—Through the kindness of Secretary Heinle, we have been furnished with the following list of teachers, elected by the School Board last Tuesday evening: David M. Lieb, Principal; J. H. Wentzel, Ass't Principal; Rosa A. Woods, 1st Intermediate; Nannie T. McGinley, 2d Intermediate; Lizzie Swartz, No. 5; Mary L. Nesbitt, No. 6; Bella K. Rankin, No. 7; Annie McAffrey, No. 8; Mary Shrom, No. 9; Carrie Humes, No. 10. The only changes from last year are the demolition of the extra Senior department, taught by Mr. Duncan, and the creation of a new primary school, to which Miss Humes has been elected, and also the substitution of Miss Swartz for Miss Lizzie Campbell as teacher of No. 5.
—Mr. Martin Foley, of Lamb street, who has long been suffering with consumption, died from the effects of that disease about five o'clock last Saturday night. He was about 45 years of age. Out of respect to his memory, the machine shops of Wm. P. Duncan & Co., of which he was an employe, closed on Monday, and his fellow workmen attended the funeral in a body. Mr. Foley leaves several small children, from whom it was extremely hard for him to part. The latter portion of Mr. Foley's life was one of much trouble, as his wife is the unfortunate lady who, a short time ago, was conveyed to the Asylum for the Insane at Danville. It is to be hoped that the new life upon which he has entered is one where sorrow does not come.
—Quite early one morning last week delicious strains of music vibrated through the window casement of the sleeping apartment occupied by a couple of young ladies residing on Linn street, and caused those ladies to fancy that fairies were holding a morning concert among the dew drops below. Arousing from their slumbers and gliding to the window, they beheld that personification of music, a barber by profession, posed in his most striking attitude and drawing forth sweet notes from that most musical of instruments, the flute. It was such a serenade as caused many a pleasant dream to flit through the final naps which the young ladies indulged in before rising to the duties of the day. The fair ladies believe they are largely indebted to the kind influence of a young gentleman residing on Allegheny street, who, lacking the art of music, invoked the assistance of the above artist.
—Howard township contains 948 population, 189 families and 180 dwellings. Howard borough contains 497 population, 98 families and 90 dwellings.
—Among the post-office appointments recorded in the Washington dispatches for last week is that of Mr. J. D. Mitchell, Milesburg, Centre county.
—A gay party from Lewistown who have been spending a short season at the Old Fort Hotel, came to Bellefonte last Sunday and dined at the Brokerhoff House.
—Do not forget the regular monthly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. As usual, it will be worth attending.
—The holy rite of Communion was celebrated at the Presbyterian and Lutheran churches last Sunday. The same ordinance will be administered at the Episcopal church next Sabbath.
—While Chief Burgess Dale was "out of town" the duties of his position devolved upon his efficient Assistant, Mr. John Sourbeck. He did not find the duties very heavy, but what he did was well done.
—A fall of earth and rock took place at the lime quarry of Alexander & Co., on Monday, at half-past twelve o'clock. Fortunately, it occurred at a time when all the men were at dinner, and thus serious consequences—perhaps loss of life—were averted.
—His Honor Judge Orvis and family moved, on Monday, from their late quarters at the Bush House to the fine brick residence next that of Mr. Morris Cowdick on Linn street. We hope they will enjoy housekeeping. They have a beautiful home.
—Every season brings its special demand for certain kinds of food. Preserving time creates a demand for sugars. The grocery store of S. A. Brew & Son is always ahead in all varieties of groceries, and doubtless people cannot do better than to purchase sugar and everything needed in the grocery line at that store.

—The African M. E. Sunday-schools of Blair, Centre, Clinton, Lycoming and Mifflin counties will meet in convention in this place next Saturday to continue in session four days. A complete programme of exercises has been prepared for the occasion.

—Many hot-blooded, restless people complain that the weather is too warm for comfort. If such persons would live right they might manage to keep cool. All that is necessary is to keep down excitement, and to eat cool, light, healthy food. The first is a personal affair with themselves, and the latter can be bought at the grocery store of Sechler & Co.

