Centre County Democratic Committee--1882.

Table listing names and addresses for the Centre County Democratic Committee, including districts like Bellefonte, Milheim, and Lyons.

Local Department.

The work of laying the new tile floor in the office of the Brockerhoff House has begun.

Dress goods, silks, velvets, plushes and tinsel plaids and stripes in all shades and effects at the Bee Hive.

An expert from Pittsburg succeeded in opening the safe in the treasurer's office, without damaging the lock.

Business in the Clearfield post office will be conducted by Mr. S. J. Row, editor of the Raftsmen's Journal, hereafter.

The lecture of George Scoville, Esq., Guiteau's attorney, at Williamsport, on "Modern Politics," is spoken of as creditable.

Mrs. Dr. G. M. Swartz, who has for some time been confined to her room, is, we are sorry to state, not improving very rapidly.

Milheim enjoys the supreme luxury of a Republican chief Burgess. Dr. S. G. Gutelius came out one ahead in a contest with Mr. J. H. Kreamer.

The improvement in the local department of the News and Republican is owing to the fact that Editor Tuten has hold of the helm, in person.

Ladies coats, jackets, dolmans, circulars and ulsterettes, in endless variety, styles and colors, and prices lower than elsewhere at S. & A. Loeb's.

Mrs. Edward Snyder, of Brookville, Jefferson county, accompanied by her son, John, is visiting Centre county friends. We wish them a pleasant time.

Mr. Conrad Lesch, one of Zion's best citizens, and most uncompromising Democrats, called upon us on Saturday and left with us some of "the root of all evil."

Saturday was cleaning out day in the court house. All the offices were nicely scrubbed, and present a real clean appearance.

Parties using the weed will hereafter expecorate no more on the floor.

The delightful weather of Monday coaxed our jovial friend Esquire Smith to try his hand at fishing. It is needless to say that "every nibble at his bait was sure to prove a bite."

Mr. M. H. Haines sticks his pen into the hair around his ear, when weary working upon the books of A. G. Morris, of Tyrone. He is a good accountant, and a splendid fellow.

If some of the foolish boys, who still persist in jumping upon moving trains, do not suffer severely for their indiscretion then we see no connection whatever between cause and effect.

Rebersburg had a musical convention last week. As to what progress any of the students may have made we do not know, but are sure of one thing, that visiting musicians were royally entertained.

The boys have inaugurated the old-time game of "shiny." The warning, "shiny on your own side," comes too late often times to prevent one's coming in contact with a body, small, but moving with accelerated velocity.

Mr. J. R. Bartroff has broken ground for the erection of extensive shops, on the vacant lot north of the water works.

After his removal from his present place of business the old shop will be removed and a dwelling house erected in its stead.

Mr. W. Miles Walker, as commissioner's clerk, is giving general satisfaction. No doubt his pleasant address and genteel bearing will win him many friends, while a thorough business training fits him for the duties incumbent upon him.

An amusing feature of the varied programme on Tuesday, was the attempt of many to keep their clothes dry, as they feared the water might fade them. Yet no one who patronizes Lewin seemed to care. No fade in any bought at the Philadelphia Branch.

That perfect baking and cooking stove, the "Pioneer," is for sale only by Wilson, McFarlane & Co. All superfluous ornamentation has been dispensed with to secure a first-class kitchen stove.

For weight, strength and durability it cannot be surpassed. In purchasing this stove you are not paying for nickle trimmings and beautiful finish, but you are getting what is far better and what you need in a good cook stove--a good, reliable baker and cook.

Dogs, in their conduct and manners, often resemble their masters. The other day a genteel looking specimen of the canine fraternity came slowly down street, and by the furtive glances he ever and anon cast on each side, he told that he was a stranger. Suddenly three resident dogs, in a body, turned a corner, and by mutual agreement the largest one flew upon the stranger and instituted a warfare, compared with which the battle of the B's pale, and so adroitly was the attacking fiend disposed of, and the remaining two pounced upon and severely chewed by the meek looking visitor, that in a moment, as it were, he was master of the field; with a look of conquered pride, caused by the consciousness of having been a party to an act not at all commendable, he resumed his walk, saying as plainly, as though he had spoken, "You never know a person until you have travelled with him."

