A Fatal Sense of Safety and Security.

American Register

Let us not deceive ourselves, or be lulled into a false sense of security. If the idea be indulged that no danger is in prospect, or is threatening the safety of our free institutions it is a great and fatal mistake. No intelligent observer of the course of events in this country for some years past, who has studied the history of free governments, can fail to see the danger manifestly approaching.

proaching.

When Clay and other great statesmen warned the country of the dangers of a rupture in the Union of the States, and civil war, from the reckless course of partisan leaders in trampling upon the pledges of the public faith upon which the Union had been founded, they were hooted and ridiculed. And not until the war actually broke out and was upon us, did the people really become sensi-ble of the dangers of which they had been for years warned. Only a few months since the President of the United States was brutally assassinated in a public thoroughfare as a direct and undeniable result of the "spoils system of office," and yet when an effec-tive remedy for this degrading and cor-rupting practice in our political affairs is proposed in Congress, it is ridiculed is proposed in Congress, it is ridiculed and derided by public journals and votaries of monarchy. Within a few years a candidate for President, undeniably elected by a ma-jority of the votes of the people, was by unprecedented arrangements cheat-ed out of the office, the country brought to the very verge of civil war, and the defeated candidate actually inaugurated and made President of the United

The dominant political party, in order to control the elections and perpetuate its partisan ascendency and power, has adopted and organized, under color of law, a system of partisan supervisors and deputy marshals of elections, whose appointments and proceedings are con ducted in partisan secresy, and paid for by the Government; whereby the elections have been corrupted and controll ed, and that party continued in the control of public affairs.

The political party in power has undertaken to aid in a scheme of repudia tion of State liabilities in the Southern States, in order to strengthen itself in power. The demorshization of this movement will soon spread into the other States, and finally be extended to other States, and finally be extended to the liabilities of the Federal Government. And the rule of action of this party, publicly proclaimed on the floor of the United States Senate, is, "that anything is justifiable in merals and in law that will be at down the Democratic party, and keep the Republican party in power." Everything has become debased by party instead of the country wills the minds of politicians. The interests and success of the party, instead of the welfare of the country, is the ruling principal. fare of the country, is the ruling princi-ple. Partyism has become the Moloch to which the country and its safety are being sacrificed. Ambition, cupidity being sacrificed. Ambition, cupidity and selfishness have taken the place of patriotism, and magnanimous regard for justice, and the rights and liberties of the people. The unrelenting and inexorable partyism of the party in power has degraded and demoralized the political elements of the entire country.

In view of all these matters referred to, and which are in no wise exaggera ted—indeed, not fully portrayed, a man must be purblind, or ignorant of the history of nations, who cannot see the approaching danger to our country and its free institutions. It is simply a question of time when the conflict shall arise, unless Congress shall speedly don't some efficient days when the conflict shall arise, unless Congress shall speedly adopt some efficient and thorough measure to arrest the manifest danger and remedy the evil.

Judge Geddes' proposed amendment, by taking away from the President the appointing power, would accomplish much. A few years ago Hon. M. I. Southard introduced into Congress a proposition to amend the Constitution by substituting a plural Executive for it a single President. This is worthy the serious attention of patriots and

A Tumor Weighing 112 Pounds.

REMARKABLE SURGICAL OPERATION AT THE HOSPITAL OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Pale and pinched in features, a wo man of large proportions was carried into the clinic room of the University Hospital yesterday afternoon, where Dr. William Goodell was busy arranging a William Goodell was busy arranging. a case of glittering surgical instruments subsequently employed in an operation of an unusual character. The subject was a woman thirty-one years of age, the mother of three children, who had come from her home in the little hamlet of Blanchard, Centre county, to have determined by the knife the question of her existence. There were about thirty physicians present, including Dr. Carello, U. S. N., Dr. Parker, U. S. N., and Drs. G. W. Smith and Rolla, of Hollidaysburg, and a group of students, who watched the operation with interest. The patient was about 5 feet 5 inches in height, and by actual measurement five feet one and a half inches in girth, or within three inches as great around as abo was in stature. The cause around as she was in stature. The cause of her abnormal condition was an ova rian tumor, which had already attained a weight much greater than her body and was slowly and surely sapping her vitality. The tumor made its appear ance nine years ago, and from the start grew with amazing rapidity. For some time the woman has been absolutely unable to assume any other than a sit ting posture, the very act of lying down making death certain by suffocation.

Dr. Goodell, after administering ether placed the insensible subject in the best position her great bulk would permit and made the incision. The keenedged knife sank deep into the flesh and the deft fingers of the skilled surgeon were busy in separating the tumor from the life it was feeding upon. When the mass had been completely taken away it was placed in a tub of the largest size and filled the vessel within three inches of the top. The tumor was then placed upon the scales and was ascerplaced upon the scales and was ascertained to weigh one hundred and twelve pounds, the largest, it is believed, ever removed from a human being. Subsequently the patient, now reduced to a mere skeleton and hanging to life by the merest thread, was gently lifted to the scales and was found to weigh but seventy-five pounds, or thirty-seven less than the mass just taken from her body.

