CANCER CURED.

No diseases have so thoroughly baffled the skill of the medical profession as cancerous affections and as they have always been considered incurable, it has been thought desirable to adopt their treatment as a specialty; and hence physicians have neglected their proper studies. But of late years new and important discoveries have brought forth a course that now proves successful in any of its forms, with certainty, without the use of the knife or caustic plasters. We have a method that is comparatively mild. It is poisonous, does not interfere with any flesh, can be applied to any body, even the tongue. We bring for our services until the cured. Address: D. J. HULBERT, Eagleville, Centre Co., Pa.

The Campaign.

CANDIDATE HENDRICKS SPEAKS AT TOLEDO.

TOLEDO, O., September 11.—Governor Thomas A. Hendricks, the Democratic candidate for Vice President, arrived in this city yesterday morning as the guest of the Tri State Fair Association. In the afternoon he spoke on the Fair grounds to a large audience, estimated at 4000 or 5000. His speech on the occasion was entirely non-partisan, and was a eulogium of the importance of agriculture and the mechanic arts of the improvements of the century in them in this country, and of those elements of citizenship which go to make up good government.

In the evening Governor Hendricks spoke to a Democratic mass meeting in the Fifth ward, an immense audience, numbering fully 3000, being present. In the course of his remarks he reiterated his argument of last Saturday night in support of a change in the National Administration, and then said:

The Republican party, under the leadership of the chiefs who are at its head, having now abandoned substantially their old friends the German friends they are lying hold of my Irish friends with a zeal that is absolutely beautiful. [Cheers.] What has the German done that he should be abandoned by the Republican party? How is it that no address to him and his patriotic devotion is made, and it is only made to my Irish friends? Why is this? The only fault I know of the German is that he says when he lived in Germany beside the Rhine he thought he had the right to decide for himself what he would eat and drink and where he should be clothed. The Republicans say that will not do, and it is only the day before yesterday in the State of Maine that they would not trust this question any longer to legislation, but placed it in the irrevocable provisions of their Constitution that henceforth and forever no man should drink his beer in the State of Maine, and the candidate for President of the United States did think it was a proper thing to say that he did think it was proper thing to say that he did not vote on that question at all. What say you my German friends, is prohibition right or wrong? [Voice: "Wrong."] I Wrong, of course it is, as the Democracy in every platform has declared. In the State from which I have come to-day our Democracy has fought his battle well out upon the idea that whether a man shall take a drink of beer, if you please, a drink of whiskey belonging to himself, and if you choose to take a drink I could not advise you to drink anything to disturb the composure of your judgment at any time; but if you choose to take a drink, shall you come to ask my permission, or in other words, shall I seek to interpose to prevent you from indulging in a habit that you think is not hurtful to you?

Governor Hendricks then recited at length the Kossia case in the administration of President Pierce in 1854, and the McSweeney case in 1881, when James G. Blaine was Secretary of State, as tending to show which party was the true friend of the foreign born citizen. Concerning the latter he said:

McSweeney, an American citizen, was seized, a free man until then, without fault, without crime, without the violation of any English law whatever, seized and thrown into seditious dungeon. His wife wrote a letter to the State Department at Washington informing the Secretary of State that her husband was then under arrest and imprisonment without fault, without crime, without charge. The letter was received at the State Department in Washington on the 16th day of August, James G. Blaine, who was then the Secretary of State, was then acting as President of the United States. Mr. Garfield was then languishing upon his bed of pain. That letter was unopened, so far as we know at least, it was unanswered. It never was answered so long as Mr. Blaine continued in the State Department.

And yet James G. Blaine was "dashing," as they say [laughter and applause]—"American," as they say—not a bit Irish, as I say. [Laughter.] He neglected to answer it, and during the whole of the four months that he held that high office and controlled the seal of our country no answer was made and no instructions were sent to our Minister at London. McSweeney did not come out of jail until the spring following, under another administration of the State Department. I am not speaking on this subject to Irishmen, I am speaking to my fellow citizens. To all such I say: Will you indorse the conduct of Blaine, or will you rally under the banner which Marcy, under Pierce's administration, did erect over us all?

Governor Hendricks closed with an allusion to the manner of his nomination and a strong appeal to Democrats to carry Ohio in October, as that would decide the contest in November.

A Grand Demonstration.

