-The African M. E. Sunday-school picnics to-day in Armor's woods.

-The pale, silver, crescent moon again rides triumphantly in the heavens.

-The goods at the Philadelphia Branch clothing store are cheap in price but rich in quality.

-When you go to the picnic next Thursday take a few of Harry Green's cigars along.

The Presbyterian church is expected to be ready for occupancy by the first of next month

-A substantial new boardwalk has be laid around the vacant lot on the eastern corner of Spring and Curtin streets.

-No member of the male sex need go poorly clothed , while clothing is sold so cheaply at the Philadelphia Branch.

-The Bellefonte Academy opened yes day with a large and efficient corps of instructors and the usual attendance of stu-

-More people are wasting away through diseases of the kidneys without knowing what ails them than from any other com plaint. Day's Kidney Pad is the appropriate remedy.

-The authorities of State College have subscribed $10,000 toward the completion of the railroad from Tyrone as far as the College, and it is anticipated that the work will soon be completed.

-The monthly meeting in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, last Sabbath afternoon, was exceedingly pleasant. It was conducted by Rev. J Green Miles in his usual able manner.

-An elegant improvement on Bishop and Spring streets is the substantial navement laid during the past week around the residence of Mrs. Brockerhoff. Pedestrians in that vicinity will echo this sentiment. -The firm of Sechler & Co. purpose during this fall, to sell more groceries than ever before. They offer inducements which none who really desire to purchase pure, wholesome groceries can resist.

Give them a call. -The Jewish "Day of Atonement' begins on Tuesday next at 6 o'clock and continues until Wednesday evening at the same hour. During that time all the business establishments of our Hebrew citizens will be closed.

-Trade at the Philadelphia Branch clothing store is increasing.

-Of the thirty-five voters at Garman's Hotel, we are informed that thirty-four are for Hancock and English. Good.

cil decided to widen the bridge crossing the race on High street.

-Gents' furnishing goods, neat and in xpensive, at the Philadelphia Branch.

-The roof of the Bush Arcade building has received a fresh covering of tar, and now its occupants will not fear the penetrating rains of fall.

-In the train which departed from this place last Thursday afternoon all the gentlemen who occupied the smoking car were for Hancock. A vote taken showed 30 for Hancock O for Garfield

-Miss Lide McGinley, of this place, returned home on Tuesday after an extended visit at the residence of her sister in Lock Haven.

-We are glad to notice that Mr. John Anderson, who was so seriously injured a week or two ago in assisting to move a safe, is again able to be about.

-Send for the Fair Number of the Rural New Yorker, 34 Park Row, New York. It is the handsomest and most instructive agricultural and horticultural number ever published anywhere. It will be sent to our subscribers without charge.

-Economy should be studied by the family as well as by the nation, and every family in Centre county will consult their best interests by patronizing the grocery store of Sechler & Co. Who will be the first to engage in this reform?

-The Jewish New Year, or Rosh Ha Shona, was duly observed by the Hebrew citizens of this place on Monday last. The festival began at sunset on Sunday evening and continued until the same time on Monday evening. The services were held in hall connected with the residence of -The reas Mr. Lyon officiating. livered in Humes' Tas. Poet Burns," denight, by Rev. Dr. John Moffat, attraday a fair audience, though not so large as the merits of the lecture deserved. It is spoken of by all as a scholarly, high-toned delivance, displaying much critical taste and refined sentiment.

-Notwithstanding what may be the drift of popular sentiment in favor of any Presidential candidate, the passing events indicate that S. A. Brew & Son's grocery store is the proper place to buy anything that may be desired in that line. They are careful and obliging merchants, and command a large share of the public pat-

-If next Thursday is favorable, the picnic of the Patrons of Husbandry on top of Nittany Mountain will be one of the most delightful occasions imaginable. Bellefonte and vicinity will turn out in full force, and other portions of the county need only follow her example to make the 7th annual picnic of that organization the largest yet held. In addition to the speakers mentioned last week, Hon. S. T. Yocum and Senator Cyrus Alexander will also be present to tell what they know about farming.

-The firm of Bauland & Newman, of the Bee Hive, have enjoyed an immense trade since starting their merchant tailoring establishment, and, encouraged by past - iccess, intend to prosecute their business with even greater energy during the fall and winter. For that purpose, Mr. J. H. Bauland is now in the city, purchasing large stock of desirable and seasonable fabrics for that department, and as Mr. B. is a gentleman of fine taste and a perfect onnoisseur in all that pertains to a gentleman's outfit, the large stock which will soon arrive is expected to surpass any similar display ever exhibited to this com-

-"Old Frenchy," one of the local editors of the Republican Morning News, very much to the disgust of our sensible busines men of all political parties, has been meddling with a private business transaction, seeking to give it a political significance. In the issues of that newspaper of last Saturday and Monday, (referring to the sale of the McCoy & Linn ore property in which the Messrs. Thompsons, of Centre Furnace, owners of a royalty in the ore of twenty-five cents a ton, joined the other parties to the sale), he alludes to a conversation with the purchasers which did not occur as detailed by him, and exists only in his desire to pervert and torture a joke. The question was asked the purchaser-a Republican-if he did not think the parties making the sale should support Garfield, a protection candidate for President, when he (evidently bored) indifferently replied, "Yes." To this, the Messrs. Thompsons, life-long Republicans and iron masters, who read and think for themselves, shook their heads, as if to say "no Cobden Club in ours."

