Bellefonte, Pa., Feb. 1.

Local Department.

—New moon last Saturday.

—Buy all your cigars at Green's drug store.

—Cuffs, collars, neckties and all kinds of gentlemen's clothing at the Philadelphia Branch.

—The Watchman says that "Mrs. Bower, grand aunt of C. M. Bower, Esq., of this place, died in Aaronsburg a few days ago. She was 87 years old."

—The stanzas by "Carl Schreiber," which appear elsewhere in the DEMOCRAT, were inspired by a cigar. It was probably purchased at Green's drug store, where all the inspiring cigars come from.

—If one half that is said proves true in regard to the changes of residence to take place among the people of this borough on the first of April next, it will be one of the greatest "flitting" days on record.

—If there is one reason more than another why the ladies should envy their husbands it is because the latter can dress so nicely by spending a few dollars at the Philadelphia Branch, while the former—poor creatures—must spend hundreds of dollars to produce the same effect.

—Eli Green, Altoona's fat man, died last week. He weighed 440 pounds and this excessive weight was all in his body as his limbs were of the ordinary dimensions. He had fallen on the ice twice this winter, and his death is thought to have been caused by injuries received in this manner.

—Our Republican contemporary suggests the election of a colored man as member of the school board and suggests Mr. George Skinner. If the voters shall see fit to choose a representative of the African race, George is perhaps better fitted for that position than any other that could be found.

—The death of Miss Maggie Apt, daughter of the late Mr. Martin Apt, of Hubersburg, occurred on Friday of last week. Her death was the result of injuries received in falling from a tree last fall. The funeral took place on Monday, her body being consigned to the earth in the Catholic cemetery of this place.

—The regular monthly meeting of the Bellefonte Temperance Union will be held this evening in the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association of this place. There will doubtless be a large audience, as there seems to be an increased interest in the subject of temperance in Bellefonte and throughout the county. All are invited.

—If the young ladies do not seem as happy as usual this month, the source of their grief can be traced to the fact that February, 1881, is the first for a series of years in which that month has only twenty-eight days. It seems such a long time for them to wait until 1884, when they will again have the royal right to "pop the question."

—We have recently seen a report that the long lost Charlie Ross has been discovered among the Tuscarora Indians. We cannot vouch for the truth of this rumor, but are quite sure that the best place to purchase groceries is on Allegheny street of this borough. It is known as the store of S. A. Brew & Son. Give it a call.

—It is commonly rumored on the street that a large store will soon be opened in Bellefonte and will be conducted upon strictly cash principles. The goods are to be sold at Philadelphia prices and the long credit system is to be rooted out. It is said that Mr. D. P. Peters, of the Bush House, is interested in this enterprise, and if so it will no doubt be successfully carried out.

—The "World Renowned Jubilee Singers" (which means the organization composed of the colored local musical talent of this place) gave a concert at Bousburg last night. To-night they will sing at State College and to-morrow night they will conclude their triumphant tour with a grand musical melange at Pine Grove. Their repertoire includes many new selections, and those who hear them are always delighted.

OH! THAT GROUND HOG.—Yesterday was Candlemas day, and of all the days in the year we looked forward with eager anticipation for that day to be dark with clouds and gloomy with the absence of sunshine. We were almost willing that the snow which fell all day on Tuesday should continue through Wednesday—anything, indeed, to prevent that horrible ground hog seeing his shadow. But he came, he saw and he conquered. Wednesday morning dawned in the most provoking manner possible. The thermometer had sunk during the previous night to 21° below zero, the sky was as clear as crystal and the snow covered the earth deep and white and pure. No fair lady ever saw her lovely reflection in the mirror more distinctly than the ground hog could see his ugly shadow on the snow that day. Yes, all day long; from the moment the King of Day first lighted up the snowy mountain tops until he sank behind the banks of frozen vapor in the west that fabled quadruped could view his shadow and glut over the Polar waves which would follow each other in quick succession across our balmy temperate zone. We care not what Vennor may say about an early spring, that ground hog is the older and more reliable prophet, and we are doomed to six more weeks of Arctic weather of which the frigidity of yesterday morning was only a foretaste. But we will submit; it is useless to fight fate.

