The lawn-mower has been chinning quite freely of late.

When it comes to "skipping over the turf" at a lively rate, Arty Brown is hard to beat.

An infant daughter arrived at the residence of Mr. James Potter on Friday morning.

Mr. J. W. Miller, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of this place, is in Milwaukee.

Read the new advertisement of the Bee Hive and then go there for your dry goods and gent's furnishing goods.

Harry Hicks has had another monster sign painted, this time on Mallory's blacksmith shop. Lonberger and Irvin, artists.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Brumgard, of Wolf's store, have been entrusted with the training of another child. Shaks, Cyrus.

Mr. Thos. Decker, of Lock Haven, a millwright well known in Centre county, called on Tuesday. He is brim full of business.

Messrs. W. T. Leathers, James Gordon and J. N. Van Ormer were chosen to appraise the property of Saml. Stine, late of Roland, deceased.

Mr. Geo. M. Noll, of Milesburg, has accepted the agency of the Hill & Neff organ, made at Sunbury, Pa. Read notice of manufactory on inside page.

An essay on an interesting subject, read by Mrs. Rev. M. W. Fair, of this place, at the late Sunday school convention held at Lock Haven will be found in our next issue.

No better cultivated nor more prolific garden than that of Mr. Haag's at Pleasant Gap, is to be seen anywhere. Why he had all kinds of vegetables, of his own raising, two weeks ago.

On Tuesday Mr. N. W. Cronmiller, of Aaronsburg, came rushing into the DEMOCRAT office and after a short stay as speedily rushed out. Come often and stay longer, Mr. Cronmiller.

The walls of the Centre Hall hotel business office have been painted, the ceiling frescoed and the furniture put in apple-pie order. Davy thinks there is no such room in Centre county and we fully agree with him.

Hon. John K. Rankle, one of the associate judges of the court of this county, died at his home in Tusseyville, at an early hour on Tuesday morning, aged 70 years. His decease was quite sudden, the result, it is thought, of paralysis of the heart.

The arrangements thus far made for a grand celebration here, July 4th, warrant the assertion that it will be an enjoyable affair. Our Lock Haven friends owe it to themselves as well as to us that they come up and join the procession. Come along friends.

Messrs. M. Levi & Co., proprietors of the Keystone Clothing House are rushing things. They pay in cash the car fare of persons who come from Port Matilda, Snow Shoe, Eagleville and intermediate points provided the purchaser invests $10 in goods. Try them.

The largest cylinder ever blown at the glass works was blown by Mr. Wm. Culp, formerly of Baltimore, on Tuesday. It measures 29 1/2 inches in width, 75 inches in length and weighs 40 pounds. It will not be flattened out now and any one desirous of seeing the monster can do so.

A district Sunday school convention of the A. M. E. church will be held at Huntingdon from June 8 to June 12, inclusive. The program promises an interesting time. Chas. Garner, of this place, district superintendent, is conducting the arrangements.

Reference was made, in these columns two weeks ago, to what seemed to be an oversight in the mailing department of the American Agriculturist. Since then, we are pleased to state, the error has been corrected and that best of agricultural papers comes to us more highly prized than ever.

James Schofield, the Spring street saddler, asks us to say that he has been working on railroad cart harness "in spite of them" and is better prepared than ever for the manufacture of the heaviest as well as finest and fanciest kinds of harness. He has a limited number of low priced ones ranging from $10 to $15. Give him a call.

A moment or two on Tuesday was most pleasantly spent by the writer with Mr. Wm. Wolf the oldest merchant in Centre Hall. It was our pleasure also to meet Mr. J. Witmer Wolf, junior member of the firm. Both gentlemen are courteous and kind and are entitled to the large share of public patronage with which they are favored.

Mr. Newton Brumgard, of Hebersburg, on Tuesday started for Illinois. Before leaving town he looked in upon us to say good bye. Although his intention now is not to locate there, he says there is some possibility of it, but our friend will find Pennsylvania too attractive, we hope. Mr. and Mrs. Simon Spangler, en route for Kansas, accompanied him. May they have a pleasant time.

OUR MAN ABOUT TOWN.—Dr. Dickson, of Pittsburgh, was in town on Monday.

The residence of Hon. J. P. Gephart sports new windows and other improvements.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Wm. Parsons, editor of the New Haven Register, on Thursday evening.

