How is This?

"Secretary Chandler announced Wednesday, says the New York Sun, that he will sell at public auction thirty old and useless ships belonging to the Robesonian navy."

One of the vessels which Chandler proposes to turn over to the junk dealers is the Alaska. This is a wooden screw steamer of 2,400 tons, built in 1867 or 1868. The Alaska is at present on the Pacific coast.

This ship, now condemned to be sold or given away because she is "unfit for further naval service," has cost the country $1,377,571, exclusive of ordnance. Secor Robeson expended $580,000 in tinkering her hull and machinery.

Just one year and one month ago Secretary Chandler reported to Congress that the Alaska, except in the matter of guns, was "efficient to engage in battle with an enemy of the same general classification." The Bureau of Construction and Repair classed her efficient, not requiring the expenditure of a cent. The Bureau of Steam Engineering reported her as in a first-class condition. The Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting made a similar report concerning her condition. All that was needed for the Alaska was ordnance.

If the ship was efficient in May, 1882, how does it happen that in June, 1883, she is unfit for further naval service? Perhaps Chandler or some of his friends need a cheap vessel, which want the Alaska would supply at a nominal cost.

THE MORE important bills passed by the Legislature during the session which ended on Wednesday were those abolishing the Sealers of Weights and Measures; increasing the gratuity and annuity of the veterans and widows of veterans of the War of 1812; repealing the Recorder act of 1878; abolishing the Philadelphia Delinquent Tax office; preventing lapse of time from giving a right to keep electric wires perpetually attached to buildings; making ineligible any person who shall not have been admitted to the bar two years prior to his election; providing for voluntary tribunals to adjust labor disputes; providing for the supervision and control of institutions for the insane; prohibiting the levying of license tax upon persons taking orders for goods by sample for individuals or companies who pay the tax at their chief place of business; fixing the standard weight of a bushel of potatoes at sixty pounds; repealing the act authorizing market clerks to confiscate short-weight butter, lard, sausage, etc.; regulating the hunting and killing of web-footed wild fowl; preventing the exemption of property on judgment obtained for fifty dollars or less for wages for manual labor; providing for free evening schools for children unable to attend the public day schools; exempting building associations from State tax; to protect dairymen and prevent deception in the sale of butter and cheese; abolishing the office of Recorder in cities of the first class; providing for the appointment of a commission by the Governor for the purpose of revising the mining and ventilation laws in the anthracite coal regions; a supplement to an act providing for additional security in case of fire in hotels and other buildings; to protect miners in the bituminous coal regions; a supplement to the act of 1879, "providing for the health and safety of persons employed in coal mines," further providing for the furnishing of traps and timbers to the miners; an amendatory act to the one of 1869, providing for the punishment of cruelty to animals; preventing the placing in peril of life or limb performers at public exhibitions; directing and empowering County Commissioners to resort to condemnation to secure ground for the erection of necessary county buildings, such as jail, court house, etc., where said ground cannot be otherwise secured; supplement to the act "regulating the incorporation of corporations" authorizing the formation of pipe lines for transporting petroleum and giving the right of eminent domain in taking lands and property for such purpose; permitting the killing of the English sparrow at any season of the year; regulating the term of office of Controller in cities of the third class; fixing the compensation of the Judges of the Common Pleas Courts; relating to assignments for the benefit of creditors; and fixing a form of bond to be given by the assignee; enforcing the provisions of the seventeenth article of the Constitution relative to railroads and canals; to extend the time for the completion of railroads; relating to the terminal points to which railroads may be constructed; supplementary to an act "authorizing the formation and regulation of railroad corporations," approved April 4, 1868, amending the sixth section, making the limit of the original amount of stock and increased capital $150,000 per mile and of stock and bonds $200,000. (The three last-named bills are those known as the Vanderbilt railroad bills.)—Valley Spirit.

THE Committee of One Hundred in Philadelphia is a partisan Republican association, organized on that avowed basis, intended to work within its own party and to elect Republicans to office, except when it cannot find honest men of that party or cannot elect them without the aid of Democratic combinations. A recollection of this fact is always important in estimating the significance of the committee's deliverances. When, therefore, it makes proclamation that the present Legislature—one House Democratic and the Democrats of the other furnishing nearly four-fifths of the votes that passed the best legislation of the session—has enacted measures recommended by the committee which failed to pass previous Republican Legislatures and which will save Philadelphia over $300,000 per year, it vindicates the sincerity of Democratic reform in a most remarkable degree. The present Legislature has not been to Chairman Cooper's liking at all. Scarcely a measure of general importance and value that has passed it failed to encounter the opposition of his party, led by him in the Senate. It is hot weather now, but it will be cold enough for Cooper and his fellows when the ideas and the accounting of November come.—Lancaster Intelligencer.

Liver, Kidney and Bright's Disease.

A medicine that destroys the germ or cause of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Kidney and Liver Complaints, and has power to root them out of the system, is above all price. Such a medicine is Hop Bitters, and positive proof of this can be found by one trial, or by asking your neighbors, who have been cured by it.

