Local Department.

—Green corn is getting well up on its ear.

—It is now legal to shoot woodcock if you can find them.

—Hats and caps of superior quality at the Philadelphia Branch.

—One of Harry Green's cigars will give as much satisfaction as two of the ordinary kind.

—Our streets present a city-like appearance on Saturday.

—Always obey the law of the land and buy your clothing at the Philadelphia Branch.

—Strangers in town attending court next week can purchase a fine cigar at Harry Green's, for five cents.

—A billiard and pool room is one of the recent additions to the Bush House. It seems to be well patronized by persons fond of handling the cue.

—The office of the State Agricultural Society has been moved from Harrisburg to Bissel's Block, Seventh avenue, Pittsburg. The exhibition will be open from the 5th to the 17th of September next.

—An exchange pithily remarks that there are two things people should never borrow, namely—trouble and the local newspaper. The former will come soon enough, while the latter costs only three cents a week.

—The Board of School Directors are expending money wisely in making a number of needed repairs to the public school building. The paint brushes, manipulated by Doak and Loneberger, have made a marked improvement in its appearance.

—On Wednesday evening of last week a music class at Millheim, under the instruction of Prof. Kurzenknebe, favored the good people of that place with a fine concert. The entertainment was a success in every respect and gave entire satisfaction to a large audience.

—Gordon & Landis, the enterprising dealers in machinery and agricultural implements at Bellefonte, have the contract for furnishing the machinery for Gottlieb Haag's new mill at Pleasant Gap, and also for furnishing a new boiler for the Water Works at this place.

—At the store of Sechler & Co. about everything can be bought that people want to eat. Meats fresh and juicy, or dried and carefully preserved; home and foreign fruits and berries of all descriptions, together with everything that can be embraced in a well kept grocery.

—On last Saturday afternoon we had the pleasure of greeting in the sanctum of the DEMOCRAT Col. Sam Young, editor of the Connoquessing Valley News, published at Zelenople, Butler county, Pa. He had just returned from a visit to his daughter, the wife of Mr. Taylor, of Lemont, and was on his way home. Colonel Young is an old and experienced journalist and an intelligent and pleasant gentleman. We were pleased to make his acquaintance, and hope he will call this way often.

—As some persons still seem to be ignorant in regard to the time game may be killed or taken in Pennsylvania, we publish a summary of the game laws, which sportsmen can paste in their hats: Squirrels may be killed from Sept. 1 to Jan. 1; rabbits from Nov. 1 to Jan. 1; partridge from Oct. 15 to Jan. 1; woodcock from July 4 to Jan. 1; plover from July 15 to Jan. 1; rail-bird from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1; wild turkeys from Oct. 15 to Jan. 1; wild fowl from Sept. 1 to May 15; deer from Oct. 1 to Dec. 31.

—Our Republican friends seem to be preparing for something of a contest for a portion of the county offices this fall. Simon M. Spangler, of Miles township; Jno. I. Rankin, of Bellefonte; Christian Dale, of Benner township; John S. Holmes, of Marion township and B. W. Shipley, of Unionville are announced in the Republican as candidates for County Commissioner and we heard that Isaac Lose, of Bellefonte, Austin Brew, of Bellefonte, and Andrew Gregg, of Potter, have been named as candidates for Sheriff. Better save time and trouble, gentlemen. You can elect one county commissioner, and the harvest will not be any more than that.

—The city of Williamsport last week lost its oldest and one of its most esteemed citizens in the death of the venerable Union Corryell. He was born on the 13th of June, 1791, so that when the summons came to him he had passed his ninetieth year of life. His father came from New Jersey, and first settled in East Buffalo, then Northumberland, now Union county, in the year 1793. It is said the son, Tunison, in 1802, then a lad, carried the mail on horseback for some time between Lewisburg and Bellefonte. He went to Lycoming county in 1809, and from that time, a period of seventy-two years, was a resident of that county. During all the years of his active life he took an ardent interest in every good work that added to the growth and prosperity of Williamsport and was always held in high regard by the citizens of that city.

