—Last Friday was charmingly cool.
 —Gauze underwear, at Lyon & Co's.
 —New shades of dress silks, at Lyon & Co's.
 —A splendid child's suit for $1.65, at Lyon & Co's.
 —Fine straw hats for men and children, at Lyon & Co's.
 —Governor Curtin was the decoration day orator at Renovo on last Saturday.
 —Whole years of joy follow the wearing of Day's Kidney Pad, for a few weeks.
 —W. A. Sweeney's Purity cigars are pronounced by good judges to be the very best brand sold in Bellefonte.
 —John Moore, our scientific photographer, has constructed a novel and curious, as well as accurate barometer from paper.
 —"Little Beauties" is the fond name by which lovers of the weed dotingly call for cigars when they want a good smoke and go to Sweeney's to get it.
 —A. Baum's son Ferdinand was thrown from a see-saw on Sunday afternoon and had his right leg fractured above the knee. The unfortunate boy is about 8 years old.
 —Rev. Palmer, colored, from Lewistown assisted his brother, the pastor of the African M. E. Church of this place at the Quarterly meeting services on last Sunday.
 —It is rumored that our popular and clever prothonotary, J. C. Harper, Esq., is negotiating for the purchase of the City Hotel in Williamsport. This is not official.
 —The severe rain on last Sunday evening reminded every one of the terrible fall of water in July 1876, and there was a good deal of anxious looking around the corners during its progress.
 —Phillipsburg is agitating the subject of water works. The Journal modestly says that outside of Bellefonte that flourishing village has more natural water facilities than any other town in this section of the State.
 —One must have the polish of polite manners before he can shine in good society, but even with polite manners he must wear neat and fashionable clothing, such as can only be found at Lewins' Philadelphia Branch.
 —The best value for your money at Lewins' Philadelphia Branch store, where you can find elegant lines of clothing and gents' furnishing goods. The largest stock, the best assortment, and goods sold as cheap as they ever have been.
 —Mr. W. R. Teller, of the Brockerhoff House, distributed chromos among his friends on Decoration day. The nature of the gift was of a peculiarly satisfactory character, and a gentle "smile" irradiated the countenances of the happy recipients.
 —Housekeepers never go wrong in visiting the grocery store of Sechler & Co. They are always certain to find a complete stock of choice and reasonable groceries, fruits, glass and queensware from which to make their selections at prices which defy competition.
 —The special train which carried our gallant Sir Knights to Williamsport last Thursday, met with an untoward obstacle on its return in the shape of an obstreperous freight train at Eagleville. During the detention Col. D. H. Hastings was serenaded by a hastily improvised band, and is said to have responded in an epigrammatic and forcible manner.
 —Gregg Post, G. A. R., headed by the Mountain City Band, without instruments and in full uniform, marched to the Methodist Church on last Sabbath morning to listen to a Memorial Sermon by the Rev. Mr. Donahue, the pastor of the church. The remarks of the Reverend gentleman were eloquent and instructive, and were listened to with close attention by the large congregation present.
 —The history of the late war has yet to be written, as events crowded so rapidly on each other that the main springs of the actions of the leaders on each side are but just now being brought to light, and the truth of history vindicated after strife and clamor of factious quarrels have passed away. The book of the late General J. B. Hood, which is advertised in another column, gives much light on the inner life of secession, as seen by an actual participant.
 —Hon. Jos. W. Parker, of Lewistown, registered at the Brockerhoff House on last Friday evening. Mr. Parker is one of the ablest lawyers in the State, and is an eloquent advocate of Democracy. He is earnest and outspoken in his advocacy of Gov. Curtin's nomination for Congress, and warmly insists that the whole district should unite in offering it to him. On Monday morning Mr. Parker favored the DEMOCRAT with a call and spent half-an-hour in pleasant conversation.
 —Mr. William McKeever, formerly of the Bolton and Jones' House in Harrisburg, is now to be found in the office of the Brockerhoff House. Mr. Teller was fortunate in securing the services of so capable and efficient an assistant. Beside the experience and practical knowledge of hotel business which he will bring to bear in the responsible position he has assumed, he is a thoroughly pleasing and accomplished gentleman. He has already made many friends, and the books are not yet closed.

