An Esteemed Citizen Dead.

GEORGE TRULLINGER EXPIRES AFTER A LINGERING ILLNESS.

George Trullinger, whose illness has been previously mentioned in the Patriot, died yesterday morning at his residence, South Harrisburg, from Bright's disease. The deceased came to this city from Germantown, with his parents, many years ago. He started in business when a young man with Jacob Panckake, who had married his sister. At Mr. Panckake's death he retired from business, having accumulated quite a fortune. Just before the war, under the firm name of George W. Trullinger & Co., he went into business with his nephews, George and Alfred Panckake. He was a man of the best business qualifications and though the firm lost heavily by a fire during the war the mill was rebuilt and is now one of the most stable enterprises of the city. He never married. Three sisters and two brothers survive him—Mrs. Jacob Panckake, Miss Margaret Trullinger, Mrs. Dunbar, William Trullinger and John Trullinger, all residents of Dauphin county. He was a man whose death will be greatly regretted. Of a social nature, easy-going in his manner, kind in disposition he made many friends, among whom he was generally known, especially the younger portion, as "Uncle George." Mr. Trullinger leaves a large estate.—Harrisburg Patriot.

Mr. Trullinger was well known in this county having conducted an extensive lumber business in Snow Shoe township for several years. He was much esteemed and his numerous friends here will learn with sincere regret of his death.

The Convention of Irishmen.

This convention met in Philadelphia last week and was largely attended by the best blood of the "Green Isle" in this country. We have no space to publish any details of the interesting proceedings of the body, but give the

PLATFORM ADOPTED.

On reassembling Rev. Dr. O'Reilly, chairman of the committee on resolutions, submitted his report. It says: The Irish-American people, assembled in convention at Philadelphia, submit to the intelligence and right reason of their fellowmen that the duty of government is to preserve the lives of the governed, to defend their liberty, to protect their property, to maintain peace and order to allow each portion of the people an equitable and efficient voice in the legislature, and to promote the general welfare by wise, just and humane laws. We solemnly declare and cite unquestioned history and the universal knowledge of living men to testimony thereof. The report proceeds to arraign the English government with mal-administration, violence, rapine, discrimination against the liberties of the Irish people.

Now, therefore, in view of these facts: Be it Resolved by the Irish American people, in convention assembled, that the English government in Ireland, originating in usurpation, perpetuated by force, having failed to discharge any of the duties of government, never having acquired the consent of the governed, has no moral right to exist in Ireland; and that it is the duty of the Irish race throughout the world to sustain the Irish people in the employment of all legitimate means to substitute for it national state government.

That we pledge our unqualified and constant support, moral and material, to our countrymen in Ireland in their efforts to recover national self government; and, in order the more effectually to promote this object, by the consolidation of all our resources and the creation of one responsible and authoritative body to speak for greater Ireland in America, than all the societies represented in this convention, and all that may hereafter comply with the conditions of admission, be organized into the Irish national league of America, for the purpose of supporting the Irish national league of Ireland, of which Charles Stewart Parnell is president.

That we heartily endorse the noble sentiment of Bishop Butler, of Lime- 1616, "that every stroke of Forster's savage lash was for Irishmen a new proof of Parnell's worth, and an additional title for him to the confidence and gratitude of his countrymen."

That we sympathize with the laborers of Ireland in their efforts to improve their condition; and, as we have sustained the farmers in their assault upon the landlord garrison, we now urge upon the farmers justice and humane consideration for the laborers. In the words, for the employment of which an Irish member of parliament was imprisoned, we demand that the farmers allow the laborers "a fair day's wages for a fair day's work."

That as the manufactures of Great Britain are the chief source of her material greatness, already declining under the influence of American competition, we earnestly counsel our countrymen in Ireland to buy nothing in England which they can produce in Ireland or procure from America or France; and we pledge ourselves to promote Irish manufactures by encouraging their import into America, and to use our utmost endeavor, by plain statements of facts and discrimination in patronage, to persuade American tradesmen from keeping English goods on sale.

That an English Minister, ostentatiously "liberal," has earned the contempt and detestation of fair-minded men throughout the world by imprisoning more than a thousand citizens of Ireland, without accusation or trial, a number of whom were noble hearted women, engaged in works of mercy among the evicted victims of landlord rapacity and English law.

