LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

From our Regular Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 16, 1881.

The Secretary of the Treasury surprised every one with his "call" of Thursday for the principal portion of the five per cent. bonds. He is so much encouraged by what he hears from New York, and in fact from all parts of the country, that he has no doubt but all the fives will be continued by their owners at three and one-half per cent. He recieves congratulatory letters every day by the bushel. The three and a half per cents already issued are at a premium of 24 per cent. Probably there will be no difficulty in floating a three per cent. bond authorized by Congress.

It is said that Senator Conkling will not ask further delay in the consideration of Robertson's case. He cannot prevent confirmation if the Senate Robertson's name and that he was prevented from so doing only by knowledge of the fact that Secretary Blaine would in that event resign at once. But there is no reason for believing such reports. It is Senator Conkling who must give way. This by no means ends the great quarrel in the party. It simply postpones active hostilities. The National Republican continues its fight against the President and Secretary Blaine. More interest is now felt in the case of William E. Chandler nominated for Solicitor General of the United States than in any other. He will be rejected, as every Democratic Senator and several Republicans will vote against him. It was believed that the nomination would be withdrawn, but there is now no reason for thinking so.

The health of Mrs. Garfield is so much impaired that the approach of carriages to the White House is prevented. As soon as she is sufficiently recovered she will leave for her home in Ohio. The President will stay at the Soldier's Home, just beyond the city limits. This sickness of Mrs. Garfield is sure to revive interest in an old project for building a new residence for the President and out unless for the reductions in the force, even if there was enough work to keep all hands employed. The force will be still further reduced from time to time as the work of the bureau approaches completion, and whenever practicable the divisions occupying outside quarters will be removed to the main building, on Pennsylvania avenue. Mr. Mahone's dodging the vote on the Stanley Matthews case is not regarded as a striking example of that great independent role he announced he was to play in the Senate. It is said, however, that he intends to dodge the vote on all the other centested nominations. Dox.

The Cowpens Centennial.

ELEBRATING A VICTORY WHICH FORESHAD OWED THE SURRENDER OF CORNWALLIS.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., May 11, 1881. The Cowpens monument was unveiled here to day in the presence of 20,000 people. Governor Hagood, of South, Carolina, presided, and introduced the speakers. Rev. A. T. Porter, of Charlesspeakers. Rev. A. T. Porter, of Charles-ton, opened the proceedings with pray-er, reading from a prayer book found on the battle field. Thirteen hundred volunteer troops of South Carolina were reviewed by Gen. Henry Hunt, United States Army, Gen. A. M. Manigault, Adjutant General of South Carolina, served on Gen. Hunt's staff by special reconst. also the following descendants quest, also the following descendants of the chief actor at Cowpens: Daniel Morgan Taylor, United States Army; McHenry Howard, of Maryland, and S McHenry Howard, of Maryland, and S. B. Pickens and John B. Washington, of South Carolina. Speeches were made by Senator Hampton, representing Mary-land, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee ; Mr. Thomas W. Higginson, representing New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut; and William 1. Francis, representing New York New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware Music was furnished by the Fifth Unit-ed States Artillery Band. This after-noon the citizens of Spantanburg ten-dered a banquet to the Washington ight Infantry, and to-night Governor Hagood holds a reception in honor of the guests of the State.

the guests of the State. DESCRIPTION OF THE MONUMENT. The following is a description of the statue of General Daniel Morgan, which was made by Mr. J. Q. A. Ward for the Inited States under the authority given by a joint resolution of Congress. The height of the figure is nine feet, its weight about two thousand pounds and its material a rich golden bronze which will gradually darken with time which will gradually darken with time and exposure to the air. The weight of the body is supported on the right leg and foot, the left leg being a little be-hind the other and slightly bent, and its heel raised from the ground. The comes to a vote as it probably will this week. There have been rumors lately that the President would withdraw the side somewhat behind the body, it hand holding a sword whose blade points directly to the front, the point somewhat depressed. The features are very life-like in expression and are strongly modelled. The head is covered with a high cap of fur, having on its left side a pompon of feathers. The dress is a loose frock, ornamented with fringes on both shoulders down the front and on the lower edge all around, and meeting the pantaloons of appar-ently the same material, ornamented and fringed in corresponding style. and fringed in corresponding style. The feet are in moccasins. A sheath on the left hip, a sash around the waist, and belts, partially hidden by the sash, indicate the rank of the wearer. A powder horn is slung over the right side of the body. The dignity and grace of the statue, which appears to be designed to represent General Mor-gan advancing at the head of his men gan advancing at the head of his men to the field of battle, or it may be en-gaging in and directing the pursuit of the enemy, are remarkable and worthy of all praise. The granite base upon which the monument stands is a sub stantial piece of workmanship. It weight is more than sixty tons. The Ita stone is that compact, fine grained granite which successfully defies the ravages of time and resists decay, especially in a dry climate such as this, from extraordinary convulsion of na-ture should occur to undermine its foundations it will stand in all its in-tegrity of a thousand years to come.