-Mr. J. R. Van Ormer, son of our friend J. N. Van Ormer, of Spring township, is canvassing Centre county for subscriptions to Forney's Life of Hancock, published by Hubbard of Philadelphia. This work is the best campaign life of Hancock that has been written by any one, and is meeting with an extensive sale. It is an at ing with an extensive sale. It is an attractive and interesting work and should be found in every Democratic household in the county. We trust that our young friend will be very successful in his effort to obtain subscribers. He is also the agent for the sale of General Brisbir's life of Garfield. We have not had an opportunity to examine this work, but hear it spoken of as an interesting and well written biography.

THE LAST ENEMY, DEATH .- Ex-Sheriff Richard Conley, one of the most respected citizens of this county, expired at his home in Benner township, last Friday afternoon. For several years he has suffered from a cancer which appeared on his neck. About a year ago hopes were entertained that he was cured. But this insidious disease, the rival of consumption in its ravages upon the people of our country. again appeared, and soon numbered Mr

Conley among its many victims. The deceased was well known and universally respected. In 1863 he was elected sheriff of this county by a vote of 3,075 against 2,679 cast for his opponent, James Dunlap, also a gentleman of great popularity. It is unnecessary to say that he fulfilled the duties of that position in the most faithful and satisfactory manner. Mr. Conley was twice married, his second wife, a sister of our venerable fellow citizen, Samuel Irvin, Esq., surviving. Two children-a son and a daughter, who have attained the age of maturity-are also still living. He was a devoted and consistent member of the Presbyterian church, and was ever active in promulgating the Christian faith among his neighbors and friends. His life was a living ensample of his profession. He was seventy-one years of age. On Sunday morning last the final obsequies were performed, and the solemn cortege accompanied his remains to the ceme tery at Jacksonville, this county. believe that Rev. W. O. Wright, of Milesburg, was the officiating clergyman.

DEATH OF COL. AMOS C. NOYES .- On Saturday morning last a telegram was received at Bellefonte announcing the death of Col. Amos C. Noyes, of Clinton county The sad news was soon current in all parts of the town, and produced a profound sensation among the many friends and acquaintances of the deceased gentleman. On Thursday night of last week he was stricken with paralysis, and lingered until some time during the succeeding night, when he found relief only in death. Probably within the limits of Pennsylvania no man grabetter known, more highly esteemed, friends than Amos Cora devoted personal better express our estimate of his charkent than to use the words of the Philadelphia Times: "He was the living embodiment of public and private honesty, of fidelity to friendships and of generous affection to all who came within its offices. No man could be more beloved by his neighbors than was Col. Noyes, and none etter merited the devotion of those who knew him best." The funeral of Col. Noyes took place at his residence at Westport, Clinton county, on Tuesday afternoon, and an immense concourse of friends from parts of the State assembled there on that parts of the State assembled there on that day to pay their tribute of respect and affection to his memory. In another col-umn will be found a sketch of the business and public career of this excellent man.

-We learned, on Monday last, with extreme sorrow of the death of ex-Sheriff Perks, of Philipsburg. Sheriff Perks was about 58 years of age, and it seems no time since we saw him in our town, apparently in good health, and with the prospect of many years before him. He was, we believe, a native of Clearfield county, and in that county served one full term of three years as sheriff. He was born in the humbler walks of life, but by the energy of his character raised himself in manhood to a high position in the estimation of his friends and neighbors. He was for many years engaged in the lumber business and had acquired a considerable fortune. He afterwards settled in Philipsburg and entered extensively into the grain business in connection with the steam mill at that place, but unfortunately reverses came upon him and he was obliged after a time abandon his active business pursuits. Sheriff Perks was a man of kindly heart and genial disposition, and had many nds, who sincerely mourn his He was buried on Tuesday.

-The funeral which proceeded from the on the arrival of the Snow Shoe train last tion in New York State. Tuesday morning was that of Mr. William Cone, who died on Sunday at his home at the past twenty years he has been in the spected.

