DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

Orange Noble the Candidate for State Treasurer.

A PLATFORM OF SOUND DEMOCRATIC PRIN-CIPLES.

The Democratic State Convention, to nominate a candidate for State Treasurer met at Williamsport, on Wednesday, of last week, under the call of Hon. A. H. Dill, Chairman of the State Committee. The convention was called to order at 12 o'clock, M., and was opened by prayer by Hon. Caleb W. Wright, a delegate from Bucks county. On motion of Hon. Robert James, of Northampton county, W. U. Hensel, Esq., of Lancaster, was unanimously chosen temporary chairman, and the following secretaries were announced : William McClellan, George D. Herbert, W. F. McCally, William Hasson, William R. Stever, George B. Kneass, Alexander Russel, E. M. Halderman and J. Miller Hall. On taking the chair Mr. Hensel spoke as follows :

MR. HENSEL'S ADDRESS.

tlemen of the Convention : There are no off years in Democratic hopes and Democratic exertions. Profoundly ap preciating the honor of the call which preciating the honor of the call which you have extended to me, I am not in-sensible to the responsibilities which its acceptance involves. I trust I need not say that I will endeavor to meet and discharge them without fear, favor, or affection. I am not unmindful that the long shadows of a people's grief fall athwart any popular gatherings in these times and that the whole repub-lic laments the calamity which has be-falled in the assessment of the these times and that the whole repub-lic laments the calamity which has be-fallen it in the assassination of the chief magistrate. Deprecating as they do any assault upon the dignity of es-tablished office by fraud or force, the Democrats of Pennsylvania sincerely join in the universal sorrow and sympa-thy which this tragic event awakened. All the more deeply do they feel the necessity of reaffirming by their words and works their 'fidelity to the princi ples of those illustrious men who set tled our free institution and founded the Democratic party to preserve them.' tied our free institution and founded the Democratic party to preserve them.' They who look for a Democratic State convention to reset ancient land marks, will, I trust, look in vain. Time has only vindicated the efficiency of the es sential principles of Democracy to truly 'save the life of the nation,' and keep sential principles of Democracy to truly 'save the life of the nation,' and keep each part of our well devised constitu-tional system in full vigor and free ex-ercise; to reassert rather than to take departure from this faith delivered by the fathers, and to nominate candidates who are the embodiment thereof is the office of this convention. In the meas-ure that this is done will the people of the common wealth approve the deliver-ance of the party. That pledge, I may be allowed to say, involves a declara-tion of honest money, home rule, fáir elections and economy in the expenses of government; against all schemes of contralization of the public business, against repudiation and repudiators, and against the growth and exaction of monopolies or the extension of subsi-dies to corporations at the people's ex-pense. A long carser of faithfulness to public trust has informed the people of this commonwealth of the dishonest purposes of the Republican party. Re-cent events have quickened public ap-prehension of fatal results to the State from its longer continuance in power and the formidable rebellion every. cont events have quickened public apprehension of fatal results to the State from its longer continuance in power and the formidable rebellion every where asserting itself against corrupt personal and political dynasties give promise that the day of Pennsylvania's deliverance is at hand. Honest men are hopeful that in the near future a better political creed is here to prevail than of addition, division and silence. These signs of the times point the way to Democratic duty. If this convention shall meet and discharge that duty, as I know it will, it will justify the hopes of a large majority of the people whose eyes are tarred this way to day. If it shall arraign the oppositon for the sins and omission and its deeper vices of corruption ; if it shall pledge itself with-out equivocation to better things, and if it shall prove its sincerity by having a candidate whose record is without fear and whose record is without fear and whose reaching importance than simply to determine i

The committee on organization met afterwards, Colonel Duff in the chair, and agreed to make the temporary chairman permanent. They also de-cided to have a vice president and sec-retary from each senatorial district. The temporary secretaries are also to be permanent. THE PLATFORM.

