Local Department.

—Read the advertisement headed WHY.—Jim. Williams was in town on Sunday. He is now a resident of Philipsburg, and reports business as booming in that little village.

—Mr. James Hale, a typo of Philipsburg, gave the DEMOCRAT a call last week. James is a pleasant gentleman and we would be pleased to have him call again.

—Among the graduates of Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, Pa., at the recent commencement, was J. Calvin Meyer, son of our esteemed friend, Mr. J. G. Meyer, of Aaronsburg.

—After an absence of some weeks, our enterprising citizen, D. G. Bush, Esq., reached his pleasant home in Bellefonte, on last Friday. The many friends of Mr. Bush are always pleased to extend a hearty greeting to him.

—People sometimes wonder why some articles take the public by storm, as it were, while with others no amount of puffing will avail. It is because the one has merit, the other none. That is why "Green's Liver Pills" are so popular.

—On Wednesday of last week Mr. J. C. Motz, of Woodward, received a dangerous kick in his side from a vicious horse. Mr. Motz has experienced severe suffering from the injury, but we understand that he is now in a fair way to recover from it.

—There came very near being a sanguinary encounter at the headquarters of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, in the Conrad House, the other day. Blows flew thick and fast, but there were no dead to remove. The gentle dove of peace flew over the scene and all was serene.

—On last Sunday morning the works of the Clearfield Fire Brick Company, near the borough of Clearfield, were destroyed by fire. The fire is supposed to have originated in the flues. The loss is not known, but there was an insurance of $12,500 upon the works.

—F. H. Graff, at the Conrad House billiard parlors, has a fine stock of tobacco and cigars. He is having new covers put upon his billiard and pool tables, and will soon thoroughly remodel his room. New wainscoting and new paper will greatly add to its appearance.

—On the fourth of July our colored citizens will jubilate over the passage of the late act of the legislature giving colored children equal privileges with white children in all the public schools of the State. The programme of exercises for the day is quite elaborate.

—Dr. McIntyre, formerly of Centre Hall, but now residing in Lock Haven, called at the DEMOCRAT office last week. The Doctor is an excellent dentist and Lock Haven is to be congratulated upon securing his services. He will pull out all the bad teeth and put in good ones in a most artistic manner.

—Thos. M. Coleman, Esq., a representative of the Philadelphia Ledger, was in town on Tuesday. Mr. Coleman went to the State College and it is possible that we may hear from him. He is one of the reliable reporters of the Ledger and has gained an enviable reputation as a newspaper man.

—Dr. Hale has laid a new and serviceable pavement in front of his lots on the south side of Howard street. He is also making great improvements in his property opposite the residence of John B. Linn, on Allegheny street. The spirit of enterprise has taken possession of the Dr. and we hope it will march on.

—When the "Reverend" W. A. Carver, of Snow Shoe, who utilizes the columns of the Morning News, for the purpose of murdering the Queen's English, was asked by one of his parishioners, what the term "Sic Semper Tyrannus" (?) meant, the learned divine promptly replied, "I am sick send for McManus."

—A man named Jacob Wooster, a brakeman on the Clearfield branch railroad, was killed on last Saturday morning at Sandy Ridge, in this county. It appears that he had looked out from the platform upon which he was standing and his head came in contact with the water tank at that place, killing him instantly.

—Miss Kate Jackson the accomplished daughter of George W. Jackson, Esq., has returned from Vassar College, and will remain all summer. Miss Jackson—if such a thing could be possible—has greatly improved in appearance and doubtless has made a corresponding improvement in her studies.

—Hon. J. E. Noble, of Waterside, Bedford county, one of the former members of the Legislature from that reliable Democratic county, favored the DEMOCRAT office with his presence on last Tuesday. He was accompanied by Cal. Smith, who is known as "Smithy." Mr. Noble is a very affable gentleman and we would like to see him again.

—Mr. Vennor has now begun "predicting" for July, and under date of June 17 writes: "I regret that I have to warn you of a hot and stormy July, with frequent disastrous storms of wind, hail, and rain throughout those sections in which the June storms have been so severely felt. The month will resemble that of 1880 rather than 1879."

