-Buy your blankets at Loebs. -General James A. Beaver spoke at a Baily meeting in Altoona Tuesday night.

-The largest stock of blankets, flannels, shawls, felt skirts and cloth skirts and millinery at the lowest prices at the fine store of Lyon & Co.

-The pet coon at the Bush House affords the transient and permanent guests much amusement. That coon is quite a genius in his way.

-Judge Hargest, Capt. George, Simeon Haupt and James Alexander came from their hunting ground yesterday afternoon, bringing with them a fine buck.

-Workmen are engaged putting down a boardwalk the whole length of the vacant lot on Lamb street, between the residences of Geo. W. Jackson and Thos. Laughlin.

-The largest stock of black cashmeres in Centre county from 25 cents up to $1.35 per yard, up to 48 in width. All the new bronze shades in cashmeres at the store of Lyon & Co.

-If the floating rumors are all substantiated in regard to the establishment of manufacturing industries in this place the town in a year or two is destined to become a perfect hive of industry. But nous verrons!

-Essington's ax works in Milesburg, badly damaged by fire a short time since, have been rebuilt and are now again running. The reconstruction of the building was accomplished in what is alluded to a an incredibly brief space of time.

-Call and examine the stock of range and cook stoves at Wilson, McFarlane & Co's : also their line of single and double heaters. They have for sale the Welcome Home double heater, which has been thoroughly and satisfactorily tested in this community.

-At the shooting contest in Bellefonte on last Saturday between a team of Johnstown's Company H and a team of Company B the Bellefonte soldiers were victorious by a score of 155 to 147, out of a pozsible 250. The shootists all dined at the Bush House. The return match will be shot in Johnstown in a couple of weeks.

-Messrs. John Proudfoot and Reuber Spangler have formed a partnership under e firm name of Proudfoot & Co. and are about establishing a first-class furniture store in the McClain block. Repairing will also be done. The enterprise is backed with capital sufficient to permit the new firm to compete with the very best furni-

THE BELLEFONTE GLASS WORKS TO BE REVIVED .- After an immense deal of speculation as to the future of the glass works, which have been deserted and idle for years, arrangements have been effected by which the works will resume operations. There has been a great lot of talk for some time past about this desideratum being accomplished, but nearly everybody was accustomed to hearing such tales and almost invariably elevated their noses in derision of the idea that the works would ever be revived. However, a couple of gentlemen, strangers to this locality, have been in town for a few days looking into the matter, and the result was that on Monday morning, at a conference of the parties concerned, the works were transferred to R. Rheine, of Baltimore, and Richard Davis, of Detroit. Repairs were begun at the works on Tuesday morning, and Mr. Davis says the works will be running and the relic of Pagan times. first glass made on the evening of next Sunday a week. The furnaces at present in the works, Mr. Davis said to our reporter, will be utilized and permitted to remain until July, when they will be replaced with new furnaces, including blowing furnaces, "on the European plan." The force of employes will consist of ten blowers and ten gatherers, three flatteners, four helpers, five cutters and a number of laborers-in all about sixty persons. These men have all been elsewhere, and will arrive by the date of opening. Mr. Davis says of their character that they are all sober, steady and intelligent men, and that each blower is capable of making ten boxes of glass per day; otherwise, he intimated, he would not have them at all.

The new proprietors of the glass works have succeeded in effecting arrangements materially different from those which, it is said, embarrassed and hindered lessees formerly. They have secured complete and undisputed control of the entire property and fixtures by purchase, and no Bellefonte capitalist will be interested in the enterprise or possess the slightest power to venture suggestions to or interfere with the management in any particular. As such eems to have been the bane of these works heretofore, this positive prohibition was certainly a wise provision on the part of the new proprietors. The terms to the management are unusually easy and satisand Messrs. Rheine and Davis express no doubt as to the success of the works-in fact are positive of the most encouraging results-and they insist the failures of the past were solely attributable to very poor management. It is confidently asserted by the propritors that the works will be able to manufacture fifty one-hundred-feet boxes of glass daily, or two hundred and fifty boxes per week of five days, which is all the time that can be devoted to the actual making of glass. Mr. Davis has had a lifetime of practical experience as a glassblower while his partuer, Mr. Rheine, is an exten sive dealer in glass in the monumental city. Mr. Davis will be the sole superintendent of the works, and he understands the whole business thorougly and in every particular.