—In a letter to the Williamsport Star of Hope, Rev. Dr. Monroe says that the general conference of the M. E. Church assembled at Cincinnati adopted a resolution declaring that any member of the church guilty of signing applications for license to sell liquor, renting property for the manufacture or sale thereof, or becoming bondsmen for liquor dealers, shall be brought to trial, and if continued in shall be expelled from the church.

—As is well known, Messrs. Clem. and Al. Dale are both excellent surveyors and have had an extended experience in that business in Centre county. Few surveyors have, in connection therewith, skill in drafting the views, roads, lines, &c., pertaining to the survey. Mr. Al. Dale, however, executes drafts in an admirable manner. He displays much taste and skill in the art. Several specimens recently executed by him are models of neatness and elegance.

—Mr. Al. Haupt was the victim of a painful and inconvenient accident last Saturday morning. He was cutting wood by the mode so much in vogue of grasping the stick on top near the spot on which he intended the axe to descend. Either his thumb or the axe made a serious slip—at any rate, when the axe descended it came exactly on top of his thumb, inflicting a wound which has necessitated "loading" ever since. We regretted to learn of the accident.

—We regret the necessity which compels us together with other friends of Mr. John M. Duncan, of this place, to do without his society during the mid-summer months. We learn that he expects to locate for a short time at Spring Mills, where he will conduct a Normal class, composed largely of school teachers. Our loss will be the gain of those among whom he will make his home. The members of the class could not have selected another instructor so ably qualified for his duties.

—Notwithstanding the growing importance of political questions, there is a subject which will ever continue to be of engaging interest. Its demands are always made by the cravings of hunger, and the best place to procure the articles to satisfy this craving will ever be a subject of discussion. The store of Sechler & Co. will always be found to be well supplied with almost everything necessary for the inner man, and because his sales are so rapid he is enabled to keep a fresh supply.

—Through the kindness of Secretary Heinle, we have been furnished with the following list of teachers, elected by the School Board last Tuesday evening: David M. Lieb, Principal; J. H. Wentzel, Ass't Principal; Rosa A. Woods, 1st Intermediate; Nannie T. McGinley, 2d Intermediate; Lizzie Swartz, No. 5; Mary L. Nesbitt, No. 6; Bella K. Rankin, No. 7; Annie McAffrey, No. 8; Mary Shrom, No. 9; Carrie Humes, No. 10. It is to be hoped that the new life upon which he has entered is one where sorrow does not come.

THE CENSUS OF CENTRE COUNTY.—We have compiled from past reports the following table showing the population of the various boroughs and townships of Centre county for the decades of 1870, 1880 and 1890, in order that the readers of the DEMOCRAT will be able to make comparisons with the returns of the enumerators for 1880. The work of the present enumerators is now almost finished, and we hope that next week our table of population will be complete with the figures of 1880.

Table with columns: Boroughs and Townships, 1870, 1880, 1890. Rows include Bellefonte, Mifflin, Unionville, etc.

a Howard borough from Howard township. b Mifflin from Penn township in 1870. c Phillipsburg from Rush township. d Unionville from Union township. e College from Hefse and Benner townships.

THE CLOSE OF MISS PETRIKIN'S SCHOOL.—Among the most successful instructors of the young which this place has produced is Miss Marion Petrikin, who, for a number of years, has conducted a primary school in the building next her mother's residence on High street. Saturday, June 19, instead of Monday, the 21st, was chosen by the scholars for the concluding day of the school. It was known that the teacher had some prizes to award for excellence in the several departments, and the children prepared refreshments as a surprise to the teacher and to give variety and pleasure to the occasion. Miss Louisa Hoy, Miss Olive Mitchell and Miss Hattie Mann were crowned the queens, and occupied royal thrones in the pleasant grounds attached to the school, while their busy and delighted subjects circled around them. A feast of good things, ornamented with choicest flowers, was spread in the school room, when Miss Petrikin was summoned to look upon the happy scene. Of course, she was much delighted. In the award of prizes, Miss Olive Mitchell received a beautiful book for studiousness and general good behavior. The day was one which will be long and pleasantly remembered by all.