MODERN SIR KNIGHTS.—The annual Conclave of the Grand Commandery of Knight Templars, took place at Williamsport on the 25th, 26th and 27th of the current month. There were a large number of visitors present during the sessions of the Commandery, especially on last Thursday, when the parade of the Knights took place. Unusual interest was manifested in the proceedings of the Conclave, and the influential and important members of the Grand Commandery were in constant attendance. We are glad to say that Constans Commandery, of Bellefonte, bore no insignificant part in the superb procession which filed through the streets of Williamsport on the 27th ult. Although the number leaving here on the special train on Thursday morning was unexpectedly small, the faithful few were joined by other members of the Commandery not residing in Bellefonte, and were thus enabled to marshal twenty-six men in line. This was a creditable showing in comparison. Kadosh Commandery, of Philadelphia, had only thirty-two men in line, while Mary, of the same city, had but twenty-seven. Constans' was accompanied by the Mountain City Band, and three colored servants. The Sir Knights, before taking the special train, partook of an elegant breakfast at the Brockerhoff House, as guests of the proprietor, Mr. W. R. Teller, who had generously extended them the hospitalities of his hotel. Eminent Commander Munson and Captain General Hastings were in immediate command, and the arrangements made by these gentlemen were complete and satisfactory. The marching and difficult evolutions executed by our commandery are spoken of in words of the highest commendation. With the single exception of the failure of Baldwin Commandery, of Williamsport, to pay that respect to the visiting Knights from Bellefonte, which had been gratuitously proffered them, there was nothing to mar the enjoyment and pleasure of our good Templars but the excessive heat. The following are the officers elected by the Grand Commandery for the ensuing year:
 Grand Commander—DeWitt C. Carroll, of Pittsburg.
 Deputy Grand Commander—George W. Kendrick, Jr., of Philadelphia.
 Grand Generalissimo—B. Frank Brennan, of Lancaster.
 Grand Captain General—Charles W. Bachelor, of Pittsburg.
 Grand Prelate—Rev. A. V. C. Schenck, D. D., of Philadelphia.
 Grand Senior Warden—Edwin G. Martin, M. D., of Allentown.
 Grand Junior Warden—Jos. Alexander, Jr., of Carbondale.
 Grand Treasurer—M. Richards Muckle, of Philadelphia.
 Grand Recorder—Chas. E. Meyer, of Scranton was selected as the place for holding the next annual Conclave.

ALL THE AGGREGATIONS OF THE EARTH AGGREGATED INTO ONE MONSTER AGGREGATION—Welsh and Sand's Great Show.—The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says of Welsh and Sand's Great Show:

"As far as our advices reach everybody looked on tip-toe with eager and well founded anticipations of a day and evening brim full of wonderful sights and worlds of fun. Yesterday long ere the sun declined to show his face, the Union depot, streets and avenues leading thereto was one solid mass of human flesh swaying to and fro watching the unloading of Welsh and Sand's great show, which is entirely new and undeniably lead the van in magnitude. Long before nine o'clock thousands upon thousands of people filled the streets along the line of march, which had been published in these columns, to witness the most gorgeous and sensational free street parade ever given in this city. In the afternoon their enormous tents were filled to their utmost capacity, to witness an exhibition of more rare wild beasts, birds, reptiles and marine wonders and a greater number of thrilling, novel and ludicrous Equestrian and Gymnastic feats and animal acts and antics, than ever before seen in this city, in any five shows put together. What a host of genuine features; they have combined ample capital with every adjunct of modern science to gather in the most notable of living curiosities and muscular phenomena from the uttermost parts of the earth, and to present them with every accessory that can be devised to impart attractive magnificence to both spectacular display and arenic performance, including the marvelous steam Electric Light.

