LETTER FROM PITTSBURG.

Special Correspondence of DEMOCRAT.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 9, 1880.

The cause of our defeat is now being diligently searched for. Many who favored the nomination of Mr. Tilden are blaming Kelley, and all who were for the nomination of Gen. Hancock. Of course, that is a very cheap and short way out of it but it does not satisfy or explain things.

Generally the answer to it is, that if Mr. Tilden had done as much for our nominee as Grant did for their's, New York would not have been lost to us. the principal artistic features of the num-Almost every man you meet has some thing of a new theory which he thinks the real and regulating cause. The main points of discussion are :

1st. The loss of Indiana.

2d. The treachery or foul dealing of Kelley.

3d. The indifference of Tilden and his friends in New York.

WHAT CAUSED THE LOSS OF INDIANA?

Undoubtedly the lack of money on our part to match the Republicans. Barnum and English could not agree as to what amount the candidate for Vice President and the National Committee should give towards the campaign. English could not understand the way eastern men contribute towards a cam-paign. He would rather give up his party than a good round contribution to it. They had put him on the ticket and he knew they could not get rid of him. Barnum was disgusted. He had, with Barnum was disgusted. He had, with Senator Randolph, of New Jersey, Augen five thousand dollars as a contribu-tions to the National C tions to the National Committee and he was naturally disgusted with this ten cent conduct of English.

This disagreement soon reached the ears of the Republican Committee and they were not slow in taking advantage Dorsey was immediately sent to Indiana. He reported the place as good missionary ground, and the situation was explained to Crmeron and the Stal-They opened their pocket books warts. They opened their pocket books and contributed. Harry Olliver, a young henchman of the Camerons, raised $25,000 among the rolling mill owners for Indiana. Other large con-tributions were made. The conference of old man Cameron, Grant and Conk-ling at Mentor soon followed, and our defect in Indiana took above and we in Indiana took shape and was clearly visible.

Book Notices

The Scientific American of this week contains two full page illustrations of Captain Eads' proposed railway for transporting ships with their cargo across continents Captain Eads claims by his plan to be able to take loaded ships of the largest tonnage from one ocean to the other across the Isthmus of Panama, as readily as can be done by a canal after the Lessup plan, and at a much less cost for engineering construction. The project is certainly bold and ingenious, and the projector anticipates no serious difficulties in carrying forward his enterprise. The engravings referred to in the Scientific American show the proposed construction of not only the railroad, but the appliances for transferring the ships from the water to the rail.

In addition to the large number of engravings, illustrative of engineering works, inventions and new discoveries which appear weekly, the Scientific American has, during the past year, devoted considerable space to illustrating and describing leading establishments devoted to different manufacturing industries. This feature has added very much to the attractiveness and usefulness of the paper. More than fifty of the most important in-dustrial establishments of our country have been illustrated, and the processes of the different manufactures described in its col-umns. The Scintific American has been published for mo e than thirty-four years by Munn & Co., 27 Park Row, N. Y., and by much & Co., 57 Fark Row, N. 1., and has attained a larger weekly circulation than all similar papers published in the country. The publishers assure the public that they have not printed less than 50,000 conies a week for superal months. copies a week for several months.

