Local Department.

The best cigars in town are sold by Harry Green.

The Philadelphia Branch store keeps all styles of nobby hats.

If you are troubled with a lame back wear a Day's Kidney Pad.

Your wife won't object because you smoke if you use Harry Green's cigars.

Now is the time to buy underclothing and the Philadelphia Branch has a large supply.

The pay train of the Bald Eagle Valley railroad made a welcome visit to this place last Monday.

Rev. John M. Palmer, of the African M. E. church, will remain with the congregation in this place another year.

The evenings of the past week have been very beautiful—the rays of fair Luna rendering the silent hours of night as bright as day.

A very timely improvement is the new boardwalk just completed from the southern extremity of the Baptist church lot to the top of High street hill.

The Mountain City Band have provided themselves with little lamps, and on their appearance at night each member has one attached to his cap. It is a great improvement on the old mode of carrying torches.

On Thursday evening last the Democracy of Rush township had a large meeting at Powelltown which was ably and acceptably addressed by D. G. Bush, Esq., of Bellefonte, and George M. Brislin, Esq., of Ocoela.

There was a nice girl named Corinther Alard after day she got thinner, Alarmed, immediately she went to Sechler's store, and there she spent Her money for several pounds of meat, And again she's growing fat and sweet.

It takes two to make a bargain and the only question is, who shall we make it with? When good groceries are what we want to bargain for, however, none should hesitate to patronize the firm of S. A. Brew & Son.

Powers & Son have recently made some alterations in the interior arrangements of their boot and shoe establishment, affording more space to exhibit goods. Mr. Edward Powers engineered the change and deserves credit for the taste displayed.

The members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society met in regular session last Friday evening at the residence of Mr. Hammon Sechler on Linn street. The occasion was rendered exceedingly interesting by a detailed report from Mrs. W. P. Wilson of the discussions on missionary topics which took place during the recent sessions of the Pan-Protestant Council in Philadelphia, on which she had been in constant attendance.

PERSONALS.—Miss Maggie, daughter of ex-Sheriff Shaffer, of Nittany Hall, spent a few days of the past week at the residence of Major R. H. Foster, of this place.

—Miss Kate Jackson, the accomplished daughter of Mr. George Jackson, of this place, is attending Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

—Mr. R. A. Cassidy, who removed from this county about twelve years ago to Canton, Ohio, has entered upon the publication of the Canton Republican, the first number of which has reached us. It is quite a handsome sheet and reflects credit upon the literary and mechanical abilities of its editor and proprietor.

—Mrs. John P. Harris and daughter, Miss Nannie, are visiting friends in Pittsburgh.

—Miss Belle Willower, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Dr. Hibler, of this place, departed on Monday to her home in Hubersburg.

—Mr. James Milliken arrived home from New York City on Monday, and will spend a short time looking after his interests in this place.

—Mr. J. R. Van Ormer is spending a short time in Philadelphia.

—Mr. J. Fearon Mann, Jr., of this place, has recently been receiving a visit from his nephew, Mr. Frank Mann, Jr., of Millin county.

—Mr. C. F. Dorman, of Zion, was in town on Tuesday. Mr. Dorman makes very excellent boots and shoes for the people of Zion, and also retails groceries, a small but superior stock of which he always keeps on hand. He should receive a large share of the patronage of people in that vicinity.

—Prof. C. W. Scott and lady, of Williamsport, spent last week at the Brockhoff House in this place, departing on Saturday morning. The Professor is interested in the sale of various popular school books, and his lady was formerly a school teacher in this county.

—A gay party of ladies and gentlemen from Clearfield and Brookville were visiting in town last week during the fair. Among them were Mr. Latimer Reed and daughters, Mr. Cyrus Gordon and lady, Miss Bridge and the Misses Weaver, of Clearfield, and Mrs. Judge Means, and daughter, Miss Sallie Means, of Brookville. They were entertained at the residences of Mrs. Gordon, on Curtin street, and Mr. John P. Harris, on Linn street, and by other of our prominent citizens whom they number among their acquaintances.

—Mrs. W. F. Reeder, of this place, had the pleasure of entertaining her father, Mr. Jackson, of Berwick, Columbia county, during last week. Mr. Jackson is the senior partner in the large car manufacturing establishment at that place.