—The Bellefonte Fencibles (Co. B.) were treated to a very pleasant surprise upon their arrival here from Camp Vincent on Tuesday evening. Captain Mullen, although forced to leave camp on account of bad health did not forget the boys, and while the men were regretting his absence from their midst, he was planning a little reception for them. When the train steamed into the depot about 9 o'clock, bearing the sunburned veterans of his command, Captain Mullen was on hand and after the usual greetings, escorted the boys into the spacious dining room of the Bush House, where mine host, Mr. Teller had spread a capital lunch. This act of kindness on the part of Captain Mullen will not soon be forgotten by his hungry men. Company B is to be congratulated on having so kind and capable a commanding officer as Amos Mullen.

—We have received from Messrs. McSherry & Wolf, who recently visited Centre county as the agents of the American Bible Society, a card giving a short statement of the results of their labors. They visited 774 families, of which number they found 52 destitute, though most of these were supplied with the New Testament. They found 52 families without the Bible, and some of these were supplied by sale and others by gift. They distributed about 500 books, the contributions received almost paying for the books given as gifts. We have been requested to give this statement to the public and do so with pleasure.

—Mrs. Sarah Hastings, mother of our townsman, Col. D. H. Hastings, died at the residence of the family in Salona, on Sunday last. The cause of her death was an attack of apoplexy, from which she had suffered for several weeks. She was a lady who possessed every Christian grace and virtue that adorn female character, and was greatly beloved by her immediate family, her relatives and her friends. To our friend, Col. Hastings, we extend our sympathy in this sorrowful affliction.

—We are indebted to Mr. Leonard Rhone, Master of the State Grange, P. of H., for a copy of the circular issued from the Secretary's office of the Dominion Grange, Canada, inviting attention of farmers to a grand excursion to the Industrial Exhibition at Toronto, on Wednesday, September 14, 1881, the time set for a grand gala day to be called "Farmers' Day." Granges, farmers' clubs, and other organizations, are asked to take immediate steps to get up excursion parties.

—Mr. Abram Ryan, a well known citizen of Bellefonte, died on Saturday night last after several days of severe suffering from an attack of erysipelas. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon and was largely attended by friends of the deceased. Mr. Ryan was a moulder by trade, and was at one time in the foundry business in this place. Lately he has been employed at the car works. He was a hard working, industrious man, and had many friends who will miss him.

—The Lock Haven Daily Journal, of Monday, pays a deserved compliment to Mr. J. C. Harper, the popular Democratic nominee for Prothonotary, in the following words: "Mr. J. C. Harper was re-nominated for Prothonotary of Centre county at the late Democratic convention. Mr. Harper has proved himself an able officer and his re-nomination is a creditable piece of work."

—Among the citizens of Centre county who attended the annual meeting of the Alumni Association, of Pennsylvania College at Williamsport last week, we notice the names of Adam Hoy, Esq., of Bellefonte, Rev. J. Alfred Fisher, of Pine Grove Mills, Rev. W. E. Fisher, and Mr. Witmer Wolf, of Centre Hall. At the meeting of the association next year Rev. Koser will be the essayist and an able and interesting production may be expected.

—The following is a sure rule for happiness and health. Keep a clear conscience and a good digestion. To secure the first, "Do unto your neighbor as you would that he should do unto you," and for the second take Green's No. 1 and 2 Liver Pills.

—Jacob Houser, an aged and respected citizen of Benner township, died on last Friday night, and was buried in the cemetery at Houserville on Sunday afternoon. The funeral was largely attended by friends and relatives.

—Miss Lizzie Morris, one of Bellefonte's fair young ladies, is visiting friends near Rebersburg.

—Everybody should buy a new suit, and the Philadelphia Branch is the place to procure it.

—Cider will be plentiful this year, if the youngsters don't eat up all the green apples.

THE ENCAMPMENT.

THE SECOND BRIGADE IN CAMP—THE BOYS AT CAMP VINCENT—NOTES AND INCIDENTS FROM THE TENTED FIELD.

Special Correspondence CENTRE DEMOCRAT.

CAMP VINCENT, August 15, 1881.