On recovering consciousness the pa-

On recovering consciousness the pa-tient could scarcely express the sense of relief she experienced. The absence of the weight that had been a burden to her for so many years was so novel and yet so pleasant that she was comparatively buoyant in spirit. Dr. Goodell, when the woman had been carefully placed in bed, expressed the belief that she would live.

A Tartff Commission.

The Kasson Tariff Commission bill which has been reported to the House by the Ways and Means Committee, offers from the Morrill bill, now under consideration in the Senate, in that it restricts the inquiry to the tariff and leaves to the House of Representatives whatever modification of the internal revenue laws may be considered expedi

Mr. Randall has given notice that a the proper time be will move an amend ment providing that the commission shall consist of two members of the Senate, three members of the flouse and four civilian experts. This provision was only defeated in the committee by one vote. It is not probable that the Senate will consent, in any event, even if it should pass the Morrill bill, to strike out the provision requiring the commission to revolution the reduccommission to report upon the reduc tion of internal revenue, as the ques-tions are so intimately connected that they must be considered together.

The commission scheme excites opposition among free trade or revenue tariff advocates as well as among the men who believe that the inequalities of the existing tariff should be removed. while many protectionists believe that it is not arranged upon a protective, but upon a prohibitive basis. All these classes believe that a commission bill is simply a scheme of delay. They are convinced that the question may be dealt with by existing committees quite as intelligibly and much more expedi-tously than by a commission, and the probability is that the House will refuse to delegate its authority in this matter to risk the delay which must inevita bly result.

Some solid speeches may be expected on the general question of the tariff in they approached each other an axie the pending discussion, in spite of all broke on one of the cars. This car Mr. Russell and Mr. Robeson will no doubt speak from the extreme protectionist standpoint, and say all that can probably speak from the view of mild probably speak from the view of mild protectionist, who concede the necessity of revision. Mr. Morrison, Mr. Cox, of New York, Mr. Carliele, Mr. Tox, of instantly killed. All the significant of the concentration of the conce of revision. Mr. Morrison, Mr. Cox, of New York. knowledge of the question in all its bearings, which is not surpassed by the same number of men in the country, whether called experts or otherwise. These men are the leaders of opinion in the House on this question, as on most others. The report of a commisa on must come under review by them and their colleagues, and there is no reason to expect that they themselves cannot reach a common ground without the intervention of outside influence as well as with it. The House is peculiarly jealous of its functions and quickly resents whatever has the appearance of dictation. No reason, therefore, exists why the House should not take up the tariff and the internal revenue syst consider them at once, and proceed to lop off any abuses which adhere to either or both. The sentiment of the country is ready for tariff discussion and re on; it is not ready to have the ques tion shelved when it will meet nothing

Questionable Industries.

New York Post. It has been noticed by some New York census deputies that while manufacturers are quite willing to put a valuation upon their manufactured product they hesitate about stating the value of the raw material, and even return the schedules with the space for the value of raw material left blank. In one instance a manufacturer of tomato catsup returned a report giving the value of his manufactured product at $18,000 and the value of his raw material as nothing. His explanation was as follows: Every year in the canning season he sends to all the wholesale houses which make a business of canning tomatoes clean tubs, with the understanding that the women who trim and peel shall throw the skins and parings into these tubs; every day the tubs are removed, the stuff in them ground up, fermented, flavored, and sold as tomato catsup to the extent of $18,000. Another singular and decidedly pernicious business is the manufacture on a large scale of cheap candies from white earth or terra alba mixed with a little sugar and glucese. The deputy who investigated the confectionery business reports that 75 per cen-tum of some candies is composed of these substances, and such candy, nota bly "gum drops," contain still less sugar. The effect of white earth upon the stomachs of the unfortunate children who buy these candies is yet to be determined by future autopsies. What is called a fine brand of castile soap has been found to be composed chiefly of this white earth and grease, but the evil effects of such an imposture are trifling compared to the results of turning children's stomachs into miniature pottery works. Among the new industries which have sprung into existence during the last few years is the system of finishing in this city foreign goods imported in an unfinished condition. Foreign arti-cles composed of several parts are now largely finished in this city, the parts calling for hand labor being imported while those calling for machine work are made here. In this way heavy duties are saved, slthough the articles are sold as imported goods.

Guiteau in Jall,

His Choice of Death to the Insane Asylum A Coincidence in Names.

Washington, February 12.-John W. Guiteau, the assassin's brother, left here for his home in Boston on Friday. He expects to return in April about the time the final argument before the court in banc on behalf of the prisoner will be made. The assessin is kept closely confined in jail and no one is allowed to see him. He seems consid-erably chagrined at the lack of interest felt in his movements and sayings since his conviction and sentence, and the prison officers report that he is desirous of talking with men outside. His brother states that Guiteau would rather die than go to an insane asylum, and says the assassin will go to his death be-lieving that he is a martyr. An idea of how Guiteau passes his time in prison may be formed from a composition made by him regarding a coincidence in the initials of the names of Garfield and Arthur. Guiteau says: "Take Gar-field's initials and those of Arthur, C. A. A. and J. A. G. and strike out the letters common to both—A's—and there remain C. J. G., the initials of the patriot. As originally the word was aspatriot. As originally the word was as-sassin. To lovers of the mysterious this coincidence is striking. James A. Gar-field, a good man but a week politician, Chester A. Arthur, a high toned gentle-man and a fine president, Charles J. Guiteau, a patriot who now suffers in bonds and has been condemned to death that his country might live. The initials of the name entertwine a very striking coincidence. They may and probable do indicate consecutive presidents, i. c., three specific acts of Deity."

