

CORRESPONDENCE, containing important news, solicited from any part of the county. No communication inserted unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Local Department.

—Mr. Samuel Decker, of Walker township, peeped in upon us on Saturday.

—Mrs. Ida Furey, widow of the late John M. Furey, is visiting relatives here.

—Maj. R. H. Forster is at Washington this week, attending to some private business.

—Mrs. F. Simmering, Millersville, Pa., had osena and chronic catarrh. PERUNA cured her entirely.

—Mrs. Charles Diley, Pittsburg, says she had chronic catarrh badly. PERUNA cured her perfectly.

—Mr. Newton S. Bailey led the young men's meeting on Sunday. Gen. James A. Beaver was present.

—Miss Ella Bayard, who is studying telegraphy, at Altoona, is enjoying a short vacation among her friends.

—If you want to save money in your purchases, go to Lyon & Co., as they are selling everything at cost. LYON & Co.

—Elephant milk is recommended for babies, one is now using it that gains twenty pounds daily. It is the baby elephant.

—Lyon & Co., are closing out their entire stock of dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes at cost, in order to quit the business.

—Rev. G. D. Pennepacker assisted Rev. Carver at Snow Shoe, on Sunday. Mr. J. W. Miller acceptably filled the M. E. pulpit in the evening. No services in the morning.

—Now's your chance for bargains—Lyon & Co., are closing out their immense stock at cost. This is a rare opportunity to lay in your stock of goods that you will need for next year.

—Don't forget that Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoarhound takes all the prizes for curing coughs and colds, if you have been unfortunate and contracted for one during this wet weather.

—Our emaciated friend, Mr. H. D. Yeager, caught a crab last week on an oyster shell that is a real curiosity. His crabship is now sporting around in a good sized dish, and is resigned to his fate.

—The Hon. Thomas J. McCullough has opened a law office in Philipsburg, where he will doubtless be pleased to see his friends socially or as clients. Mr. McCullough is an experienced lawyer and from personal acquaintance, we can endorse him as a pleasant gentleman.

—He who, in order to escape proper chastisement, will, with many facial indications of intense pain, gently pat his left arm between the shoulder and elbow as though his "vaccination had taken" with a vengeance, deserves to be most severely drubbed for the lie he tells.

—The pupils of school No. 4 were forced to forego the pleasure of having their teacher, Miss Beckie McGinley, with them during most of last week. The vacancy was very satisfactorily filled by Miss Lida McGinley, of whom the members of the school speak in most laudable terms.

—Everybody admires the splendid new lamps recently put up in front of the Brockerhoff House. They are a public convenience, and we feel like tendering Mr. McMillen, the proprietor, the thanks of those who are obliged to meander up and down the broad thoroughfare of Allegheny at night.

—"Throw me a dozen key holes, assorted sizes," shouted a Spring street man in answer to the question asked by his wife, who appeared at a window above, "Why don't you come in?" Had he been indulging? No; the only trouble was that the intense cold of Saturday night so diminished his night key that he could not use it.

—John Anderson is literally rolling in luxury. His two elegantly furnished rooms invite weary mortals, in search of a haven of peace, to enjoy that comfort and bliss surrounded by all that tends to make life endurable. If any one feature about John's establishment is particularly noticeable it is the home-like aspect of every thing connected with it.

—In speaking the other morning of the vocal performances of a certain celebrated singer, a musical critic said: "We hung upon every note"—a remarkable proof of the singer's power of "execution." She certainly must have kept her vocal organs in good order by using Green's Compound Syrup of Tar, Honey and Bloodroot, which allays all inflammation of the throat and lungs like magic.

—Mr. Gust. Lyon of the firm of Lyon & Co., has just entered into a co-partnership with the firm of Myers & Goodman, manufacturers and wholesale dealers in ready-made clothing, North Third street, Philadelphia. This is an old established house having been in business some fifteen years, and doing a very large wholesale business. They have been very successful, their business increasing every year, and we have no doubt the acquisition of Mr. Lyon into the firm will tend to help them still further on the road to success, as Mr. Lyon is recognized as a business man of undoubted ability. In consequence of the above they are closing out their large stock of goods here at cost.

—Democratic council.

—Traveling troupes will continue to pay into the borough treasury the tax or license imposed by law.

—Chief of police Montgomery is a very efficient officer, and much of the good order prevailing in town is directly attributable to his efforts in that direction.

—Voters residing in the North ward are notified by Judge of Election—elect (?) Van Ormer, that tax receipts must accompany tickets at the next general election.

—It was Capt. Harrison H. Wilson, of Millin, instead of Williams, as the Republican has it, who died in the Dauphin county almshouse, on Friday. We remember him as one of those good intentioned, well meaning men, and the news of his untimely death causes us real sorrow.