—The annual examinations at the State Normal School at Lock Haven were concluded last week. The graduating class numbered forty-one and all passed the trying ordeal very creditably. The commencement exercises of the institution will begin on Thursday, July 7th, and promise to be of an interesting character. The Lock Haven Democrat, says that this institution "now stands second to none in the State" and is inclined "to claim for it superiority to all others." Certainly this is high praise, and coming from the source it does we must believe that it is well deserved. We think our county might be better represented among the students of this school than we are forced to admit it is. In the list of forty-one who will graduate this year we find but two Centre county names, viz: W. R. Leathers, of Mount Eagle, and A. W. Schenck, of Howard.

—We desire to call attention to the very interesting letter on the second page of this number of the DEMOCRAT, dated, YAKIMA, (pronounced Yack-i-maw) Washington Territory, May 7, 1881. The writer, Mr. Roland B. Kinne, a native of Centre county, is the present Register of the Land Office at that place. He gives a fine description of that far off section of the United States, the fertility of the soil, the advantages and disadvantages of the country and also mentions a few Pennsylvania settlers. The letter is written in pleasant style and is well worth a careful reading. We hope to hear from Mr. Kinne again.

—It was supposed that the reunion of the Pennsylvania Reserve Corps would be held this summer at Bellefonte, but the meeting has been postponed until next year as will be seen by the following letter written by Gov. Curtin to Charles Devine, the Secretary of the Association:

BELLEFONTE, PA., June 17, 1881. Charles Devine, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Reserve Association:

SIR:—Having learned from a majority of the managers of the association, as from many of the officers, that there is a general wish to postpone the reunion voted to be held in Bellefonte this year, and that being in harmony with my own wish, you will notify the members that the reunion is postponed until next spring.

Yours respectfully, A. G. CURTIN, President Pennsylvania Reserve Association.

—Mr. Jonas Dinges, the well known engineer on the Tyrone division of the Pennsylvania railroad, we are sorry to learn from the Osceola Reveille, met with an accident at Houtsdale on Saturday, the 18th instant. While getting down from his engine to hand a package to a friend he lost his footing and falling heavily upon the ground was so unfortunate as to dislocate his shoulder. A physician was immediately called and the dislocated member replaced. Jonas, however, will be disabled for some time, and his many friends sympathize with him in his misfortune.

—The new law requiring practitioners of medicine and surgery to take their diplomas to the Prothonotaries of their counties to be registered has been signed by the Governor and has gone into effect, and the penalty for refusing to comply with this law is a fine of one hundred dollars, one-half to go to the prosecutor and the other half to the county, with imprisonment in the county jail at the discretion of the Court. This is one of the methods by which it is proposed to weed out bogus diplomas.

—Hon. Kennedy L. Blood, of Brookville, has had a successful operation performed by Dr. Jos. Pancoast, of Philadelphia, and is now improving. His diseased limb was successfully amputated and he is so far recovered as to announce that he is still a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Prothonotary of Jefferson county. The Democracy of the whole State will feel gratified if Mr. Blood both recovers and receives the nomination he seeks. He deserves all the favors his party can give him. He is Democrat from the top of his head to the soles of his feet and he should promptly receive the nomination as a recognition of his past services. His many friends in Centre county will hear of his improved condition with the liveliest satisfaction.

—AN EARLY MORNING FIRE.—About one o'clock on last Monday morning our citizens were aroused from their slumbers by the dread cry of fire. A bright light on Bishop street, below Allegheny, located the scene of disaster and a large number of people were soon on the ground. The fire was in the building occupied by Peter Devine and his daughter, Mrs. Howard. The lower portion is used by Mr. Spitzer as a beer bottling establishment. The entire portion of this part of town is covered with wooden buildings for the space of a half a block on each side of Bishop street, and if it had not been for the prompt and efficient action of our fire companies, the result would have been most disastrous. The Undine Fire company in less than ten minutes after the first alarm had two streams of water playing upon the building. They attached two sections of hose to the two plugs on Bishop street, and carried them into the house and fought the fire, which was confined to the second story and was burning fiercely between the walls. The Logan company were quickly on hand, and attaching their hose to the plug in front of the Conrad House ran it to the rear of the house and most efficiently assisted the Undine boys in preventing a general conflagration. In a brief space of time the fire was totally extinguished.

