

CORRESPONDENCE, containing important news, solicited from any part of the county. No communication is inserted unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Local Department.

—Modified to suit: Pull down your basque!

—Snydertown is to have a new Lutheran church.

—No remedy except PERUNA does always coincide with the vis medicatrix nature.

—Greenland has no cats. Think of cats in a country where the nights are six months long!

—For the benefit of the Watchman and Republican we are pleased to state that Mr. Furst has found the DEMOCRAT office.

—The services in the Methodist church were ably conducted by Rev. Mr. Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, on last Friday night.

—The members of the Methodist Sunday-school contributed nineteen dollars to the missionary fund of that church, on Sunday.

—Women are consistent beings; at church they sing "Sweet, By and By," and at home they do the same—"Sweet, Buy and Buy."

—The principal of our public schools, Prof. D. M. Lieb, has requested all pupils, in attendance, to be vaccinated. Mr. Lieb never misses an opportunity to do good.

—History is continually repeating itself. Every one is taking the good, old-fashioned remedy, Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoorhound for coughs and colds this fall.

—"Now twilight lets her curtain down and pins it with a star," might have done well enough before McDonald Clark died, but now she pins it with one of Harry Green's cigars.

—We have a few more copies of a valuable little work—"A Thousand Facts for the Family Circle," and will cheerfully present a copy, with our compliments, to any of our subscribers who will call at our office.

—Acting upon the gentle hint of the DEMOCRAT last week, the boys deported themselves as good boys should, at the meeting of the Branch on Monday night. The service was peculiarly interesting and appropriate.

—A letter addressed, Edward A. Rawlins, Montreal, is being firmly held by Postmaster Johnson, until a more explicit direction is vouchsafed. Who knows whether Mr. Rawlins lives in Virginia, Missouri or Canada?

—The crystallized bosom of the plating mill dam presented quite an animated appearance the latter part of last week. The gay parties of skaters flitted noiselessly and fleetly here and there, each one's cup of enjoyment apparently filled to overflowing.

—All the young men in town, who were able to secure any one to accompany them, improved the excellent sleighing on Sunday. But, friends, would you not have felt better had you gone to church or Sunday-school, or both, instead of seeking pleasure in driving out?

—Two valuable Nittany valley farms recently changed owners. The property of David Harshbarger, deceased, was purchased by Michael Cornman, Esq., and Messrs. Christ Decker and George Rocky bought that of John L. Rocky, deceased, known as the McKean farm.

—The Centre county commissioners are this week conferring with the commissioners of Clearfield county, at Osceola, in the matter of the bridge that has been an eyecore to the Reville for some time. No doubt a new bridge is needed, and we are sure that whatever is absolutely necessary will be granted.

—An enterprising firm, somewhere, has begun the manufacture of electric corsets. About the only customers they will be able to secure will be supernaturated old maids. One arm of the average young man, when applied properly, will generate more electricity in five minutes, than a gross of the e. c.'s in five years.

—It rains alike on the just and the unjust. On the just mainly because the unjust have borrowed their umbrellas. But both just and unjust are liable to take cold if they are exposed to rain, and we know that there is no thing so good for coughs and colds as "Green's Compound Syrup of Tar, Honey and Bloodroot."

—We believe there is an ordinance upon the borough statute books prohibiting the throwing of stones and other missiles upon the streets. We are anxious to know why it is not enforced. Snow balling renders the parties, addicted to the pernicious habit, amenable, and it is high time some measures were taken to put a stop to the indiscriminate hurling of these messengers of woe.

—Wm. I. Marshall, Esq., who will lecture in Humes' Hall on Monday evening next, on the interesting subject of "An Evening in Wonderland, or the Yellowstone National Park," is to be at Cooper Institute, on Saturday of this week. We vouchsafe a good thing, and as the cause, viz: the Young Men's Christian Association fund, is a commendable one, we trust none of our friends will unnecessarily absent themselves, but tender the organization the support it merits. Chart of reserved seats now ready at Messrs. Miller & Co.'s book store; call soon or you may be disappointed.

—The Tyrone Times, now rising two years old, is about as spicy a little affair, as one cares to see. But friend Holmes we would be pleased to have you credit us properly, with any thing you may feel like using. We are liberal, and you can have all you want, only we crave proper acknowledgment.

—With real pleasure we hear of the unqualified acquittal of Conductor F. M. Furey, of Denver, Colorado, who was charged with criminal complicity in abstracting freight from cars while in transit over the line of the company by which he was employed. He was at one time in charge of the only train that ran from Lewisburg to Spring Mills over what is now known as the L. & S. C. R. R.