—Tiring of the inconveniences of single blessedness and thoroughly assured that man cannot well trot down life's tortuous highway alone, Mr. D. H. Shivery, of Buffalo Run, was married to Miss Mary E. Marshall, of the same place, by Rev. W. O. Wright, on the 16th inst. Matrimony is a divine institution, and we sincerely wish our young friends may ever merit the kind care and protection of Him "without whose notice not even a sparrow may fall."

—We are under obligations to Prof. W. T. Meyer, of Aaronburg, for a copy of his latest production, BELLE FOUNTAINE, a fantasia, dedicated to the citizens of Bellefonte. Copies can be had by addressing the author, or calling at the place of business of Messrs. Bunnell & Alkous. We bespeak for this piece a hearty welcome by lovers of music everywhere. The composer is by no means unknown and the reputation gained by former efforts tells us that this one will meet with approval wherever introduced.

—A new feature of the Lock Haven Journal is "Casual comments, or Matters as seen through the editorial spectacles." The idea is good, and we hope Mr. Grow will be able to discern more closely and critically aided as he will be by his new eyes. Plenty of things to look at, and all that is needed is the grit to get up and say your say. We need a few more journalists brave enough to attack all manner of short comings, and shall look to our friend for some purgative medicine that will if properly applied work great good.

—The residence of Mr. John Bing, of Unionville, was the scene of a very enjoyable occasion on the 16th inst., it being the marriage of this gentleman's daughter, Miss Wilda K. Bing, to Mr. E. C. Censer, of the same town. Rev. W. O. Wright, of Millsburg, officiated, and the fact that over sixty friends were present at the consummation of the nuptials, is positive proof that the parties are favorably known and respected. We have no advice to offer and can do no less than tender our sincere congratulations.

—To-morrow, J. Henry Wetzel, Esq., leaves for Dakota, Ill., at which place he means to locate and practice law. Mr. Wetzel will be missed by a large and admiring circle of friends here, who commend him to his friends that are to be, as one entirely worthy their confidence, and we doubt not, he will soon build up for himself, a lucrative business, as he has studiously applied himself in preparing to enter upon his life work. He is a graduate of Messrs. Alexander & Bowser.

—$30,000 worth of dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, dress goods, &c., for cost at LYON & Co.

—To-day two weeks Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keller, of Harris township, mean to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day by inviting their many friends to be present at their golden wedding. Half a century is a long time to live, and it affords us real pleasure to note that this worthy couple have for five decades shared life's sunshine and shadows, and now are nearer and dearer to each other than they were upon that memorable day, in their history, fifty years ago when the tying of the nuptial knot declared them one.

—We are indebted to the Daily News, of Monday, for the particulars of a sad affair, in which one Whitney, of Spring Mills, figured prominently. The facts are these: Becoming dissatisfied with life, and laboring under a temporary dementia he shot himself twice. He did not succeed in killing himself instantly, but was lingering in a precarious condition on Saturday. The only reason assigned for the act was that "he could not live with his wife."

—If any one circumstance in life can render living unendurable it is domestic infelicity. No doubt this man, and she upon whom he looked, in days gone by, as one altogether lovely, commenced their joint pilgrimage under favorable auspices, and had it not been for some hidden agency the nature of which the outside world, of course, can have no adequate idea, would have continued to proceed, until in the fullness of time they should have been called hence. We pity those intimately concerned and hope, should the man die from the self-inflicted wounds, he may find that rest he so much desired and to him appeared of sufficient importance to warrant him in the committal of the rash act for which he will be held individually responsible.

—We furnish our readers a list of the number of votes cast for each candidate, in the borough, on Tuesday last. As will be seen much cutting was indulged in to the detriment of some of the Republicans. Democracy is wont to occasionally arise, kind up her loins, and make her presence known and felt. In this instance the handsome majority, given Chief Burgess Powers and Councilman McKnight, attests the utter disregard the intelligent voter has for strict party ties where issues of any moment are to be disposed of. The vote:

A WARNING TO THOSE WHO DRINK.—The Lewistown jail was the scene of a soul harrowing occurrence on Saturday, 11th instant. A man named Dick, a resident of Sunbury, while en route to Chicago, stopped off at Lewistown, where he fell in with some associates who rendered his stay so pleasant that he missed Fast line going west. Exasperated at thus being left he abusively assaulted those employed at the station, who called in the police, had him arrested and taken to the county prison. Here he became furious but was left to himself as the keeper did not think him capable of doing himself bodily injury. Shortly after ten o'clock the sheriff, upon visiting the unfortunate man, found him enveloped in flames, the origin of which he could not account for. It is supposed he deliberately set fire to his clothing with the intention of committing suicide. After lingering two hours in most horrible agony, he died. What a temperance lecture! What an example to those, who despite the many earnest protestations of friends continue to destroy, as in this case both body and soul!