—Miss Amanda Tome, of Jersey Shore, is visiting her sister, Mrs. D. G. Bush, of this place.

—Mr. and Miss Fisher, who have been visiting at the residence of Mr. Harry Teats, on Howard street, returned to their home in the State of Indiana on Monday afternoon.

—Mr. Frank McClain, of this place, is engaged in the hauling business, and is prepared to haul anything from a spool of thread to a thousand pound safe for those who shall employ him.

—Messrs. Miller Bloom and Jack Newson, two young gentlemen of Clearfield, who are on a pleasure trip through this portion of the State, were in town yesterday. Of course they were pleased with the beauties of Bellefonte.

DEATH RECORD.—Mrs. Samuel Tyson, of Pine Hall, Ferguson township, died on Sunday morning of last week. She was eighty years of age, and had resided in this county for over fifty years.

—Mr. William Hall, of Howard, died on Thursday morning of last week at the residence of ex-Sheriff D. Z. Kline, on Spring street of this place. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. Kline. Funeral services were held in this place on Saturday morning and the body was conveyed to Unionville for interment, Rev. J. A. Woodcock, of Milesburg, and Rev. J. Donahue, of this place, officiating.

—Death entered the home of our townsman, Mr. S. A. Brew, last Sabbath night, and took from it his son, Joseph—a bright little boy, about three years of age. He had suffered quite intensely for several days of membranous croup, and his death was an end of pain to himself and of anguish to his parents—for did not his Saviour say "Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me; for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven?"

—Mr. Joseph Hull died at his home in the vicinity of Valentines' Forge on Thursday last after a long illness. He leaves a large family. The interment took place on Saturday morning in the Catholic cemetery. The deceased was about 38 years of age.

—Miss Celia Armor, of this place, was at Mt. Union, Huntingdon county, during a portion of the past week, whence she was called to attend the funeral of little Dot Shaeffer, daughter of Mrs. Shaeffer, who formerly resided in this place. The little girl was killed by barrels rolling from a wagon upon her.

—Some men have so much genius that they can't do anything but sit down in the shade and think about it. But they generally conclude that the best thing they can do is to buy their groceries at Sechler's store.

—Everybody is wanted to go to the Philadelphia Branch store.

THE CENTRE COUNTY FAIR.—A casual reference to the Twenty-ninth Annual Exhibition of the Centre County Agricultural Society will be all the space we can afford. During the three days of the fair's continuance the weather was all that could be desired, and doubtless contributed largely to its financial success. The fact that fairs were held simultaneously in Union and other adjoining counties detracted to some extent from the success of the home exhibition. But, nevertheless, it may be considered a success. The attendance on Wednesday was creditable; on Thursday—the great day—the people present could be numbered by thousands, and on Friday it was again very good.

As soon as the visitor at the fair could escape from the clouds of dust which filled the atmosphere he encountered several tents where peanuts, lemonades, gingerbread, etc., were for sale. In the first long, low building a large family carriage was the first object to greet the eye. Upon the outer shelves on either side were placed the productions of the farm in large variety and excellent quality. The bees beat everything for their size, and one would suffice for a meal. There were turnips one of which would fill a bushel measure; cabbages of tremendous size; pumpkins, each one of which looked tempting in view of the pies which it would make; potatoes, which attained tremendous size in spite of the potato bug; cowhorn gourds, or California cucumbers, which looked like Indian clubs, and are more of an agricultural novelty than of practical use, though one lady said that they may be used for medicine; fine looking ears of pop corn and field corn, which had they the same sense of hearing as the human ear, would have blushed under the extravagant exclamations of praise bestowed upon them. Several very high cornstalks were also on exhibition. Crowning all was an immense faded sunflower, which once perhaps was a thing of beauty, and even then was over three feet in circumference. In the centre of this building was a beautiful display of apples, quinces, pears, plums, etc. A large collection of seeds completed the display here.

The next most convenient enclosure to enter was the apartment occupied exclusively by H. K. Hicks & Co. It was filled with the very best stoves and heaters manufactured in the country. In two of them—a fire place heater and a parlor cook stove—brisk fires were burning, furnishing a cozy warmth. They were all handsome and convenient, showing great progress in the art of stove manufacture, and attracted much attention.

