CANCER CURED.

No disease has so thoroughly baffled the skill of the medical profession as cancerous affections and as they have always been considered incurable, it has been thought disreputable to adopt their treatment as a specialty; and hence physicians have neglected their proper study. But of late years new and important discoveries have brought forth a course that now proves successful in any of its forms, with certainty, without the use of the knife or caustic plasters. We have a treatment that is comparatively mild. It is not poisonous, does not interfere with the healthy flesh, can be applied to any part of the body, even the tongue. We take nothing for our services until the cancer is cured.

Struck by A Cyclone.

BARNUM'S CIRCUS TENT BLOWN DOWN ON FIVE THOUSAND PEOPLE.

CORTLAND, N. Y., July 24.—While Barnum, Baily, & Hutchinson's circus was giving the afternoon performance here yesterday to an audience of 5,000 persons a heavy storm of wind and rain came up. The tent was in a narrow valley, between two small hills, and the storm rushing through this narrow place created a whirlwind, which struck the large performing tent from the west, after the dressing tent. Assistant Manager Hyatt, seeing the storm coming had the four peaks lowered, thinking this would prevent an accident. The hippodrome was just beginning when the wind struck the tent. In an instant the guy ropes were torn from the stakes and the broad side of the tent was in the air. Ropes and chains were flying, quarter poles were swinging in the air, and the canvas was torn into shreds.

In the midst of all this confusion the people were thrown into a frightful panic. Every one sprang to his feet and rushed anywhere he could. Most of them ran out among the horses which were harnessed ready for the chariot races. The terrified horses reared and plunged, trampling upon the people and wounding many seriously, though, strange to say, none fatally. The Elephants who had just been performing, and had been hustled out of the ring, trumpeted loudly, and were greatly excited. It required the utmost efforts of their trainers to keep them in subjection and away from the crowds of flying people. To add to the confusion the rain began to fall in torrents. Women who had not fainted were looking for missing friends. From underneath the now prostrate canvas came the groans of the injured. The lions and other animals added to the din and confusion by their roars and cries. The Cortland Fire Department was called out, and hastened to the scene.

Out of the 5,000 people who attended no one was killed, though it is feared several will die. Seventy-five in all were injured, of whom less than twenty five were seriously hurt. None of the circus attaches were injured, though right in the midst of the disaster. Barnum's loss is $10,000, which was confined to the destruction of the tent. This is the first experience of this kind that he has had since 1871.

Praying for Rain.

THE OHIO ALLEY SUFFERING FROM A FEARFUL DROUGHT.

CINCINNATI, July 24.—Up to the first day of July the season in the Ohio Valley within a radius of 200 miles from Cincinnati was highly favorable for all the crops. There were frequent rains and the temperature was in every way such as to promote the growth of the crops. Since that date there has been no general rain in this region, and the local showers have been limited to small areas and have been infrequent and insufficient. All through Southern Ohio and Indiana and Northern Kentucky the wagon roads are covered with dust. Wheat is all harvested and most of it has been threshed. The dry weather has been favorable for harvesting and threshing.

Early sown oats has escaped injury, but the late sown are suffering. Hay which the rains of the spring months and of June set so thick on the ground has had its growth checked by the July drought. Corn is the greatest sufferer of all the grains. In a few fields of low irrigated bottom lands the corn looks vigorous and thrifty, but everywhere else in upland and lowland the outlook is already discouraging and is growing more so every day. Corn in lands that are wont to yield from forty-five to seventy-five bushels per acre, is now not more than three or four feet high and in full tassel. Should seasonable weather set in and continue from this time forward such corn might yield three-fourths the average crop. On the other hand, if the present drought should continue eight or ten days longer no change of season for the better afterward could save the crop. One-half of it would scarcely be worth cutting for fodder, and the other half would average not more than a third of the usual yield. Most of the few showers that have fallen since the first of this month has been within a few miles of the Ohio river as was that of yesterday. Further north in Ohio and Indiana and further south in Kentucky the drought has been unmitigated. Potatoes and garden stuff have been seriously checked in their growth.

To aggravate the situation, the common meadow grasshoppers have increased in a few small areas in the most seriously parched regions, where they have invaded gardens and vineyards and cut down everything before them. The pastures, which got so good a start, look parched and dead. An early rain would restore them, however. The large streams have shrunk to rivulets and the brooks and marshy lands are drying up, endangering the existence of live stock. Sparks from locomotives fire the dead grass along the railways. A good rain spreading over a wide stretch of country within three or four days would be worth millions of dollars to this part of the Ohio Valley, and the continuance of good seasonable weather until the first of September would be worth millions of dollars more.

Short Temperance Talks.

No. 6.—Why the Rumblers Talk.

Because they, like Demetrius the silversmith, who made shrines for Diana, see that "this our craft is in danger to be set at naught," since "Paul hath persuaded and turned much people," and "that the great goddess should be despised and her magnificence destroyed whom the world worshippeth." And "moreover ye know that by this craft we have our wealth." Many Pauls have arisen who have caused the great god Bacchus to be despised and his magnificence set at naught whom all the world worships.

So there is "no small stir" since their craft is to be destroyed, and their gains which have come through the ignorance of these worshippers of this false god are to be taken from them. "And the whole land is full of confusion." The owners of the five hundred thousand temples of Bacchus see that "we are in danger to be called into question for this our work." Bacchus, so long worshipped unmolested, now sits trembling on his throne, and his followers tremble too, lest they may lose the eight cents profit on a ten cent drink, and so they talk and talk of "personal liberty," till we would almost suppose that this "land of the free" grants right to be wrong; whereas "an account of the hardness of men's hearts," as did Moses, it only tolerates it. Our "personal liberty is a very restricted thing after all, since one man's rights end where another's begin. No man has a right to injure another man's person, property, health, or reputation. The liquor dealer does all these, and because men cry out against this wrong they talk of our rights."

The great principle underlying all law is that the right of the few must ever be made subservient to the right of the many. The majority shall rule, and the majority now say to this traffic "thus far and no farther."

Additional Local.

NIAGARA FALLS AND WATKINS GLEN.—Arrangements have been perfected for a second grand annual excursion to the Cataract and Watkins Glen the great natural wonders of the American Continent. A special train will be run via Pennsylvania railroad, Tuesday, August 19th, 1884. Rates of fare to Niagara Falls and return as follows: Spring Mills, $8.25; Coburn, 8.05; Millinburg, 7.50; Lewisburg, 7.00; Bellefonte, 7.60; Lock Haven, 6.80; Jersey Shore, 6.30; Williamsport, 6.05; Arrive at Watkins, 3.45 p. m.

The route from Watkins will be over the Northern Central railway to Canandaigua, giving a beautiful view of Seneca Lake, thence to Niagara Falls over New York Central railroad.

The scenery over the entire route is not excelled for beauty and grandeur. The accommodations for this excursion will be first-class in every particular. The train will be composed of elegant Eastlake coaches, and every effort will be made to make it an enjoyable trip. The fare to Niagara Falls and return from all points has been made extremely low and within the means of all.

Arrangements have been made for reduced rates at the hotels at Watkins and Niagara Falls, and for carriage hire and admission to all places of interest, so that persons may know just what it will cost before making the trip. The expense of the trip outside of the railroad fare will not exceed $8.

C. A. Sears, Vice President of the Aldine Publishing Co., of New York, and who is traveling in the interest of said firm, gave our sanctum a pleasant call. He says New York State will be carried for Cleveland by a large majority. Mr. Sears' knowledge of the political situation there is strengthened by his intimate acquaintance throughout the entire State, hence his opinion is authentic and valuable.