The report from the committe or solutions was then read and adopted, resolutions was then read and adopted, as follows: Resolved, That we, the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, declare: First—For the preservation of the constitution of the United States; home rule, freedom of election; for resistance to revolutionary changes, tending to consolidation or empire; against the election of any person to the presidency to the third time; against the presence to the third time ; against the presence of troops at the polls; against the ap-propriation of public moneys for any propriation of public moneys for any purpose but the support of the govern-ment; and class legislation, which de-spoils labor to build up monopoly. Second—That the Democratic party, as of old, favors a constitutional cur-rency of gold and silver, in all forms, and coalition with repudiators merit the condemnation of honest people. The refusal of a Republican adminis-tration to accede to the Democratic de-mand for a further reduction in the mand for a further reduction in the rate of interest on the national debt subjects the government to a needless expense of half a million dollars annually. __Third_In view of the exposure of -- Third--- in view of the exposure of extensive frauds in the postal and treas ury department under the last federal administration, the people demand prompt and unfaltering prosecution of the thieves; their successful operations prove that there will be no real reform in the management of the departments of the federal government, without a sweeping change therein. Sincere civil service reform will begin with a return to the Jeffersonian tests for office hold ers of honesty, capability and faithful ness to the constitution.

Fourth-That in the administration of the government of Pennsylvania the Republican party has encouraged, prac-ticed and shielded spoliation of the State treasury and misuse of the public funds, bribery of legislators, undue favor to corporations and monopolies, an unnecessarily high rate of interest on the State loans, a shameless prosti tution of the pardoning power, a system of wholesale waste and peculation in the ordinary expenditures of the gov ernment, and an harassing and plunder ing exercise of municipal franchises and abuse of local trusts.

and abuse of local trusts. Fifth—That the arrogant, corrupt and personal domination controlling the Republican party in this State, and sup-pressing honesty and independence in that organization, dictated the policy, the platform and the candidate of its last State convention. In view of these facts we hereby reaffirm the following resolution of the Demogratic State conresolution of the D-mocratic State con-vention of 1879 : "That the recent at tempt under the personal direction of ruling Republican leaders to debauch the legislature by wholesaner bery and corruption, and take from person wealth four million of the person which its liability has never been as certained is a freeh and alarming or certained, is a fresh and alarming evidence of the aggressiveness of corporate power in collusion with political rings, nation of the people at the polls. Sixth—That the Democratic party of

Sixth—That the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, regardful of the State's honor and its interests, pledges itself to the just application of the public mon-eys to the public service; to economy in governmental expenditures, that the people may be lightly burdened and the purity of the administration pre-served; to the abolition of all useless offices and the looping off of all superoffices and the lopping off of all super-numary officials; to the lowest practi-cable rate of interest on State loans, without regard for the advantage of vigilance against the growth and exac tions of monopolies; to watchful guard of the public interests against the pretensions of the great transportation companies to be above the fundamental companies to be above the fundamental law governing all else within the bord-ers of the State; to a vigorous collec-tion of all the taxes lawfully laid upon corporation chartered or doing business in Pennsylvania; and to investigation into, correction of and punishment for the frauds and wastes which have for years permeated various departments of the State government under Republican control Seventh-That no monopolies of exclusive right in the forces of nature, in grants of eminent domain, in the dif-fusion of information among the people by telegraph and associations for fur-nishing dispatches to the press, or grant of privileges affecting the daily business of the citizen can or ought rightfully to axist under our form of excernment of the cliffer can be ought figure in the second se Eighth-That the delegated power of Eighth—That the delegated power of congress to regulate commerce among the states and the reserved power of the state to regulate the same within their borders should be forthwith exercised to prevent unjust discrimination by common carriers against individuals and localities, and all provisions of the constitution of Pennsylvanis relative to the exercise and abuse of corporate franchise and duties of common car-riers to the public should be enforced without delay by appropriate legisla-tion. without deny by appropriate logistic tion. Ninth—That all governmental power should be used in restraint of monopo-lies and not in aid of them and simple and speedy remedies should be provid-ed by legislative enactment by which any citizen injured in his business may, in the state and federal courts, by one process of law, have quick, certain and adequate redress for corporate wrongs.