The Nihilist arrested at St. Petersburg recently, charged with complicity in the murder of the Czar and with planning the Little Garden street mine, is a nava officer. He was also an accomplice of the Nihilists who caused the explosion at the Winter Palace in February, 1880 and is charged with having stolen from the Government magazines a quantity of dynamite.

A dispatch from Niobrara, Neb., says Lieutenant Samuel A. Cherry, Fifth Javalry, and escort, while out scouting for road agents near Niobrara, came upon them suddenly, when a fight ensued, in which Lieutenant Cherry was killed. The road agents escaped. Cherry was Adjutant of Thornburgh's com-mand on the Ute expedition, and in the action at Milk River distinguished himself for bravery in action. He was engaged to marry the daughter of Con-gressman Harry White, of Pennsylvania.

Senator Miller, of California, is one of the romantic characters of American politics. He was a young Indiana lawyer, and he went to California; but he returned to the former State, made somewhat of a reputation at the bar and was appointed to the staff of Governor Oliver P. Morton, with whom he was a favorite. He was wounded several time during the war, in which he distinguish ed himself for bravery. One of the the bullets which hit him destroyed his eye and entered his head, where it remained for twelve years, causing great pain. After the war he served as a Federal official at San Francisco, and then, in commerce, made a fortune.

President Garfield, in giving to Hon. Fred Douglass a lucrative office to which no reponsibility attaches and where no personal superintendence of business is required, has happily recognized both that gentleman's value to the Republican party and his eminent incapacity for anything practical.

,The nomination of Gen. Lew. Wallace for one of the insignificant South Amer. ican missions has been withdrawn by the President, at the request of Mr. Wallace. Gen. Wallace has been quite chagrined at the treatment to which he has been subjected. He was anxious to remain as Governor of New Mexico, hecause he would have a good chance to be United States Senator when it is admitted into the Union, which may be at no distant day. But the President wanted the governorship of New Mexico for his particular friend Mr. Sheldon, who also has Senatorial aspirations. So far Indiana has been left very much out in the cold, but it never seems a cold day for Ohio. An Ohio man was last night confirmed for Justice of the Supreme Court, and to-day an Ohio man sent in for the fat and pleasant position of marshal of this District.

Immigration to the United States. from the Harrisburg Patriot

It is estimated that the total immigration to the United States this year will exceed half a million. From the be will exceed half a million. From the be-ginning of the year up to the tenth of this month 134,212 immigrants landed at the port of New York alone. Of this number 8,082 came in January, 9,753 in February, 27,708 in March, 61,-276 in April and 27,393 in the first ten days of May. «Last year the total im-migration from Europe to this country migration from Europe to this country was 347,747, of which 327,371 was land-ed at New York. That was the year of the greatest immigration since the set-tlement of this country, but as the figures show, it will be vastly exceeded in 1881

Of this immense influx of foreign population much the largest share contributed by Germany and Ireland. Last year the immigration from Ger-many and Austria was 97,542, and Iremany and Austria was 97,542, and Ire-land 71,603. England came next with an immigration of 59,452. Sweden con-tributed 39,186 and Norway 19,895. Then followed Italy with 12,327 immi-grants and France with 4,313, while Spain sent to this country but 389 of its surplus population. The returns for this year show that Germany under the be-nign policy of Bismarck still keeps in the lead of emigration. In the first three months of this year there were 24,567 Germany immigrants and 3,879 from Ireland in a total return of 47,047 for the port of New York. The decline in the returns for Ireland is attributed to the inability and not the want of

to the inability and not the want of will to emigrate. In regard to the im-migration of this year it is observed that the accessions to our population show signs of thrift, frugality and energy in an unusual degree.
