THE SPRING CREEK BRIDGE .-- Many weeks ago the bridge at the foot of High street was so badly damaged as to necessitate the building of a new one. A discussion, to which the people of town and county listened with disgust, followed as to whether the town council or the county commissioners should repair the damage This matter was finally agreed upon and then everybody supposed operations would begin and a stop be put to the many inconveniences suffered. The contract was given a Western firm for the building of the iron superstructure but before this can be done abutments must be built. The council advertised a letting about ten days ago and as yet we believe that same body to be unable to submit finished specifications to the inspection of those who desire to put in bids for the work to be Now, this fooling will not do. Either build the bridge or say at once that you do not mean to. The people have been very lenient in the matter, but as surely as the last straw can be found wherewith to break the camel's back, that urely patience is exhausted and forbearance will soon cease to be a virtue The merchants whose places of business are on the South side of High street above Water, on Monday, through D. G. Bush, Esq., collected enough money in one hour to build a foot bridge over the yawnng chasm that has so effectually separated them from customers who might have bought and dealt there if access had been ossible, for so long. The walk will be eight feet wide and composed of three spans.

Every day we are questioned as to the eeming dilatoriness of the officials who have the matter in charge and of course an say nothing as to the time it will probably be finished or even begun.

A SUDDEN DEATH AT PORT MATILDA, PA .-- Our quiet village was very much surprised on Sabbath morning, April 22, o learn that Mrs. Sarah Jane Morrison had breathed her last. On Saturday evenng she retired in the enjoyment of her isual health and about midnight she had stroke of apoplexy and lingered until ext morning at 11 o'alock, when she calmly fell asleep in Jesus, aged 48 years, months and 5 days.

Mrs. Morrison was a daughter of Jehn and Susanna Gill, and was born November 17th, A. D. 1834, spending her early girlood days in Halfmoon valley, this county She was converted at a campmeeting held at Port Matilda, August, 1853, and united with the M. E. church, being one of its first members in this section, living a holy and consistent life until the Great Head of the church in his inscrutable wisdom saw proper to remove her from the labor and esponsibilities of this life "to the general assembly of the Church of the first born, who dwell in that "house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens." "Where she shall breathe in Heavenly air, With Heavenly lustre shine; Before the throne of God appear. And feast on love divine."

She was married to James Morrison, Oct. 3, 1858, and unto them were born two children, Prof. W. G. and Mary Morri-She was a tender and loving wife and mother, and her memory to her husband and children is an exceedingly precious legacy. We trust God may sanctify this dispensation of his Providence to their good, help them to follow her good example and bring them safely through he troubles and storms of life to "Where those who meet shall part no mo And those long parted meet again."

THE ITALIANS .- A great many of these eople were quartered in and around an old house above Thomas street on Sunday. The time was passed in various waysome read books and papers ; others pitched quoits, using stones, the funny part of this game being that the contestants stood back to back, took careful aim and pitched in different directions, at nothing, as far as the writer was able to determine ; some

-Claire, the Bellefonte correspondent of the Philipsburg Journal, undertook last week to throw a very inconsiderable amount of dust into the eyes of its readers concerning the action of court in granting applications for license. It is true too many licenses were granted and a number to men devoid of any of the qualifications needed to properly conduct the businessmen, who are fit to sell whiskey and who would confine the business to the limits prescribed by law, are doing something else. It is impossible for any man to retail intoxicating beverages for drinking purposes and not infringe some of the laws governing its sale. Daily, no doubt, just cause for arrest and punishment, is given by those engaged in this trade and we ask Claire, who somehow or other sees so many occurrences of the kind referred to, to assist us in meting out to offenders a measure of the chastisement they deserve. The same court that authorized the granting of license is ready to inflict any penalties provided in case the trust is abused, and the DEMOCRAT shall hereafter not be slow to hold up to public gaze the man who wilfully and maliciously goes beyond the narrow limits of legal approval of this long we shall be surprised. But, our ex-nefarious traffic, and to satisfy a morbid greed for the accumulation of wealth subverts other manly qualities. -The Jamestown, (D. T.) Daily Capital, of the 24th ultimo, speaking of some changes made by a drug firm, refers thus to a Centre county young man, Mr. W.

H. B. Eisenhuth, son of Esquire Eisenhuth, of Millbeim: " * * They have placed their Carrington business in the hands of Mr. Willis Eisenhuth, one of the firm, who has been employed in their Jamestown house this winter. Mr. Eisenhuth has had years of experience in the drug business, and is pre-eminently qualified for the management of their Carrington venture, which, we have no doubt, will speedily merge into a profitable busi-Mr. Eisenhuth deserves this favorness." able mention and we are pleased to note the success with which he is meeting in his western home

-The meeting of the Presbyterian ladies' mite society, at the residence of Mrs. W. E. Burchfield, on Friday evening, was an exceedingly interesting one Mrs. S. T. Shugert read a selection or two in the way that lady so well understands and which is always sure to receive the hearty applause of all who listen ; Mr. G. O. Boal, an elocutionist of no mean repute, recited; Mrs. Mary Blanchard sang, and Mrs. Geo. D. Pifer and others entertained the society by some masterly performances on the piano. The collection was satisfactory. The next meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. Adam Hoy.

-The case of W. H. Corman, assignce vs. Elias Wert, tried last week, elicited considerable comment and interest on the part of the general public. J. L. Spanger, Esq., appeared for the defendant and Messrs. Alexander & Bower conducted the cause of the plaintiff. The whole case hinged upon a difference of time, which being decided in favor of Mr. Wert the jury was instructed to render a verdict for defendant. Both sides were ably and erhaustively defended.

-We have the pleasure of introducing our young legal friend, C. P. Hewes, to the business public (see card) this week, and desire to request for him an equitable share of those having any business in his line. He will be found careful, competent, courteous and reliable. [Now, Charlie we have done our best and if your office is not full of clients from morning until night it will be no fault of ours.]

One great, large fellow had succeeded in finding enough pins to fill a small pasteboard box and triumphantly exhibited the proof of his industry to a companion, who ruthlessly and dextrously hit the box in such a way as to send the pins flying in every direction. That fellow must have served an apprenticeship in the Republican office. In the evening a number attended service at the Catholic church.

-Eli Perkins, the humorist, lectured in the court house on Saturday evening to a fair house. Many were disappointedmany expected too much-but the general verdict was that the lecturer understands his business. The few local hits were good. We do not know how much money will be added to the Y. M. C. A. fund, as the result of the investment, but think the margin is considerable. Come again, Eli. -A good story has leaked out and is furnishing no little amusement in certain circles. On Sunday two gentlemen-one from out of town but whose business (?) affairs call him very frequently, in company with one of our handsomest coupterumpers secured horses for the purpose of indulging in a little equestrienism, and when far enough from the livery stable arranged a race for $100. a side with odds in favor of the field. The flying steeds flew too fast and the latter gentleman was thrown onto mother Earth's bosom with entirely too much force and suddenness to be agreeable. Not to be charged with going back on his backers he started on foot hoping to gain the goal and thus secure the reward, and would have succeeded had he not run square into the fonce, where he was induced (by the fence) to throw up the sponge. Next.