—Harry Rine, a small son of Mr. Samuel Rine, of this place, met with quite a remarkable escape from severe injury while coasting, last Friday afternoon. When descending the steep declivity in the rear of Mr. Charles Glenn's photograph gallery his sled gained such velocity that it shot across the street and then made a leap of about fifteen feet into the cold waters of Spring creek. The sled reached the bottom of the creek in an upright position, and Harry was tumbled into the water, getting dreadfully moist, but apparently not injuring himself any. One of Postmaster Johnson's sons chanced along just then and helped Harry to climb up the stone wall, when he scampered rapidly home after dry clothes. In nine cases out of ten a similar accident might have resulted in broken bones.

—Last Friday night, with the exception of the absence of moonlight, was as bright and beautiful as could be desired, and induced many Bellefonters to skim lightly over the ice and snow to the grand concert at Bousburg. At least fifty of those who composed the large audience which was present were from this place, and several of our best lady vocalists took prominent parts in the programme. Among them were Miss McGinley, Miss Richards and Mrs. Dr. Hayes who won golden opinions from the audience by their artistic performances.

—It is now announced that Raeloff Von Baren, of Connecticut, who was reported to have fallen heir to $40,000,000, is a fraud, and was merely seeking to gain a cheap notoriety. Before the average native of Centre county lives to be an hundred years old he learns that there are a good many frauds in the world, but he can congratulate himself that the grocery store of Sechler & Co. is exactly what it is represented to be. The proprietor, by fair dealing, has built up an immense trade.

—A very sad event occurred at Julian on Monday last week in the death of Miss E. Daughenbaugh, a daughter of Mr. Levi Daughenbaugh, of that place. She was a victim of consumption. Her journey over the dark waters of the river of death was illuminated by the light of a constant faith in Jesus. Her earthly church connection was with the Methodist Episcopal congregation of that place. The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. R. King.

—Mr. D. P. Peters, of the Bush House, desires it to be known that the statement in the Morning News, of the 23d inst., that he intended raising his rates of board is untrue. On the contrary, Mr. Peters says he has made arrangements to so lower the daily and weekly rates of board as to meet any and every demand. He is increasing the facilities of his hotel with this object in view. We are glad to know that Mr. Peters appreciates the situation.

—The Millheim German evening school will give a public entertainment in the Town Hall of that place on Saturday evening, the 12th instant. The programme, part of which will consist of declamations and dialogues rendered in High German and Pennsylvania Dutch, will afford an endless amount of mirthful entertainment for those who shall attend. We hope it will also be financially profitable.

—A meeting of the Centre county bar was held last Monday to take action in regard to holding the sessions of the Supreme Court in Philadelphia. It was the prevailing opinion of those present, however, that all the sessions should be held at Harrisburg, and the association so voted.

—We're sitting at the table, Mary,
Where we sat long ago;
When your hair was black as jet,
But now it's light as tow!
We're eating of those groceries, Mary,
You bought at Sechler's store;
And when we've eaten them all up
We'll surely wish for more.

—Men and boys who buy clothing at the Philadelphia Branch can dress the best on the least outlay of money.

PERSONAL.—Mr. David L. Kerr and lady, of Centre Hill, returned home last week after a very agreeable visit among their friends in the West.

—Mr. C. L. Callaway visits Bellefonte frequently of late. He was in town on Monday.

—We hear that Mr. Andy Loneberger, of this place, has secured a position on a railroad running between Prospect Park and Coney Island and expects to leave Bellefonte soon to enter upon his new duties. Mr. L. is a good workman and an excellent citizen, and his place in our midst will not easily be filled.

—Mr. William Laurie, of Phillipsburg, was one of the handsome young gentlemen whom we observed in town this week.