Too much credit cannot be bestowed on the fire companies, for their brave and energetic action. Any delay would have been fatal and the flames could not have been controlled. Mr. Alkens, the dealer in organs, pianos, &c., who occupies the building immediately adjoining Mrs. Howard's, was the first to discover the fire, and gave the alarm.

Mrs. Howard is insured in the Union Fire Insurance Company, of Philadelphia, and her loss is fully covered.

THE COMET.—The comet now visible in the Northern sky each evening attracts great attention. Nightly many persons are to be seen gazing at the brilliant "tramp" of the heavens, as it has been somewhat facetiously called. Astronomers differ in opinion as to the identity of this comet, some claiming that it is the same one which appeared in 1807, while others are disposed to doubt whether that is correct. It was first seen in this country on last Thursday morning by Levi T. Edwards, a student of Haverford College, though it had been observed by Professor Henry, at Paris, several hours previous to the time it was seen at Haverford. At the National Observatory, at Washington, it was not seen until Thursday night. Prof. Sharpless, of Haverford College, speaks in reference to it as follows:

"Its right ascension is about eighty-three degrees, with a northern declension of forty-two degrees. It has a wonderfully luminous nucleus and a clearly-defined envelope on the side nearest the sun. The tail is five degrees long and is about eight degrees from the sun. It is between Capella and the horizon and the head makes its appearance first. The comet is pointed toward the North Star, and is moving almost directly along the northern line at the rate of five degrees every twenty-four hours. Moving as rapidly as it does it will in a short time be visible at all hours of the night. I believe this is the comet Dr. Gould saw on the southern hemisphere a few years ago, but whether or not it is the great comet Pons discovered at Marseilles on September 20, 1807, I have not been able to determine; but the comet last discovered is moving in the same direction as Dr. Gould's and there is every reason to believe they are identical."

John W. Moore, our local scientist, has been making observations every night, and along with the great astronomers, he has his theory. He has an elaborately finished picture of all the comets that have appeared in the last two hundred years, and he inclines to the opinion that this comet resembles, if it is not actually the same one which appeared in 1811. The Philadelphia Record and other journals, erroneously make the date 1812.

ANOTHER WRECK ON THE BALD EAGLE VALLEY RAILROAD.—A freight train was totally wrecked on the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad on last Monday evening, near Curtin's Iron Works. Seven cars left the track, and as the misfortune occurred in a narrow cut, they were entirely demolished. It was ten o'clock before the train from Lock Haven, due here at 5:35 and the Tyrone train due at 8:40, arrived. These frequent disasters should admonish the officials of the company to put their road in a condition that will insure reasonable safety, both to their employees and the general public. Accidents on railroads are sometimes unavoidable. The accidents on the Bald Eagle can be reduced to a minimum if the road is properly cared for. The loss of life which may result from a neglect to heed this advice, will entail more cost upon the company than the re-ballasting, and putting down new rails and new ties will amount to.

ITEMS FROM SPRING MILLS.—Last week we were called upon to pay the last sad tribute of respect to one of Spring Mills' best citizens. About six years ago John Krumrine was attacked by that fell destroyer consumption, and although he had several severe spells of sickness, his vitality was so strong that he weathered it through for six long years, and attended to his business up to within a week of his death. About two weeks ago he took a very bad spell and on the 17th he passed the confines of time out into the boundless ages of eternity. As a citizen and neighbor he will be much missed by his friends of whom he had a great many. He was buried in the Reformed church's burying ground, a mile east of Penn Hall. Services were performed by Rev. Wolf and the pastor in charge. His age was 34 years. This makes the third child that Mr. Henry Krumrine has lost by consumption, the first was the wife of Mr. I. J. Grenoble, and the second, Mrs. John Grenoble.