"*Fools take to themselves the respect given to their office." But Kidney-Wort commands respect for its own solid merits, tested, tried and found not wanting in any essential principle required for the cure of dyspepsia, piles, malaria, and all diseases of the kidneys, bowels and liver. Prepared in dry and liquid form.

General Items.

The star route trial is confidently expected to end this week.

A million and a half tons is the estimated wheat crop of California this year.

The Michigan Senate has passed a bill creating a commission to hear complaints against railroads.

The Japanese government, with a wiser forethought than our own, will spend $60,000,000 upon its navy during the next three years.

The Columbus Times greets Judge Foraker upon his nomination to the Governorship of Ohio, and "welcomes him to a hospitable grave."

Governor Butler is an exceedingly lucky politician. He has a large number of fool enemies in Massachusetts whose assistance is invaluable.

The specie shipments of the year from San Francisco to June 1 show an excess of $2,000,000 sent to Hong Kong, China, and $1,750,000 less sent East.

John Russell Young, American Minister to China, is now engaged in collecting material for a work on that country, which he hopes to publish within two years.

The cost of transporting a barrel of flour from Minneapolis to Boston is $1. The freight on a sack of flour holding a barrel, from Minneapolis to Glasgow, Scotland, is $1.20.

The crowns of the Emperor and Empress of Russia, the two collars of St. Andrew, and the globe and the scepter, with all of which the imperial pair have been invested, are worth $2,000,000.

Eastern papers state that emigration from the New England States to the west is falling off, and it is believed that cyclones, hurricanes and earthquakes have something to do with the change.

General John C. Fremont and wife are living in New York city near Central Park, in a flat belonging to a married daughter. Mrs. Fremont is a daughter of Thomas H. Benton, of Missouri.

"Were it left to me," said Jefferson, "to decide whether we should have a Government without newspapers or newspapers without a Government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter."

A marked change in the direction of commerce is shown in the fact that New Orleans is now the second grain exporting port of the United States. Over 1,300,000 bushels were shipped from that port in May and 460,000 tons have been shipped during the past five months.

The perpetual clock, which has been running in Brussels for a year without stopping or being touched by human hands, is wound up by a draught of air through a tube which operates on a fan connected with the machinery. The draught is made to pass upward through the tube by exposing it to the heat of the sun.

The Milwaukee Convention.

The Twenty-fifth Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of America was held in Milwaukee, Wis., May 16-20, this organization being represented by our general Secretary.

For several days previous, the General Secretaries of the United States and British Provinces were in Conference at Racine, Wis., 225 secretaries and 20 or more visitors, looking forward to entering the secretaryship, being in attendance. The development in this feature of the work is marked and, undoubtedly, is the earnest of more permanent and effective work in the future. Since the Cleveland Convention, June '81, 249 new men have entered this work as paid officers, and there are now 314 men employed at 186 different places, as compared with 210 at 122 points two years ago. The proportion of men coming into the work from the colleges and universities of the land is steadily increasing, and more and more thorough education and culture are demanded.

The organization of the Convention resulted in the selection of the following officers: President, Hon. C. L. Colby, Milwaukee; Vice-Presidents, B. H. Warner, Washington, D. C.; J. Murray Smith, Montreal, J. L. Houghteling, Chicago, James Bowron, Nashville, C. A. Jewell, Hartford, H. B. Chamberlain, Denver; Recording Secretary, F. A. Hatch, Kansas City.

The report of the International Committee was replete with valuable information. A point of great importance was the reorganization of the committee, effected by the New York State Legislature at its recent session and ratified, after an animated discussion, by the Convention. The first request received was that of $5,000 from the late William E. Dodge, toward the maintenance of the German work.

Notable attractions of the Convention were: The address of Rev. P. S. Henson, D. D., of Chicago, on "The employment of Bible study in the work of the Association for the development of the character of young men," which fairly flashed from his brilliant mind; the clear, business-like paper of J. L. Houghteling, Esq., President of the Chicago Association, "What the community has a right to expect from the Young Men's Christian Association and what the Association has a right to expect from the community," which will be assigned a place among our standard Association literature; the glowing address of Pres. E. R. Hendrix, D. D., of the Central College, of Missouri, on "The need of the colleges," an eloquent tribute to the college work and stirring appeal for increased exertion; the masterly effort of Rev. A. S. Pierson, D. D., of Indianapolis, on "Qualifications of heart and life needed in work for young men—how secured?" abounding in richest thought; the bible readings and studies of W. J. Erdman, R. A. Orr and J. H. Elliott; and many other good things of the feast.

It was decided to furnish the International Committee with $45,000 to prosecute its growing work during the ensuing year, and over $27,000 was at once subscribed upon the floor of the Convention.

Upon the urgent invitation of Atlanta, Ga., the Convention of 1885 was appointed to meet in that city—a sign of promise for the Southern field.

At the farewell service, Sunday night, within twenty-three minutes 109 delegates, who had not been heard from during the convention, told what most impressed them. The Holy Spirit made His presence manifest in many ways at many times.