Singular and Fatal Accident.

Two Men Killed and one Mortally Injur-ed in a Railroad Wreck.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 9.-A terrible accident occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Huntingdon, early this morning, resulting in the death of two men-Engineer Coulter and Conductor Stonebreaker—and the fatal injuring of fireman named Kennedy.

The particulars of the accident are very singular. A heavy freight train was going east and another was going west on seperate tracks, of course, but as they approached each other an axie the froth. Mr. Kelley, Mr. McKinley, careened over upon the adjoining track and directly in front of the other train. The shock was so sudden and complete that the engineer and fireman had no aid. Five Trackmen Killed at Once.

BALTIMORE, February 13 .- Five trackmen were killed about noon to day the tunnel of the Baltimore and tomac Road, near Union Depot, in this city, by a locomotive drawing a train of the Western Maryland Railroad. The men, named David Grier, Timothy Kennedy, Edward Birmingham, James Irvin and Patrick McGoff, stepped from vin and Patrick McGoff, stepped from one track to get out of the way of a passing train to the adjoining track and were killed by another passing train.

At an inquest held to-night the jury rendered a verdict censuring the Western Maryland Railroad Company for not notifying the workmen in the tunnel of the approach of the train.

Millions of Gallons of Oil on Fire.

Men to Fight the Flames Hostening from all Parts of the Oil Felds.

BRADFORD, Pa. Feb. 12 .- This evening sparks from a locomotive on the Buffalr, New York and Philadelphia railroad set fire to little pools of oil in the low ground near Olean, N. Y., where the United Pipe lines have a number of large iron tanks located. In a few minutes the flames were communicated to three of the tanks, containing in all 105,000 barrels of oil, which is now burn ing. Pipe line men from all sections of ing. Pipe line men from all sections of the oil regions were summoned by telegraph to the scene of the fire. Superintendents Snow and Smedley left here with a large force of men by a special fast-running train. They took picks, shovels, a cannon and a chemical fire extinguisher. Trenches and embankments will be formed to prevent the spread of the burning oil when the overflow occurs, which will be at 2 or 3 flow occurs, which will be at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning. Olean creek runs near the scene of the fire, and strong fears are entertained that the oil will strike the surface of the stream and destroy a number of railroad bridges and houses near the banks of the creek The oil will be drawn off as rapidly as possible by perforating the tanks with cannon ball. The night is as bright as jectured.

B. Farwell and John V. Far-Taylor, C. B. Farwell and John V. Farwell, of Chicago, and A. C. Babcock, of Canton, Ill., who will furnish the necessary funds for erecting the building. This domain is larger than the State of Connecticut and four times larger than Rhode Island. It is the northwest corner of the State, and the survey extends south a distance of 197 miles, with an south a distance of 197 miles, with an average width of 27 miles. Two railways are already projected through this section of the State. The transfer of section of the State. The transfer of these lands is probably the largest sale ever made to private individuals, and the purchasers are the largest land-owners in the world.

Vennor's Prediction for Some Days Ahead.

MONTREAL, February 13 .- Vennor predicts for the close of the present we storms of great severity from Toronto westward to Chicago, Milwaukee and other points in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and adjacent States. In the St. Law-rence Valley, below Kingston, the same storms, but less severely, may extend to Montreal and Quebec, while in a south-erly direction snow, sleet and rain is likely to extend to Washington. There are likely to be serious blockades of snow in the western sections and possi-bly in the Northern and Middle States. Should these storms be well marked in the sections mentioned Vennor is of the opinion that March will enter exceedingly rough, with heavy snowfalls from the St. Lawrence to very southern

THERE is being built on the top of the Allegheny Mountains, at the point where the Bradford extension of the Erie Railway is to pass, a structure which when completed will be not only one of the greatest feats of modern engineering skill ever accomplished but also the highest railraod bridge in the world. The place is about 27 miles from Johnsonburg, the terminus of the ex-tension, and about 13 miles from Brad-ford. Here the railroad crosses a ravin with a varying depth, 300 feet being the most favorable crossing that could be found. The length of the bridge will be over 2000 feet, that length to be covered with 22 piers of iron and 23 spans. Some conception of this dizzy elevation may be formed when one remembers that Trinity Church steeple might be out beside the loftiest span and yet be 15 feet under it. The piers will be 116 eet wide at the base, tapering gradually up to a width of 12 feet at the top Respecting the comparative height of existing railroad bridges in this country, the Kentucky River bridge is 270 feet high; the Portage bridge, on the Erie's main line, is 234 feet, and the Niagara suspension bridge 275 feet. Any one who has crossed these ear structures can the more readily compre-bend the loftiness as well as the great ness of this undertaking.