—We do not question the estimated amount of enjoyment some of the young ladies of Bellefonte are able to derive from the innocent (?) amusement of indiscriminately flirting with any and every stranger whom it may be their misfortune to meet, yet we do most emphatically question the propriety of such conduct. Men rarely admire other men's sisters who are silly enough to encourage advances of this nature, and even though a bland smile and graceful tip of a hat may accompany any overtures of friendship the lassies may accept, it is fully understood that the minimum amount of respect accompanies the captivating ploys.

—Now doth the statement of the county commissioners delight the eyes of the newspaper reader. And it shall come to pass in those days when the fox and the skunk are no more, that one mightier than he who now reigns, shall say unto the people, "demand, ye, a ransom!" for square bits of sorrel horse hide, the value thereof, viz: the price now paid for reynard's top knot. Selah!

—Mr. Edward L. Gray, editor of the Daily News, and local editor of the Republican, is still, we believe, confined to the house. We sympathize with our friend in this his season of affliction, and do hope he may soon be restored to health.

—Mr. Robert Haines, of Snow Shoe, need not think the "attraction" in this place is playing him false. The letter he should have had some time ago is still held for postage, and after while the postmaster will get tired holding it, and send it to the dead letter office.

—The Philipsburg Journal came to us this week looking as neat and clean as a new pin. It has been considerably enlarged and is now printed on a new power press of its own. Glad to hear of your success, and only wish it may continue. The good people of Philipsburg should now rally around their local paper and second by a liberal support its endeavors to maintain for the town a fair reputation among strangers.

—Millinburg, Union county, is the home of a young miss who never spoke to her father. Entreaties, threats, bribes and severe punishment alike have failed to induce her to hold any communication whatever with her paternal ancestor. When sent by her mother to summon him to his meals she will go to him, place her hand in his, and by endeavoring to lead him to the house, makes known her errand. She is a bright intelligent child, and to any one but her father is talkative enough.

—Mr. H. S. Diefenbach has vacated the editorship of the Clinton Democrat, and will, we presume, retire to private life. No man in Pennsylvania ever wielded a pen more gracefully or with greater effect. He has grown gray in the service and his exit from the journalistic stage is made amid the deafening applause of the whole people. No encore will be sufficient to recall him, but the bouquets showered upon him during a long life of usefulness will retain their fragrance long after he for whom they were intended shall have passed away.

THE COMMERCIAL MENS BANQUET.—McMillen's New Brockerhoff House was splendidly illuminated last night in honor of commercial men and their friends. Shortly after ten o'clock one hundred and twenty-five hungry persons sat down to partake of an sumptuous feast as graced the tables of those ancient epicures who spared neither time nor expense. Any attempt to enumerate the articles on the bill of fare would be futile, space not permitting it. After serving the four first courses, J. L. Spangler, Esq., announced toasts in order, and took the initiative with "George Washington, who never told a lie, and Commercial men who never tell the truth." Reply by Mr. W. G. Commerford, of Howard, followed by Mr. W. A. Turner, of Philadelphia. At this juncture some one appeared with elegantly drawn up resolutions embodying the uniform love commercial men have for the New Brockerhoff and signed by thirty-five drummers, all present. After which four more courses were served, when toasts were again freely indulged in. Upon leaving the dining-room, a commercial men's opera was organized, which at once proceeded to the parlors and spent the rest of the evening in singing popular songs, general conversation, etc. We compliment Mr. McMillen upon the happy manner in which every thing passed off, and as one of the visiting gentlemen said, upon retiring, "Each coming 22d of February will tend to strengthen the ties now connecting traveling men with the management of the New Brockerhoff."

ITEMS FROM FERUGON.—Mr. George T. Ballick, of Nobles county, Minnesota, was here on a visit to his old friends and neighbors, and while here made sale of his house and lot to Bigler Meek, of Warriors Mark, who will take possession of the same April 1. George seems to enjoy good health and is in good spirits. The hoppers and blight have not discouraged him and still thinks Minnesota is the place for him. We always admired his indomitable energy and pluck, and believe if any one can succeed in a new country he will. He is industrious, a good financier, and strictly honorable in his dealing, but seems to have acquired a good deal of that positiveness and straightforwardness so characteristic of most western settlers.

Mr. John Brett who has been sick for some time is still confined to his bed. Henry Webb is quite successfully drilling a good sized class in vocal music in the basement of the Presbyterian church, in Pine Grove, and a marked improvement in the rendering of music by the choir of that church is already noticeable.