—Rev. John Harpster, who left our town over nine years ago, as a Lutheran missionary to Guntour, India, returned on last Wednesday, having been at Altoona as a delegate representing the Kansas Synod in the General Synod of the United States. After his departure from Centre Hall, over nine years ago, Rev. Harpster remained in India some four or five years, when the state of his health required his return to the United States, and he made the voyage via San Francisco. He remained in California and Oregon a year or two, engaged in the mission work, and then came to Kansas where he has had charge of the Hayes City mission since, and is doing a very successful work there. He will return again to this field of his labors in a short time, with all the esteem of his brethren in the church elsewhere, as he has shown a peculiar fitness for this important work, and is possessed of great power and eloquence as a speaker. He is a son of George Harpster, deceased, and brother of Jacob Harpster, of our town. His old neighbors, friends and acquaintances here greeted his return with warmest expressions.—Centre Hall Reporter.

AN ELEGANT HOTEL.—THE BROCKERHOFF HOUSE ENTIRELY REMODELED.—The spectacle of a Metropolitan Hotel transplanted into the mountains, is just about to be presented to our people by the proprietors of the Brockerhoff House. This hotel was erected in 1865 and is an imposing structure. It has a frontage on Allegheny street of 200 feet with a depth of about 75 feet and contains over fifty rooms. The hotel has been occupied by many landlords since its erection, but it is now controlled by Messrs. Andrew and Henry Brockerhoff, two of the trustees of the estate by which the hotel is owned. These gentlemen determined when they assumed control of the house, to make it one of the finest hotels in the State, and they have inaugurated a series of extensive improvements that well deserve mention. The entire first floor of the house has been changed, and other alterations are contemplated. The office floor will be laid with marble tiling and the counter covered with pure white marble. The changes have placed the water closets and wash room in more favorable positions and made it possible to have two elegant sample rooms directly in the rear of the office, a most convenient location for commercial travelers. The bar is not to be removed from its present location but a handsomely fitted up private room will be added to that department. This room will be a feature of the house and is as completely furnished as a parlor. A handsome carpet will cover its floor and choice pictures will line its walls. A side board, one of the most elegant that is manufactured, will be placed in this room and an enticing lunch will be kept upon it constantly. This room will be one of the finest in the hotel and will be a model of neatness and taste. It will doubtless prove a great attraction to the numerous patrons of the house. Every room in this large caravansary has been entirely refurnished from the paper upon the walls to the most insignificant article of furniture needed in the rooms. All the rooms in the house, including those occupied by boarders, are furnished with black walnut bedsteads, bureaus, wash-stands and centre tables. Tennessee marble covers the bureaus, the wash-stands and the centre tables. The finest Brussels carpet are on the floors, and they are all fit for the occupancy of a prince. Three luxuriously furnished parlors take the place of the single one that formerly answered the wants of the guests. Two of these parlors are furnished with chairs, sofas and divans covered with silk plush, while in the other the covering is of the finest velvet. All the surroundings are sumptuous and certainly no hotel in the State can boast of more costly furniture. The dining room is being beautifully frescoed, painted and papered, and elegantly carved ceiling pieces have been placed around the gas fixtures. The dining room is 50 feet long and is a most attractive room. It gives one an appetite to merely look at it. There are bath rooms and water closets on every floor, and it would be difficult to find anything that is needed to make this a most complete and magnificent hotel. One of the greatest improvements will be the erection of an addition in the rear of the hotel of almost a new building. This will contain the wash and ironing rooms, and rooms for the help of the house. Here also they have a large space which it is proposed to convert into a place for drying clothes. This is covered by a heavy tin roof. A fire wall is in process of construction which will afford ample protection to this portion of the hotel. Mr. Gus Smith laid the tin roof and certainly made an exceedingly creditable job. The kitchen, one of the most important adjuncts of a hotel, has not been neglected. A 16 foot range has been placed in it and everything has been done to make it complete and convenient. There is a place for every article and that article must be in its place. The conduct of this important department is intrusted to competent persons and is conducted in the most satisfactory manner. An immense refrigerator has been placed in the lower hall through which can almost be driven a coach-and-four. Altogether the Brockerhoff House may be said to be one of the finest hotels to be found anywhere. No expense has been spared in bringing it as near perfection as possible and its excellence is creditable to the Brockerhoff heirs, who have been so lavish in the improvements. It is a credit to Bellefonte. Mr. Wm. Shoop has had charge of all the carpenter work and has evidently done it in a satisfactory manner. In addition to the improvements in the interior of the hotel, awnings are being erected over every window in the front. When these are put up the exterior of the Brockerhoff House will be much enhanced. The Messrs. Brockerhoff are also having a coach built for the purpose of transferring passengers from the depot to their hotel. It somewhat resembles the improved Hardie coach and will be exceedingly handsome as well as serviceable.

