-Prof. C. L. Gramley, of Rebersburg, tarried with us a short time on Monday There is a peculiarity about "Ceph's" calls that were he not such an exceedingly plemant fellow, would render them some what objectionable, but the mission he usually performs loses all of its unpleasantness when entrusted to him. Come often

-B O Deininger, E-q., editor of the Millheim Journal, favored us with a call on Monday. It does our heart good to grasp the hand of our old friend and we always feel better after baving been with him. It is a pleasure to note that his paper is holding its own and constantly adding new friends to the already long list of old ones.

-Hon. J. S. Proudfoot, of Milesburg, one of the county auditors, a venerable and respected citizen, has been in town this week, attending to the business connected with the office he fills so acceptably. He has our thanks for renewed evidence of his good will, and we hope many years more may be granted him in to strengthen the ties binding him to a host of friends.

-One evening last week a party of Bellefonte young ladies and gentlemen drove over to Centre Hall for supper, which had been previously engaged, and to do ample justice to which they for over a week had been making preparations. They were delayed some in starting and reached Centre Hall quite a while after the time specified, and their coming was despaired of by the landlord, who not to suffer any another party, whose revels were disturbed of the first. The only thing remarkable about the whole occurrence was the di-appearance of articles of clothing strictly feminine in their nature-such as hand-kerchiefs, bang-nets, etcetera. In order to securely protect personal property of this kind is best to keep it in one's pocket ; this advice is tendered gratuitously and it is hoped will be acted upon in the future.

This person may think it smart to intimate what the most bitterly partisan enemies of Mr. Beaver did not dream of charging during the campaign last fall, and we are not a little surprised that our friend of the Watchman should so far forget himself as to allow any one, in this manner, to yent a petty spite at one of the most laudable institutions of the county.