-We learn of the sudden death, on Monday last of Mr. Charles Robinson, of Milesburg. He was over fifty years of age and a tinsmith by trade. He was interred in the Union cemetery at this place yesterday

DEMOCRATIC MEETINGS .- The Hancock and English Club of Gregg township had a splendid meeting on last Thursday evening in the Independent school district which was addressed by D. F. Fortney and W. C. Heinle, Esqs. The club paraded with torches and made a fine display. Keep the ball moving in good Democratic Gregg.

-On last Friday evening a large and enthusiastic Democratic Meeting was held at Powelton. Gen. Blair was the speaker of the evening and entertained his hearers in a very satisfactory manner.

-The regular meeting of the Hancock and English club of Bellefonte, on last Saturday evening, was addressed by Adam Hoy, Esq. Mr. Hoy made an able, argumentative speech which called forth repeated rounds of applause from the

-Mr. R. B. Larimer and wife departed on Saturday last for Clearfield, Mrs. L.'s former home. Robert returned on Monday, but is doomed to keep "bachelor's hall" for a short time, while his wife is visiting among her friends in that place.

-The residence of Hon. S. H. Yocum has been enlivened during the past week by the presence of Miss Rebecca A. Mears, of Schuylkill county, and Mrs. Houck, wife of a well known clergyman.

-Gen. James A. Beaver's wife and family accompanied him on Monday morning to Pittsburg, and will remain during the encampment of the National Guard in that vicinity.

-Mr. J. M. Duncan spent Sunday last in town.

-Rev. J. Green Miles preached his farewell sermon to the Baptist congregation in this place, last Sabbath evening. His visit to this vicinity has been beneficial to his own health and to the prosperity of the Baptist congregations among which he has labored.

-Mrs. J. H. Sands has recovered from her recent illness, and her pleasant face is again visible behind the counter of her husband's bakery.

-Mr. Al. S. Garman started to Philadelphia last week where we suppose he will remain long enough to inspect the State Fair and other attractions of Pennsylvania's Metropolis.

-The train which left this place last Thursday afternoon contained Mr. J. A. Derr and his aged father and mother who who were starting on a long journey to Kansas City, Mo., where they will hereefter reside.

CAMP ALEXANDER HAYES, SEPTEMBER 7, 1890. recial Correspondence of the CENTRE DEMOCRAT.

To day has developed for the large ma-

she will depend upon to throttle domestic nsurrection and protect inviolate her invisible borders. The tents furnished afford ample accommodation for four men and these, with a liberal supply of gum and woolen blankets, enable us to make our uxurious. As the impressible Van Pelt xpressed it after we had completed our rrangements, "we'll have better beds here than we have at home." The ride out was uneventful, the company coming directly through on the same car in which they embarked at Bellefonte. The Pennsylvania Railroad came in for many complimentary remarks in consequence of the elegant car they placed at our disposal. It was finely upholstered and lighted by three chandeliers and was altogether the most elegant of any in the large train which brought the 5th Regiment to camp. Your correspondent was ushered at once into the arena of military discipline by being placed on guard at the rear end of the ear. This was far from unpleasant until the boys made an attack in force upon their plethoric haversacks, and then he experienced the first inconvenience of his five years term of service. Although almost famished, military etiquette forbade so indecorous a performance as eating, and had it not been for the kindness of the corporal of the guard, who generously elieved me, the pangs of a most acute hunger would just have run riot with my internal anatomy, until in the regular order of military procedure I was returned to the ranks. The darkness of the night prevented the men from viewing the most magnificent panorama of moun tain scenery in the State, as well as ing skill to be rough of engineering skill to be round any where in America. I have passed over these manuals when the lofty peaks of this spur of the America. ghenies were bathed in the lambent light of a mellow moon, and the impression was one that time can never efface. All that is majestic and imposing in mountain scenery is encompassed within the ride from Tyrone to Pittsburg, while one is lost in wonder and awe at the genius which climbed these heights and bound their lofty brows with bands of iron. Last night all was wrapped in an impenetrable gloom which was only relieved by the lurid glare of the mighty forges at Johns-town, and the innumerable coke kilns which dot this road with lines of fire which dot this road with lines of fire. As this was the initial military baptism of the greater portion of the company, the men were naturally boisterous and many and wild were the scenes enacted between Bellefonte and Braddock. Cam Burnside posed as a musical director, a la Max Mar-etzek, and led embryotic Brignolis and Castles in boisterous song. The burden of the refrain appeared to be an arraignment of Moses for being absent from the post of duty "when the light went out." There was no sleep for the weary eyes, and the imprecations, which ever and anon burdenthe smoke ladened atmosphere of the were sulphurous in their intensity. But they were of no avail, and the rioter defiantly refused to take up their quarters in the tropical country to which they were werbally consigned every few minutes. We arrived at our destination about two o'clock in the morning but remained in the car until five, when the entire regiment disembarked and took up its line of march to the ground selected for our location. Hear we found the 10th and 18th regiments and Knapp's battery already encamped. The hours of the morning were spent in putting our quarters in shape, and now we present an appearance second to none upon the field. Our camp is lo-cated upon rising country bordering on a beautiful grove, and our white tents facing broad, clean streets have a picturesque ef-fect with their rich back ground of dark green. The other regirrents composing the different brigades are arriving rapidly and are getting promptly into position. About three thousand are here now, and by to-morrow morning all will be on hand by to-morrow merning all will be on hand and then will commence the serious work which is before us. That this will be no child's play will be apparent when I tell you that reveille sounds at sunrise. Roll call at 5.30, breakfast at 6.30, sick call 7.30, guard mounting 8.30, company drill 9.30 to 11.30, dinner 12 M., battallon drill 2 to to 11.30, dinner 12 m., back, P. M., supper 3.30, dress parade 5 o'clock, P. M., supper 5.30, dress parade 5 o and taps and lights out 10 o'clock. This you will perceive pretty effectually disposes of the working hours of the day disposes of the working hours of the da and leaves little time for the lighter pleaures of the camp. It rained this morning for a few moments, but is now clear and warm and the weather gives every indica-tion of being propitious. All our local chieftains are here and are active in the affairs of the encampment. Beaver has his headquarters just in the rear of our regiment and can be constantly seen, swingregiment and can be constantly seen, swinging hither and thither, bringing order out of chaos by his terse, clear orders. Those war-worn and battled-scarred heroes, Hastings and Harris, regale their brother officers with blood curdling tales of hair breadth escapes by field and flood, while they hob nob and look after the comfort of the boys from home. They are popular with officers and men alike and take great interest in the success of this conlar with officers and men alike and take great interest in the success of this conclave. Heinle is enthusiastic over soldiering and laments the political necessity which takes him home on Thursday. Even here, amidst all the pomp and circumstance of glorious war, he can still hear the buzzing of that little bee, which whispers of the district attorneys effice and its comfortable emoluments. Van Pelt hints at proceedings for divorce and enlistment in the regular army. Dr. Geissinger's face wears an expression of care as if a great responsibility oppressed him.