That this convention thanks to Rt. Rev. John Ireland, Bishop of St. Paul; Rt. Rev. John O'Conner, Bishop of Omaha; Rt. Rev. John Lancaster Spalding, Bishop of Peoria; Most Rev. John Williams, Archbishop of Boston; Rt. Rev. S. V. Ryan, of Buffalo; Most Rev. Patrick St. Feehan, Archbishop of Chicago; Rt. Rev. Edward Fitzgerald, Bishop of Little Rock, and their co-laborers, in their efficient efforts in providing homes for the Irish emigrants into the United States. The people of Ireland are, by the law of God and nature, entitled to live by their toil in their native land, whose fertile soil is abundantly able to nourish them; but, since a brutal government compels large numbers to emigrate, it is the duty of their countrymen to warn them against the snares of poverty in large cities and assist them in the agricultural regions.

That the policy of the English government in first reducing the Irish peasantry to abject poverty and then sending them penniless to the United States, dependent upon American charity, is unnatural, inhuman and an outrage upon the American government and people. We respectfully direct the attention of the United States government to this iniquity, protest against its continuance and instruct the officials who shall be chosen by this convention to present our protest to the president of the United States and respectfully but firmly urge upon the president that it is the duty of the government of the United States to decline to support paupers whose pauperism began under and is the result of English misgovernment, and to demand of England that she send no more of her paupers to these shores to become a burden upon the American people.

With a welcome and compliment to Patrick Egan the report closed and after a brief debate was adopted as a whole.

Resolutions of the York County Democracy.

THEY SOUND THE RING OF THE TRUE METAL.

According to the customary duty of a democratic county committee, we call the attention of our fellow-citizens to the existing state of public affairs, and invoke such action upon them at the primary meetings of the party as will best conduce to the cause of justice, liberty and good government.

1. The chief executive magistrate of the commonwealth elected in November, and inaugurated in January, has entitled himself to the respect, confidence and gratitude of the democracy by his able and faithful efforts to reform the abuses of the public service and to abolish the corrupt practices which had grown up under previous administrations.

2. We fully concur with the governor in the judgment so strongly expressed in his messages, that the power of cor-porated monopolies to rule the state, according to their pleasure, and plunder it for their profit, ought to be immediately checked, that the extortion of unreasonable tolls, taxes and freights by railroad companies, and the grossly unjust discriminations between parties whose rights are exactly equal, have never been authorized by any law, are now expressly forbidden by the constitution, and therefore, should be effectually stopped; that the seventeenth article of the constitution being designed merely to make the railroad corporations honest, and hold them like other public servants to the performance of their plain duty, it should be enforced and carried into full effect, and that the wilful failure of the legislature, or members thereof, to enforce the constitution by appropriate legislation, is a direct breach of their oaths, and inexcusable on the score of common morality.

3. The relations between capital and labor are at present more unsatisfactory than ever before. On this subject also, we have occasion to honor the wisdom and integrity of our governor. If his recommendations were properly seconded, every laborer would be assured of a fair day's wages for a fair day's work, and his right thereto would be legally enforceable without the necessity of sudden and irregular strikes, which injure him as well as his employer, and endanger the peace of the country at the same time.

4. Our present system of taxation for state, county and school purposes, is grossly unjust because it is grossly unequal in its operation. Land and labor pay the great bulk of the public taxes while capital invested in other pursuits much more productive is almost entirely exempt. The democratic idea of Gov. Pattison's administration would make all classes equal, relieve the farmers of unjust burdens and impose only a fair share on others.

5. Approbation or blame of our representatives in the legislature would be premature at this period of their session. But he who fears to put the curb on corporate rapacity; he who willingly sees labor oppressed and starved; or, he who refuses to equalize taxation can hardly expect to be counted among the faithful. He that is not for us is against us.

6. We are able to congratulate our fellow citizens of all political parties on the near prospect of reform in the national government. The existing administration—the offspring of accident, and the heir of fraud—can rally no formidable force to oppose the march of liberty and justice. The discordant material of its body, not less than its weak and incompetent head, make its early dissolution a natural necessity; and with it will perish the power of the greedy rings that have robbed us of our public domain, plundered our treasury and cheated us out of our votes.

7. The fundamental principle of a true democracy is expressed in the Jeffersonian maxim: "Equal and exact justice to all men; special favors to none;" and this must be especially observed in the exercise of the taxing power, not only in the state, but the nation. We demand, therefore, the repeal of the internal taxes as being unnecessary, oppressive, injurious to particular classes, and attended with corruption. We are in favor of taxing foreign imports, for the purpose authorized by the constitution, namely: to raise revenue sufficient for the legitimate needs of the treasury, with incidental protection, encouragement and reward, equal and just, to all classes of men, and all kinds of lawful business, including manufactures, agriculture and commerce in all their branches.

England Coming to America.

