ELECTION NOTES .- The popularity of John Powers was well tested on last Tuesday. He made a splendid run for Chief Burgess of the borough, and the Democrats of Bellefonte may well feel good over his triumphant election. He will make a good officer and do credit to the position.

-Hurrah, for the Solid South!-the South ward of the borough of Bellefonte, we mean. The Democrats of this ward came up most nobly to the work before ward can do at an election when they are thoroughly united. All honor to the South ward.

-The Democrats came cut of the contest of last Tuesday in a good deal better condition than they did at the borough election one year ago, and may well congratulate themselves on the result.

-George Skinner, colored, managed to pull through for the office of School Director in the West ward by a majority of four votes, and for the first time in the history of Bellefonte a colored man will sit in the School board. Mr. Schofield has been a useful and faithful member of the board and deserved a re-election. The colored brethren, however, had to be recognized. It was, no doubt, a bitter dose to many of the white brethren, but they managed to swallow it.

PLEASANT GAP JOTTINGS .- On February 11, the Hon. Cam Burnside and Mr. lor (Shin Bone's office) and then and there family. named and nominated a full corps of township officers, to serve the dear people of Spring township for the ensuing year. On way, Elk county, some time this winter. Saturday the latter gentleman took a list of said officers to Bellefonte, where certain at his home in this place stalwarts of less note were convened, and without a dissenting voice.

-That celebrated farmer, Mr. Henry Zeigler, says he is again "pestered" to an alarming extent. He thinks it would be good idea to buy a tract of land somewhere and bring over a colony of Chinamen to devour the troublesome creatures. If he fails in this he will resort to poison.

-Mr. Hasg is busily engaged in preparing his tobacco crop of last year for market. He has "Abe's" sanctum in a somewhat confused condition, but promises to put it in order as soon as he is through with the tobacco

-Bob says he don't care how much they oil the clean floor in his store so long as they buy tobacco from him; but he concome up and give him the benefit of the gain admittance to the church. saliva. Boys, take warning.

SHIN BONE.

-The exhibition of the Millheim Evening German School on Saturday evening last was a grand success. Not even the inclemency of the weather could prevent nine-tenths of all lower Penus Valley from being present. So well was the effort received that upon special request the exercises will be repeated at Centre Hall on Saturday, the 5th proximo. The programme is replete with more than enough to tickle the intellectual tastes of all, and the manager, Mr. Adolph Miller, assures us that any Bellefonters, who may see fit to take in the exhibition, will be pleased. Its novelty is sufficient to attract many. Exercises in High German and Pennsylvania Dutch. No English.

The flood in Spring was of a very provoking description. On torrent. Robert felt like singing, "Pull Friday, March 11. -A Norfolk man has gotten up an attachment to gas meters which shows the amount due for gas consumed, expressed in dollars and cents. Now if some inventive genius could make an attachment to grocery stores for a similar purpose and would attach one to Sechler & Co's store, it would be found that that firm sells an immense amount of superior groceries at a very small price.

-Mr. James Groupell, of Ramey, Clearfield county, who recently fell and broke his neck and afterwards had it mended in the manner recorded in last week's DEMO-CRAT, is still improving, and is now able to walk about his room. He says he is determined to get well if it takes all summer. The Osceola Reveille has investigated the matter, and maintains that the accident This cement is warranted. ITEMS FROM SPRING MILLS AND VI-CINITY .- The leading attractions in this part of the county at present are the protracted meetings.

-Rev. J. Benson Akers, the popular and talented M. E. divine who is laboring in the Penns Valley circuit, has just closed a protracted meeting at Spring Mills, and will soon commence a series of revival services at Centre Hall.

-Rev. Pflischer, the Lutheran minister at Centre Hall, has been holding a series of revival meetings in the George's Valley church, about a mile south of Spring Mills The interest manifested in the work was so siders it altogether "too thin" for them to great, and the attendance so large, that on buy tobacco at the other store and then several occasions persons were unable to

-The Stover Brothers have been doing good work in the upper Evangelical church in Brush Valley. Seven or eight inquirers after the "way to be saved" have presented themselves at the altar of prayer. The meeting has been in progress for several weeks, but the interest in the work does not flag.

