is one of great activity. Merchants like S. A. Brew & Son are the ones that will get the benefit of the increased trade. We learn that a large tobacco house, owned by Mr. P. B. Crider, and situated on his farm at Eagleville, was, together with its contents, entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday night. It is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The five tons of tobacco which the building contained were valued at $1,000. The building was insured. Mr. John R. Tate, the famous barn builder of Pleasant Gap, is at present engaged upon a job in his special line on the farm of Prof. Hamilton, in College township. The dimensions of this barn are 40x75 feet, and will have in addition to the main structure a grain house and vegetable cellar. Mr. Tate expects to make an excellent job for the Professor. Evil fortune attended a car load of charcoal which was on the way last Friday from Julian to Valentines' Forge, this place. Twice on the way the fire was seen and subdued, but when it arrived here the fire burst forth worse than ever, and the aid of hose together with the expert assistance of Telegrapher Malin and Expressman Hoover were necessary before the fiery fiend was overcome. It would be difficult to excel Mr. Hammon Sechler in anything, and certainly no one can get the advantage of him in keeping a first-class grocery. He is the old, reliable down-town grocer, who has successfully overcome all obstacles, and continues to conduct one of the best stores in town. His many customers testify to this, and have been able to save many dollars by purchasing at his store. A large delegation of divines from the Reformed church are at present gathered at Rebersburg, attending the sessions of the West Susquehanna Classis, which began yesterday. The intervening time until the closing devotional service on Sunday night will be fully occupied. The people of that hospitable burg will doubtless render the occasion so thoroughly enjoyable to the visiting clergy that they will wish the Classis could last all year instead of but a few days. The choir of the Episcopal church included two beautiful anthems appropriate to Whit Sunday in the music rendered last Sabbath night. The solo parts, sustained by Miss Mary Bradley and Miss Kate Curtin, respectively, were rendered in a skillful manner. Miss Bradley's voice is rich, pure and sweet as a silver bell, and of increasing power. That of Miss Curtin is a full, flexible, highly cultivated flute tone, capable of high flights, and again receding to the lowest notes.

There is a prospect that Bellefonte will have a small Knights Templar demonstration of its own next Thursday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock. A special train leaves this place at 6 A. M., and the Knights of New Washington, Osceola, Clearfield, Tyrone and Philipsburg have been ordered to join Constans Commandery, and all depart together for Williamsport. They will be accompanied by several bands. The line of procession will form at the Asylum at 5:45 o'clock and proceed direct to the depot. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Krom, of Lock Haven, recently of Bellefonte, desire to publicly express their heartfelt thanks to the numerous friends who showed them so much kindness on the occasion of the burial of their little boy in the cemetery in this place. The whole family were much distressed and the presence of so many sympathizing friends was highly appreciated and did much to soften the sad scene. The little boy was named for Col. Robert McFarlane, of Bellefonte, and was one year, one month and eight days old. The new process of sun printing has been employed, (probably for the first time in book illustration,) in giving a handsome portrait of the late General J. B. Hood as a frontispiece to his great book on the war, which was the result of some four years' preparation. The book is beautifully prepared with clear new type, best of paper, fine illustrations, and not unworthy of the studio of the historical student or the boudoir of the fashionable lady. The entire proceeds of the book are devoted to "The Hood Orphan Memorial Fund" for the education and support of the ten little orphan babes of General Hood, and the publisher is General G. T. Beauregard, P. O. address, New Orleans, La. The Centre Hall Reporter says that Mr. George Stover, of Marshfield, Mo., who lost all his property in the recent terrible storm at that place, intends to return to his former home at Centre Hill. His old Penns Valley friends and neighbors will regret to learn of his misfortune, but will be pleased to have him again among them. Since the above was put in type Mr. Stover and family have returned. They reached Bellefonte on Friday last and were warmly greeted by their friends who were in waiting for them. In a conversation with him at the depot, he gave us a thrilling account of the terrible disaster that befell Marshfield. He says, however, that he still has faith in the future of the town, and may return again to make the place his home. The Merchant and Salesman, the recognized organ of the great Philadelphia merchants and the grand army of commercial travelers they turn loose upon an unoffending world to enrich the railroads and make the heart of the hotel man sing with joy, has this to say of the popular and highly esteemed proprietor of Bellefonte's big up-town hotel, Mr. W. R. Teller, every word of which will be cheerfully endorsed by the nomadic public: Among our new hotel cards will be found the Brockerhoff House, Bellefonte, Pa. From a long personal acquaintance with Mr. Teller, its proprietor, we have no hesitation in recommending our members to stop and see him, when traveling that way. Some men are born great, some have greatness thrust upon them, and some achieve greatness, but Mr. Teller was evidently born to keep a hotel, and thus achieve the greatness which his patrons thrust upon him. As this is the idyllic season when genial suns, the sweet scent of numberless flowers and all the beautiful accessories of spring tempt the young and trusting to all sorts of pleasure, both on sea and land, it is not surprising that a happy party of our young folk were seen bravely daring the tempestuous waves of Mann's dam one day last week. The air was delicious, the party happy and—the boat leaky. From intense enjoyment the whole party suddenly took part in a transformation scene and found themselves safely deposited in the mud at the feet of the treacherous waters. The bottom had fallen out of the craft, and Mr. J. R. Van Ormer, Miss Alice Van Ormer, the Misses Scanlan, Mr. Everly and others were seen gracefully wending their disconsolate way toward the shore. Moral—to be continued next week. The Philadelphia Times seems to be possessed of some reliable information about Bellefonte churches, as a recent issue of that journal contained the following: "At Bellefonte there are churches of almost every persuasion except Baptist. There is a Baptist organization four years old, but it has no building. Services have been kept up in a rented house. A location has been obtained for building and subscriptions have been made which are not binding until the lot is secured. The Baptists are few in number but they are strong in purpose." DEcoration Day.—Arrangements are being made to visit all the cemeteries in Ferguson township on Decoration Day for the purpose of decorating the graves of the soldiers who gave their lives to their country. The delegation will be accompanied by music. The marshal respectfully requests all soldiers and citizens to meet at the Town Hall on Saturday, May 29, at 7 o'clock A. M., where the line will be formed and the programme for the day announced. The following cemeteries will be decorated: Pine Hill, at 9 o'clock A. M.; Gatesburg, 12 o'clock M.; Meek's, at 3 o'clock P. M., and Pine Grove, at 6 o'clock P. M. A cordial invitation is extended to soldiers, citizens and Sunday-schools to participate in the solemn ceremonies incident to the occasion. Prominent speakers have been invited and will be in attendance. Relations and friends of the deceased wishing to furnish wreaths and flowers will please label them and present them to committee or hearse by 7 o'clock A. M., so that they will be distributed on the proper graves. Wm. H. Fay, Marshal Pine Grove Mills, May 18th, 1880.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS.—We are informed that nine hundred yards of new Brussels carpet have been purchased for the Bush House in this place. Elegant parlor and bed room furniture will follow, and the Bush House will be more than ever the pride of the town as a model hotel. The traveling public will find it one of the most pleasant resorts in Central Pennsylvania. AN ACCIDENT WHICH RESULTED FATA LLY.—A very sad accident happened to Mr. John Kelley, son of Mr. Patrick Kelley, of Snow Shoe, on Thursday last, while at work in mine No. 8, at that place. He was engaged in coupling cars, when the force of the concussion made by the cars coming together threw him down. Before the train could be stopped, a heavily loaded car passed over him, cutting off his right arm near the body. Dr. Hibler, of this place, was summoned to his assistance, but found the unfortunate man too weak to submit to an operation. The Doctor could only administer to him such relief as made his last hours pass more easily. He lingered until Friday evening, when his end came. He was about twenty-two years of age. BITTEN BY A FEROCIOUS DOG.—A sad and what might have proved a fatal event occurred at Pleasant Gap last Thursday. Mr. John R. Tate and his son, Mr. W. S. Tate occupy neighboring houses at that place. Mr. W. S. Tate was the possessor of a large and very ferocious coach dog, but it was not supposed that he would attack any member of the family. On Thursday, Miss Ollie, daughter of Mr. W. S. Tate, came from the residence of her grandparents to enter that of her father. As she approached the porch upon which the dog was lying, he looked at her and exhibited evidences of anger. She spoke to the dog kindly, when he jumped at her, threw her down and bit her savagely upon the arm and body. Her mother ran to her assistance and threw herself with all her strength upon the body of the dog, dragging him from her daughter. Miss Ollie hastened into the house, and it was with difficulty that the savage canine was prevented entering after her. Since the event, Miss Ollie has been greatly prostrated from the injuries together with the nervous fright received, but by this time has perhaps all most recovered. The dog was, of course, shot, Mr. Flory sending the necessary powder and ball through him. OBITUARY.