—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania State College, held at the Bush House, in Bellefonte, on Thursday, May 27, 1880, Prof. Joseph Shortridge of Concordville, Delaware county, Pa., was unanimously elected President in place of Dr. James Calder resigned. Professor Shortridge comes highly recommended and we have no doubt will make a success of the College. He is a brother of William Shortridge, Esq., of this place.

—"There," said Jones triumphantly holding up his egg at the breakfast table, "I was always told I wanted chic, and now I've got it." A smile permeated the table, as a matter of course, and the young man studying French laughed immoderately after the joke had been thoroughly explained to him. But there is no joke about the fact that Brew & Son keep the finest and cheapest stock of groceries to be found in Bellefonte.

—We advise all persons to order fall and winter clothing early. Our heavy weights will be on sale May 1st.

DECORATION DAY IN BELLEFONTE.—Saturday opened out bright and clear, and the early morning hours gave indication of unusual activity around the headquarters of Gregg Post. The streets presented an animated spectacle, and there was every promise that the memorial services here would be both imposing and interesting. Although the civic display was not quite up to our expectations, it was so well and skillfully directed as to make the spectators forget its paucity of numbers. The arrangements were complete and satisfactory, and the various committees of Gregg Post deserve great credit for the faithful and earnest manner in which they strove to make the impressive ceremony of laying a flowery tribute upon the breasts of our dead heroes, one not soon to be forgotten in Bellefonte. In their efforts they were seconded by the great interest our citizens manifested, and by the ladies, who came generously forward with lavish floral contributions. Altogether Saturday's pageant was the finest we have had for years. The banks were all closed, but very few, if any, of the business places closed their doors, even during the little time consumed in the actual decoration of the graves. Immediately after 12 o'clock streams of people began to pour in to the Diamond from every avenue of approach, and by three o'clock the streets and sidewalks in the vicinity of Gregg Post were almost impassable. At 3½ the various organizations began to arrive and were at once assigned their positions by Chief Marshal Curtin. At fifteen minutes after four, all being in readiness, Marshal Curtin waved his baton and the procession moved in the following order:

Chief Marshal Gen. J. I. Curtin.
 Mountain City Band—18 pieces.
 Gregg Post, G. A. R.—80 men.
 Logan Hose Company—35 men.
 Ass't Marshals Tate, Brew and Miller.
 Orator of the day and citizens in carriages.

A large portion of the crowd in the street followed the procession to the cemetery. The ceremonies here were exceedingly impressive, and there were several new features introduced with which the officiating members of Gregg Post did not seem to have been thoroughly familiar. With a few unavoidable hitches everything passed off in an entirely satisfactory manner. The music, both vocal and instrumental, was rendered in very fine style. After the quartette had sung, "We deck their graves alike," the solemn work of decorating the graves of eighty-seven soldiers was accomplished. A wreath and bouquet were laid upon each grave while a small flag bearing the name of the dead soldier was placed at the head.

The feature of the occasion, however, was the admirable oration pronounced by the Hon. Jos. W. Parker, of Lewistown. Without question it was the finest effort of the kind ever heard in Bellefonte. Mr. Parker is a natural orator. His language is choice and beautiful, while his voice is good and his delivery pleasant. At the conclusion of Mr. Parker's address the procession reformed and marched to the Logan Hose House, where the fire company disbanded. Gregg Post was then conducted to its headquarters, where the parade was dismissed. This ended the ceremonial and patriotic Bellefonte had once more honored her soldier heroes.