Sweet the dreams of recollection! Many things recall the days of youth, that time so fraught with cherished, pleasing anticipation, and it is ever with pleasure that we cast a retrospective glance to the halcyon days when we held one end of the rope that was dextrously "jumped" by the bevy of lovely little ladies, while side glances told in unmistakable language, that some danger was to be apprehended from the possible tripping of one's affections, as well as the probability of the fair ones making a misstep. Sweet surges of fond remembrance rolled irresistibly over our soul on Saturday as we gazed, enraptured, upon the animated scene in front of the residence of Mr. Cyrus Strickland, and as a special request, we ask the participants to favor us frequently in the future.

The annual entertainment given by Gregg Post on the evening of the 21, consisted of an address by Major Frank A. M. Kreps, of Pittsburgh, and recitations by his son Walter, a bright, cheery little fellow, whose declamations of "Horatius" and "The Charge of the Light Brigade," were in the best style of elocutionary ability. The Major, in a perfectly easy and natural conversational manner, related the thrilling and often times humorous incidents of his long captivity, so that even children sat through the evening without apparent discomfort and in perfect silence.

All who were so fortunate as to get to the court house that evening were amply repaid for the effort to get there, and we think if the Post could secure the Major's services upon some future occasion, in continuation of this story, the court house would not hold the audience that would flock to hear him.

The members of Company B, N. G. P., of this place, desiring more room in which to spread their views, have, by removing partitions, tearing up platforms, etc., doubled the size of the old armory, and now have one of the handiest and finest rooms in the State. This organization is the flower of regiment 5, to which it belongs; and by gentlemanly conduct, proficiency in drill, excellent condition of arms and uniforms, and implicit obedience to orders, they always rank high during encampment, at Brigade headquarters. The improvements were made by the company, and paid for with funds from its own exchequer. We should be pleased to extend this notice, but time, over drill master, yells "order arms!" and down goes our quill.

Tax collectors as a class are by no means universally loved. The very nature of their business renders them obnoxious to some, and that collector, who can induce the people to pay up promptly, and at the same time gain and retain their good will deserves no small amount of credit. Wm. H. Miller, collector, employed by the Spring township school board, is one of the few. So gentlemanly is he in the prosecution of his work that the majority of tax payers consider it a privilege to settle for the amount owing by them, when they can do so by taking Mr. Miller's receipt.

Conductors do the fare thing, and masons the square thing--Erratic Enigme. The editors the write thing--Fancob Strauss. And laundresses the clean thing--Marlboro Times. And police justices the fine thing--Somerville Journal. This thing is getting pretty well finished, and we will add that the man who supports a fainting lady does the proper thing--Juniata Sentinel. And carpenters the plane thing--Huntington Journal. And gas-fitters the plumb thing--Lewis-ton Free Press. While the insurance man does the sure thing.

The Republican wants to know whether Mr. Olie Meek, the newly elected member of the school board from the West ward, who is a Democrat, and will fill the place vacated by Mr. Wm. Mills, will take especial charge of the colored school, or not. That the school referred to will be properly taken care of we do not doubt, inasmuch as the proper training and educating of the colored youth of our town is a matter of no little importance. But why single out Mr. Meek as one specially duty bound to spread over them the protection of his official wing?

Boecher speaks: What a pity flowers can utter no sound! A singing rose, a whispering violet, a murmuring honeysuckle, oh! Lewins says: "A comfortable coat, a fitting vest and properly made pair of trousers. I have 'em, come and see." Ah!

The injunction granted some time ago, at Lock Haven, to Miss Clara V. Milliken restraining her trustee, Mr. James Milliken from making any disposition of funds in his possession belonging to her, was argued before his Honor, Judge Mayer, on Monday evening. Eminent counsel, Hoy and Blanchards for plaintiff, and Beaver & Gephart, Judge Linn and E. W. Woods for defendant, has been retained, and in all probability the Supreme Court will be called upon to decide the legality of the deed of trust now held by the defendant. The lofty position held by all the parties concerned, as well as the amount of money involved, attracts the attention of all, and we doubt whether such another assembly of wealthy, important gentlemen was ever seen within the confines of Centre county's court room, as met there on Monday last.