—Just what crow to pick with the pavement opposite our office, a certain gentleman could have had is a mystery to us. On Saturday morning after the ground was decently covered, and dangerous places concealed, this party, and we did pity him, too, sat down so emphatically that in our opinion he was endeavoring to punish the sidewalk. The many who have tried this will testify that pavements are incorrigible.

—Ours was the extreme pleasure to meet Mr. F. M. Jackson, of Elmira, N. Y., manager of the Howe Sewing Machine Company, on Wednesday. Mr. Jackson is a suitable person to represent one of the most successful as well as enterprising manufacturing companies in the world. A pleasant gentleman in whose company an hour is most felicitously spent. Of course he had our jolly friend, Mr. A. C. Moore with him.

—Seventeen dollars and sixty cents is the exact amount of money the county invested in the scalps of various kinds of defunct quadrupeds, on Tuesday. Why not capture them alive and start a zoological garden of our own. If all the animals purported to have been killed last year, and for which the county paid a handsome royalty, amounting in the aggregate to $1240, had been taken alive we might have had a handsome menagerie.

—As a specimen of difficult versification we insert the following from the pen of Carl Schreiber, the Brush valley poet:

My powers of rhyme not good, but ill were
If I could find no rhyme to silver
A pretty thing my rhyming mill were
If it could grind no rhyme to silver
I wish that on my land each mill were
A constant flow of milled silver
That on its looms, bright as silver,
Each leaf a thousand dollar bill were;
That all my pockets and my till were
Stuffed out and out with gold and silver;
That each by-me-devoured pill were
A diamond fine worth piles of silver;
And that each cloud of mud, and bill were
All silver and were mine. Then 'twix were
All pedagogue woe; then still were
The storms of heart and brain; my will were Then done.
December 9, 1872.

—That old veteran of the show business, Sam. Sanford and his excellent troupe, played Ten Nights in a Barroom, with a credited filled house last night. The entertainment was superb, which of course is what all expected when told that this old war-horse was leading. Mr. Walter S. Sanford, a son of the proprietor, for the first time assumed the role of Joe Morgan, on account of the sickness of Mr. Bradford who was billed for that part, and succeeded admirably. The young man has considerable talent and with practice will become a successful player. The party play at Tyrone to-night and to-morrow night.

—The debilitated timidity of Judge Cox, the inconceivable propositions of Judge Porter, Col. Corkhill's obstreperous ostentation, the antiquated apparitions of the medical experts, and the nervous declarations and indigenous hilarity of Guiteau himself will pass on down to posterity, through the medium of the historian's pen, as the constituent elements that made up the greatest criminal trial of which we have any record. Months were consumed and almost fabulous amounts of money expended to prove the remora a liar. Sechler & Co., is the place to buy your groceries, if you want to get them for what they are worth, and the best to be had.

—Speculative life insurance is so rapidly showing the true colors under which it sails that a man who entertains any respect for himself, his family or neighbors will have nothing to do with it. Even though the rise of these excrescences was phenomenal, their decline has been no less rapid. Public sentiment has permanently banished them from legitimate channels of trade, and those that continue doing business are daily being compelled to enter security for their appearance at court, to answer the charge of fraud preferred against them by the many whom they have succeeded in duping and swindling. The manner in which they do business places a premium upon death. A son is induced to insure the life of his aged father, upon being assured by the oily-tongued agent that the assessments will be few and light, and only discovers after he has paid hundreds of dollars, that the company can at any time close its doors in the faces of its policy holders, and there is no recourse; this, terrible as it is, is however of minor importance compared to the anxiety with which the unnatural child will await the death of the best friend he ever had. Before many years the worst invective that can be hurled at a political candidate, will be that he was at one time engaged in this most nefarious business. We caution our friends to give these sharks the cold shoulder, and steer clear of any one who asks them to take out a policy.

PERSONAL.—Baney, the local expressman, is prospering; he has a new horse and wagon.

J. Willard Miller led the young men's meeting and service of song, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter, of near Centre Hall, favored us by calling on the DEMOCRAT on Monday.

Mr. E. G. Krumrine, one of Gregg township's active young Democrats, was in town yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Eason, of Unionville, while in town on Tuesday, did not forget the DEMOCRAT.

We are sorry to note the continued illness of our friend Mr. Wm. Cox. Inflammatory rheumatism is the ailment.