Next the poultry department came into view and this seemed to be well filled with feathered fowls of all descriptions. Big shanghais, pretty bramahs, little bantams, gobbling turkeys, noisy guinea fowls and innocent pigeons were all there in elegant variety. This was a never-failing source of interest to children.

Of course, everybody next ascended the steps into the "Home Department," for there's no place like home. Here was a crush of people and it was with difficulty that anything could be seen. A display of handsome furniture by W. R. Camp, of Centre Hall, was quite prominent. On the right was a display of jellies; canned, conserved and spiced fruits; cakes, pies, biscuits, bread and other productions of the pantry, and some prints of gilt-edged butter. Mr. Thomas Burnside also displayed some horse blankets. In appearance they are transparent, but are said to be waterproof. The centre stand in this department was well filled with articles of fancy work. But first the display of silverware by F. P. Blair should be referred to. It was quite handsome. There were a few flowers which lifted their modest heads among the beautiful things surrounding them. Some handsome overcoats and a fine display of other clothing, including gentlemen's suits and ladies' cloaks, were exhibited by S. & A. Loeb, all of which were pronounced elegant. The Philadelphia Branch, of which Mr. Samuel Lewin is manager, also had a fine display of clothing. The eight figures of men and boys dressed in elegant suits of the neatest make and finest quality of material attracted special attention, and called forth many remarks of admiration. Mr. Thomas Burnside displayed a collection of children's suits from his city agencies. The work of the ladies was well represented in a variety of articles of fancy work, the production of their nimble fingers. Pincushions, tidies, laces, collars, mats, rugs, beautiful afghans, wreaths, quilts, embroidered shawls, picture frames, etc., were there in delightful profusion.

There was a display of paintings by Miss Lizzie Forster and Miss Sallie Burnside and well executed drawings by Miss Carrie Rankin. A hand-painted silk pincushion exhibited by Miss Elizabeth Humes attracted admiration. Mr. Derr exhibited some specimens of his door plates and brackets, and there were other exhibits of work boxes, &c., executed in wood with great skill.

Outside of this department was the headquarters of Bunnell & Aikens, where a concert was constantly in progress, produced by skillful performers on the large collection of musical instruments. But the throng of people about this was so great that it was difficult to gain an entrance. Prof. Gildermeister, the principal artist, certainly had an appreciative audience.

In the circle surrounded by the race course was an exhibit of farm implements and machinery, Messrs. Alexander & Co.

and Gordon & Landis being the principal contributors to this department. It is said to have been unusually satisfactory. All the machinery was propelled by a splendid little farm engine provided by Gordon & Landis. When the engine was running at high power an armful of dry straw was placed on the smoke stack without igniting, demonstrating conclusively the absence of all danger from combustion when such an engine is used.

Very few persons were attracted to the stalls containing the exhibits of stock. Mr. G. W. Musser, of Lemont, made the largest exhibit. A huge eight-year-old stallion, weighing 1800 pounds, was entered by Henry Rudy, of Huntingdon county. Mr. E. Poorman, of Bald Eagle, exhibited a pair of stallions. Other exhibits in the same line were made by Messrs. J. H. Fishburn, A. V. Miller, of Pleasant Gap, C. T. Alexander, Amos Garbrich and John Wan, of this place.

Racing, shooting and similar amusements took place at intervals during each day. The fair was a success and all who attended seemed to enjoy themselves.

THE GRAND RALLY AT MILESBURG.—On Saturday evening the Democracy of the Bald Eagle made a glorious demonstration at Milesburg. Beside the clubs of Milesburg and Boggs township, Bellefonte was represented by her splendid Hancock Legion and the Hancock Veterans. Union and Unionville was out in force and Howard contributed a fine delegation. Upon the arrival of the train from Bellefonte, a procession was formed at the Pennsylvania railroad depot in Central City in the following order:

Chief Marshal, Col. Jas. F. Weaver.