DEATH AND FUNERAL OF THE LATE JOHN S. SUMMERVILLE.—Again are we compelled to pause in the busy course of life and make a respectful allusion to an aged citizen of this county who, last week, passed away from earth. We refer to the late Mr. John S. Sommerville, of Snow Shoe, whose death occurred at 7 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday of last week. He was father of our fellow-citizens, Mr. James L. Sommerville. His decease was hourly expected, and he was prepared to depart, which softened the blow to his many friends: He was about 70 years of age. After the usual services over his remains at Snow Shoe on Friday, his body was brought to Bellefonte for interment in the family burial place in the Howard street cemetery. The large delegation of miners and other friends who accompanied the body to its last resting place fully attested the high esteem in which the venerable gentleman was held by those who knew him. He rests from his labors.

COMPLIMENTARY AND QUITE TRUE.—The delegates who attended the recent annual session of the West Susquehanna Classis at Rebersburg, fell desperately in love with Brush Valley. The following from the Lewisburg Chronicle is an index to the opinions entertained by all the delegates regarding the fair valley and the hospitable town in which the Classis was held: The only fault to find with this valley is its name. Brush Valley without the brush. Instead of brush it is a valley of broad, fertile fields. In no other valley does the earth yield her increase more bountifully. The very sight of the waving grain maketh glad the heart of man. Nestled in the heart of such rural fertility, Rebersburg's cup of plenty literally runneth over. The valley is narrow, but the hearts of the people are large, and greatly given to hospitality. Never did families open their doors wider and lead their tables heavier for guests. The pastor loci is in this respect also an example to his flock. The physician of the town is in no wise found behind in this grace of hospitality. We liked his prescriptions. True, he insisted on large doses, but they were not hard to take.

DEDICATION.—The new Catholic church, erected by Mr. Lauth, at the Howard Iron Works, was dedicated on Tuesday of this week, with the imposing and solemn ceremonies of that denomination. The services were conducted by Bishop Shannon, of Harrisburg, and were participated in by a large number of clergymen from neighboring towns. Fathers O'Brien and Kennedy, of this place, were among those present.

—Mr. Charles Valentine is among the young gentlemen who have returned from school to spend their summer holidays at home. He has been attending the Diocesan School, at Reading.

THE HANCOCK-ENGLISH RATIFICATION MEETING.—The names of Winfield Scott Hancock and William H. English are received by the people with an enthusiasm quite electrical. Never, at such brief notice, has a larger or more enthusiastic audience assembled in this county than that of last Saturday night. We might give a detailed description of it, but that is unnecessary, for amid the boom of anvil, the display of fireworks and the immense assembly of the yeomanry from all parts of Centre county, it spoke for itself in tones which cannot be mistaken that the gallant men who have been nominated as the leaders of the Democratic host will receive the support of all the Democrats and many from the other parties represented in Centre county politics. In honor of the occasion, the enterprising members of the party in this place made a few previous preparations to lend enthusiasm and beauty to the gathering. These consisted in anvils stationed on the eminences near the jail, reservoir and on Half Moon hill, which did their part at frequent intervals in helping along the enthusiastic and voluntary "boom." There were also tasteful and appropriate ornaments stationed in the Court House yard. Over an evergreen arch just inside the entrance to the Court House yard was a banner inscribed "The people's choice for President, Winfield Scott Hancock; for Vice President, Wm. H. English." Under the glorious shade trees were suspended numerous Chinese lanterns, which, when illuminated, added greatly to the brilliancy of the scene. At an early hour the people gathered in dense masses.

The first evidence of active demonstration was made about eight o'clock, when the members of the Hancock Club assembled with torches before their headquarters on High street. Forming in a long procession, they marched out Water street to greet the delegation and band from Pleasant Gap. These added largely to the procession and a counter march was made to Linn street, where the glorious host was again augmented by a large delegation of patriotic Democrats from Milesburg and Bald Eagle Valley. All was now wild excitement along the line of march, and cheer after cheer went up as the immense procession proceeded to Allegheny street, thence to Bishop, thence to Spring, thence to High, and up High into the Court House yard. First came the Mountain City band, then a blazing line of torches, then the Pleasant Gap band, and then a line of people in vehicles. The crowd of people who immediately rushed into the entrance to the Court House yard almost filled that beautiful enclosure.

A temporary platform had been erected and upon this Chairman Spangler mounted, and with his loud voice, so well suited to address a large audience, commanded silence. After a few energetic remarks from Mr. Spangler, W. C. Heinle, Esq., joined him upon the platform and read the following list of officers for organization: President—John A. Woodward, of Howard.