—The Morning News, of Monday, alluded to the death of Rev. Thomas Barnhart, late of Red Oak, Iowa, and, upon inquiry, we found it to be true, and gleaned the following particulars of his life and death: He was born in Howard township, this county. He became a minister in the M. E. church, and during the Rebellion was performing pastoral duties at Chambersburg. When the Southern soldiers occupied that place, they took particular care to protect the life and possessions of Rev. Barnhart and family. He afterwards preached at Tyrone and at Philipsburg, this county. About five years ago he removed to Red Oak, Iowa, when it was a mere collection of houses surrounded by woods. It is now a place of importance, and Rev. Barnhart at the time of his death was Presiding Elder of the Council Bluffs district. Some time since he received a stroke of apoplexy, and the usual remedies failing to relieve him, he died on Saturday night, May 8, at about 11 o'clock. His funeral occurred on the following Monday. He would have been fifty-eight years of age had he lived until next fall. His life was eminently useful. Much of it was spent in the service of his Master, and forms an example of piety and consistency to his profession of which the church and nation have reason to be proud. He has numerous relatives in this county, among whom is our townsman, Mr. D. Z. Kline. All will learn of his death with profound regret. BELLEFONTE'S RELIEF FOR MILTON.—True to her previous record and her usual generous instincts, Bellefonte aroused herself last Saturday to send immediate assistance to her suffering sister city of Milton. As Bellefonte has been almost entirely exempt from disastrous fires during the past six or eight years, the noble action of Saturday was eminently appropriate. Besides, many of our citizens have relatives in that city who were among the sufferers. It is worthy of note that the employees of the Bush House, under the inspiring influence of the colored porter, Mr. Alfred Stiles, a former resident of Milton, immediately contributed from their own pockets the handsome sum of $13.25. The Snow Shoe railroad company generously sent six barrels of flour, two barrels of bread and one barrel of hams by the early morning train. A meeting of citizens was called at the Court House at one o'clock P. M., of which Chief Burgess Clem. Dale was chosen President, Mr. George L. Potter, Secretary, and Judge John Irwin, Jr., Treasurer. Committees were appointed to canvass the different wards and solicit clothing, food and money. A subscription paper was drawn up at the Court House, by which $350 were secured. The clothing was sent to the Snow Shoe depot, and filled seven or eight large boxes, which were sent as quickly as possible to the stricken city. A special meeting of the Masonic Lodge was called for Saturday evening, and that organization acted with its usual promptness in administering to the wants of the suffering members of the order in Milton. The aggregate value of the aid sent by Bellefonte to Milton doubtless reached $1200 or $1500.

DEATH OF A NONAGENARIAN.—Mr. Philip Crider, an aged and respected resident of Snow Shoe, died last Saturday evening in his ninety-fourth year. His son, Mr. P. B. Crider, resides near Lock Haven, and his grandson, Mr. F. W. Crider, is a prominent citizen of this place. The intelligence of the aged gentleman's decease reached Mr. Crider, at this place, on Sunday morning, and he immediately started to Snow Shoe. On Monday he accompanied the remains through this place to the residence of Mr. P. B. Crider, near Lock Haven, where the funeral and interment took place. The deceased had been failing for a long time past and during the twenty-three days preceding his death had hardly been able to partake of any food. He was one of the most aged men in this county. THE CONCERT TUESDAY NIGHT.—That much was expected of the concert given by the Bellefonte Choral Society and Bellefonte Orchestra on Tuesday evening was evident by the large audience present, and that the expectations were realized was also attested by the many words of praise with which all expressed the enjoyment the evening's entertainment had afforded them. The programme was long and varied, and the selections were well executed. The applause showed that the more simple forms of music are the most highly appreciated, and the sweet solos and lively national airs drew forth the most demonstrative expressions of pleasure. The solo, "Pilgrim Fathers," by Mr. Frank Keller, was the first to arouse the enthusiasm of the audience. The cornet solo "Young America," was rendered in a skillful manner by Mr. Richard Willis, and when for an encore he gave that divinely sweet air, "Annie Laurie," another burst of applause ensued. "Sweet Heart," a lovely solo by Sullivan, was given by Miss Kate Curtin. This matchless gem was rendered in a very artistic manner, and of course drew forth an encore. The lady's musical abilities are of a high order. The solo "Just as of Old," rendered by Miss Clara Lyon, was also well received and followed by an encore. "The Lass of Kilkarny," if possible more captivating than the first. Miss Emily Natt directed the class with great ability, and both Mrs. Love and her orchestra performed their parts with their usual perfection. GATHERING OF THE BOROUGHS FATHERS ON MONDAY EVENING.