E. C. Humes, Esq., President of the First National Bank likes to discuss the different manufacturing interests of our state.

Rev. Pennepacker, on Sunday, preached to his own congregation in the morning, drove to State College and preached there in the afternoon, came home and preached here in the evening. Surely he is a preacher.

Mr. James E. Williams, of Spring township, is assisting Recorder Bible. He is an excellent penman and does good work, but will never be what his friends most ardently desire he should until he votes the Democratic ticket.

Prof. W. G. Morrison has been doing some clerical work for the commissioners this week. He often looks in the direction of Millheim and sighs as though his heart would break. Come, brace up, boy.

Col. Shortidge went into the council just as March sometimes comes in, like a lion, and we hazard the prediction that he will go out just as it does, like a lamb.

Miss Ida Gearhart, one of Phillipsburg's most successful teachers and most pleasant young ladies, was the guest of Mrs. Robt. B. Larimer on Sunday.

Mr. Ellis B. Hosterman, of Potter township, was in Bellefonte on Tuesday. He is at present soliciting orders for a Tyrone copying house and doing well.

Miss Maggie, daughter of ex-Sheriff Scheaffer, of Nittany, was in town on Sunday, the guest of Miss Beekie McGinley.

Mr. C. T. Gerberich and Dr. E. W. Hale are in West Virginia attending to business of an important nature.

We ran across J. Harbison Holt on the street the other day and found that prince of Snow Shoe good fellows just as usual—full of fun, affable and friendly.

We met Rev. T. M. Morris, of Milesburg, the other day and he spoke in glowing terms of the two corner stores laid on Sunday, at Milesburg and Lemont. Both were complete and grand successes and altogether due to Mr. Morris' untiring energy.

Mr. Geo. W. Eaton has engaged with J. R. Mast, of Reading, manufacturer of cigars and dealer in tobacco, and will canvass central and western Pennsylvania. To our friends who purchase goods in his line we commend George as one worthy their patronage.

The Methodist sociable was well attended last Thursday evening. The programme was well arranged and everything passed off pleasantly. Our jolly friend Aaron Williams edited and read the Monthly, and a good one it was too. There are few things Mr. Williams cannot do if he tries.

Rev. W. R. Whitney, at one time preacher in charge of the Penns Valley M. E. circuit, has been stationed at Half Moon. On Saturday he paid us a friendly visit and we were glad to see him. Our Half Moon Methodist friends are to be congratulated upon the excellence of the choice conference made for them.

A short half our was most pleasantly spent by "our man" on Monday with the Messrs. Valentines, at their out-of-town office. There is a largeness about the courtesy and hospitality of these gentlemen rarely met with that accounts for the high esteem in which they are held by their neighbors and friends.

Mr. W. E. Burchfield and family will make Phillipsburg their home hereafter. J. W. Gephart, Esq., will occupy their elegant residence, while Dr. Seibert, the gentleman who is to engage in the practice of medicine with Dr. Hayes, will move into the house on Spring street vacated by Mr. Gephart.

On Sunday Col. Furey, of the Watchman and we partook of the whole-souled hospitality of Mr. F. X. Lehman, proprietor of the Butts house. The dinner was not only first class in quality and well served, but a feeling of contentment and satisfaction pervaded every one that is rarely met with at a public house. During the after-dinner chat we found Mr. Lehman to be a very pleasant, well-informed gentleman, and can conscientiously recommend him to the favorable notice of the traveling public.

We heard CAMILLA URSO on Saturday evening. Her execution upon the violin is marvelous and captivating. The selections are productions of the great masters, and as this remarkable virtuoso, with eyes closed—oblivious to all surroundings, by the magic sweep of the bow that becomes a veritable sceptre in her hand, the audience instinctively follows her example and forgets all save the strains of delectable sweetness so lavishly wafted upon the air made charming by her very presence. The one other attraction is BURBANK, an elocutionist of very decided ability. We trust Manager Sourbeck may favor Bellefonte frequently with entertainments of this character.

Mr. J. C. Sample, of Pine Grove Mills, Centre county, took in the sights about town last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Sample is the leading merchant and business man of his town, and carries a stock of goods which would do credit to a town of 20,000.—Tyrone Times.