Vice Presidents—Hon. J. P. Gephart, of Bellefonte; Benjamin Hunter, of Benner township; Hon. J. F. Weaver, of Boggs township, and Henry Noll, of Spring township.

Secretaries—Joseph W. Furey, of Bellefonte, and J. A. McClain, of Milesburg. President Woodward was evidently in his happiest frame of mind. After explaining the object of the meeting, he expressed himself as opposed to lengthy speeches and thought that as the gathering was now organized as a ratification meeting the main object should be to "whoop'er up!" This invitation was demonstratively responded to, and the President, throughout the entire exercises, was repeatedly foremost in leading many a wild cheer at some happy hit made by the orators of the evening.

We would like to reproduce to our readers the brilliant remarks made by the next speaker, D. F. Fortney, Esq. He is evidently confident of the brilliant success upon which the Democratic party is now entering. He is also enthusiastic over the candidates, and considers the civil record of Gen. Hancock "as stainless as his sword." He said that the campaign of General Hancock in the present fight would be as brilliant as were his campaigns throughout the war.

Major R. H. Forster occupied the time while the band was preparing to render a selection, in reading some apt comments from newspapers upon the nominations. He also read the congratulatory messages sent to Hancock by Tilden, Thurman, Bayard and other distinguished Democrats throughout the country. These showed that now, as never before, the party is united, and promise to the candidates their hearty support. He accompanied his readings with forcible remarks.

The Mountain City band rendered a selection, after which the pleasant form and face of Senator Alexander was visible upon the platform, and produced applause. His remarks were exceedingly happy. They contained numerous poetic and Scriptural allusions. Hancock he likened to Joshua in his work of leading the party to glorious victory. His speech was received with vociferous applause.

Col. Blair was called and responded with one of his emphatic, convincing speeches. He told why he supports the candidates, and prophesied that their election will give the American people a government of which none need be ashamed. W. C. Heinle, Esq., was the next orator, and entertained the assembly in his usual able manner for several minutes.

J. W. Gephart, Esq., was the last speaker. His voice was loud and clear, his manner earnest and forcible. The applause which greeted his utterances was extremely hearty, showing that the people would be willing to spend the entire night in listening to the praises of the candidates. The crowd then dispersed amid music and cheering.

Besides the Bellefonte Democracy, fine delegations were present from Walker, Spring, Benner, Union, Unionville, Boggs and Milesburg.

During the progress of the meeting beautiful pyrotechnics were visible at the Brokerhoff House. A splendid bonfire was also lighted on the Jail hill. Hancock and English are most abundantly ratified so far as Centre county is concerned, and November next will see her roll up for them the largest majority ever polled within her borders.

A THROUGED FESTIVAL.—Thursday and Friday evenings of last week were occasions of great importance to the Presbyterian Sabbath-school of this place, because they were devoted to an ice cream festival held in the interest of that organization. As festivals go, this may be considered quite successful. The weather was just right for a festival. Every lover of ice cream and cake was present. Each evening the entire stock of refreshments provided for the occasion was disposed of, and people went away hungry. Universal satisfaction was expressed with everything pertaining to it. The receipts reached over $90, and as the expenses were small, $83.46 was added to the treasury. The Presbyterians seem to have struck upon the proper mode and time to affect the consciences and pockets of the public.

OPEN TO THE PUBLIC.—The Bush House, Bellefonte, Pa., will formally open July 23, 1880, for the inspection of the public. An oration will be delivered from the balcony of the hotel at 2 P. M. After the oration the hotel will be thrown open to the public for inspection. In the evening will be a grand display of fireworks on Half Moon Hill, which can be viewed from the balconies of the Bush House. Dinner at 12 M. and supper at 6 P. M. Tickets for meals at the office.

—Mr. Edward Speer is at home because of an accident which occurred last week at Curwensville. He was attempting to operate a saw in a planing mill at that place, and in so doing brought the first two fingers of his right hand in too close proximity to its sharp edge. The saw did not stop, but the ends of Edward's fingers disappeared. We hope they will soon be healed, so that he can use them again.

—The popularity of M. B.
