BELLEFONTE, PA. AGRICULTURAL. NEWS, FACTS AND SUGGESTIONS. THE TEST OF THE NATIONAL WELFARE IS THE INTELLIGENCE AND PROSPERITY OF THE FARMER.

Every farmer in his annual experience discovers something of value. Write it and send it to the "Agricultural Editor of the DEMOCRAT, Bellefonte, Penn'a," that other farmers may have the benefit of it.

The hens are laying all right now. This generous, "open" fall weather keeps them in full supply of first-rate egg-building material. But winter is sure to come, sooner or later, and out of this supply. What then? We'll tell you in a week or two our plan—and it proves to be successful.

Do not forget to give the fattening hogs frequent liberal feeds of charcoal. If this is not convenient a handful of wood ashes and sulphur mixed will be found very beneficial.

The Ohio State Board of Agriculture have announced a series of "Farmer's Institutes" to be held during the coming winter in some twenty-four or more counties of the State, in conjunction with local societies, granges, or other agricultural organizations that may be willing to work with them.

The Five-Course System of Crop Rotation. A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker asks its opinion of the five-field system of rotation of crops, and what rotation would be advisable where wheat and corn are the principal crops—soil mostly heavy loam, with a yellow clay subsoil; level—Clover and Timothy grow kindly, but oats are not a certain crop.

Produce Market. Report of the market for various agricultural products including wheat, corn, and other crops.

Carting Sand on Gardens.

Twenty-four years ago we had three or four inches of sand carted on part of a garden, the soil of which was too clayey for the successful or convenient raising of garden vegetables. When this sand was well worked in, the whole became an excellent sandy loam, just the soil for agreeable working.

Proper Use of Commercial Fertilizers. The intelligent use of good commercial fertilizers in addition to the home made supply is no doubt wise.

Canada Thistles. Notwithstanding the dread with which every farmer regards the approach of this most annoying and persistent weed pest, and in the face of the somewhat stringent legislative enactments which embellish our statute books providing for its destruction, we regret to observe, in our occasional ramblings about the county, that it "increaseth and multiplieth."

Great care needs to be exercised while manipulating leaf tobacco, not to allow the leaves to become dry. The piles, or "ranks," should be kept carefully covered, and the stripping should be done, so far as practicable, in warm, damp weather.

CLEANLINESS is an indispensable requisite, as sweet cider is most sensitive to anything with which it comes in contact, and will take an unpleasant and ruinous flavor from musty or filthy barrels, or from apples that have been allowed to heat and mold by lying in bins or large piles, or by lying too long under the trees with grass growing over them, or by being picked dirty with leaves or other litter, or by being scooped from a dirty wagon box, or if the straw used in laying up the cheese be musty or have any weeds in it, the cider will partake of the bad flavor.

ABOUT one-third of the cows in the United States do not produce milk enough to pay for their keeping. This one-third pulls down largely the profit from the other two-thirds. Let us weed out the poor milkers and make them all pay their way.

I SHOULD carry my idea of putting all farm tools under shelter so far as to include wagons of the cheapest and most durable kind, wheelbarrows, and even stoneboats. It costs much less in the long run to have sheds for all these. Decay is slow, and goes on without any noise, but it does go on nevertheless.

Two cows well sheltered in winter will produce more milk and butter than three unsheltered animals though no more than half the feed required for the three should be given to the two.