After a pleasant and uneventful journey from Bellefonte, we arrived at our destination at 3 o'clock on last Wednesday and went immediately to our quarters. The trip here was not marked by that air of boisterous hilarity which characterized the first encampment of Company B. The boys felt, rather than knew, the difference in the circumstances. Instead of looking upon going into camp as a sort of picnic, in which there was plenty of fun and no work, they were impressed by the conviction that they were in reality soldiers and as such were expected to comport themselves in a soldierly manner. The ride over the Allegheny mountains was delightful, and many were the exclamations of wonder and admiration which burst from the men as point after point of the superb scenery which lines this portion of the Pennsylvania Railroad came into view. The famous Horse Shoe Bend came in for a great share of attention, while the imposing handiwork of nature, as seen in towering mountains and deep impenetrable valleys, combined with the triumph of human genius which mastered every difficulty and surmounted every obstacle in the building of this magnificent trunk line, imbued even the most careless with a feeling of awe. But even the grandeur of mountain scenery and engineering skill paled their ineffective light as we rapidly approached the banks of the storied Kiskiminitas. Eyes flashed with a new light; expectancy irradiated every countenance; and why not? Were we not soon to actually see that mighty river, upon whose broad bosom were to float rich cargoes laden with the varied products of General Harry White's native county, whose hurrying waters were to bear the burden of a vast and increasing commerce through the Allegheny and Ohio to the Father of Waters. Was not this magic to be accomplished by that Genii of the nineteenth century—an appropriation—and had not the member from Indiana made the first step toward building up a great internal trade here in these mountain fastnesses. We soon had our curiosity gratified. We came in sight of a dirty little stream about the width of the Bald Eagle and our vision of an inland sea vanished as completely as General White's Quixotic idea of dredging the spongy Kiskiminitas. We also had a splendid view of the new hotel at Crosson Springs. It is an imposing structure, with towers and gables, and must be capable of accommodating an army of guests. I was informed it has been filled to overflowing ever since it opened. Soon we rushed past the pleasant village of Saltsburg and in a moment the groaning, creaking train stopped and its load of blue coated, white gloved freight was on the platform. The regiment was quickly formed and after a march of about three hundred yards up a considerable hill, we came upon an extensive plateau on which was built a city of pure white. This was the camping ground of the second brigade.

It was a beautiful sight. The 15th, 18th, 16th and 14th regiments were already in camp. General Beaver greeted us as we passed his headquarters which made us sort of feel at home. Our tents were all up and ready for occupancy. The men immediately went to work to put their temporary residences in order. Loads of boards were ordered, floors laid in the tents, and soon a general air of comfort pervaded our company streets. The men in the other regiments had the fronts of their tents shaded by large trees, cut in the adjoining forest and planted so as to afford them artificial protection from the sun. The effect was quite striking and effective. Before we could follow the example of our comrades, General Beaver issued an order saying that this is a military camp, and has its proper military designation and is to be conducted upon military principles and that further ornamentation of company streets is to be discontinued. That effectually stopped that branch of business. Our officers as usual were indefatigable in their endeavors to make us comfortable. They were here, there and everywhere looking to our wants and seeing that we lacked nothing that would conduce to our comfort. We are all feeling badly over Capt. Mullen's continued ill health. He overdid himself for the first couple of days, and to the universal regret of the company, was compelled to return home on Saturday. Captain Mullen has by his kindness to the men and his courteous bearing to them on all occasions earned and deserves the good will which every man in the company bears him. However, he left us in competent hands. Lieutenants Potter and Hale have done all that can be desired. They are both deservedly popular with the men.

The work in camp is systematic. There is no holiday soldiering here. The discipline is rigid, and is enforced with strict impartiality. There is no contrast between Camp Vincent and Camp Hayes. One was the congregation, it is true, of almost the same material as that which composes this camp; but there was lacking among the troops at Camp Hayes that which the French call, Esprit du Corps. The men did their duty in some cases, and in some they did not. There was no fear of retribution; therefore there was a lack of wholesome discipline. There is none of it wanting here. Camp Vincent is conducted as if an armed enemy was in its front. You receive your orders and to receive is to obey, and any failure to do so is followed by unpleasant consequences, as many here can testify from personal experience. The reorganization of the National Guard may not be complete, but it has taken a great stride forward. It is not too much to say, after seeing the workings of the new system, that the time is not far distant when Pennsylvania will have the best citizen-soldiery in the world. The work in camp is unremitting. "From early morn to dewy eve" the men are engaged in the task of perfecting themselves as soldiers. They are roused from their slumbers at five in the morning and can not retire until after roll call at nine and a-half at night. There is company, squad and battalion drill, dress parade and target practice; besides, there is guard mount, guard duty, fatigue duty and innumerable other things that effectually take up the time. The Commissary is everything that can be desired, and we of Company B are fortunate in having two excellent cooks.