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN FERGUSON TOWNSHIP.—The gentlemen invited to deliver addresses at various points in Ferguson township where Decoration ceremonies were observed, returned with glowing accounts of their trip through the beautiful township; of the unanimity with which the people turned out and their generous treatment of the speakers, and the good taste, propriety and solemnity attendant upon the services over the dead. Taking an early start they reached Pine Hill about 8 A. M., where they were met by the Marshal of the day, Wm. H. Fry, accompanied by the Pine Grove band and a large number of gentlemen and ladies and a hearse filled with bouquets of flowers. Here the ritual of the Grand Army was read, David H. Young acting as chaplain, and which appropriate addresses were delivered by J. L. Spangler and W. C. Heinle, Esqs. After decorating the graves of the soldier dead here a procession was formed and proceeded to Gatesburg where a large company of people had gathered. The ceremonies here were made particularly impressive by a hymn sung by a choir of ladies and gentlemen conducted by Mr. Chas. Keith. In the solemn stillness of the churchyard from which there is a grand view of the valley and the Alleghenies in the distance, in the decorous presence of the men, women and children of the hamlet that hymn made an impression never to be forgotten by some of its hearers. Here Messrs Fortney and Spangler made eloquent addresses, after which the work of decoration was completed. After the ceremonies the people spread an elegant lunch in the yard, having provided full and plenty of the best eatables. They entertained band, speakers and everybody in such a manner that Gatesburg hospitality will not be soon forgotten. Messrs Sheets, Ryders, Lemon and their good ladies took especial charge of the speakers, and to them we are requested to return their hearty thanks. The procession now re-formed and marched to Meek's Church where scenes similar to those we have described took place. Here Messrs Heinle and Spangler made appropriate remarks and the monument of John Campbell was tastefully festooned with flowers. He was killed at Petersburg and his remains never recovered, but his friends have erected an elegant monument to his memory. After pausing to admire the beauties of the scenery the cavalcade moved down the valley to Pine Grove. Notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the sky a noble audience greeted the speakers. Rev. Mr. Coser of the Lutheran church opened the ceremonies with prayer, and after some delightful music, J. B. Linn delivered what was universally pronounced one of the ablest and most effective Decoration day orations ever heard in the valley. He was followed by D. F. Fortney in an eloquent and powerful speech. J. L. Spangler also made a few remarks. After a beautiful Hymn, sung by some little girls, the ceremonial of the day was concluded in a happy manner without a single unpleasant incident to mar the day. Here Mr. Kelly of the Presbyterian church made a little speech of thanks which he wound up with some powerful expressions of patriotic eloquence. Messrs Eckle, Heberling and others of the committee whose names we did not learn did themselves infinite credit by their successful exertions to have Decoration day suitably observed. Here also the kindness of the people will be remembered by the visitors. Dr. Smith Capt. Dunlap, ex-Treasurer Mitchell, Wm. Patton and many others extended the proper courtesy of the place. After partaking of a bountiful supper at the residence of the Marshal, Mr. Wm. H. Fry, whose admirable conduct of the proceedings of the day brought down upon him the thanks of all in attendance upon the ceremonies, the visitors came away with pleasant recollections of a happy well spent day.

DECORATION DAY AT REBERSBURG.—From a correspondent at Rebersburg we have the following:

REBERSBURG, Pa., Jan. 31, 1880.
 EDITORS CENTRE DEMOCRAT: Decoration day was observed here with the usual ceremonies appropriate on such occasions, and as it is the first time that the citizens of Miles township made an effort to honor their departed soldiers with suitable rites, I desire to request a little space in the DEMOCRAT to give a brief description of the exercises. At about 1 P. M., people began to assemble at the place of rendezvous—Mr. Walker's lot Rebersburg—where all were formed into line preparatory to marching to Union cemetery. Lieut. S. M. Spangler, who was the chief marshal on the occasion, arranged the procession in the following order:
 Color bearer, Rebersburg Band, Orator and Chaplains; then came the surviving soldiers—some twenty-five—led by Mr. J. A. Miller, a hero worthy to lead the bravest, for Mr. Miller was in every engagement in which the 148th Regiment took part, ever in front and never shrinking duty.

Next in order were children, some two hundred and fifty, in charge of Prof. C. L. Grathley. Hon. Samuel Franck brought up the rear with the citizens. Arriving at the Union cemetery, the procession formed into a hollow square around the soldiers' graves. The marshal now explained in a brief address the object and significance of the ceremonies about to be performed. Several stanzas of a hymn entitled, "Decoration Ode," were then sung, followed by prayer lead by Rev. Landis. A dirge by the band was then played, and comrade J. A. Miller and Thomas E. Royer who had been designated to decorate two special graves, came forward and performed their parts, after which the rest of the graves were decorated by the children. The procession then resumed its march to the Evangelical cemetery when, after singing two special verses were decorated by H. Myer and Rev. Stever, the rest of the graves were then decorated by the children as before, and after another piece of music by the band all assembled in the Evangelical church to listen to an address by Maj. R. H. Forster. Not all however, for the house was packed before one-half of the people were in.