Our handsome druggist, Mr. Zellers, took a ride on Thursday and understands fully the art of manipulating 'the ribbons.'

Mr. Finley E. Johnson is at home. He looks just as he used to, and reports Lock Haven a splendid town—for a mash. Ah, Finley!

The many friends of Mr. John Bodine will be pleased to know that he has a lucrative position as a glass cutter, at the works here.

Mr. Robert Eldred, of Mackeyville, Clinton county, spent last Sabbath in Bellefonte. He was accompanied by his brother, Mr. James Eldred, of Cawker City, Kansas.

Mr. John Quillion, of St. Louis at one time an accomplished cow-boy, is in charge of a department at the glass works. He relates some intensely interesting tales of life in the Lone Star State.

Mr. George A. East, formerly one of Mr. Hicks' able salesmen, and now residing at Pennsylvania Furnace, shook hands with his many friends here on Tuesday.

Reserved seats entitle holders of them to advantageous positions at the lecture on Monday evening, are being taken rapidly. Chart at Miller's book store now ready.

Blind Charlie was present at the services at the M. E. church, on Sabbath evening, and entertained those who were fortunate enough to be there with some of his excellent music.

Most people are satisfied to own and be allowed to ride in one sleigh, not so with our irrepresible friend, Mr. S. K. Faust, who came sailing into town, on Saturday, with six or seven.

Ex-Deputy Sheriff, R. B. Spangler, we are pleased to know, is succeeding admirably in his new vocation. Honesty, coupled with hard work, always helps those who help themselves.

B. F. Hunter, Esq., of Benner township, and Mr. Samuel Decker, of Zion, were among our visitors on Tuesday of this week. We take great delight in entertaining such good old Democrats.

Our tall friend, Mr. Calvin Smith, is just tickled all to pieces. He put away eighty-three loads of ice, and will not need to court the indulgence of ice men next summer in order to secure their lowest rates.

We learn from a private source that John H. Auman, Esq., has been secured to complete the unexpired term of Mr. Jamison, teacher of the Millheim primary school. It is a fortunate selection, and reflects great credit upon the school board of that enterprising village.

Rev. Vernon Bell, a graduate of Princeton College, preached at the Presbyterian church, on Sunday morning and afternoon. His sermons are highly spoken of by persons who were in attendance, and are said to have been equally as good as those delivered by ministers much older.

Mr. J. S. McCargar, at present stopping in Millheim, permitted us to grasp his large, warm hand on Saturday. Mac, as we call him, is a splendid fellow, in whom there is no guile. He fell in love with McMillen, of the Brockerhoff House, and promises to have the invitations out before long.

Prof. A. Girod, a most versatile musician, has connected himself with the firm of Alexander & Co., and will canvass the county in the interest of that house. He thinks some of moving to Bellefonte and with that in view, is looking for a suitable property which he will purchase, and move into.

Mr. Cameron Burnside, now in the Philadelphia Custom House, is home, for a short respite from his arduous duties. We trust the smiles of the many ladies with whom he is a favorite, together with the breezy mountain air, may prove an effective nepenthe to his enervated physical and mental forces.

On Monday the sanctum grew suddenly darker, surprised by the sudden transformation, we glanced up and there stood our large friend Mr. C. C. Brumgart, of Miles township, who buy the way is just as much of a Democrat as he is a man. We enjoyed his call hugely, and want him to come early and often.

D. C. Keller, County Treasurer, will dispose of a part of his personal effects at his present residence in Centre Hall, on Saturday next, and on Tuesday following will take up his abode, permanently, in our mountain city. Mr. Keller is becoming deservedly popular both as a competent official and pleasant gentleman.

We noticed quite an animated exhibition of martial valor on Linn street the other day. The belligerents—A. O. Furst, Esq., and Master Eddie Blanchard,—snow ball ammunition, and would you think it possible, our young friend came out victorious. We old fellows can no longer compete with the boys in sport of this kind.

—That perfect baking and cooking stove, the "Pioneer," is for sale only by Wilson, McFarlane & Co. All superfluous ornamentation has been dispensed with to secure a first-class kitchen stove. For weight, strength and durability it cannot be surpassed. In purchasing this stove you are not paying for nicker trimmings and beautiful finish, but you are getting what is far better and what you need in a good cook stove—a good, reliable baker and cook.