Our handsome and efficient officers, Capt Mullen and Lieutenants Potter and Hale Our handsome s...
Mullen and Lieutenants Potter and Hale, present an appearance on parade of which we are proud. Altogether we are having a good time and are being inducted in many of the mysteries of camp life. ORANGE BLOSSOMS .- We are pleased to tell over again to our readers the oftrepeated, yet ever interesting and beautiful the rigid dicipline impartially enforced tale of love and marriage. Especially when the narrative has for its hero so interesting State is certainly lavish in its care for the a young gentleman as Mr. Benner Graham of the firm of E. Graham & Son, of this place, the charms of the tale are enhanced a thousand fold. Cupid has been murmur. ing softly in his bosom, throughout the past few summer months, and he has seen every shrub and flower, and now, while the quarters not only habitable but almost the image of his lady love reflected in beauty of summer yet remains, he has gone and made her his bride. He departed on the afternoon train on Tuesday, and yesterday, at the full, bright hour of noor the joyful ceremony was performed Rev. John Hewitt, of the Episco church, this place. he has thus made so mapped his affections is Miss Agnes N. M. James Mullen, place. She has been living with he grandmother, Mrs. Lenich, of Clearfield at whose home the ceremony was consum mated. She is a lady in every way wo thy the truest love a man can give. The hours of their honymoon are now passing swiftly on the wings of time as they Philadelphia and other large cities, In a few days they will return to make their future home in Bellefonte, where we hope happiness may gladden the remainder of their days.

THE BAPTISTS .- The annual convention of the Sunday-schools of the Centre Baptist Association and the semi-centennial of the Centre Baptist church, which took place at Milesburg last week, beginning on Tuesday, were exceedingly pleasant gatherings. There were 150 regularly accredited delegates present, which was augmented by a large influx of people from the surrounding country, attracted thither by the unusually interesting exercises. Mr. F. P. Green, of this place, owing to his thorough knowledge of the condition of the Baptist church in Centre county, took a prominent part in all the proceedings and was elected a member of the Executive Committee. Among the topics for discussion at the Sunday-school convention on Tuesday was "Is the Sabbath-school the Sape of the Future?" which was ably participated in by Revs. J. G. Miles, visiting delegate, and Rev. W. A. Ridge, of Blanchard. Miss Mary Evans, a delegate from Philipathy. gate from Philipsburg, also read an excel-lent essay entitled, "The Rewards of Our Work." Thursday was perhaps the most important day of the week and marked by the largest attendance. The introductory sermon for next year's convention was assigned to Rev. J. Evans, cf Philipsburg. Mr. F. J. Taylor, of Unionville, delivered a strong temperance speech and was an attendance temperance speech and was an action of the production. Mr. F. J.