-Rev. Roeder, of the Reformed church, held a week of service preparatory to communion, during last week, in the church of that denomination at Farmers Mills

-The recent rains made things rathe watery for the Spring Millers. Robert Duncan's new store building was surrounded by the aqueous fluid. The building stands on posts sunk into the ground on C. ST. VALENTINE'S DAY .- The Saint to whose memory the 14th day of every Febnext week for the entertainment and de- ruary is dedicated must have been a very lectation of the public, they will open a sentimental old gentleman, and at the same restaurant which will be convenient of time he doubtless had many traits of characcess for those who shall visit the art gallery and fair. The following bill-of-fare any of the many other persons who spend will show what an extensive and excellent so much time in charicaturing the peculicollection of edibles epicures will have to arities of their neighbors instead of hunting out their own. Well, St. Val's day has come and gone, and while it was here the young folks of Bellefonte (and some of the old folks, too,) derived much pleasure from it. The desire to send and receive these tender or severe missives was more intense than ever before. In the manufacture of valentines a great amount of ingenuity and taste is displayed. Those of the comic sort are supremely ugly and ridiculous while the sentimental specimens are equally elaborate and beautiful. Those who received them on last Tuesday, and for the first time in a number of years carried their entire ticket at a municipal election. It only shows what the Democrats of that picture or in the mongrel poetry are the true feelings which the sender entertains for the receiver, but those who received specimens of the sweetly sentimental kind, we believe can, in a majority of instances, congratulate themselves that the roses and angels and words of loving rhyme thereon are a correct expression of the sentiments of the sender toward the recipient, and many a love-lorn swain finds this a welcome opportunity to unburden his heart of feelings which otherwise might remain hidden forever. It is true that the sender of a valentine (especially of the comic kind) is usually supposed to remain in cog., but but when those missives contain declarations of genuine love and affection there is always a divine intuition which reveals to tle.

the recipient the identity of the sender. There has been much poetry good, bad and indifferent written about the day, but we have seen nothing that more beautifully expresses its true sentiment than the following, with which it is deemed proper to close this brief notice. There has been much poetry good, bad to close this brief notice :

MY VALENTINE. There is frost upon the hair Banded 'neath the snowy cap, On her brow are lines of care, And the thin hands in her lap Are not quite so fair and fine As they were in Auld Lang Syne. My valentine,

It is forty years ago
Since I stole with timid foot,
Through the lingering afterglow
Past the oak's entwisted root, Past the cedar and the pine, Wishing, hoping she were mine, Pride of life, My valentine. Peering through the latticed pane,

Clear I saw my true-love's face Turned and left and turned again

Lingered there, while time and place Isllowed grew, for like a shrine eemed that sheltered hearth of thine, Dear, my wife, My valentine. Then I slipped beneath the door

Something satin bound and white; It would lie upon the floor In the moonbeam's tender light, That beseeching note of mine, Suing for that heart of thine, Sweet, my life, My valentine. Wooing ways, they tell me, now Are more sensibly arranged;
Truth to tell, I see not how—
Love and honor have not changed,
Still must man find half divine

On his life. His valentine. And beside our household fire, And beside our household fire,
Dearest, crown of all my years,
More than ever my desire,
Sharer of my joys and tears,
Gratefully I call thee mine,
Proudly own that I am thine,
Sweetest wife,
My valentine.

That fair woman who shall shine

As I have placed all my means in the reorganized enterprise, and propose to devote all my time to it, I have no hesitation in asking my personal and political friends to give me the benefit of their prompt and active co-operation. When we recollect that over 76,000 votes were cast for General Hancock in the city of Philadelphia alone, on the 2d of November, and in Pennsylvania 400,000, and in the country at large about five million of votes, there ought to be a ready and liberal response to the scheme of an Independent Democratic weekly paper of the highest class in Philadelic Philadelic