Expecting to see the Major's address in print, I shall not attempt to give an abstract of it here, suffice it to say that he listened to with profound attention throughout, and that every person spoke in the highest terms of his oration. His allusion to a "war-meeting" that was held in the same building in August 1862, eighteen years ago, was peculiarly impressive. There were before him many who had attended that meeting and witnessed, a few days later, the departure of "Co. A." for the scene of war.

It is estimated that at least 1,000 citizens and children were in attendance last Saturday, every thing passed off decently; no disorder of any kind occurred, and all seemed impressed with the solemnity of the occasion.

Many thanks are due the ladies for the prompt assistance rendered in making preparations for the day.

WALKER AND MARION.—We also have the following from Walker and Marion:

JACKSONVILLE, May 31, 1880.
 EDITORS CENTRE DEMOCRAT: Decoration day was observed in a fitting manner at Snyderstown and Jacksonville. The Zion Cornet Band furnished the instrumental music for the occasion and interspersed the exercises with beautiful odes and dirges.

A 10 o'clock, A. M., the ears of the men, women and children, assembled in front of the Snyderstown Union Church, were saluted by the patriotic strains of "Hail Columbia," announcing the arrival of the band. The procession was formed under the direction of Mr. D. C. Walter, I. C. in the following order: 1. Zion Cornet Band; 2. The clergy; 3. Soldiers of the late war; 4. Children with wreaths and flowers; 5. Citizens in general. Arrived on the ground, where repose the remains of soldiers of the revolutionary war, the war of 1812 and the late war, prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Irvine. The soldiers present placed beautiful wreaths received from the children, upon the graves, and planted thereon the stars and stripes. After this floral offerings were made by all who desired to do so. Rev. George P. Hartzell delivered the oration, followed by Rev. Mr. Irvine, a veteran, in a few pertinent remarks. The hymn prescribed by the G. A. R. was sung, and the services closed with the benediction.

In the afternoon many of those who were present in the morning hastened to Jacksonville to participate in the ceremonies there. Our usually quiet village presented a lively appearance. At an early hour the people came flocking in from all directions, both old and young, determined to make it a success. The order of procession was the same as in the forenoon,

Capt. S. H. Bennisson acting as marshal. The flag of our country was borne aloft by veteran Smith in advance of the procession. The Presbyterian cemetery was first visited. A solemn dirge was rendered by the band. The preliminary devotional services were held, and then the veterans performed their part in making prominent the resting places of the fallen heroes with chaplets, flags and flowers. Rev. S. S. Wallen was the orator of the occasion.
 All over here, the line of march was resumed, headed by the Reformed and Lutheran burying ground, where repose the ashes of three soldiers of the late war. Rev. S. S. Wallen served as chaplain. Soldiers and citizens paid floral tributes. Beautiful pennons were unfurled over the graves, the same in miniature as that under which they marched and fought while living. Rev. George P. Hartzell made a few remarks. The hymn was sung to the tune of Old Hundred. Rev. Wallen pronounced the benediction.

Thus closed Decoration day at Jacksonville—a day long to be remembered. I believe that there were very few, if any, who did not enjoy it. More than one was heard to say, "How beautiful!" This was the first observance of the day at these places; I do not believe it will be the last. The Post Commander requests your correspondent, through your columns, to express his sincere and heartfelt thanks to the citizens for their liberal contributions of money to defray the expenses, and especially to the ladies and the children for the interest taken by them in furnishing flowers and wreaths with which to decorate the nations dead.