WHO BUYS THE TICKETS.—OUR SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS TO OUR PATRONS are the following: First, We will not pay fare but we guarantee 20 per cent. lower prices than any other store in Bellefonte. Second, We will not name any distance but will treat all alike from far or near. Third, We will guarantee all goods, money returned when goods are not satisfactory, as in former times. Fourth, We do not promise to give away hats but will sell them at a low figure. No promises made to give away gold watches or chains, but we do most emphatically promise and guarantee low prices for all at the PHILADELPHIA BRANCH, Bellefonte.

There is some satisfaction in knowing where to go in case you buy and then wish you hadn't.

MILESBURG ITEMS.—Last Sabbath was an unusually busy day among our churches. Our Baptist friends had their usual services in the morning. The ordinance of baptism was administered in the mill-race, Rev. Edwards, officiated. Rev. W. O. Wright preached as usual and tendered his resignation to the members of the Presbyterian congregation. He proposes to go to Kyrletown, Clearfield county. In the afternoon the Evangelical congregation laid the corner stone of their new church. The services were conducted in the Presbyterian church, Rev. Kern, of Centre Hall, assisted by Rev. T. M. Morris, pastor in charge, officiated. The cash collection and subscription footed up handsomely.—The chief of police made an arrest in the evening. The culprit was released upon promising to be a better boy in the future.—The patrons of husbandry are fitting up a neat and comfortable hall in the Curtin house where they will soon hold their secret meetings.

AN AGED COUPLE.—Col. Henry Royer and lady, of Hebersburg, aged 87 and 83 years, respectively, are without doubt the oldest married couple in Centre county. For sixty-one years have they divided the joys and shared the sorrows of existence here, and great-grand-children rise up to call them blessed. Mr. Royer settled upon his present homestead in 1811 and has lived there ever since. They both enjoy the best of health and if appearances be not very deceptive will live many years more. About two weeks ago Mr. Royer walked to the field where the hands were plowing, and, as he said, to show them how to do it, drove the team around several times. It does not require much of an imagination to picture the vivid recollection of the seasons of the past when he in the prime of life, his mind filled with the possibilities of an earnest and faithful application to the duties assigned him, dreamed, as he worked, of that period of rest and quiet to be his portion after the struggles and trials of many years should cease. Be kind to the old, cherish them as links binding the rushing, shallow present to that staid and solid past, gone forever. May God bless our old friends.

—James Harris & Co. are the agents for the Centre Hall Corn Planters. Best planter made. If

MULDOON'S PICNIC.—This amusing entertainment as given by the NEWELL & SCOTT company has few rivals and no superiors. A performance has been secured by Manager Sourbeck and on Saturday evening next Reynolds Opera house should be crowded. We understand the representations to have been strictly first-class and ask a perusal of the following testimonials:

"Muldoon's Picnic" will remove the tariff.—Puck.

"Muldoon's Picnic" is the "Missing Link"—N. O. Procyone.

After "Muldoon's Picnic" call the police.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Muldoon's Picnic, a success.—New York Tribune.

Muldoon's Picnic is gud fur dispeas.—Josh Billings.

After seeing Muldoon's Picnic I was happy.—P. T. Barnum.

Muldoon's Picnic knocked 'em out.—N. Y. Herald.

"First-class, sah."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Muldoon's Picnic" converted me.—R. G. Ingersoll.

Give us some more of "Muldoon's Picnic."—Phila. Press.

"Muldoon's Picnic," takes the bakery.—N. Y. Sun.

"Muldoon's Picnic," laughed the filling out of our teeth.—Detroit Free Press.

Imprison me for life with a manuscript of "Muldoon's Picnic."—Frank James.

—The excursion of the glass blowers to the "cave" not long since was facetiously and inappropriately referred to by the Watchman as a "cantic." These gentlemen do not indulge as might be inferred from our neighbor's remark. They are industrious and apply themselves to their work with such persistent care that they must have some recreation. To-day they are at Snow Shoe, it being their intention to devote the "Thursdays" from now until July 1st in visiting parts of the county of most interest.

THE MOORE CHILDREN.—A very large and appreciative audience greeted these little wonders upon the occasion of their first public appearance, at Reynolds' Opera House, on Tuesday evening. The entertainment was two-fold, instrumental music and a charming opera, "The Golden Ball," the latter adapted by Mr. J. W. Moore, the father of the children. Their playing upon the violin is considered not only remarkably fine, but entirely beyond what might be expected of persons so young. The costumes and scenery used in the opera are elegant, adding much to the excellence of the performance.