There is one thing that has attracted almost universal attention, and that is the general homeliness of the ladies from the surrounding country who have visited us in great numbers. (It is proper to remark here, that although we are technically supposed to be encamped at Saltsburg, in Indiana county, we are actually in Westmoreland county—the Kiskiminitas being the dividing line). This ugliness, by the way, is not confined to the ladies, the men making a very fair record on the side of decided uncouthness. In talking over this matter with that veteran journalist, J. B. Sanson, of the Indiana Democrat, he indignantly repudiated the insinuation that the ugly girls came from Indiana county. He remarked, parenthetically, that they came from Westmoreland, and the ugly men came from Indiana. He said, in conclusion, that he was the only Democrat from Indiana county on the ground. The 5th regiment was inspected by Adjutant General James W. Latta and the members of General Beaver's staff on last Friday evening, at 5 o'clock, and the inspection was eminently satisfactory to the inspecting officers and correspondingly gratifying to the men.

By the way, Company B has made great improvement in drill under the capable direction of its officers, and on two successive evenings, at dress parade, received quite an ovation from the large crowd in attendance. On the first evening, while filing in review before Colonel Borchfield and the officers of the various companies, the Fencibles came down in such perfect order that they were loudly applauded, not only by the spectators but by the officers of the other companies. This was repeated on last evening and we feel quite proud. Company B has in it the material to make an exceedingly good military organization. One of the great difficulties experienced in Camp is to ascertain which is the most important individual—a general of division or a drum major. It is but just to say that the burden of opinion is upon the side of the magnificent individual who wields the baton. However, this question bids fair to be definitely settled by the non-commissioned officers. From present appearances it will not be long before the sergeants and corporals will put both the starred general and the gorgeous drum major completely in the back ground. One of the dangers of the service is the elevation of men to the minor positions who do not know how to fill them. The officers are kind and courteous in almost every case, but complaints come from all quarters that the understrappers abuse their authority and are disposed to "strut their brief hour upon the stage" in altogether too loud a manner. The review on Saturday was a grand affair. A slight shower about three o'clock cooled the air, freshened the grass, and made it an altogether irrefragable day for the brilliant pageant. Gov. Hoyt was on the ground, and with Generals Hartranft, Beaver and their staffs reviewed the troops. Three thousand gleaming bayonets and flashing sabres glistened in the sun light, while frowning artillery fittingly brought to a close the great event of the encampment. Thousands upon thousands of people filled the vast spaces and enthusiastically cheered the perfect appearance and marching of the "Boys in Blue." The weather has been simply perfect. The sun is exceedingly hot at midday, but there is always a good, pure mountain breeze blowing, while the evenings are comfortably cool. The camp ground is all that could be desired. It comprises four hundred acres of level land, with a fine surrounding of forest and grove. On this property are located the famous Kiskiminitas Mineral Springs. A fine hotel, situated in the midst of a beautiful park, is a favorite resort for summer visitors, and is also a part of this estate. It is as yet uncertain when Camp will break, possibly on next Wednesday.

General Beaver named our camp after General Strong Vincent, of Erie, who was killed at Gettysburg. Andy Morrison went home on Saturday on a recruiting expedition. We have not heard yet whether it is to be a son or daughter of the regiment. Before leaving he called on General Hartranft and requested him to conduct the review in his absence. The late Mr. Diraell in "Lothair," says one of his characters was "The Cynosure of the Ephyrean." I don't exactly know what that means, but I do know that Lieutenant Hale is the cynosure of the bright eyes of the ladies when he shows his fine physique on the parade ground.

A very tall gentleman, living not a thousand miles from Unionville, can entertain his grand-children with his thrilling experiences with General Beaver's mounted patrol at Saltsburg in which the t. g., a millinery store, a cow stable, and the patrol were badly mixed up.

Lieutenant Potter is in command of Company B in the absence of Captain Mullen. He is a good officer.

General Harry White crossed his favorite river and took in the review. He says he is glad he does not have to return to Washington. Oh, ye Gods!