—It is said that Rev. J. F. DeLong, the leader of the Union Normal Class which meets in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, succeeds in rendering that organization very interesting. "Bible Geography" was the topic discussed last Monday night.

—Mr. Richard Garman has returned to Coatsville after a very pleasant visit at his home in this place.

—Mr. Al. Haupt spent Sunday last in town.

—Miss Ada Weaver, one of the very agreeable daughters of Mr. George Weaver, of this place, returned home a few days ago after a prolonged visit at Phillipsburg.

—Mrs. Heath and daughter, of Philadelphia, who have been visiting for several weeks at the residence of Mr. Isaac Mitchell, of this place, returned home on Monday last.

—Mr. John G. Love, of this place, has recently been entertaining his sisters, the Misses Love, of Lovellville.

—Mrs. A. O. Furst, of this place, is visiting at her maiden home in Milton.

—Mrs. Ogden and her son, Spencer C. Ogden, formerly of this place, reached the shores of Liberia in Western Africa, on the 16th of December last, after a voyage of a month and a half. They were then in the enjoyment of good health. We hope that safety and prosperity will continue to attend them during their three years' residence in that dark and benighted land of which we as yet know so little.

—We are pleased to note that our young and accomplished friend, Mr. J. Reese Van Orner, last week received a permanent teacher's commission from the Department of Education at Harrisburg. Reese stands high in the ranks of the teachers of Centre county and is altogether worthy of the compliment bestowed upon him.

—Mr. Ira Mitchell, of Lock Haven, expects soon to engage in the editorial business, having been tendered a proposition to edit a Greenback paper in Forest county.

—Mr. Ellis L. Orvis, son of Judge John H. Orvis, was admitted to practice law before the various courts of this county on Thursday last. Of course, he passed a highly creditable examination, for although young in years he is far advanced in scholastic acquirements, and has been prepared for admission to the bar for several years. His legal education is very fine and his general knowledge as comprehensive as that of any young gentleman of his age whom we have ever met. His cast of countenance is purely intellectual, very much resembling that of England's ex-Prime Minister Disraeli. We predict for the young gentleman the brilliant future which his great moral worth eminently merits.

—Dr. E. J. Deshler, of Aaronsburg, was one of the welcome visitors at the DEMOCRAT office this week.

—We regret exceedingly to learn that Mr. Robert Cambridge, of Unionville, is very ill with pneumonia. We hope he may soon be restored to good health.

—Our old friend, J. Wesley Pennington, of Philadelphia, dropped in upon us yesterday and reports business as good, but the snow as something a little worse than he ever remembers. Mr. Pennington represents the reliable boot and shoe house of David J. Hoar & Co., and should be remembered by all his old friends in Centre county.

[Communicated.]

MESSES. EDITORS.—It is understood that the gentlemen who have store-rooms and houses in Bellefonte, contemplate making large advances in the rent of their buildings consequent upon the early resumption of operations at the car works. We think these gentlemen are making a great mistake. Rents are now notoriously high with us, and this fact, taken in connection with our onerous borough taxes, makes the cost of living here excessive in the extreme. Gentlemen, this is not the way in which to insure permanent prosperity and business importance to your town. You must pursue a more liberal and generous policy or you may in the end have cause to bitterly regret your lack of forethought. Col. D. G. Bush, Major W. F. Reynolds, Thomas F. Reynolds, the Brokerhoff Estate, and others, have done much for Bellefonte in the past, for which they are entitled to great credit. In a spirit of kindness permit me therefore to say that I hope they will do nothing now to lessen in any way those feelings of respect and good will—inspired by their past liberality and enterprise—which are felt for them by their fellow townsmen. An indiscriminate raising of rents at the present time will not fail to act injuriously upon every business interest of our town, and should not be thought of.

CITIZEN.