The embarkation of three thousand English emigrants from Liverpool in one day bound for America and the appearance of a member of each of the two houses of the British Parliament in this country at present on land purchasing expeditions serve to call attention to a very marked movement of British capital and British bone and muscle to these shores. It is said that in the London Stock Exchange there is scarcely anything else talked of and that at least twenty so-called ranch companies are forming, none of which will have a less capital than five millions of dollars. The most of this large amount of capital is to be invested in lands and stock for the cattle grazing business. It will be principally invested in Texas and New Mexico, probably, as the climate of those sections is best adapted to this purpose. A class of emigrants representing a smaller amount of capital per member, but great in the aggregate, are about engaging in the wheat industry in British Columbia also.

The causes which are moving this vast amount of English capital to seek investment here are not hard to understand. The first and most important cause is the abundance of idle money which can find no other profitable investment at home. For a time American railway securities and American government bonds absorbed a large amount of this capital. But the railroad business was not under the control of the English stockholders and was not always conducted with a special eye to their interest, while the paying off and refunding of the government bonds has brought the greater part of these desirable securities into the hands of American holders. The English investors are finding out that American land is cheap and fertile, and that it will neither burn up nor run away. The American people are simply the sons and grandsons of Englishmen. Indeed, America is an enlarged and broadened England, and Englishmen and English money can find a more congenial field for homes and investment here than elsewhere.

The effect of this hegin of the Englishman and his money to our shores can hardly fail to be beneficial to both countries. England is cramped for room, America has plenty of it. English money can find small field for profitable investment at home, here there are millions of acres to redeem and make fruitful. The thousands of laborers who are in want and idleness there because no man has hired them or can afford to hire them can find room for their labor here and bread for their eating if they are accompanied by capital sufficient to give proper employment to their energies.

A Strange Wedding in Kentucky.

One of the most youthful couples that were ever married in Kenton county, Ky., were joined in wedlock recently. The groom is George F. Kyle, aged fourteen years, and the bride is Lizzie May Hollingshead, aged thirteen years. They were married at the residence of the groom's parents, near South Covington, in the presence of a few of their most intimate friends. The bride is an orphan, and in order to obtain a license to wed, the groom's father qualified as her guardian, and he then consented to the issuing of the license and gave his assent to the marriage. The combined ages of the twain is only a few years more than the lawful matrimonial age in the grand old commonwealth. The bride is not a voluptuous looking girl, and, in fact, resembled a child that had not passed the spanking age, and the groom is not much her superior in this respect. The bride was modestly and neatly attired, and resembled a little girl that was dressing for her first attendance at a children's party. The twain were evidently quite fond of each other. There was none of that style of love there is generally displayed at a wedding, and when the minister pronounced them man and wife they faced each other for a moment, and suddenly the childish groom bashfully embraced his diminutive bride. It was rather a strange sight and looked more like a children's mock marriage than a solemn reality. The couple are not wealthy and their parents are only in ordinary financial circumstances. A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—There are dangerous counterfeits in circulation purporting to be "Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer." The strongest evidence of its great value is the fact that parties knowing its great efficacy try to imitate it. Each bottle of the genuine has a fac simile of a walnut leaf—blown in the glass; and a Green Leaf on the outside wrapper. The "Restorer" is as harmless as water, while it possesses all the properties necessary to restore life, vigor, growth and color to the hair. Purchase only from responsible parties. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. Johnston, Holloway & Co., Philadelphia, and Hall & Ruckel, New York, Wholesale Agents. 4-1y.

—Cast scrap iron wanted for the cash or in exchange for Hardware at H. K. HICKS' Hardware and Stove Store. 4t.

—The May issue of Democrat's Monthly Magazine is exceedingly rich in literary articles, and is decidedly one of the most attractive numbers we have yet had of this instructive and entertaining publication. "The Admiral's Ward" is concluded, and a new story, "Out of the World" begins very pleasantly. Among the many praiseworthy articles may be mentioned: "Art in its Infancy," "The Farm of Flowers," "The Bayeux Tapestry," "The Manly Young Woman," "The Record of Women," and "An English Glove Factory." Junnie June gives another of her articles, "How we Live in New York," and Mrs. Hungerford furnishes some useful information about "Weddings," "Home art and Home Comfort," "Current Topics," and the various departments are all good. The poems in this number are by "L. Inconnu," Ella Dietz, Miss E. B. Chesborough, Augusta De Hulna, Mrs. Wilson, and Mrs. Mary E. Nealy. The illustrations are varied and excellent, and include a fine oil picture called "The Trio." There is no magazine better adapted to the household than Democrat's, and its moderate price makes it available to all.
