

GENERAL NEWS.

Lord Granville has taken decided grounds in favor of preserving the Clayton-Bulwer treaty.

Between the 1st of March and the 1st of July next, the commissions of over 350 postmasters will expire, many in large cities.

At Chicago, an ordinary day's business on 'Change is the sale of about 10,000,000 bushels of grain. Yesterday the sales amounted to nearly 30,000,000 bushels.

William H. Armstrong, of Williamsport, Pa., the newly confirmed commissioner of railroads, has received his commission and will begin the discharge of his duties immediately.

Secretary Hunt received by express a handsome polar bear skin, made into a rug; a gift from the officers of the United States steamer Alliance. The bear was shot on Davis Island, Spitzbergen.

The canal and water power at Weldon, North Carolina, have been bought by Robert Peebles, of Northampton county, Virginia, for $17,500. The purchaser intends to erect a cotton factory at a cost of $500,000.

General Hancock has been paying a visit for the first time in several years to his farm near St. Louis. The general is now the picture of health, and his friends declare that he is growing younger instead of older.

Too horrible for belief. A Jewish refugee who has arrived at Liverpool from Keif, Russia, says he recently saw a number of Jewish maidens stripped naked and flogged through the town. The police refused to interfere.

The fire commissioners of Boston have ordered rope fire escapes placed in every workshop or manufactory in which five or more persons are employed above the second story. This is a sensible order, worthy of imitation.

The King of Burmah has issued a mandate abolishing monopolies, and has appointed an embassy with the view of re-establishing relations with India. The example of the king in relation to monopolies, might be profitably imitated in the United States to some extent.

Ex Senator Gordon has been addressing some of the Legislatures of the Gulf States upon railroad questions. He is making a great deal of money and the people regard him as much more useful now than when he sat in the Senate, where he ranked among the best.

George W. L. Kidwell, a clerk in the office of commissioner of customs, treasury department, Washington, died suddenly at the office about 11 o'clock on Friday, from an attack of heart disease. He was appointed from Virginia in 1857, and has served in the department ever since.

A canine mourner. A little black-and-tan dog at Los Angeles, Cal., has taken his place on the grave of his master, who was buried on January 23, and no persuasion can induce him either to leave the spot or partake of food. The poor animal is almost exhausted with its long vigil.

The memory of Chief Justice Marshall is to be honored by the erection of a monument in Washington. Shortly after his death, in 1835, the lawyers of the country contributed $3,000 for this purpose. It was invested and re-invested and now amounts to $200,000—enough to secure a respectable statue.

Every few days we hear of some fresh exploit and escape of the James desperadoes. On the 12th inst., George James leaped from a freight train at McKean Station, Mo., and went into the depot, where a man named Betts was sitting, drew a revolver and fired three shots into his body, killing him instantly. James then disappeared.

An estate that cannot be found. In the search for the effects of Judge Wilkinson, late of Boston, no evidence has been found tending to show that he had a place of deposit in Boston, nor can it be learned that he did business through any bank. It is certain that he left property, variously estimated at from $100,000 to $200,000, but what form his investments are in cannot as yet be ascertained.

He was vaccinated on the tongue. At Grand Rapids, Michigan, a man stepped into the office of a well-known physician and seating himself at the table engaged in conversation. On the table were lying a number of vaccine points, which the visitor mistook for toothpicks, and taking up one began operating it among his molars. The physician didn't notice what the man was doing for some minutes, and his attention was only called to the fact by the visitor puncturing his tongue with one of the points, causing it to bleed slightly. The doctor gave the matter prompt attention, washed the man's mouth with alcohol and used preventatives of various kinds, but, alas, to no purpose. The vaccination "took" and the man to-day wears his tongue on the outside of his mouth.

SWEDISH BITTERS, THE GREAT Swed: h Dyspepsia Remedy!

The chief ingredient and life giving element of this great remedy is an "oil" rarely found in this country, excepting in the extreme Northwest. In placing this preparation before the American public we candidly believe that we have "filled a long felt want, by giving a medicine that will not only temporarily relieve, but will positively cure Dyspepsia, Kidney and Liver Complaint, and all their various effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headach, Pains in the side and Back, Palpitation of the Heart, Constipation, Indigestion, Yellow Skin, Swelling of the Head, Fullness at Pit of Stomach, Low Spirits, &c.