J. C. Bruff, Esq., and wife, of Pittsburg, are the guests of Captain Wallace of the 14th regiment.

Blake Walters was in camp on Saturday and Sunday.

Gov. Hoyt was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Van Pelt has made application for promotion. He says he will accept a commission as Colonel but would prefer to be Commissary General. He bases his claim for advancement upon the ground of meritorious service in the field. He is studying sword practice and can be seen daily in the rear of his tent going through the most frightful motions with an old hand saw.

Major Harris made himself useful on review day by providing accommodations for the ladies.

The general health of the camp is good. There are but few cases of sickness and those are insignificant.

Col. Gray and Capt. Wallace, of the 14th regiment, made a pleasant call at company headquarters upon Sergeant Burnside on Sunday evening. Col. Gray is an affable gentleman and has a splendid regiment.

DEATH OF AMMON E. WOLF.—At six o'clock on last Saturday morning, we are deeply grieved to announce, Mr. Ammon E. Wolf passed to that "undiscovered country, from whose bourne no traveller returns." The deceased was a native of Miles township, and for some years had been a resident of the town of Rebersburg, where he died. He was about thirty-one years of age. He gave early promise of an active and useful life, and by the amiability of his character was endeared to his family and a large circle of friends and acquaintances. It is but little more than a year since he seemed to be in the full vigor of health, with bright expectations of a long and happy life before him; but almost before the sad fact could be realized by his friends, he became a victim to that insatiate destroyer, consumption, and the inroads of the fell disease upon his body were more than usually rapid, violent and relentless. He belonged to one of the oldest and most respected families of Brush Valley—his grandfather, Anthony Wolf, who died many years ago, having been one of the earliest settlers in the east end of the valley. The deceased was born at the old homestead of the family where his father, Henry Wolf, yet resides. During his life, Ammon E. Wolf followed the profession of a teacher in the public schools, for which he was well qualified by education and disposition, and in which he was highly successful. He was ardently devoted to his profession and was always found in the front rank of those who labored for the advancement of the educational interests of the county. Last year he was appointed an Enumerator of the Census for the district of Miles township, and performed the duties of that position with great accuracy, thoroughness and acceptability. Mr. Wolf will be greatly missed by the people amongst whom his short span of life was passed. He had drawn many friends around him, who had known him from childhood, and who will long cherish his memory. He leaves a sorrow stricken wife and one child to mourn an irreparable loss, and in their deep grief they will receive the heartfelt sympathy of an entire community. Peace to his ashes! "After life's fitful fever he sleeps well."

CENTRE COUNTY TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS.—The following order of place and time will be observed in the teachers' examinations for 1881:

Milroy and Boggs—Milroy, Tuesday, August 23.
Unionville and Union—Unionville, Tuesday, Aug. 23.
Huston—Julian Furnace, Wednesday, August 24.
North—Port Matilda, Thursday, August 25.
Taylor—Hannah Furnace, Friday, August 26.
Phillipsburg and Rush—Phillipsburg, Saturday, Aug. 27.
Snow Shoe & Burnside—Snow Shoe, Tuesday, Aug. 30.
Lyons—Eagleville, Wednesday, August 31.
Howard and Curtis—Howard, Thursday, September 1.
Marion—Jacksonville, Friday, September 2.
Walker—Hublerburg, Saturday, September 3.
Spring—Valentine School House, Tuesday, Sept. 6.
Benner—Knox School House, Wednesday, Sept. 7.
Patton—Waddle's School House, Thursday, Sept. 8.
Hallmoon—Stewarttown, Friday, September 9.
College—Lemont, Saturday, September 10.
Haines—Aaronsburg, Monday, September 12.
Milheim and Penn—Milheim, Tuesday, September 13.
Miles—Rebersburg, Wednesday, September 14.
Gregg—Penn Hall, Thursday, September 15.
Potter—Centre Hall, Friday, September 16.
Harris—Balsburg, Tuesday, September 20.
Ferguson—Pine Grove, Wednesday, September 21.

A special examination will be held at the Superintendent's Office, Bellefonte, Friday, September 30; applicants must come recommended by at least four directors of the district in which they intend to teach and give a satisfactory reason for non-attendance at the public examinations. Examinations begin at 9 o'clock a. m. Applicants are expected to be in time. Some of the directors also should be present to make out a list of applicants.

