CANCER CURED.
No disease has so thoroughly baffled the skill of the medical profession as cancerous affections and as they have always been considered incurable, it has been thought disreputable to adopt their treatment as a specialty; and hence physicians have neglected their proper study. But of late years new and important discoveries have brought forth a course that now proves successful in any of its forms, with certainty, without the use of the knife or caustic plasters. We have a treatment that is comparatively mild. It is not poisonous, does not interfere with the healthy flesh, can be applied to any part of the body, even the tongue. We take nothing for our services until the cancer is cured. Address: D. J. HULBERT, Eagleville, Centre Co., Pa.

In the selection of delegates-at-large the East and West should be recognized, thus offering the people represented the most favorable opportunity to have their wishes expressed and sustained. When we consider that Pennsylvania is a Republican State, its popular influence in Democratic National conventions is a source of pride and gratification. While she has men within her bounds the peer of any State in ability, position and worth, she cannot do more with propriety than respectfully urge recognition in the highest claims and will not.

Mrs. Elizabeth Haldeman, probably the oldest resident of Harrisburg died a few days since. She was in her 95th year, was the mother of Jacob M. Haldeman, minister to Sweden under President Buchanan, and ex-Congressman Haldeman, who is married to Senator Cameron's sister. The deceased was noted for her many charities.

To the Members of the National Greenback Labor Party of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen: The chairman of your State Committee asks your immediate and earnest attention to the necessity of making the proper arrangements to send full delegations of your ablest men to the National convention of the party, which will meet at Indianapolis, Ind., on Wednesday, the 28th day of May, 1884. The importance of this Convention cannot be overestimated. In this connection it may not be amiss to call your attention to some of the magnificent victories which you have won for your principles in the eight years' struggle since grand old Peter Cooper was nominated at Indianapolis in 1876.

First. Your fight against a permanent bonded debt has been the cause of every reduction of interest on the bonded debt. If a low rate of interest is a desirable matter, the low rates now prevailing are due to you.

Second. Your fight against a permanent bonded debt has forced the party in power to apply a part of the surplus revenues to the payment of the debt, and put that terrible incubus upon productive industry in the way of prompt and permanent extinguishment.

Third. When you prevented the funding of the debt under the Wood fifty year bill or the Garfield forty year bill, you compelled Secretary Windom to refund the bonds then due at the pleasure of the government. The payment of more than two hundred millions of those bonds in the last three years, and forcing that money into the channels of business, has alone been the means of preventing another and worse panic than that of 1873, and put in process of extinction the National Banking System—a system lamented in his latter days by the late Chief Justice Chase, as his great error.

Fourth. Your persistent eight years' warfare against the theft of the public lands has at last compelled both of the old parties to pass through the House of Representatives a measure looking to the recovery to the people of a large portion of the land donated to corporations in violation of the rights of the individual citizen and of the constitutional command to promote the public welfare.

Fifth. By your votes in 1876 and 1877 you compelled Congress to pass the act known as the Fort Bill (vetoed by Hayes but passed over his veto) making the present volume of greenbacks a part of the permanent money of the country, and by the provision to reissue them, practically doubling their volume, and to remonetize silver and make it a full legal tender. The effect of this act was to make our silver available as money, and practically add a thousand millions of dollars to the business of the country and making the hoarding of money unprofitable. It was this act that relieved your furnace fires, set your spindles in motion, and gave employment to the millions of honest workmen who had been tramping the country in search of labor.

The growth in population and production of the country has been so great that the volume of money in the channels of circulation is totally inadequate to carry on the domestic exchange at a profitable rate. Every reduction in general prices of commodities, and every reduction in wages has been the unconscious cry of business for more money. The effort to make our present volume of currency answer by spreading the rate of wages thinner on the bread of less steady labor, coupled with the starvation in business policy of hoarding nearly one-fourth of the total volume of money in the United States Treasury has brought about its logical effect, and to-day we find one-half the iron furnaces of the country out of blast, one-third of the spindles rusting in idleness, one-third of the skilled and unskilled labor of the country unemployed and eating up their past earnings, with a cry of distress rising from every manufacturing and mining district; and the army of unwilling tramps making the false conditions visible; with shirtless backs and empty stomachs by the million, and every monopolistic, gold basis devotee screaming "overproduction" at the top of his head.

In view of these conditions, and the persistent attempt of the Democratic party in Congress to reduce wages 20 per cent. more by reducing the tariff to that extent, and the statement by Henry Claws, the leading Republican banker of New York that the wages of labor must be reduced 33 per cent. to enable us to fight the pauper labor of the world in the markets of the world, your duty is plain before you, and your chairman earnestly asks you to begin it at once by making arrangements in your different districts to send full delegations of faithful and able men to the Indianapolis convention.

At this time it would be well to call the attention of our workmen to the fact that just as they have abandoned the only party (the National Greenback Labor) that ever made their property the base and superstructure of its platform, and the reason for its existence, just so fast has monopoly repressed them. It has imported contract pauper labor by the million to lower their wages, it has opposed the organization of labor everywhere, and it has withdrawn from circulation one-fourth of the money of the country. It has ridiculed the financial principles of the party in every place and manner, though always unwilling to discuss them with us.

The recent decision of the Supreme Court (confessedly the ablest that ever graced the Supreme Bench of the country) affirming to the uttermost the Greenback financial principles, has enabled the monopolistic claqueurs of both the old parties, in the press and on the stump, to choose for themselves whether they will hereafter exhibit on the horn of the dilemma marked "fool" or "knave." They have just that choice, and no other.

The Financial Chronicle of New York, has recently shown that there is no such amount of gold in the country as has been claimed—and what there is going out. Importations of foreign merchandise are increasing. The exports of wheat have been stopped. "What are you going to do about it?"

Excursion tickets will be issued. Write to me at once.

Chairman State Ex-Committee,
Mch. 27, 1884. Milesburg, Pa.

PHILIP KELLER In the Court of Common Pleas of Centre County vs.
GEORGE W. FORD and
JAMES A. BEAVER,
Action of Ejectment.

To George W. Ford et al.:
And now, February 6th, 1884, on motion of John H. Orvis, Attorney for Plaintiff, rule is granted on George W. Ford, one of said defendants, to appear and plead to the said action of ejectment brought for the recovery of that certain tract of uninclosed land situate in the township of Snow Shoe, in said county of Centre, surveyed in the warrants granted to Joseph Deuling, bounded as follows: Beginning at a stone therein, south eighty-seven degrees, east one hundred and fifty perches to a white oak corner of 1794, thence by a line of trees marked in 1794, north four and one-half degrees, east three hundred and thirty-one and nine-tenths perches to a post, thence by land in the warrants granted to Jacob Z. Long, north eighty-seven degrees, west one hundred and fifty-seven perches to stones on line of 1794, thence by said line being surveyed in the warrants names of Wm. DeWart and William Gray, south three and one-fourth degrees, west three hundred and thirty-one and nine-tenths perches to the place of beginning, containing three hundred acres and six-tenths. The Court orders that if the said defendant cannot be found in said county, that the said rule shall be published for sixty days before the return day thereof in one newspaper of said county of Centre, to be inserted therein at least three times, and in addition thereto, to give unto said defendant wherever found, notice in fact of the said suit, in time to appear and defend it, and upon failure to appear and plead to show cause why judgment should not be entered against the Defendant by default. Returnable on Monday, the 28th day of April, A. D. 1884, being the first day of next term. By the Court, ADAM HOY, P. J. J. C. HARPER, Prothonotary.