Scribner's Monthly celebrates its tenth birthday with a permanent change of cover, and with a number (for November) which the conductors have done all in their power to make one of exceptional beauty, interest and value, as it is also the largest number of Scribner ever issued Scribner's cover has turned from violet to a warm brown, and in the design the aim has been distinctness, simplicity, and a rich decorative effect. Millet's most famous picture, "The Sower," engraved by Cole, forms the frontispiece, and among ber are a striking portrait of Gladstone, printed in the body of the magazine, but without type either on the same page or on the back of the page; a new portrait of successes of this kind, such as the portraits of the Countess Potocka, and of Modjeska); engravings after Vedder's works, notably "The Lost Mind," accompanying a criti-cism by Charles de Kay; and reproduc-tions of others among the best known of the works of Millet, the story of whose life is being told for the first time in Scrib-ner. With this number is begun the sec-ond and concluding part of Eugene Schuyler's profusely illustrated life of Peter the ler's profusely illustrated life of Peter the Great, entitled "Peter the Great as Ruler and Reformer," also a new short serial by a new writer,—"Tiger-Lily," by Mrs. Julia Schayer. The literary interest of this number of Scribner, whether inten-tional or not, is mainly of the personal kind_nearly operarities having for its kind -nearly every article having for its subject some conspicuous individuality even Miss Phelps's story has for its hero a for its real person, whose tragic fate is here re-corded. The most famous of the names after the historical ones of the great Peter, and "the Bonapartes," is that of Gladstone. The authorship of this article is not di-vulged, but it is evident that the writer vulged, but it is evident that the writer has had exceptional opportunities for the study of his theme; and it is safe to say that he has given to the world the most profound and satisfactory, the most clearly explanatory and philosophical exposition of the greatest of living English states-men that has yet appeared. An illustra-ted paper, on "Bordentown and the Bona-partes" will open a new and curious chap-ter of American society to most readers. partes" will open a new and curious chap-ter of American society to most readers. The article on "Tableaux," with pictures by Miss Oakey, goes more thoroughly than usual into the artistic capabilities of such entertainments. "The Secret of Second-sight" is authoritively revealed by an "ex-conjurger". The pages of the pumpher are

Fraud in New York.

AN INVESTIGATION OF THE RETURNS ORDER. ED BY THE DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE.

NEW YORK, November 4.- After Tues. day's earthquake temporary stupefaction descended upon the Democracy of this city. They neither knew what to do or what to say. Then the fact grad-ually dawned upon them that they had been outwitted by Arthur, "The" Allen and Washington colonization bureau. The result is that we are now threaten-ed with a repetition of the troubles of ed with a repetition of the troubles of four years ago. The National Demo-cratic Committee will declare the vote fraudulent, Congress will investigate, and under the famous twenty second joint rule, which the House of Repre sentatives has never repealed, objection will be made to the counting of New York's electoral vote—possibly that of Indiana also. Mr. Hewitt and Mr. Cox, both of whom have been returned by magnificent majorities, will lead the onslaught. Can it be supported by facts? It can. The Treasury Depart ment sent on several batches of clerks who were domesticated on the west side of New York. Vermont furnished a contingent colonized in the Seventh and Ninth Assembly districts. In some logent calities the registration showed an in-crease of seventy-four per cent. for Republicans and only sixteen for Democrats, when the ratio should have been reversed. The Board of Aldermen will take action, no doubt, when they canvass the city vote, and, as the State Board of Canvassers is Republican, lively times may be anticipated. Stranger things have happened than that the electoral vote of New York should either be thrown out wholly by Congress or be counted for Hancock.

At a meeting of the Democratic State Executive Committee this evening the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted :

WHEREAS, It appears that at the recent election in this State a vote has been cast in certain localities largely in excess of the legal vote as determined by the recent cen-sus taken under direction of the General Government; therefore, Resolved. That it be be the duty of the several county committees of this State, and they are hereby requested by the State committee, to examine such census returns and make comparison with the votes recorded as having been polled in various districts of their county, with a view of ascertaining the extent of the fraudulent vote in this State and forward the immediate result of such examination to W. A. Fowler, chairman of the Democratic State executive committee, at the St. James Hotel, New York. The unaccountable York and Kings conties and plain evi-dences of fraud in such vote demand immediate investigation on the part of the respective Democratic organizations of the unties

Revolved, That all citizens of this State, in each and every locality, who favor the right of the people to popular government, and who believe in the very fair vote and honest count essential to the perpetuation of our institutions, are requested to aid by all means in their power the ascertainment of this result. Resolved, That a copy of these resolu-tions be forwarded to every Democratic organization in this State.