The extreme youthfulness of the trio, their perfect mastery of the violin, their natural adaptation to the stage, and their calm, collected, genteel bearing inflexibly stamp them as prodigies destined to attract attention wherever they may appear before the public.

The programme was well placed and the interesting little performers acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner and received deserved applause from the large audience in attendance. Indeed, upon the whole, the entertainment was novel, unique and grand, and merits the favorable recognition of amusement loving people everywhere.

—Maj. J. B. Fisher, the enterprising merchant at Penn Hall, has been continuously in business at one place for 41 years, his present store building, we believe, stands on the spot where stood the small room he rented in '42, the latter was destroyed by fire before Mr. Fisher had occupied it a year. His old account books, of which there are many, have been placed in a neat and substantial case, and furnish a better history of Pennsylvania people, for one generation at least, than any record that could be written. This genial gentleman is one of the heartiest, jolliest persons to be met with in a long day's travel and enjoys, as he deserves to, the confidence, good will and esteem of all his neighbors.

—About the richest thing we have seen for a long time is a copy of the Chicago Herald, dated Nov. 25, 1882, handed us by Mr. Richard Harris. To us the idea of travelling 300 miles in 20 minutes with electricity as the motive power seems impossible; the Irish troubles have ceased and the Emerald Isle is a power to which other nations are glad to do homage; Chicago is to have 10,000,000 inhabitants and—but we must stop off somewhere and may as well do it right here. None of us will see that day but it is coming and then Bellefonte will be the Berlin of the 20th century.

—And it came to pass in the days of the spring freshest that a certain bridge was washed away, and all the people sorrowed for much travel was done over this same bridge. But the chief priests and the Sadducees admonished them to be of good cheer, saying "We will build you another," but the people murmured, when one whose surname was—poked fun at the much distressed tax-payers, and unto this day no man knoweth who it was that poked the most fun, he or the poor people. And the bridge was not built.

—A festival for the benefit of the Half Moon M. E. circuit parsonage will be held at Fillmore Saturday evening next. Ice cream, cakes, lemonade and other delicacies will be tastefully and plentifully served. Those who can not attend in the evening can be served in the afternoon. Let there be a full turnout and general response made to the call for assistance.

—Among the numerous new subscribers, whose names have been placed upon our list within the past two weeks, is George Miller, Esq., proprietor of the Spring Mills hotel. Mr. Miller has had about 35 years of active experience in this business and knows what is wanted. His table is always spread with the best the market affords and the accommodations are ample and first class.

—It is with real pleasure mingled with thankfulness that we note the fact that our friend Sechler is still selling first class groceries at lowest prices. A visit to his place of business will amply repay any one for the time spent. Consumers of groceries, fresh fruit, fish, meat and vegetables, canned goods and anything eatable, who do not see his stock before buying do themselves an injustice. You will find him in the Bush House block.

—A postal card from Mr. James Love, of Troy, Miami county, Ohio, tells us that wheat in that locality "is awful poor, thousands of acres have been plowed up for corn." To Mr. Love's inquiry as to the prospects in Centre county, we can answer that they never were better, nor more promising.

—We have frequently been impressed by the gentlemanly attention paid customers at the hardware store of Messrs. Wilson, McFarlane & Co. Mitchell, Pontius Musser, and the obliging Colonel himself, take great interest in persons who call, whether their mission be to purchase or not.

—On Friday we called upon the Millheim Journal and had just become interested when cruel fate interposed and cut the chat short, but we'll try again the first opportunity.

—Mr. John McCoy, of Olivia, Blair county, paid us a pop visit yesterday. He is always a welcome guest.

—Linen lawns at Garman's.

Lines.
Full well I remember the scenes of my boyhood,
And those bright pleasant spots that my infancy
And fresh in my memory is the old-fashioned home-
With its sweet little porch 'round where my vines
My mother's dear face as she peered from the window,
And smiled on her darling with a heart full of joy;
No thoughts of the sorrow to come in that future
No picture so bright for her own darling boy.
Long years my mother has gone by since then,
The bright days of childhood have long passed away,
And to hear thy sweet voice of comfort and joy,
It is little you thought while watching your boy
The tears you would shed for him some future day;
That he would forsake thee when age made thee
To wander with strangers so far, far away.
Years have rolled by mother since I have left thee,
Years full of sickness, of sorrow and pain,
Those friends once so kind have forsaken me, mother,
Oh! open your arms and receive me again.
I long for to see thy dear face once again
And to hear thy sweet words of comfort and joy,
I know you won't blame or reproach me dear mother
But weep o'er the sorrows of the own darling boy.