Mr. Davis desires through the DEMO-CRAT to express his hearty thanks for the kind and courteous treatment reserved by himself and Mr. Rheine at the hands of General Beaver and Mr. Adolph Loeb, with whom the negotiations for the glass works were conducted.

TO COLORADO AFTER FORTUNES .-Lewis Bullock and Harry Fulton, young men of Milesburg and both about 18 years of age, the former a son of Jonathan Bullock, blacksmith and wagonmaker, somewhat unexpectedly-to the father of young Bullock, at least-departed on the morning of Saturday last to seek their fortune in Colorado, Mr. Bullock, it seems, had no knowledge or suspicion of his son's intentions, and being exceedingly busy in is shop the boy's sudden den quite a surprise to him, beside leaving him somewhat embarrassed in the matter of mechanical assistance. Lewis, however, it is said, informed his mother in the morn ing that he was going away. He had in his pockets cash to the amount of about $115 when he started, but his companion, it is understood, was possessed of no financial resources worth speaking of. Under these conditions, unless the poorer of the two hove manages to assist in making ends meet by working his way to the terminus of their long journey, there will no doubt be some pedestrianism indulged in. Mr. Bullock naturally is considerably worried at present about what he terms the foolish expedition of his son, as he thinks the boy ould have done better this winter by renaining at home ; "but," he says, "I sup pose they'll both be glad enough to return to old Milesburg before the cold weather is over." -Harry Delong, aged about 20 years, a on of David Delong, of Curtin township, had a foot badly mashed on Friday last or Sandy run while working on a log job. The foot, it is said, was somehow caught between a log and a huge rock. The young man was afterward conveyed to Snow Shoe and placed under the care of Dr. Thompon, who dressed the ugly wound. Harry was then made ready to be taken to the residence of his father, where he arrived on the morning following the unfortunate ceident. While there is a possibility that imputation may be necessary the att and. ing physician has confidence in his ability to prevent such a calamity.

ALL HALLOW E'EN-ITS ORIGIN, CUSroms, Erc.-Though it may be a little late for an article on Hallow E'en, now that the occasion has passed by, we think that a brief dissertation on "The Witches" Night," as it is often denominated, and the customs that prevail once a year on the night of the 31st of October, will prove interesting to our readers. Hallow E'en then, is the night when witches are supoosed to walk abroad and supernatural influences prevail in the visible and invisible world. In the United Kingdom, particularly in Scotland and Ireland, it is a great day, and many old Irish and Scotch-Irish people here who spent their early days there will remember with pleasure the interest with which they looked for its annual recurrence. Some have been disposed to connect Hallow E'n with the observance of All Saints' day, which follows ; but according to the best authorities it is a In the United Kingdom it is celebrated in a quaint manner by the common peo ple, and the customs there have to s extent been brought to this country, although it is not now celebrated to so great an extent as formerly. In the old country nuts and apples were everywhere in great demand and many strange superstitions concerning the observance of Hallow E'en prevail among all.

According to Brand the young women who wish to know if their lovers are faithful put three nuts upon the bars of the grates, naming the nuts after the lovers If a nut cracks or jumps the lover will prove unfaithful; if it begins to blaze or burn the lover has a regard for her. If the two named after the girl and her lover burn together they will be married. With apples the custom is to set them afloat in a tub of water, into which the juveniles by turns duck their heads with the view of catching them, and the bobbing of the urchins' heads in pursuit of the apples occasions great merriment to the youngsters. Another ceremony much practiced is to place three dishes filled with clean and foul water and one empty on the hearth, when the parties, blindfolded, advance in succession and dip their fingers into one. If they dip into the clean water they are to marry a maiden : if into the foul water a widow : if into the empty dish the party so dipping is destined to be either a bachelor or an old maid.