—President Ardell was present as were Messrs. Harper, Hunter, McClure, Meek, Mullin and Tate. Mr. Thomas Burnside is the possessor of a "Howe's Market Scale," which he desires the borough to buy. The question was referred to the Market Committee, for whose use it is intended, and they are now weighing the matter on their mental balances. The members of the Undine and Logan Hose Companies will rejoice, as the clerk is directed to draw in favor of each company their respective appropriations for the present year. Mr. Daniel Rhodes offered to extend the water pipes on Linn street to M. W. Cowdick's residence for $200. His offer was accepted, and Mr. C. may expect soon to have the cooling beverage from the spring coursing to his residence. The Brockerhoff omnibus and the mail wagon obstruct the passage over the bridge on the arrival of trains and their owners must hereafter occupy some other location. But the army of travelers will doubtless find the Brockerhoff bus, even if it has to be hung on the moon. The market committee has received $2.40 in market fees and James Harris, Esq., has received $6.00 for licenses, all of which were duly reported to the council. IN MEMORIAM.—At a regular meeting of the Walker Grange, No. 345 P. of H., May 15, 1880, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted: WHEREAS, On the 6th instant, for the second time since our organization in 1874, the Angel of Death has crossed our portals, and removed from our circle Sister Margaret Shamp, wife of our worthy Chaplain; and WHEREAS, It seems right and proper that we, the surviving members, make some public expression of our feelings, and record our testimony and appreciation of the many virtues and excellent traits of character of our deceased sister; therefore, Resolved, That in the death of sister Shamp we as a Grange sustain the loss of a true and faithful Matron, the community a loss a warm-hearted friend, and the family and friends one whom they will long remember with tender emotions. Resolved, That while we bow in reverence and humble submission to the will of the Great Master above, who has called one of His laborers from labor to reward, we recognize the admonition to us "to work while it is called to-day." Resolved, That we best honor her memory by striving to emulate her virtues, and that we tender to the bereaved family of the deceased our heartfelt sympathy, and invoke on them the blessings of Him "Who doeth all things well." Resolved, That these resolutions be entered on the minutes of the Grange and a copy be presented to the family of deceased, and a copy be furnished the Farmer's Friend and county papers for publication. THE SOLDIERS' SACRAMENT OF SORROW.—Gregg Post, G. A. R., has received the following General Order, which calls upon all patriotic people in this vicinity to unite with the Post on the 29th instant in paying the annual floral tribute to the memory of departed soldiers: HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF PA., GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC, No. 1037 Chestnut street. General Order No. 7. PHILADELPHIA, May 8, 1880. COMRADES: On the 29th of May we will be called once more to observe our annual sacrament of sorrow, and to celebrate another Memorial Day. Again we must reverently droop the old flag over the grave of those who died, so that it might still wave, the unsullied emblem of a Nation, united and free; and to scatter upon the mounds, which mark their bivouac, the fairest flowers of spring. Decoration Day, always the tenderest, has now become one of the most significant of our holidays, in the fact that it is peculiarly a "Memorial" of the private soldier. The deeds of our great captains are carved in marble, perpetuated in bronze, and engraved on the tablets of history—but the flowers of Memorial Day fall upon the graves and commemorate the unrecorded bravery of the ranks—a beautiful and almost universal homage to the service and sacrifice of the Union volunteer soldier. If others forget the purchase price of the Union, we must recall it in our devotion; if others forget the costly sacrifice of life, we must recall it in our renewed allegiance to the sentiment for which our comrades died, and while in music and eloquence you recall the heroism which won our victory, and saved the nation's precious life, do not fail to appeal to that better sentiment which will reconcile political differences between citizens of all parties, in all sections. For the Union one and inseparable they died, over whose green graves we spread the gems of wood and wild iris and laurel. Citizens of Pennsylvania: The Grand Army appeals to you, that where no organization of veterans exist, there may be found willing hands to pay this loving tribute to the Nation's dead. To the reverend clergy, to teachers, to schools, to orders and societies, we appeal that no spot, however lonely, no grave however neglected, no place where sleeps a soldier of the Union shall the sunset of Decoration Day find unadorned with an offering of remembrance. The land is already dotted with the graves of the "unknown"; let not Pennsylvania's soil hold a single one that may be marked "forgotten." Rather let the cemeteries of the Keystone state be strewn with flowers, till every veteran's tomb shall wear a mantle of beauty fit for such a shrine. The Department Commander recommends that each post provide for an appropriate sermon, on Sunday, the 29th, attending the appointed service in uniform and in a body. By Command of CHILL W. HAZARD, Dept. Com. J. M. VANDERLICE, Asst. Adj. Gen. Gregg Post, in preparation for the observance of Decoration Day, has appointed the following committees: Music—D. M. Glenn, S. H. Williams and R. C. Cheesman. Flags and Flowers—E. A. Smith, W. H. Waggoner, R. C. Irvin, Wm. Jones, John T. Tate. Finance—William Jones. BUSINESS NOTICES. Lyon & Co. sell the best goods in Bellefonte.
