The Evidence Vindicates Black.

From the Philadelphia Press.

From the Philadelphia Press. Following a remarkable interview with Mr. Jefferson Davis, the Press startled and astounded the country with a revelation from Judge Black. It was at once and generally recognized that the most important chapters of the history of a period which was neither peace nor war, but the prelude to a causeless and savage assault on the Union, were being seriously disturbed if not utterly destroyed.

if not utterly destroyed. It is a human propensity to hold with stubborn tenacity to that which has come down as history, though subse-quent evidence may shake or overthrow it. The history of a war as made in war is necessarily hasty, crude and in-necemate; it is the better office of neces war is necessarily hasty, trube and in accurate ; it is the better office of peace to overhaul, sift and perfect it. A few men live who, in the highest official circle, helped to make a history which has been written from many standpoints, generally with partisan or sec-tional bias, never with the sole aim to be true and fair and just. In the belief that the country was as ripe as the time was auspicious for a review of the record, the Press thought it well to tap these sources of information before they

these sources of information before they should be forever dried up. Without previous knowledge of what Judge Black would say, if he consented to speak at all, and with no intimation from any source that he could and would, however reluctantly, produce documentary evidence to unsettle ac-cepted history, the Press invited and urged Judge Black to speak. What he said the public knows. His utterances through these columns have been criti-cised, weighed, violently assailed, recised, weighed, violently assailed, re-jected in some quarters, and in others, sively establishing his loyalty to the Union.

Union. A point strongly urged against Judge Black is that he is unfortunate in his choice of time—that what he says now would have been better said twenty years ago, when the facts were fresh and the witnesses were alive. Twenty years are or even fitteen years ago. Judge ago, or even fifteen years ago, Judge Black would not have been listened to. Today the country accords him a re-spectful hearing, and though some bit-terness remains, there is some fairness, and the general judgment of the coun-try is just. The Press has not overlook-ed the living witnesses. Among others we have called to the stand ex-Governor Philip Frank Thomas, of Maryland, for a time Buchanan's Secretary of the Treasury. He confirmed Judge Black's testimony. This was not enough. It was said that if Holt or Stanton were living either of them could settle the question, and it was confidently asserted that the settlement would not be in Judge Black's favor.

President Buchanan, Judge Black was consistent, persistent and aggressive in his loyalty to the Union. That Judge Black never entertained a thought of treating with the emissa-ries of armed rebellion. That Judge Black neither held nor advanced opinions opposed to the pow er of the National Government to pro-tect and defend itself and to preserve er of the Vational document to proserve the teat and defend itself and to preserve the Union, whether by "coercion" or any other necessary and lawful means. That Judge Black was in full accord with the other Union men of Buchan-an's Cabinet, and, as the intimate of Buchanan, was the spokesman between Buchanan, was the spokesman between that element and the President.

Terrible Massacre of General Carr and His Command.

One Hundred and Ten Men and Seven Offi-eers Cruely Murdered by the White Moun-tain Indians at Fort Apacha—A Repeti-tion of the Lattle Big Horn Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 3.- A Tuc-SAN FRANCISCO, September 3.—A Tuc-son dispatch to the Star has advices from Fort Grant to the effect that three couriers have come into Camp Thomas bringing the same news—that General Carr and command have all been mas sacred by White Mountain Indians, thirty-five miles from Camp Apache. One hundred and ten soldiers and seven officers were killed. The officers must be General Carr. Captain Hentig. Lieube General Carr, Captain Hentig, Lieu-tenants Carter, Gordon, Stanton, Ornes and Dr. McCreery. The White Moun-tain Indians' reservation is located about 160 miles north of Wilcox, near the line of New Mexico. The tribe numbers about 1,500 in all. They can muster about 400 warriors. This is the only tribe of Apaches which have not been whipped into subjection. They were moved in 1876 into the San Carlos reservation, but were recalled and rebe General Carr, Captain Hentig, Lieureservation, but were recalled and returned to their old hunting grounds, where they have been ever since. Those who escaped are fighting their way to Fort Apache, but their success is doubt-ful. Piedro's band attacked Fort Apache, but the commander of the de-partment thinks that he must have been combined and their he more held the repulsed and that he now holds the canyon through which the road from Camp Thomas to Fort Apache passes. A company of the First cavalry stationed at Camp McDermott and another at Camp Malleck and a company of the Eighth infantry at Benicia have been ordered at once for Arizona.