From the State Capitol.

HARRISBURG, May 10, 1883.
EDITORS DEMOCRAT: Governor Pattison's first reception came off last evening, it was an enjoyable affair. The heads of departments and members of the Legislature were there in full force besides a number of citizens, both ladies and gentlemen, who represented our most respected and fashionable portion of the community. The executive mansion was brilliantly lighted, about half past eight the guests commenced to arrive, and were received in the banquetting parlor by Governor and Mrs. Pattison, Mrs. W. H. Stenger, (wife of the Secretary of State), and Miss Woolford a cousin of Mrs. Pattison's. Beautiful flowers greeted one on every side, the delicate smiles hung in festoons from the chandeliers and tropical plants stood around in prodigal profusion—with the pure calla lily, and our native rose, reminding us of summer their sweet perfume seemed to whisper a welcome to all. Among the distinguished guests present were the Hon. Jeremiah S. Black, Attorney General Louis C. Cassidy, Hon. John Stewart of Chambersburg, candidate on the Independent ticket for governor, Hon. William A. Wallace and Lieut. Gov. Chauncey F. Black. And here by the way I would say the man who held the second office in the gift of the State should have stood by the side of the governor to do the honors of the occasion, and there is no one, irrespective of persons or party who could have filled the position with greater dignity and grace. And his charming wife, who is thoroughly a society woman, has had an opportunity of seeing more of the world than the quiet, little wife of the executive, her bright countenance and sweet contemplative eyes live in ones memory after enjoying the pleasantry and intellectual treat of her society. Quite a goodly number of Methodist sisters and brethren looked in after prayer meetings. Although it has been customary to refresh one with the simplest diet of crackers, coffee and lemonade, I thought as I sipped the latter (which was decidedly weak) appreciating as I fully do retrenchment and reform, it should never have been commenced at that end of the line. In the days of "Auld Lang Syne," when Governor Shunk lived in an unpretentious manner in a two-story brick, still standing on Front street, he brought up a large family and kept up the dignity of the office on a salary of $2,000 a year, and I have heard Mrs. Shunk say that they gave a large party every winter, and had a handsome entertainment and the State didn't pay for it either. The Harrisburg string band discoursed excellent music for the benefit of those who desired to dance, but the heat or something else seemed to affect those who generally take part upon such occasions, and there was less of this rational amusement than formerly. About 11 o'clock the rooms began to thin out and the five hundred visitors after bidding adieu to his excellency and the ladies who assisted in receiving, took their departure. Next week the Odd Fellows hold a convention here which bids fair to be well attended, as between eight and nine hundred are expected. M. A. J.

—Wilson, McFarlane & Co., call attention to the only reliable Ready Mixed Paint in the market. The Pioneer Prepared Paint is not only superior to any Ready Mixed Paint sold but rivals pure white lead in its smoothness in working and durability. This paint is guaranteed by the manufacturers not to crack or peel within three years. The guarantee is not only good for replacing the paint but it will be put on if it should crack or peel within the time specified. It will be to your interest to call and see Wilson, McFarlane & Co., before purchasing either white lead or any other Ready Mixed Paint.

—If you are lean and want to get fat, if you have the blues and need cheering, if your wife makes it so hot for you that you can appreciate a real pleasant evening, if your clothes do not fit you and you want a little respite from that inconvenience or if you are not happy and want to be so, why go to Muldoon's Picnic at the opera house on Saturday evening. Reserved seats at Sourbeck's.

—A valuable Bellefonte property, extending from Lion to Lamb street, thereon erected two good dwelling houses, is offered for sale on easy terms by Adam Hoy, Esq., who will be pleased to negotiate for its sale.

A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—There are dangerous counterfeits in circulation purporting to be "Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer." The strongest evidence of its great value is the fact that parties knowing its great efficacy try it, imitate it. Each bottle of the genuine has a face made of a walnut leaf—blown in the glass; and a Green Leaf on the outside wrapper. The "Restorer" is as harmless as water, while it possesses all the properties necessary to restore life, vigor, growth and color to the hair. Purchase only from responsible parties. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. Johnston, Holloway & Co., Philadelphia, and Hall & Ruckel, New York, Wholesale Agents. 4-ly.