—Through the gentlemanly courtesy of Mr. Thomas R. Reynolds, senior member of the firm of T. R. Reynolds, senior member of the firm of T. R. Reynolds & Co., we were permitted to examine the newly introduced machinery for the manufacture of flour. This enterprising firm is the only one in Central Pennsylvania that uses the gradual reduction process, and the substitution, by them, of the celebrated Stevens Roller Mill, for the old time burr marks a new era in the history of Bellefonte's varied industries. The nine machines, now in successful operation, with the accompanying improvements were secured by the outlay of $15,000. Owing to the lack of necessary power generated by the supply of water they mean to place in position a new engine, built for them, at a cost of $3,000, in about three weeks, after which their daily product will be one hundred and fifty barrels of first grade flour. We compliment the firm upon their display of business enterprise and sagacity.

—A copy of the Democratic Press, published in Philadelphia, dated March 19th, 1810, has been placed in our hands for examination by Mr. James Cornelius. The paper is a curiosity, the readers of the DEMOCRAT, or any other of Bellefonte's excellent weeklies, would consider themselves insulted were we to mail them copies similar in appearance. It has but two pages, no head, few advertisements, is printed on coarse, tough paper, in large bold type, and is yellow with age. Its editorials are remarkably well written, evidencing careful preparation, and the spirit they breathe would, certainly, have entitled the editor to no little consideration as patriotic citizens. England is severely denounced and the people called upon to support the action Congress may take in the troubles then brewing; the war of 1812 was fought under the inspiration of just such sturdy strokes of the pen, administered by men who counted well the cost, and having made up their minds threw into the cause their best efforts. The Press contains a lengthy, beautifully written obituary of the wife of Simon Snyder, Esq., then Governor of Pennsylvania, closing with this sublime and touching sentence: "The tears of the poor and friendless will embalm her memory and bedew her grave; often have the prayers and blessing of the widow and the fatherless, and of others who had none, but her, to help them, gratefully ascended to the heaven of heavens, there to prepare for her a mansion in that blissful abode, where seraphs gather immortality on life's tree, fast by the throne of Grace."

—Go to S. & A. Logg for bargains in anything.

—Dress goods, silks, velvets, plushes and tinsel plaids and stripes in all shades and effects at the Bee Hive.

—Loeb's is the place to buy dry goods. Large assortment, low prices and good goods at all times.

—Spring and Summer season, 1882. Woolen stock now complete. Early orders solicited.

44-If MONTGOMERY & Co., Tailors.

—The new advertisement of the Bee Hive one-price stores in this week's paper will repay a careful perusal.

—I had great trouble with my lungs until I used PERUNA. Am well. Mrs. A. BRISKE, Pittsburg, Pa.

—"Forth into the mighty forest
Rushed the madden'd Hiawatha;
In his heart was deadly sorrow."
Why, because some one sold him a cigar so much inferior to Harry Green's that he got mad. See?

—For the present the sleighing is about over. For a week past sleighing parties were in order, and those who enjoyed the pleasure which they afforded will probably wish for another fall of snow.

—A special meeting of the Huntingdon Presbytery was held in the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte on last Tuesday. Two ministers belonging to this Presbytery received permission to join other Presbyteries—Rev. W. Campbell to that of Baltimore, Md., and Rev. S. S. Wallen to Washington, D. C.

—"The world is all a fleeting show,
For man's illusion given; the smiles of joy,
The tears of woe, deceitful shine, deceitful flow—
There's nothing true but heaven!"
Hold on, now, we protest, and want you to add clothing bought from Lewin at the Philadelphia Branch, to your list. Heaven and Lewin's clothing!

—If Lazarus had been a wealthy man, and prior to his death had willed all of his property to his sisters, could he, after his return to life, have secured possession of it? Had he worn a suit selected from the immense stock now being shown at the Philadelphia Branch we answer—most assuredly—yes.

Table showing the number of blind persons in Pennsylvania by county for the year 1880. Total: 3,907.

Senator Hill's Condition.

The Atlanta (Ga.) Constitution says: "A letter was received in this city on Saturday stating that United States Senator B. H. Hill had gone to Philadelphia for an examination of his mouth. It is said Dr. Gross found a small swelling at the place where the former operation had been made, but was not certain as to whether it was the old disease or the result of cold. Leeches were applied with a view of reducing it in that way, but Dr. Gross was of the opinion that the third operation would be necessary. He said, however, that it would be an operation not attended with much danger. At the same time that this third operation is performed the knife will be used to clip Mr. Hill's tongue at the point where it healed up when the last operation was performed. It then healed further than was intended, and in consequence gives a lip to Mr. Hill's speech. This clipping will amount to little or nothing."