THE NEWS CONFIRMED.

CHICAGO, September 3.- A special from lucson, Arizona, confirms the report of the massacre of two companies of cav-alry under General Carr, by Apaches, near Camp Thomas. Lieutenant Cruse was shot by a "medicine man" whom he was trying to arrest, whereupon the troops opened fire and killed the "med-icine man." The massacre then began, the Indian scouts firing on the white troops, and nearly every white was kill-ed. Three companies of cavalry and a company of scouts under Overton are on the way as reinforcements. No courier has yet come through, and all are supposed to have been killed.

GENERAL M'DOWELL TO SECRETARY LINCOLN. WASHINGTON, Separate Process Lincoln this evening received a dispatch from Gen. McDowell at San Francisco, in which he reports the receipts of the late advices from Camp Thomas corroborating the reported massacre of the men of General Carr's command. Gen. McDowell's dispatch states that an Indian who witnessed the fight came in to Camp Thomas and reported that Gen. Carr's men were killed, but two men escaped. They were trying to make their way back to Fort Apache.

Jennie Cramer's Murder.

THE TRIAL OF THE MALLEY BOYS BEGUN-THE EVIDENCE.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., September 5.-Prosecutor Bush this morning entered a nolle prosequi in the separate com plaints of murder against Walter and James Malley, Jr., and substituted one jointly charging them as follows:

"First, that James and Walter Malley did wilfully and with violence afore thought kill and murder Jennie Cramer by drowning; second, with cloroform; third, with arsenic; fourth, by causing congestion of the brain by liquor and drugs unknown, and fifth, by holding her face downwards against the sands,

The prisoners pleaded "Not guilty." Counsel for the defence asked for sepa-rate trials and the State be restricted to one count.

The Justice overruled both motions

A. Curtiss testified—Between 5 and 6 o'clock on August 6 was bailing out his boat, rose up to rest and saw something floating in the water at a distance of eight or ten feet, when he waded in and pulled it so the face struck the sand; it was the body of a young wo man with her face downwards and her hands crossed on the upper part of her stomach. Her eyes were closed; as I turned her over her mouth opened, and there was such an odor that I could taste it for several days; never experienced such a smell before; it was not the smell of liquor, but thought itwas opium or laudanum. The tide was two-thirds high; at low water there would have been no water where she would have been no water where she was found; none within four or five rods further out; have had much ex-perience in finding bodies. This one looked to me as if she had died before getting into the water; there was no froth at the mouth; usually find the eyes open; body with face upward and froth at the mouth; no water came from the lungs; in drowning cases can generally remove a pint or more from generally remove a pint or more from the lungs; thought the body had been in the water twelve hours because the face was black; there was a fresh spot on the nose where it struck on the sand bar and a ragged mark under the lip.

On cross examination the witness said should say the blood from the nos rils was darker than ordinary blood the skin of the face was dark, as if there had been a rush of blood to the head this appearance resembled drowning as much as anything ; did not look at the finger nails to see if there was sand under them; he should say the body had drifted from Kelsey's wharf about two-thirds down from the beach."

To day the dead speaks. Since the last act of a tragedy in which Judge Holt, as an officer of the government, played a prominent part, he has been dead to the country. His associates in dead to the country. His associates in public life thought he had passed away Judge Black, we think, has numbered him with "the great majority." Not a hundred people in Washington know that he lives among them. Judge Hott, the pronounced Union man, the loyalist the pronounced Ontom man, the toyanst beyond suspicion, the Cabinet officer of Buchanan and Lincoln, the trusted friend of the martyr President, and Judge Advocate General of the army during and after the war -Judge Holt freely and fully vouches for Judge Black's loyalty and his services to the Union during the days of weakness and conspiracy. "Mr. Stanton, Judge Union during the days of weakness and conspiracy. "Mr. Stanton, Judge Black, and myself," says Judge Holt, "were in perfect accord upon the daty of the government toward the Seces-sionists and in perfect harmony as to rights of States under the Constitution. * * * No man could have been more ardent or earnest in his attachment to the Union, or more persistent in urg-ing those things calculated to save it from the designs of Southern men than Judge Black." Could an indorsement be stronger?

A man whose loyalty has stood as an example places Judge Black beside himself and the honored Stanton in devotion to the Union. Unless it can be shown that Judge Holt has traduced Stanton and slandered himself, his testimony may be given full credence in arriving at the verdict. Judge Holt arriving at the verdict.