Donations and birth-day parties are of quite frequent occurrence in Pine Grove. On last Saturday week about 11 o'clock, A. M., Rev. Mendenhall, the M. E. pastor, was agreeably surprised by a large delegation of vehicles halting in front of his residence, having come from different points of the charge, laden with good things for himself and family, which were of course gratefully received. And the donors tarrying, several hours were spent in pleasant, social intercourse. On the evening of the same day the parishoners of Rev. Kuhn, the Presbyterian minister, played about the same trick on him. Of course such as these clerical gentlemen may have denounced trickery in the past they will in the future no doubt qualify their statements. OBSERVER.

—Democratic council. Ah!

—Assistant Burgess Fleming.

—Wanted—some "locals." Inquire of Mr. Harry Hale.

—The man and brother got left badly this time. Why don't you kick?

—Chief Burgess Powers, is a name too euphonious, they could not change it. 210 majority.

—Spring chickens, born a year or two ago, have been quite plenty in the market lately.

—"Go to blazes!" as the man said to his cigar. It is safe to infer that he did not buy it from Harry Green.

—The column of odds and ends in this week's Republican headed "It is Said," is just too utterly quite for any thing.

—Mr. D. L. Zerby, of Millheim, is not a contributor to our columns. Mr. Z. requested us to make this announcement.

—Col. Furey of the Watchman, called yesterday, and after a short stay sweetly remarked that he smoked Harry Green's cigars.

—A portion of the stone chimney that stands on the south end of the residence of Mr. E. C. Humos was blown down on Monday night. No damage was done, save to the chimney itself.

—An amusing feature of the varied programme on Tuesday, was the attempt of many to keep their clothes dry, as they feared the water might fade them. Yet no one who patronizes Lewin seemed to care. No fade in any bought at the Philadelphia Branch.

—Beecher speaks: What a pity flowers can utter no sound! A singing rose, a whispering violet, a murmuring honeysuckle, oh! Lewins says: "A comfortable coat, a fitting vest and properly made pair of trousers. I have 'em, come and see." Ah!

—The new structure of the Centre County Banking Company, is approaching completion, and it is expected will be occupied early next month. It is a fine building, presenting some novelties of adornment to be criticised according to taste.

—We regret to learn that a son of our old friend H. L. Harvey, of Boggs township, died last night of typhoid fever. He was a very promising and interesting youth of about seventeen years of age, and his death is a very severe affliction to his family. They have our sincere sympathy.

—The lock belonging to the safe in Treasurer Keller's office, became unruly on Tuesday. The tumbler, designed to assist the bolts of the lock, positively refused to be coaxed out of their snug hiding places, and in consequence the paying of County orders will be delayed until the trouble is remedied.

—One voice all over the land goes up from mothers, that says, "My daughters are so feeble and sad, with no strength, all out of breath and life at the least exertion. What can we do for them?" The answer is simple and full of hope. One to four weeks use of Hop Bitters will make them healthy, rosy, sprightly, and cheerful.

—We perceive that our friend Joseph Rose, of Spring township, ranked high among the successful gentlemen whom the people of that township clothed with official dignity, on Tuesday. He was chosen an overseer of the poor, and is the right man in the right place. Kind and honorable, he is not the man to misinterpret his duties, and oppress the poor instead of protecting them.

—To-day the veteran saloonists of Centre county, Messrs. Yeager & Downing, retire from business, to be succeeded by Mr. Fred Rollins, as proprietor of the Opera House Restaurant. The old firm by a continued endeavor to please stand high in the list of public caterers, and if Mr. Rollins fails to succeed it cannot be because he had not a favorable start. We wish him a prosperous future and from what we know of him, after a short acquaintance, we can think of no cause that should prevent his rendering general satisfaction.

There isn't much in him, 'tis true; He don't buy groceries from Sechler, But his eyes they are porcelain blue, He should buy groceries from Sechler. And his hands, oh, such loves!— With their delicate gloves, Wouldn't be soiled carrying Sechler's goods.

That are always an exquisite hue! Just like Sechler's groceries. His soft little heart knows no care; That's why he don't buy from Sechler. Soft, He is fond, he is sweet, he is fair; Childish. Men buy from Sechler. His voice has a squeak, For its timber is weak; Go interview Sechler. But, oh, my! his society air! Moral—buy groceries from Sechler.

—Mr. F. P. Musser, of Millheim, one of the county auditors, is in town this week. Mr. Musser, though a young man, is by no means unknown to most of our readers. We understand the auditing board mean to immediately file their report, and should any action they may take offend any one, such offence cannot be charged to the auditors, as we are sure they will be governed solely by right, justice and law in anything they may do. Mr. M. is one of the good solid Democrats of Millheim. We also noticed Mr. J. S. Proudfoot, another member of the board, yesterday, who resides at Millsburg. Both able, conscientious men, fully alive to the duties devolving upon them, and determined to examine critically all accounts submitted to them.