SPRING MILLS ITEMS.—The local reporter from Spring Mills wrote last week about the bustle and activity of "the ancient village," which awoke a few years ago from its Rip Van Winkle sleep, but he did not tell our readers of its growing prospects for next summer. The all-absorbing subject of conversation now is about the great summer resort hotel which Mr. I. Grenoble is making preparations to build as soon as spring opens up. It will be erected in that part of Spring Mills known as "Guinea Hill."

—Messrs. Shook, Phillips, and Ripkey intend erecting a few dwelling houses next summer in that part of the city which rejoices in the local name of Cooperstown.

—Mr. W. W. Allison's palatial residence which he is building for the pretty bird he caged last year is almost ready for occupancy. It is situated on Church Hill, and will, when finished, be the finest residence in the valley.

—At the spring election the citizens of the southern precinct of Gregg township will vote for or against the removal of the polling place from Penn Hall to the hotel at Spring Mills.

—A series of protracted meetings commenced in the M. E. church on Monday evening, January 31. The pastor in charge, Rev. Akers, is an able and popular preacher, and it is hoped he will have a very successful meeting.

PLEASANT GAP NEWS.—An occasional correspondent gives us the following items from Pleasant Gap:

—Mr. Haag has temporarily suspended operations at his distillery. It will be idle for seven months.

—Matt Riddle has removed his office to the hotel, where all business in his line will be transacted under the name of "Shin Bone."

—"Abe" has seven months vacation. He will drive the Hambletonian "Bob."

—The big horse tamer drives the matches. He is going to Union county, but will be back in a short time.

GOSPEL MEETINGS.—What promises to be a very interesting series of Gospel meetings will begin in Humes' Hall next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. On that occasion Mrs. Hannah Whiteall Smith, of Philadelphia, will be present and conduct the service. Mrs. Smith is said to be a very agreeable talker, and her remarks will be a rich intellectual and Gospel feast. Although she has never before been in this place she has obtained a great reputation as a preacher in this country and in England. While in the latter country she preached before the Oxford students by the direct invitation of Queen Victoria. She is wealthy and never accepts any monetary recompense for her services. Most of her previous labors have been in the larger cities and she is only induced to come to Bellefonte by the fact that she is distantly related to some of our citizens, and is consequently more deeply interested in the spiritual welfare of the people of this place. The meetings will continue every afternoon of next week at 3 o'clock in Humes' Hall, and will close with a Gospel meeting on Sunday afternoon, February 13, at 4 o'clock. The public are cordially invited to all the meetings.

In consequence of the Gospel meeting to be conducted by Mrs. Smith next Sunday afternoon, the monthly services of the Young Men's Christian Association, which otherwise would occur at that time, will not be held.

PHILLIPSBURG'S NEW BANK.—From the Journal we learn that the growing wealth and importance of Phillipsburg has induced the business men of that place, assisted by some of the capital of Bellefonte, to organize a new banking institution in that place to be called the Moshannon Banking Company. The gentlemen composing the company are Messrs. John Nuttall, George McGaffey, Robert Lloyd, William P. Duncan and J. F. Steiner, of Phillipsburg, and Dr. E. W. Hale, of this place. Our friend, William P. Duncan, has been chosen President, and will fill that position with honor to himself and to the great benefit of the institution. Mr. W. H. Sandford, a former cashier of the Citizens' Banking Company, at Osceola, will officiate in the same capacity in the new bank.

FIRE ON SATURDAY NIGHT.—Just after the inhabitants of this place had fallen into their first sleep last Saturday night they were awakened by the cry of fire. The flames proceeded from the neat little frame building on High street, owned and occupied by Mr. J. D. Sourbeck as a confectionery and fruit store. Both fire companies were promptly on hand and the flames were quickly subdued. Part of the contents of the store was removed, but so much of it was either broken or carried away that his loss on stock will reach $150, and his loss on the building will amount to about $35, all of which is fully insured. It is supposed that the fire originated from a defective flue. He will repair the building immediately.

MRS. PARTINGTON SAYS: Don't take any of the quack nostrums, as they are regimental to the human system; but put your trust in Hop Bitters, which will cure general dilapidation, costive habits and all comic diseases. They saved Isaac from a severe extract of tripod fever. They are the ne plus unum of medicine.—Boston Globe.