Tenth-That vested rights must be Tenth-That vested rights inter co-protected and respected, and great cor-porations waring between themselves to the injury of the public interest and their own shareholders must be regutheir own shareholders must be related and controlled by wise and eff ive laws.

Eleventh—That franchises properly of the people shall be granted and exer cised solely for the public benefit, and subject to immediate and absolute for feiture by due process of law when used for oppression or extortion, or when otherwise abused. No corporation can be above the people or the law. We thus reaffirm the ancient doctrines of the Democratic party, and most cordially invite our fellow citizens of whatever party to join with us in carrying out the principles and policy we hereby an-nounce, and to the advocacy of which we pledge ourselves until the right shall Twelfth.—That all good citizens, re-gardless of party affiliations, sincerely mourn the death of President Garfield, and that we, as representatives of more than four hundred thousand Democrat than four hundred thousand Democrat-ic voters, express their individual and collective grief at the calamity which has befallen the republic, their sorrow and sympathy with the domestic afflic-tion of the President's stricken household, and their execration of the assas sin and of the murderer's foul crime.

Ex. 40: 1-16. GOLDEN TEXT:-"Then a cloud covered the t e Congregation, and the gloty of the Lord fille abernacie."-Ex. 40: 34.

Central Truth :- God delights to dwell Central Truth:-God dengnts to owen in the midst of his ransomed people. So enthusiastic were the people in their gifts and work that the elaborate preparations for the tabernacle were soon completed. In less than six months all its parts were finished. It was now ready to be set up, and in this lesson we have the divine directions for doing this, and for consecrating its priests.

The very first question likely to occur to either teacher or scholar relates to the purpose of the tabernacle. What was it for ? It was intended to be God's dwelling place among his ransomed people; his earthly house or home; his royal residence and palace of home; his royal residence and palace of beauty; the place where he would show himself in his holiness and love. He would be seen of them not on his side of mercy only, for that was only a part of his character. He would be known as holy also a hours to be appreseded by right character. He would be known as holy also, a being to be approached by sin-ners indeed, but only through atone-ment for their sin. Of such a God the tabernacle was to be the earthly home. "Let them make me a sanctuary, that I "Let them make me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among them." "I will set my tabernacle among you, and my soul shall not abhor you; and I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people." It was called the "tabernacle of the congregation," or "item of meeting." not of course the "tabernacle of the congregation," or "tent of meeting," not, of course, such a meeting place as one of our sanc-tuaries, but a place at which, and not within which, God would meet with Israel. Only the priests could enter the holy place, and only the high priest the holiest place of all. Within the tabernacle God received his people only through their anointed representatives. It is hardly needful that we should here say much of the structure itself.

Approaching it on the eastern side, one comes to a space, seventy five feet broad and one hundred and fifty long, These works are in full and successenclosed by costly hangings. Passin within, we are in the outer court. Th ful operation, and will be so on the day of sale. tabernacle is now a little distance be fore us, a structure forty five feet by fifteen, and the holy of holies, fifteen Terms of Payment: Ten per cent. at time of sale; twenty per cent. on Novem-ber 27, 1881, and ten per cent. each 27th of October for 7 years, with interest at 6