Young lady, remember that, even though you may be able to smile more benignly than she, and have been promoted to the dignity of a bang artificer, parlor lounge, piano thumper and questionable reader, that she, your mother, the power behind the throne, spent sleepless nights in watching over, and caring for you, has worried herself in having you properly attired, and at all times presentable, is entitled to your sincere respect; never snub her, never cause her dear old heart to ache on account of any flippant remark, or unkindly-like slight. Her's is the only truly disinterested friendship, that will ever be yours, and the love she has for you is as boundless as space, and do what you may she will never discard you. Treat her not as an inferior, or an equal, but as a superior and you will be happier.

The Supreme Court of this State, sustained the decision of the lower court in the case of Spangler vs. Kunes. In the matter of the Singer Manufacturing Company vs. Thomas McQuillen and wife, the decision was reversed. In the latter case action was brought to recover the value of a sewing machine sold to Mrs. Thomas McQuillen by one of the company's agents, and the case has been looked upon as one of rather a test nature. This rendering settles finally the fact that a woman's note, taken in payment for a sewing machine, does not bind her husband.

The concert, or musical entertainment, given by Prof. P. H. Meyer's singing class at Penn Hall, on the 18th ultimo, fully satisfied all who were present. We heard the comical "Spelling Bee," as sung by Misses Clara Geise and Susie Hosterman, and C. C. and J. S. Meyer, especially spoken of as being good. Many others deserve notice but space will not allow a more extended summary.

Mr. A. W. Kinsloe, of the Clinton Republican, visited Bellefonte on Tuesday, owing to the fact that business called him here, he could not spend with us as much time, as he desired. He is a live newspaper man, wholly devoted to the interests of his paper, and an exceedingly companionable gentleman personally. The solid appearance of everything in and about our town surprised him not a little while a short ramble over our many hills he declared to be a delicious morning exercise. Call often.

Something should be done with those, who will, after having repeatedly been requested not to, for nearly a square, arrange themselves in lines along the sidewalk, after the services at church are over. It is exceedingly embarrassing for ladies to have to run this gauntlet of hard cheek, blooming noses and bearded eyes, particularly when unattended.

Mr. Hayes Schroyer, at one time city editor of the Daily News, and latterly foreman of the Republican office, has accepted a position in an express office in Lancaster. He is to receive a good salary and without any doubt will like his new work, as well as be liked by the company by which he is employed. Mr. Schroyer is one of Bellefonte's most promising young men and we are sorry to lose him.

Mr. Thomas Weaver, of Spring township, one of the best of our many good teachers, has been engaged to teach the school lately resigned by Mrs. J. J. Jedon. Thomas understands fully just what is needed, and better still, is qualified and willing to do the work.

The summer term of the Penn Hall Academy will begin on Monday, April 17, 1882. Lewis Reiter, A. B., principal, is a teacher of acknowledged ability, and a man in every respect worthy to succeed Prof. D. M. Wolf, the former principal. See advertisement elsewhere.

Bellefonte is promised a book bindery in the near future. The gentlemen having the matter under consideration are persons upon whom the public can depend, and men in every way qualified to become desirable acquisitions to our force of excellent businesses.

On next Monday Prof. Samuel Jackson, proprietor, and Charles Van Horn, an employe of the Chester pyrotechnic works, will appear in Chester county court to answer to the charge of the coroner and his jury of criminal carelessness.

Miss Laura Keller, of Lock Haven, and the Bellefonte Orchestra will give an entertainment under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. in Humes' Hall on Thursday evening next. The diagram of reserved seats will be found at the Y. M. C. A. reading room.

JURY LIST FOR SPECIAL COURT--A special term of court will be held in March, commencing on the second Monday, the 13th day of the month. The following persons have been drawn to serve as traverse jurors at this term:

Table listing names of jurors for the special court, including L. M. Houser, F. G. Mattern, Amos Koch, etc.

Persons who keep first class goods always advertise. For instance, Harry Green keeps the very best cigars; and so he is proud of that fact, he advertises for everybody to come and buy them.

Mr. Simon Breidenbach, speaking of his physical strength thought he would soon be as strong as a lion, because he expects to wed a Lyonesse. May he realize his fond dream.

You can save from 100 to 200 per cent. on a good dress, from 100 to 300 per cent. on a suit, from 35 to 100 per cent. on a pair of shoes, and in everything that you need you will find it to your interest to buy your goods where you get them at first cost.