LITTLE WILLIE SPRAGUE, THE EX-GOVER-NOR'S SON, ATTEMPTS TO SHOOT TRUS-

TEE THOMPSON. PROVIDENCE, R. I., November 7. -Mr Robert Thompson, the trustee of Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, and the custodian appointed by Mr. Chaffee of Canonchet, appointed by Mr. Chaffee of Canonchet, the Sprague mansion at Narragansett Pier, was the gentieman who conveyed Agent Gardiner of the Providence steampship line, D. F. Haydea, and Mr. Granville S. A. Gardner, from Gould's Crossing, to the scene of the wreck of the Phode Lend air miles direct of the Rhode Island, six miles distant. When the party reached the beach near Bonnet Point there was a deep gap in the hill and the gentlemen jumped out to walk, Mr. Thompson driving leisurely behind. At the head of the hill they met two boys, Willie Sprague, son of ex-Governor Sprague, and a young son of Dr. J. B. Greene, of Providence. The gentlemen, who were walk-ing, noticed that one of the boys had a large pistol, but passed on, not suspect-press of Cincinnati, he was sure it did not represent the feeling of the mass of business men of Cincinnati. With this disclaimer of any indorsement of the views of the letter Mr. Watterson Also, all that certain lot or piece of land disclaimer of any indorsement of the views of the letter Mr. Watterson thought the object of the committee would be attained, and as the disclosure of the name of the writer would imbusiness, if not his life, he felt obliged to decline the committee's request. The consideration of the com-mittee's report was laid over till to morrow

The chamber voted to hold no session on Tuesday next, upon a petition signed by members of both political parties.

Sara Bernhardt.

ARRIVAL OF THE FAMOUS FRENCH ACTRESS IN NEW YORK.

Sara Bernhardt, the famous French sara bernardt, the famous French actress, reached New York on Tuesday of last week, and the papers gush frightfully over her. A hundred artists went down to the ship to meet her and as they stepped upon the dock, the band struck up "The Bells go a Ringing for Sarah." The Times gusher tells us that the Bernhardt did not wholly come up to her reputed point of attention. "This is indubitably attributable to the costume she wore, which was the very quintessence of chic. But her personal-ity fully comes up to its reputation of strangeness. She is of medium stature, inclined perhaps to shortness. Her forehead, which is naturally quite low, becomes totally invisible under the fluffy and disorderly coiffure. The hair itself is neither reddish nor bright golden, as described by some persons, but a warm blonde, and of so healthful a hue that a dye is not even suggested. Her features are extremely fine and not even remotely indicative of her Semitic origin. Her cheek bones are rather high and her eyes, which are steel blue, are, when her face is in re-pose, prone to dreamness, but as soon as her face becomes animated sparkle electrically. Her mouth is large but pretty, and her teeth are fine, although the upper ones are perhaps too long. The most striking part of her face is her complexion, which is of a transparent and warm paleness. Her bearing is graceful and unaffected and wholly free from the staginess which many actress-es are forever bent upon parading in public."

A circular just issued from the Census Bureau places the population of Dela-ware at 146,654. Of this total 74.133 are males and 72,051 females; 137,182 are native born and 9,472 are foreign born ; 120,197 are white and 25,456 col-ored. In 1870 the total population was 125,015.

Joseph and Rebecca Taylor, parents of the late Bayard Taylor, celebrated the sixty-second anniversary of their married life at Kennett Square on Friday last.

Forty tramps made a raid on Susquebanna a few nights since, and twenty-three of them were captured.

WHAT WAS GOING ON IN NEW YORK.

The minor facts of the condition in Indiana were known only to Tilden and his friends, through Barnum, whom Tilden had forced on Hancock. That appointment was the first and fatal weakness of Hancock. It never should have been made. The idea of handing the conduct of the campaign over to your political opponent was ridiculous. Tilden and his friend, Gov. Robinson, The indifference spread all sat still. through the state. Their state commit-tee was not heard of, and Barnum kept telling Hancock that it was all right whilst his pickets were driven in and the Empire State was slipping away from his support.

To bring the mistakes down to a perpoint, it may be said that,

Tilden made a mistake when he forcnomination of Robinson, and ed the lost us the state government of New York.