Other customs of a still more superstitious character are common. One of them is the eating of an apple in front of a mirror with a view of discovering the inquirer's future companion peeping over the shoulder. Another is the custom to wet a shirt sleeve, hang it up to the fire to dry, and lie in bed watching till midnight, when the apparition of the individual's future partner for life will come in and turn the leeve. In the town Hallow E'en is generally thoroughly observed by the juveniles in the matter of ringing doorbells and thumping on doors of houses not possessing these appendages, and many are surprised at the number of callers until the explanation comes, "Oh ! it's only Hallow E'en !" One custom common in this country is for a young lady to throw a ball of twine out of the window and commence winding it from the inside. The first young man who picks up the outside ball is to be the future lover.

THE "REFINED VARIETY SHOW."-Somebody in our morning cotemporary one day last week took the DEMOCRAT to task for its allusion in a "sarcastic" way to Helen Potter's Pleiades. We are really sorry that any one should be so stupid as to claim that the squib was a fling at the entertainment, for it was not. We only desired the people not to be misled by the News, statement that "a rare dramatic entertainment'' would be witnessed The notice in the morning journal which induced the item in the DEMOCRAT contained a "puff" for the Swedish ladies' quartette, the members of which, as we correctly stated, are not with the Pleiades at all. There is no doubt that the entertainment was a fine one and well worth going to see, but as far as an exhibition of that his weight has been as much as three 'rare'' dramatic art was concerned nobody saw it. Helen Potter's imitations and impersonations are simply the productions of an accomplished mimic, and she don't pretend that there is anything dramatic about them, while everybody ought to know that an imitation of Charlotte Cushman though it might recall the great tragic actress forcibly, would give but little idea of the power and soul that she could throw into the character she chose to assume-The Pleiades' entertainment is the essence of refinement and it is satisfactorily varied ;

BELLEFONTE AND ALTOONA COMPARED -An employe of the Beilefonte car works who has been for some time contemplating a removal to Altoona, where he could obtain work in the great shops of that stupendous corporation, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, where he was led to believe that he might do better than here, told a representative of this paper recently that he was not as strongly bent on locating there as he had been. He visited Aloona lately and his ideas of the desirability of a place there were modified considerably. He admitted, of course, that it was quite a lively little city and that there was any quantity of work there, "but," he remarked, "except in particular instances there don't appear to be very much in it from the financial standpoint of a workingman. As a place of residence, in point of healthfulness and comfort, Altoona cannot compare with Bellefonte. I saw three funerals in one day while I was there." There are employed in the car works in this place men from Altoona who have worked almost a lifetime in the shops there, and they say that for work of the same or nearly the same character in the Bellefonte car shops the returns in the matter of wages are much more satisfactory These men are particularly pleased with the town of the "beautiful fountain" as a place of residence. The healthful and invigorating climate and the pure and inexhaustible supply of cold water, are some of the advantages that Altoona does not possess. And we think in expressing such opinions as these the men in question exhibit their wisdom, good sense and appreciation of comfort.

MARRIAGE OF REV. MR. MORRIS. Rev. Edward Morris, pastor of the Baptist Church at Milesburg, took his departure for Baltimore last Monday and will be uited in marriage to the lady of his choice to-day in that city. After an absence of a couple of weeks the pastor and his wife will return to their future home in Milesburg, and Mrs. Morris, who has heretofore een a member of the Methodist Church, will connect herself with the denomination to which her husband ministers, she going through the customary services of immer sion. Mr. Morris is a most popular clergyman both inside and out of his own de nomination, and the church seems to have taken a new lease of life since his advent as pastor, while every Sunday there is a very noticeable attendance of members of other churches.