Thus there are three parts --the outer court, into which the peo-ple may enter; the holy place, entered only by their representatives the priests; and the holy of holies, a secret place where God's face is the only light, and per cent. per annum, on deferred pay-ments, payable annually. into which only the high priest once a year may come alone. In the outer court is the brazen altar and the laver; MILLER TIFFIN, Gen'l Manager, in the hely place, the table with the shew bread, the golden candlestick, and DENNSYLVANIA, Centre Co., 88 : PENNSYLVANIA, Centre Co., 88 : phane 'Court of said count of hereivy certify that at an Orynamy Court is the Burgersent of the Or-hard 'Court of said count of the best of the Orynamy August, A. rise, with outspread wings, and bending toward the centre, the two cherubim. Now, the most interesting question in all the lesson relates to the meaning of all this. To this question it is easy to give a general answer. As a whole, it symbolized the majesty, purity, holiness and grace of God, and the way of ac-cess to his face and favor. As a type, no doubt, it pointed to Christ and his Church. But it is not so easy to speak with confidence of the meaning of every part.

part. Let us enter the holy of holies, for Let us enter the holy of holies, for here our lesson takes us first. Here, within the veil, is the ark of the testi-mony, within which are the two tables of the law, and upon which are the mercy seat and the bending cherubin. This is the secret chamber of God; it is the symbol of heaven itself. The tables of the law testify the his own particular of the law testify to his own rectitude and to the righteousness he ever re and to the righteousness he ever re-quires of his people. At the mercy seat, as, once every year, the high priest en-ters to sprinkle the blood of the ap-pointed propitation, God accepts the offered atonement for the people's sins. Thus mercy and rectitude go together. The former rests upon the latter. The law can never be abrogated, and yet, approached through the atoning blood, God is able to forgive; mercy is his de-light. The cherubim may symbolize adoring intelligences, or the waiting messengers of God's holy and gracious will.

will. The table, the candlestick and the altar of incense are in the holy place. There are those who interpret all these as symbolizing what passes from us to God, not what passes from him to us. not what God, not what passes from him to us. In this view, the shew-bread would represent our offerings to God, particular-ly the fruits of grace produced in the heart and life, and the candlestick would symbolize the spiritual light, shed abroad by the believer, and the Church as fed by the oil of the Divine Spirit. But, in another view, the table, with its loaves, signifies the heavenly food with which God gladdens and sus-tions his nearboard and resist to Church tains his people, and points to Christ, the Bread of Life ; and the candlestick the Bread of Life; and the candicatics the never-slumbering guardianship of God, and the divine knowledge with which, by the Spirit, he cheers and sanctifies his redeemed. The incense from the altar would signify both the ascending progress of God's people and the fragrance of the believer's conse-crated life. the fragrance of the believer's conse-crated life. The two objects in the court of the crated life. The two objects in the court of the tabernacle were the altar for sacrifices, and the laver for the ablutions of the priests. The principal sacrifices were the sin-offering for atonement, and the burnt offering, which emphasized self-dedication and praise. That these, with the vashings at the laver, were without the tabernacle and in the court, is most significant. Does it not impress-ively remind us of what are, and ever were, the very first steps into the new life, and toward the heavenly rest? Our first approaches to God are through some offering in atonement for sin, self-dedication to God, and that mor-al cleaning which God offers through the Divine Spirit. Thus the sinful soul starts on its heavenward way. By the paths. Through these we make our way to the holy place, or Church on or holies, or heaven above. The remainder of the lesson relates to the consecration of Airon and heaven sons to the priestly office, by which the preparations for the services of the tab-ernacle was made complete. PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS. 1. The Old Testament way of life and the New Testament way are not two ways, but one. The study of the one helps us to understand the other. The Bible is thus seen to be a unit. In every part it is from God. 2. Nevertheless ours is the fuller rev-elation and the clearer light: for us to elation and the clearer light: for us to mistake the way will be to be without excuse. excuse. 3. Our meeting place with God is wherever the heart desires and seeks him; yet God is pleased to honor his own sanctuary; to despise his ordinances which centre there is to trample his minder mode for the set of the se his wisdom under foot.

4. The one central truth of our reli-gion is that of salvation through the blood of Christ; never to be forgotten, never to be obscured. 5. God's way to the holy of holies above is the one sure way. To turn from it to any other is proud defiance. To choose it with all the heart is to be safe here and blest forever.