Hancock made a mistake when he permitted Barnum to be Chairman. English made a mistake when he refused to contribute liberally to his own election

Barnum made a mistake when he did not disregard English and carry Indiana at all hazards.

Kelley made a mistake when he did not carry New York for Hancock by 75,000 as he said he would.

In addition to this Barnum should have kept the financial trouble between English and himself quiet, or having told Tilden and his friends, should also told Tilden and his friends, should also have informed Hancock and his breth ren, and Kelley should have dropped on the situation in New York, blowed it to the country, in order that the par-ty might have had a chance to pull it-self together for a fight before it was too late. Great blunders are often made like large ropes, of a multitude of fibres. Take the cable thread by thread, take you break them one after another and you say "that is all," but wind them and twist them together and they be-come an enormity. KEYSTONE.

The poems of the number are ing that there would be any attempt at been attempted, and a fresher, more vig-orous and inspiring literature than had been exemplified in any popular periodical, American or foreign. It has not only ac-complished what it undertook, but," he believes, "it has greatly modified and ele-vated the work of its contemporaries." vated the work of its contemporaries." He furthermore calls attention to the policy adopted by Scribher some years ago, of fostering American writers of serial nov-els, and refers as fruits of the policy to the works of Mr. Cable, author of "The Grandissimes," and Mrs. Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," and "Ha-worth's." worth's.

of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," and "Ha-worth's." In speaking of fiction, the magazine can claim also Brete Hart's only novel and the Saxe Holm stories. Dr Eggleston's first story for adult readers was written tor, and at the request of, Scribner; he after-ward wrote his first novel for other publi-cations, but his latest novel, "Roxy," ap-peared in Scribner. Dr. Holland says: "Will our readers bear with us, on this an-niversary, when we attempt to give them a summing-up of what we have done for them, for the small sum of forty dollars? We have given them twenty large volumes of good illustrated reading, on all possible topics, and in all possible forms of literary art. These volumes have contained six-teen thousand seven hundred and thirty-two pages of matter, illustrated by six two pages of nutler, illustrated by six thousand six hundred and eighty-eight wood cuts, costing from ten dollars to three hundred dollars each. Out of the material published in these twenty volumes, there have been made and published over fifty hooks, the retail price of which others. In the editorial departments, Dr. Hol. In the editorial departments, Dr. Hol-land has something to say about the origin and history of Scribner. "There was," he says, "no popular magazine in existence which it took for a model. It aimed at a higher excellence in art than had hitherto been attempted, and a fresher, more vig-been attempted in a fresher, more vig-been attempted in the says and a substantial there in a substantial there is a substantial to the boys then turned and fled from the been attempted inspiring literature. Then had place as rapidly as their legs could carry them. The ball from the pistol went harmlessly by Mr. Thompson, and after he had recovered from his astonishment he called out to his companions to whom he related this dastardly attempt whom he related this dastardly attempt on his life in response to their inquiry as to the cause of the pistol shot they had heard. Young Sprague had pre-viously threatened to kill Mr. Thompson and the latter intends to prosecute him. Sheriff Whipple, of Washington county, and his deputy, went down to Canonchet yesterday to serve the writ of replevin for Mrs. Sprague's wearing apparel and a writ of ejectment from Concepted Canonchet on ex Governor Sprague. He was not admitted to the premises, and so was obliged to come away with-out accomplishing his object. Another attempt will be made to serve the writs on Monday.

CINCINNATI MERCHANTS SEEKING THE AU-THOR OF A SLANDEROUS LETTER.

CINCINNATI, October 29.-The committee of the Chamber of Commerce appointed to ascertain the name of the writer of a letter recently published in the Louisville Courier Jour the Louisville Courier Journal, purport-ing to be from a Cincinnati merchant, and saying that Cincinnati merchants did not want Southern trade and had no desire to cultivate business relations with Southern men, reported to-day by reading a letter from Mr. Watterson, of the Courier-Journal, in answer to the committee's request for the name of the author of the letter. Mr. Watterson said that if the letter had come under his observation it would not have been printed; that, while it reflected the sentiments of a portion of the daily