DECORATION AT OTHER PLACES.—At Milesburg the day was observed with appropriate and impressive ceremonies. The cemetery at this place, after Bellefonte, contains the graves of more Union soldiers than any other in Centre county, and the honored remains that repose within their silent depths received due respect on last Saturday. The arrangements for the ceremonial were in charge of Mr. A. Bathurst, and were carried out in a thoroughly praiseworthy manner. A large delegation of soldiers from Curtin's Works, in charge of Captain Austin Curtin and also the Odd Fellow's Lodge of Milesburg, participated in the ceremonies. John G. Love, Esq., of Bellefonte, was the orator, and we have heard his oration highly commended by persons who were present. Music was furnished by the Pleasant Gap band, and the religious part of the service was conducted by Rev. Woodcock.

—In Potter township we understand the Veteran Club paid the usual tribute of regard to the memory of their dead comrades. Well provided with floral offerings, the Club, with a large number of others, repaired in the afternoon to the cemetery of Sprucecreek M. E. Church, where nineteen soldiers of the late war sleep in death. Here services were conducted according to the ritual of the G. A. R. The club then returned to Centre Hall where memorial services were held in the evening. Col. D. S. Keller was the orator at both places.

—At Millheim a procession, headed by the Millheim and Woodward Cornet Bands, was formed in the evening, which marched to the cemetery above the town where an impressive service took place, and the graves of the dead heroes who lie there were strewn with flowers. A very large number of persons took part in the ceremonies and the address of Rev. Akers, of the M. E. Church, is highly spoken of by those who heard it.

—We also understand that the day was suitably observed in Harris township and at other points in Centre county but have not learned the particulars. It is gratifying to know that throughout our community the memorial services were so general and as a rule conducted with so much good taste and judgment.

—At Pleasant Gap we learn that the observance of the day was also most commendable. We have no particulars from this place, except that John G. Love, Esq. was also the orator there, the ceremonies taking place in the evening.
 CAPTAIN LYTLE'S GRAVE.—From the Harrisburg Patriot we learn that due honor was paid to the remains of the late Isaac N. Lytle, formerly of Bellefonte, whose recent death at Trenton, New Jersey, was noticed in the DEMOCRAT. Capt. Lytle belonged to Company G, of the 148th Regiment, P. V., and was a gallant soldier as every one who served with him will testify. His body found sepulchred in one of the cemeteries of Harrisburg, and the Patriot gives the following description of the floral decorations that were placed upon his grave on last Saturday:
 "Some of the floral tributes placed on the grave of the late Captain I. N. Lytle, on Decoration Day were so handsome that they deserve special mention. The widow of Captain Lytle arrived in this city on Friday and was the guest of Post 58 G. A. R., Wilson G. Fox, commander. The lady brought with her from Philadelphia a magnificent flag made of immortelles, the colors of the flowers corresponding to those in the American flag. This elegant piece of workmanship is about three feet long and two feet wide, set upon a staff of proportionate length. In the centre of the flag the following inscription was worked, "Captain I. N. Lytle, company G, 148th regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers." This flag was presented to Post 58, by Mrs. Lytle and by the Post placed upon the grave of the deceased captain. It will be permitted to remain on the grave for a short time, and then will be placed in the hall of the Post.
 "A large and beautiful wreath of immortelles was also placed upon the grave. The wreath was the gift of the two Grand Army Posts of Trenton, New Jersey. Many fine bouquets were also sent by Captain Lytle's numerous friends, so that the grave was literally covered with flowers."

—It is said that during the water spout last Sabbath evening, Tom Reynolds sat down on his cooking stove to prevent it from going out through the window in imitation of the 1st of July, 1876.

—We are the authorized agents for the sale of the Geiser thresher and separator, with horse power or Peerless steam engine, at low prices and on favorable terms. We are also agents for the sale of the Hoeber patent level-tread horse power, for one or two horses, with patent speed regulator, with little giant thresher and cleaner. All warranted to do good work.

—The Osborne make of mowers and reapers are pronounced by all farmers familiar with their work, to be the best made, the most highly finished, the lightest running and the longest lived machines made—they last a life time. Osborne's Wheeler, No 6, combined machine, is the best now made. It is ahead of all others in every respect, which we can fully demonstrate to every farmer who will come to our store and examine it.