—There will be several weeks more of cold weather, and warm winter clothing is in demand. It can be procured at the Philadelphia Branch.

HOW THE SHERIFF DISPOSED OF HIS REAL ESTATE.—The columns of the DEMOCRAT were so full of local news last week that it was impossible to find space for the disposition made by Sheriff Spangler, on the Saturday previous, of the real estate advertised for sale by him. We therefore give that information one week later than usual:

—The following stanzas by "Carl Schreiber," which appeared in last week's Watchman, are said to have been "inspired by the cigar sent by C. O. M. on the occasion of 'The First Arrival!'"

Now check your eyes, haste,
Ere sleep her wand shall waste,
That Galia's set-up gave,
The fragrant Cuba? I'll muse
With placid air of frog,
And soon the vapour puffs
Carle upward to the ceiling.

The wreath ascend in lustrous line
And dally with themselves;
Vulgarity they interwine
Like mythologic elves
What magic is there in the weed
That from the cloud folds o'er me
The future's secrets thus proceed
And stand arrayed before me?

Ah, faces that before me rise,
Among you are but few
That flash remembrance from your eyes,
Whose faces—since I knew
For many a friend that clasped my hand
And listened to my numbers
Has journeyed to the Silent Land
And there in silence slumbers.

But one of you is dear to me;
With time grows fainter, ah,
And shall no dissolution see
Till God himself shall die,
Her face remains—my light, my sun,
My land star, faithful beacon,
Which o'er life's ocean leads me on
To glories past divining.

There's Cal, with beaming countenance,
Beside his worthy spouse;
He's status in the boarder's man's
That heads a numerous house,
In wit and worth I still his grow,
Extending still his margin;
While others, at his looks, to flow
His own stream still enlarges.

And with him is his daughter fair,
The first fruits of his love,
With night's dark beauty to her hair,
Eyes bright as stars, and nose
The flush of morn is in her cheek,
Her lips are rose-buds blowing,
And when she opens them to speak,
Her teeth like pearls are showing.

I see her healthy, cheerful, chaste,
Of such too few there are,
With that divine beauty graced
Which age can never mar,
She has no cheap, quackish arts,
Is free from frivolous fancies,
Nor seeks to wound too many hearts
With her most dangerous glances.

Long may she live! long may she be
Her sire's delight and pride!
The beauty Art desires to see
In her be typified!
And when her life's mysterious move
In womanhood shall gather,
May her successful lover prove
As true as is her father.

Ah, that the vision which I see
Might never fade away!
The leantons souls which are to be—
Ah, could I make them there,
But with the clouds of this cigar
Whose fire I can't replenish,
The future that I see from far
Must also fade and vanish.

Jan. 19, 1880.

Forney's "Progress" for the Future.

With this number, Saturday, November 13th, 1880, Progress will begin its third volume. Hereafter it will be an Independent Democratic paper, retaining all its eclectic features, discussing society, finance, the drama, railroads, and foreign affairs. Its price has been reduced to $2.50 per annum, or 5 cents a number.

As I have placed all my means in the reorganized enterprise, and propose to devote all my time to it, I have no hesitation in asking my personal and political friends to give me the benefit of their prompt and active co-operation. When we recollect that over 70,000 votes were cast for General Hancock in the city of Philadelphia alone, on the 2d of November, and in Pennsylvania 400,000, and in the country at large about five million of votes, there ought to be a ready and liberal response to the scheme of an Independent Democratic weekly paper of the highest class in Philadelphia.

The hour of Democratic defeat, procured by open purchase of the suffrage, and by deliberate intimidation of the dependent citizen, should also be the hour of Democratic education and preparation for the great work of organization and action, in the present and the future.

JOHN W. FORNEY,
Editor and Proprietor of Progress,
702 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.
Terms for Progress: $2.50 per year. Single copies, 5 cents.