The very best production that can be had from first class stock and excellent workmanship in boots and shoes, at prices no higher than common eastern trash, are now open and for sale by S. & A. Loeb.

Ladies', misses' and children's dollmans and coats in endless variety and very cheap at the Bee Hive.

Spring and Summer season, 1882. Woolen stock now complete. Early orders solicited.

Montgomery & Co., Tailors. $30,000 worth of dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, dress goods, &c., for cost at LYON & CO.

If you want to save money in your purchases, go to LYON & CO., as they are selling everything at cost.

Loeb's is the place to buy dry goods. Large assortment, low prices and good goods at all times.

Had very sore eyes, almost blind. PERUNA cured me. A. Bender, S. S. Pittsburg, Pa.

The Philadelphia Press, in speaking of the Philadelphia election says: "The contest of last Tuesday was between two definitely marked parties--the Reformers and the adherents of the machine, and the Reformers won the day.

There is every reason why those grocers who are particular to keep clean stores and a fresh stock of goods should receive the patronage of all. They spend their time and money for the benefit of the public and the good appearance of the town. They take pride in keeping a fine establishment. Of this kind is the grocery store of Sechler & Co. Those who deal there cannot but be satisfied.

Mr. Burchfield, our late Register, has taken the store room in the new building of the "Centre County Banking Company," on the corner of High and Spring streets, and expects to open a grocery store as soon as the room can be fitted up.

Do not fail to hear the queen of elocutionists--Miss Laura Keller, of Lock Haven, at Humes' Hall, on Thursday evening next, 9th instant. The press is a unit in tendering her compliment after compliment, and they who have been fortunate enough to hear her, without a single exception, refer to her as a real star in her especial forte.

The Y. M. C. A. reports the attendance at the rooms during February, as follows: Visitors to men's reading room, 376; to boy's room, 482; at Monday night meetings, average 70; books taken from the library, 145; meetings at the jail, two.

That Col. Joe W. Furey means to accept a position upon the editorial staff of the Williamsport Sun and Banner, we do not believe, but so says the Gazette and Bulletin. Gentlemen, the Watchman can no more spare and get along without Joe, than a bird can fly without wings.

Emanuel Foltz, of Walker township, Juniata county, was fined $2.50 and costs, for cutting the tails off, up to, and into the backbone of two hogs.--Exchange.

One of the reasons why a side-saddle resembles a four quart jug is because it holds a gal-on. Now, what is the difference between a butcher that trusts for his meat and the man who uses "Green's Compound Syrup of Tar, Honey and Blood-root"? One loses flesh and the other gains.

The County Auditors have again been in session this week. They are making a very thorough and exhaustive investigation of the business affairs of the county.

reputation in Tennessee, may contemplate the situation in Virginia, where the readjusters, through their aid and encouragement, have been able to pass an act repudiating outright one-third of the state debt. When they have duly considered the result produced in Virginia by the disreputable republican alliance with the Mahone repudiators, they will have few tears to shed over Tennessee.

Lack of Leadership. THE DEMORALIZED CONDITION OF THE REPUBLICANS IN THE HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, February 28.--The appropriations committee talk confidently of ruling the diplomatic and Indian bills through the house, but unless more energy is shown than has marked the proceedings thus far, the bills will drag along indefinitely. The democrats have about made up their minds that nothing of consequence will be done at this session outside of the necessary appropriation bills. Mr. Springer says that the calendars are already gorged, and that no bills not reported have any living chance. He thinks Congress will do nothing but pass appropriation bills with plenty of money in them. Another democrat says it is safe to prophesy that nothing of consequence in general legislation will be accomplished. This inability is due partly to complicated rules which hamper progress and contribute largely to jealousy among the rival leaders of the republicans. The majority's unfortunate organization of the house has resulted in what is almost a paralysis of business. Scarcely a single report from a committee has been ratified by the house. Never was there such a lack of those parliamentary leaders of whom Blaine spoke yesterday. The democrats are much better organized, especially for the purpose of defense and obstruction. The indefinite postponement of the tariff commission bill, by consent of the ways and means committee, is a good illustration of the apathy and lack of method which prevail.