IMPORTANT TO SCHOOL TEACHERS. The following is the text of the law passed by the last Legislature in regard to teach. ers' salaries while in attendance during the annual institute :

Section 1. That from and after the pass see of this act it shall be the duty of the school directors of the several school dis-tricts of the Commonwealth, and they are hereby required, to allow the school teach-ers employed in the said school districts, who are actually engaged in teaching school therein, their time and wages while attending and participating in the exercises of the annual county institutes for the im-provement of the teachers. Section 2. That at the close of the annual session of said institute it shall be the duty of the several county, city and bor-ough superintendents to make a report to ough superintendents to make a report to each board of school directors in their respective / jurisdictions setting forth the number of days that each teacher shall have attended and participated in the ex-ercises of the said annual teachers' institute, which said report shall be the basis for allowing the teachers their time and wages, providing, that the provisions of this act shall not extend to the First school district of Pennsylvania nor to the counties wherein special laws regulating and relating to the county institutes are in force. Approved on the 7th day of June,

-Mr. Albert Huston, who has been the Bush House mixologist for some months past and whose home is in Marietta, Lanaster county, this State, received a telegram the latter part of last week which conveyed the depressing intelligence that his older brother, a gentleman of 64 years and a physician of fine reputation, was dan-

THE BOY ELOCUTIONIST .- The Court House was filled on Tuesday night with people to hear Master Ralph Bingham, advertised as a rare specimen of boy elocutionist. The performances of the boy at least delighted the juvenile portion of the audience, but to the grown people who attended there seemed to be a lack of something satisfying. The boy's recitations and "character" impersonations were certainly very clever, and he is too youngif his age is correctly stated, which so of his hearers doubt-to be made a subject of criticism ; but, though his gestures were graceful and appropriate and his elocution greatly superior to that usually observed in children, his action and delivery seemed to thoroughly indicate that all had been taught him and that it was not the overpowering mental absorption of the character personated that inspired him, and which is the characteristic that so eminently distinguishes natural from artificial or acquired elocution. The fulsome puffs of metropolitan newspapers which heralded this exceedingly bright boy's advent led many to anticipate something a great deal better, we think, than the reality produced. Mas ter Ralph is rich in talent, it is true; but if his powers are to be continually taxed in the unreasonable and reckless style that marked Tuesday evening's entertainment it is scarcely probable that the brilliant predictions made for him now will ever be realized. Had it not been announced that the child had mastered an art in his infancy that men spend the best years of life in efforts to become proficient in he would doubtless have had a much more appreciative reception; but, being rated among the foremost elocutionists, the result caused the enthusiasm, except on the part of the little boys, to be of a rather subdued sort

-Mr. Bernard Lauth, of the Howard Iron Works, is at present in Europe and is meeting with gratifying success in introducing his improved methods for the working of iron into the iron establishments of the old world. One of the most valuable and important of his iuventions s known as the "three high rolls" used for rolling bar and plate iron, now to be found in nearly all the leading rolling mills of the United States. A late number of the Scientific American contains the following favorable account of Mr. Lauth's success across the big water. It will be read with pleasure by his many friends at home 'The Lauth three-high mill, for rolling sheet iron or steel and plates, is rapidly gaining in favor in Germany, Belgium and France. In the beginning, as Daelen reports in the Zeitschrif! des Vereisu Deulscher Ingenieure, some trouble was exexperienced by reason of the fact that the middle roll wore rapidly. This was caused by the adhesion of cinder to their roll and its being passed through over and over again. This has been done away with by suitable stripping devices. Krupp has built a sheet mill for steel having 26.4 inch top and bottom rolls and 15.2 inch middle roll, the maximum thickness of plates entering the rolls being 0-4 inch. In turning out 0-06 inch sheets the engine makes 60 revolutions; it makes 50 for 0-04 inch sheets, 40 for 0-03 inch sheets and 30 revolutions below that gauge. The engine has an automatic Corliss gear, a 37-6 inch cylinder and a 62.80 inch stroke. A Lauth three-high plate train at the same works has 35-6 inch top and bottom rolls and a steel 17.80 inch middle roll, which is raised and lowered mechanically before every pass. The mill is run at the rate of 50 to 60 revolutions per minute."