MESSRS. EDITORS.—Your correspondent "Enquirer," seems to be somewhat skeptical on the "Rattlesnake Den" subject and desires more information. This incredulity is prevalent because so few woodmen have come in contact with them. Before I met with Samuel Askey I believed they existed only in the imagination; having faith in his veracity my skepticism was removed. But I was not left to depend alone upon his testimony; the time came when I saw for myself, and now speak from personal knowledge on the subject. About the 1st of October, 1850, J. D. Turner was with me going through the woods from Moshannon Mills to the Indian path, and when within a few rods of it, on the hill side north of Moshannon creek, we were startled by the rattling of snakes. We killed one and saw others coming from every direction and passing under rocks. After they were all in we got a pole about a rod in length with which we could reach and stir them; the rattling was fearful. Two days after I returned and approaching the rocks cautiously saw a large pile of snakes at the mouth of the den. They soon disappeared. The day was chilly and they were I think to some extent in a torpid condition, for the rattling was not so loud when I stirred them with the pole. Warm weather returned and a few days after a party of six or eight visited the place and killed one near the den, the only snake they saw, and when the pole was thrust in there was no response. Every summer, for several years, my curiosity induced me to visit the place several times during the season and I found no snakes there. This was not Samuel Askey's den, but it was not far from it; his was below the path and this den was above it. I infer that after he disturbed them they moved to the den we found and being again discovered, they sought new quarters. That rattlesnakes do congregate in dens, with me is a settled question, but I would like, and I have no doubt your readers would be interested in hearing more about them. Have any others been discovered besides the two above mentioned? I often heard of a den found near the mouth of Big Moshannon creek in which copperheads and other snakes were mixed with rattlesnakes. Who knows of this den? Is it a Baron Munchausen story, or is it a reality? If anybody can confirm it, please give a description of it. MOSHANNON.

COMMUNICATED.

"REV." SIC SEMPER TYRANNUS CARVER.—In a communication entitled "Wild Beast at Snow Shoe," published in the Morning News, of Wednesday, we find the following reflections on our Judges made over the name of "Rev. W. A. Carver:—"The Judges of this district have blighted their home in the eyes of the Christian and law abiding citizens of this place, who helped to give them their places in the Judicial bench. But from the present state of feeling I am inclined to think they will turn a deaf ear to the appeal of such consciousness fellows when they return to see their suffrages."

The occasion of all this bad English and worse sense is the granting of two licenses to John G. Uzale and Samuel Boyer at the last term of Court. The article concludes with the hackneyed phrase of "Sic Semper Tyrannus," and signed "Rev." W. A. Carver. This "Reverend" should bear in mind that in publishing his own communications it is both bad taste and bad sense to style himself "Rev." W. A. Carver. Quack doctors, spurious showmen, soap vendors, horse trainers, and fifth rate preachers, usually gain their bread and butter by imposing on the public under the title of "Doctor," "Professor," or "Reverend." "Reverend" is all the stock this new fledgling has in trade. A few more articles signed "Reverend" W. A. C. will satisfy this public that the "Wild Beast of Snow Shoe" must be the "Reverend" lunatic himself. Our Judges need no vindication at our hands. They are beyond the detraction and senseless abuse of "Rev." Carver. YOCURT.