The procession, without numbering the music, had 479 men in it bearing torches, and marched over the following route: From the depot to Milesburg; out the principal street to the Methodist church and countermarching to Mill street; down Mill to Hazel; up Hazel and around the square to the stand, countermarching before the speakers. The display was magnificent and called forth universal expressions of admiration.

The meeting was then called to order and organized by the election of the following named officers:

President—Dr. Joseph Adams.
Vice Presidents—E. H. Carr, Isaac Buffington, O. P. Kreamer, J. L. Neff, P. W. Barnhart, David A. Lucas, H. L. Barnhart, E. Confer, H. L. Harvey, John Poorman, Edward Johnson, David R. Poorman, Hon. J. S. Proudfoot, Adam Witherite and James M. Lucas.
Secretaries—C. L. Buffington and A. M. McClain.

After a few appropriate introductory remarks by Dr. Adams the first speaker of the evening, ex-Gov. Andrew G. Curtin, was introduced to the audience, numbering not less than 1000, who crowded around the stand. Gov. Curtin was greeted with enthusiastic cheers, and at once proceeded to deliver a speech of great force and eloquence. He spoke for over an hour and a half upon the political issues that are now before the people, and the timely truths he uttered made a profound impression upon his hearers. At the conclusion of Gov. Curtin's speech, Senator Cyrus T. Alexander was introduced, and he entertained the meeting with a short address in his usual able and happy manner. The meeting then adjourned with hearty cheers for Hancock and English. The speakers' stand was very tastefully decorated with Chinese lanterns and from it was also displayed a handsome portrait of Gen. Hancock. A pleasing feature of the meeting to the speakers was the hospitality of Mr. E. H. Carr. He met them at the depot with his carriage and conveyed them to his residence and after the meeting entertained them with an elegant lunch. Altogether the rally at Milesburg was a grand success.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.—Again it becomes our pleasing duty to record an important event in the matrimonial annals of this place. Last evening at 7 o'clock a pleasant little company gathered in the spacious and brilliantly illuminated parlors of the High street residence of our honored townsman, H. Y. Stitzer, Esq., to witness the nuptial ceremony between his adopted daughter, Miss Myra E. Shaffer, and our talented young legal friend, H. A. McKee, Esq. The assembly consisted of only the immediate friends of the contracting parties. Rev. S. E. Furst, the pastor of the Lutheran church, performed the ceremony in his peculiarly happy manner, and then all were bidden to assemble around a most sumptuously laden table. The evening train conveyed the happy couple—now Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McKee—away on a brief and delightful wedding tour.

The bride is an exceedingly attractive and intelligent young lady. The groom is an able young Democratic lawyer, who has most brilliant prospects before him. They are eminently well suited to each other, and we hope that great happiness is in store for them.

—We have the finest stock of suits in black diagonal, blue check and other dark good, heavy winter suits. We can show you the largest and best stock in the county and guarantee them 20 per cent. cheaper than any other house.

—Thousands of dollars worth of clothing at the Philadelphia Branch.

THE NEW REFORMED CHURCH.—The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new Reformed church, located on the corner of Linn and Spring streets, took place on Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Gerhart, who was expected to be present to conduct services appropriate to the occasion, was prevented from reaching this place by a wreck on the railroad in the vicinity of Huntingdon, consequently that duty devolved upon Rev. J. F. De Long, the resident pastor. A liturgical service of prayer, singing and responsive exercises was repeated at the corner stone, in the midst of which occurred the event about which all the interest centered—the laying of the large, handsome stone in its proper position and placing several articles of interest in a tin box in the cavity of the stone. Among the articles to rest in the stone until the demolition of the handsome edifice to be erected over it, may be mentioned a copy of the Holy Bible, a copy of the book of church services, a copy of the Heidelberg catechism, a copy of the minutes of the Synod which met at Lancaster in 1878, various church papers, the constitution of the Bellefonte Reformed church, and a copy each of the Bellefonte Republican, Democratic Watchman and CENTRE DEMOCRAT. It was a happy thought which conceived the idea of placing the Bible at the base of the pile and the CENTRE DEMOCRAT on top. Hedged in with such valuable doctrine as these two publications contain, the future prosperity of the church is quite certain. The corner stone bears the date 1880. At 10½ o'clock the congregation retired to the Lutheran church on High street, where the services were continued.