D. M. WOLF, Co. Supt.

Spring Mills, Pa., Aug. 3, 1881.

—Gordon & Landis have just received a new lot of the celebrated Hoosier Grain Drills, to which they invite the attention of farmers.

—Mr. John P. Harris, serving in the capacity as treasurer of the school fund, is doing excellent service for the borough in relieving it of a part of its heavy school indebtedness. During a period of two years of service as treasurer, Mr. Harris has succeeded in reducing the school debt about $3,000, and has refunded $10,000 at 5 per cent., that were formerly drawing at 7 per cent. per annum. His labors in this direction are highly appreciated by our citizens, and of which we hope to have more to say at a future time.—Morning News.

This is all very well; but a great many persons familiar with the business of the Bellefonte school board during the past three years may be inclined to think it exceedingly unjust to other members of the board, and also to other gentlemen who served as treasurers of the school fund. No one will disparage the valuable services of Mr. Harris since he has been a member of the school board, or doubt his efficiency as treasurer of the fund; but it must be understood that for three years previous to the first of June last a majority of the board were Democrats, and that during two years of that time, in which over $9,000 of indebtedness was paid and the interest on $10,000 reduced from eight to five per cent., Mr. Harris was not the treasurer. One year Mr. John Hoffer, of the South Ward, acceptably filled that position and last year its duties were equally well performed by Mr. Jared Harper, of the West Ward. There can be no doubt that the financial condition of the school fund has been greatly improved in the last three years, and the above statement is made as a matter of justice to Messrs. Hoffer and Harper and the majority that controlled the action of the board throughout that period.

—The next event of importance in this county, will be the fair about the first week of October.

—For the various diseases to which females are peculiarly liable there is no remedy so certain and safe as Green's Liver Pills.

DRESS MAKING.—Mrs. Fanny Struble offers her services to the ladies of Bellefonte, and vicinity as a dress maker, and will endeavor to give satisfaction to those who may favor her. Her residence is next door to Mr. Montgomery on Bishop street.

—Special inducements for orders for clothing during the Summer months.

23-11 MONTGOMERY & CO., Tailors.

LOGAN CEMENT.—The retail price for LOGAN CEMENT on and after this date (May 9, 1881), will be two dollars per barrel and no charge for bags or barrels.

H. K. HICKS.

NOTICE TO TRESPASSERS.—The undersigned gives notice that he will not permit persons to hunt and shoot game upon his farm in Ferguson township without permission. Any one found upon the premises in disregard of this notice will be treated as a trespasser and prosecuted accordingly.

BELLEFONTE ACADEMY

A SEMINARY FOR

Young Ladies and Gentlemen.

THE young ladies are educated apart from the young gentlemen in the school room. They are under the care of lady teachers, while the males are under the care of gentlemen teachers. In the class-rooms the sexes are educated together. This plan, after much and varied experience, we consider the best for the successful training of the young.

The Young Ladies' School will re-open on MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, under the supervision of Miss ADA KELLOGG, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke Seminary, in the class of 1870. She has had successful experience as an instructor and disciplinarian for five years, at Saybrook, Conn., and six years in the North Seminary, in New York. She comes to us with the highest testimonials, as a lady of Christian character and culture, and as a teacher skilled and accomplished.

School for Little Boys and Girls. The Primary School will re-open on MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, under the management of Mrs. J. S. ROBERTS, whose system, thoroughness and progress were so manifest in the classes, and so satisfactory, during the past year.

School for Young Men and Boys. The Male School will re-open on TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 6. The Principal will take charge of the Mathematical and Business departments, assisted in the Classical and Scientific studies by Mr. E. N. McOFFERT, who has already proven himself master in these branches, and admirably capable of imparting thorough instruction to all pupils who wish to pursue them.

The course of study will be complete, and the course of study wide in its range, comprehending in English, Mathematics, Ancient and Modern Languages, Music and Drawing, all that is necessary to prepare our youth for a successful business life, or for the best colleges in the land.

Young Ladies and Gentlemen from abroad who wish to avail themselves of the advantages of this institution, can obtain good boarding and homes in the town at from $3 to $4 per week. Those in clubs can board themselves at one-half the above prices.

Pupils are requested to be punctual in their attendance at the re-opening of the session.

J. P. HUGHES,

Principal.
