Republican Extravagance.

The people know one way in which nearly twenty millions of the one hundred and fifty millions surplus in the United States treasury were disposed of. But even after the river and harbor bill and other extravagant general appropriations have been made there still remains a large amount of money in the treasury which must be disposed of for the benefit of ringsters and contractors.

Mayor Powderly Advocates the Election of Pattison.

AND ANNOUNCES THE ATTEMPTED TO AUCTION OFF THE LABOR VOTE—MR. PATTISON SPEAKS AT TWO MEETINGS IN READING—CANDIDATES BLACK AND ELLIOTT AT SUNBURY.

By Telegraph to the Patriot.

WILKESBARRE, October 21.—A large and enthusiastic mass meeting was held last evening in Armory Hall, Nanticoke, the centre of the mining operations of the Susquehanna Coal Company.

"I have acted with the labor reform party ever since its inception. I am a labor reformer now, but I am a labor reformer from principle, and I want to warn you against those who are not so, for it is an unfortunate fact that bad and vicious men from the slums have usurped the right to speak for the labor reform party and seek to barter its support to the old parties for a price."

Mr. Connelly and Mr. Hines followed Mr. Powderly, each calling for united and earnest support of the state ticket. The latter, who was a labor reform member of the legislature of 1878-79, spoke in especially strong terms of commendation of Mr. Pattison and said that his experience had taught him that the democratic party is the natural friend and ally of labor.

Debauching a State.

"We'll buy up the State," was the recent defiant and significant remark of a Stalwart sub-Boss in Allegheny, says the Lancaster Intelligencer, where the machine finitself confronted by a popular revolt scarcely equalled in determination and relative strength in any other part of the Commonwealth.

There is widespread incredulity, even among our most intelligent people, in regard to this grave matter, one of momentous importance to the Commonwealth and the nation, there is an erroneous disposition to believe that such charges of contemplated venality are unfounded, or at least greatly exaggerated. It is declared that such unlawful expenditure of money cannot take place without attendant risk of exposure and punishment too great to be disregarded, even by the most desperate.

This work is done chiefly through the means of secret agents, many of whom are residents of wide personal acquaintance and more or less influence, of the sections in which they operate and for which purpose they are regularly retained, year after year, being well paid for their villainous labor.

To day brings a report from Washington that President Arthur, during a meeting of the Cabinet on Friday, observed that "he supposed it was well understood that no 'force or pressure should be used to compel' the payment of political assessments."

How the Republicans propose to mitigate the burden of taxation was shown by the bank check and patent medicine bill of the last session of Congress. The subject is still further elucidated by Judge Kelley, chairman of the Ways and Means committee, who advocates abolition of the whiskey tax while proposing no deduction of the enormous duties on almost all the goods consumed by the work classes.

A PLAN OF THE STALWARTS.

CAMERON'S CATHOLIC PROGRAMME.

HOW THE FORTY THOUSAND NAMES OF CATHOLIC VOTERS AND THE POST OFFICE ADDRESSES WERE OBTAINED—MR. COOPER AS "JOHN BROWN," SENIOR.

Special correspondence of The Times.

The prompt and thorough exposure by the Times of Cameron's Catholic programme has had the only effect such a desperate political movement could have—to prevent any Democratic Catholics from voting for the Cameron ticket and making even the Republican Catholics lukewarm in the cause.

All that was declared in the Times about the decision of Cameron to make a last desperate effort for the machine by a false appeal to religious prejudices on the eve of the election, has been fully verified in this Catholic diocese. The name and post office address of every Catholic voter in this diocese has been obtained and forwarded to Quay at the State Committee headquarters, and it was expected to mail to each of these Catholic voters, just a few days before the election, a copy of the New York Tablet containing the fabricated version of the Pattison speech in which he is made to use offensive language against the Irish citizens.

Thomas F. O'Brien of this city, was editor of the Herald last year and he and his paper with William L. Scott, actively opposed Orange Noble. O'Brien is a Catholic Democrat, but had a personal political feud with Noble, and he was active in circulating the Know-Nothing story against Noble.

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE, ST. CLOUD HOTEL, PHILADELPHIA, January 27, 1882. JOHN BROWN, JR.: Dear Sir—Your letter of the 23rd just received. Will be very glad to have your services this campaign, and hope you will, as soon as you arrive in McKean, lay out a programme and send me details, with expense items, etc. I have as yet no funds, but will have by August or September. You did well last year and hope we may do as well this. Very truly yours,

A peculiar feature of the foregoing letter the original of which I send you, is that Cooper had evidently lost the hang of writing his name John Brown, Sr., and he first writes "Thos. V." and then blurs the name of John Brown, Sr., over it. You will readily recognize Cooper's handwriting, as I have compared it with a dozen or more I have seen on the same subject, and the letter is unquestionably genuine.

Melville's Report.

DRAWING PLANS FOR AN ARCTIC SHIP WHILE YET IMPRISONED ON THE ICE FLOE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Chief Engineer Melville sent in his report yesterday to the secretary of the navy, and it will soon be published. It is a graphic narrative of the expedition from the time when, after a parting dinner, the crew separated into three sections. This report, therefore, supplements the ship's log and De Long's own minutes, all of which were presented, and thus complete the history of the ill-fated expedition. The report is accompanied by a carefully drawn chart which shows in detail the wanderings of the explorers.

lead to some rather interesting developments if reliance can be placed on the prophecies of some persons who ought to know the facts. According to their story Lieutenant Danenbower, in his original report, made some charges of a serious nature touching the character of the ship and the action of the crew. Secretary Chandler, on reading the report, recommended that it be modified in this particular, and at his instance it was so revised. The report has not yet been published, and when given out will not contain the obnoxious portion. It is said, however, that there is a disposition in the board of inquiry to get to the facts, and that Danenbower, in his testimony before the board, will give, in substance, his story as it originally appeared in the report.—By Telegraph to the Patriot.

Indiana Republicans Unhappy.

WASHINGTON, October 19.—From accounts which reach here Indiana Republicans are not in a happy state of mind. Mr. James H. Ellsworth, a Republican, of South Bend, clerk to the House committee on elections, said to-day that the probability was that the Republicans would lose all but four Congressmen, Brown, De Motte, Calkins and Pierce. He thinks the temperance question will affect Indiana quite as much as it did Ohio. In some respects it is a similar contest. The next Legislature is to vote on the constitutional prohibitory amendment and the issue is sharply drawn. The German vote is almost solid against the Republican party.

We Won't Say Much.

We are very busy getting in our heavy stock of Men's and Boy's wear in clothing, boots & shoes for fall and winter. Just step in and take a look at the largest and most attractive stock of business and dress suits, overcoats, ever brought into this county. Their splendor, style, quality and quantity will astonish you, you will say that there is no man in the world who has a better taste in selecting goods and the low prices will make you feel all hunky, sure.

"Necessity is the mother of invention." Diseases of the liver, kidneys and bowels brought forth that sovereign remedy Kidney Wort, which is nature's normal curative for all those dire complaints. In either liquid or dry form it is a perfect remedy for those terrible diseases that cause so many deaths.

NEVER forget that biliousness and constipation are entirely curable with MANSLIN.