-The Becorder's office of Centre county has just received a lot of index books from the blank book manufactory of Mr. Frank Hutter, of Harrisburg, which are certainly very fine specimens of the skill of the maker of them. They are, in a word, perfect in every particular-paper, binding and ruling-as every person who examines them will say

Mr. Hutter pays

PLEASANT GAP JOTTINGS .- The little party at the Gap on Monday evening was a very pleasant affair. Our worthy candidate for Sheriff, Thomas J. Dunkle, visited us for the first time, and it is needless for us to say that he made many friends, and all those who felt sour over his nomination have a much better opinion of him than before they met him; at least, he left a good impression on all who saw him.

Another one of our citizens has been made happy. The fortunate fellow this time is G. M. W. A fine little girl is what caused the commotion, which continued all night. George, we congratulate you on this, your first-born.

Hallow E'en passed off quietly. The boys had a little fun, but they kept within bounds. J. G. will sell his cabbages by the quart immediately after the 8th of No. vember, for on that day he will be around. SHINBONE.

-On last Tuesday evening the express train east on the Bald Eagle Valley road ran over a broken rail about half a mile west of Mill Hall. The engine and first car passed safely over the break, but the rear passenger car was thrown off the rails and deposited in the ditch. No one was seriously injured, but the passengers were badly shaken up and some of them considerably frightened. The obstruction to travel was removed during the night and the Wednesday morning train passed on time, as usual.

.- The genial and tender-hearted Mc-Pike, of the Ebensburg Freeman, has been sorely afflicted by and is in deep sorrow over the death of a much-loved and loving daughter, Annie B., nearly 14 years. Her disease was diphtheria of a malignant order. Our sincere sympathies are extended to our friend McPike in this dark hour, and as we think of him as one of the jolliliest men in the journalistic profession we are led to the reflection that "the lightest heart makes sometimes heaviest mourning.

-James P. Coburn, Esq., of Aaronsburg was upon our streets on Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning. Mr. Coburn is always a welcome visitor to Bellefonte and never fails to receive a carty greeting from his many warm peronal friends.

-We have given the sole agency to Lyon & Co. to sell our ladies' and children's celebrated fine shoes, every pair of which we guarantee, both in workmanship and stock. M. ELKIN & Co.

Loeb's who by their square dealing have did much to build up the large demand of this very superior grade of clothing.

-"Hallow eve" was celebrated by boys and young men with the usual disregard e comfort of the staid portion of our population, and if some of the reckless revelers who made the night hideous and aused the people generally to deplore the anual recurrence of the hilarious occaion had been captured by their victims, there would doubtless have been a "time imilar to that enjoyed by the parrot and the monkey on a certain occasion whe the mistress of the mansion was absent, and very likely some one would have

-We learn that on Wednesday evening last week a party of burglars entered railroad office at Coburn station, on he Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad, for he purpose of robbing the safe, which was d to contain a considerable sum of ey. The safe was removed to the alatform and an attempt was made to drill hole through the top, evidently with the tention of using powder to blow it open. fter drilling for some time the thieves loned their purpose, and the safe was and the next morning unopened, and the niy damage done was the breaking off of nation lock.

-Go to S. & A. Loeb for bargains in anything

-Mr. John I. Rankin, Republican candidate for County Commissioner, has at last been led to answer one of "the slanlerous articles appearing in print against' him, though he states in his communica tion to the editor of our morning contempory that it has always been his rule not to reply to like calumnious attacks. This last charge, however, is the hair that broke the camel's back, and it consists in the assection of Mr. Campbell that the Commis sioner candidate has industriously circulated a report that he (Campbell) had "empezzled or stolen $500 from the Penn' Valley Mutual Fire Insurance Company. The 'squire rises to explain and most em-phatically denies that either himself or any of his friends ever made use of such lantange, and in effect defles Campbell to gerously ill at his home in Marietta. Dr. Huston when in good health was a man of immense proportions, his brother stating early on Monday morning for the bedside of his sick and probably dying brother, and the date of his return to Bellefonte depends largely upon the condition of the