50,000 WELCOME CLEVELAND TO THE CITY OF ELMIRA

ELMIRA, N. Y., Sept. 8.—This is the biggest day Elmira ever saw. It is estimated that there are fifty thousand strangers in town. The public places and streets remind one of a large assembly with every hive preparing for grand swarms. It is intended that this will be one of the grandest Democratic rallies that ever took place. The indications at this writing are that such it will be. Gov. Cleveland came to day, arriving at 5:40 a. m. for the purpose of visiting the State fair that has been in session here since Thursday, and, as this morning's Advertiser, Republican, said, "He will be received and entertained with that generous hospitality for which this little Queen city of the southern tier is deservedly noted." That his stay here may be pleasant, the memories of this visit refreshing will be the united wish of all our citizens." Thus speaks the leading Republican paper of the southern tier. That it is true is most thoroughly demonstrated by the hearty welcome which he received upon his arrival this morning. Although at an early hour, hundreds crowded the streets in the vicinity of the depot, and as the governor passed from the carriage, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Daniel Lamont, and Adjutant General Farnsworth, such a cheer went up as clearly demonstrated the fact that he is held in high esteem by his fellow citizens. He was driven immediately to Mr. H. Arnolds residence, where the party took breakfast. During the forenoon the Governor and party inspected the New York State reformatory. They took lunch with Governor Robison and at 2 o'clock he delivered an address on the fair grounds. Later this afternoon a grand dinner party will be given at Mr. M. H. Arnolds residence, and in the evening the Governor will review at the Rath-bun House, the largest and grandest Democratic parade and demonstration ever witnessed in this vicinity.

Love and Elopement.

A NEW YORK GIRL AND A FASCINATING YOUTH.

NEW YORK, September 10.—For some months past a young man named Ernest J. Schelling had been in the employ of Mr. G. P. Morosini, the millionaire broker and business partner of Jay Gould. Mr. Morosini lives in Yonkers. Almost daily the young man would take some of the family out for a drive along the shady avenues overlooking the river. During many of the excursions it was observed that he drove Miss Victoria Morosini alone and that he appeared to pay her many little attentions which testified to his affections for his young mistress. Miss Victoria is about 25 years old and of a romantic disposition. She is of medium height, and has a fair fresh complexion, with rich, wavy, blonde hair. Schelling is slim, and constructed on a dudeish model. He is a few months younger than Miss Victoria, and is quite tall, with a fair skin and dark hair. Last evening there was a condition of affairs bordering on a panic at the Morosini mansion. Miss Morosini and the coachman Schelling had gone about 3 o'clock p. m., in each others company, and at dark had not returned. Communication was immediately had with Chief of Police Mangin, of Yonkers. That official telegraphed to Superintendent Walling as follows:

Run away this afternoon, Victoria Morosini, 25, medium height and build, fair complexion, blonde hair, black and white check dress, poke bonnet, plush and white feather, with Ernest J. Schelling, 25, five feet nine inches, slim build, fair complexion, brown hair.

WHAT MR. MOROSINI SAYS

Mr. Morosini was seen late this evening at his home, near Yonkers. He said: "I never expected such a misfortune to come upon our family. The coachman has been about nine months in my employ."

Died in The Pit.

A DESPERATE DOG FIGHT AT THE FOUR MILE HOUSE, EAST END.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning a procession of carriages moved out Fifth avenue to the Four Mile House, and a large apartment that had been prepared for the occasion was soon populated by about forty sports, some from this city and others from the East. The occasion was a dog fight in which a 36-pound bull from Gloucester, New Jersey was pitted against another well-known white bull owned on the hill. But little time was lost in preliminaries. The match was for a light stake, and there was not much betting. From the first scratch it was evident the home dog had the best of the fight and after three scratches, when fifty-two minutes had expired the Gloucester dog refused to scratch and died almost before he left the pit. The party re-entered their carriages and arrived in the city about 5 o'clock without molestation.

Furst for President Judge.

HUNTINGDON, September 14.—The conference for the nomination of the Republican candidate for President Judge for the Forty ninth Judicial district, composed of the counties of Huntingdon and Centre, was in session Friday and yesterday. After taking four ballots at Tyrone, where the conference met, it adjourned to Altoona, where six ballots were taken, each resulting in three votes for K. L. Lovell of Huntingdon and three for A. O. Furst of Bellefonte. Yesterday the conference returned to Tyrone, the candidates by invitation being also there, and on the fourteenth ballot Furst was nominated.

Schurz in Wisconsin.

THE ELOQUENT GERMAN WARMLY WELCOMED EVERYWHERE.

CHICAGO, September 13.—Carl Schurz is being received with unexampled enthusiasm in Wisconsin. At La Crosse the meeting was a monster affair, and it is estimated that 10,000 people listened to Mr. Schurz's address. A report of it says: "His speech was received with great applause. In no recent Presidential canvass has such interest been taken, the Germans almost to a man flocking to Cleveland. There are also a great many Irish voters here, and nearly three-fourths of them are supporting the Democratic ticket. The population of northwestern Wisconsin is composed principally of Germans and Norwegians, and they are bolting the Republican candidates to a man. This has been wholly unlooked for by the Republicans, and unless something should turn the tide Wisconsin will give Cleveland 10,000 majority."

A REMARKABLE DEMONSTRATION.

Mr Schurz, in speaking about the matter, said that he was never accorded a more flattering reception in his life than during his present visit to Wisconsin. The demonstration in Milwaukee was one of the most remarkable known in the political history of the West. The meeting was held under the auspices of the English speaking independents of Milwaukee. The doors of the hall were thrown open at 7 o'clock, and in half an hour 3,000 people had crowded in and taken seats.

HIS CULTURED AUDIENCE.

The audience that listened to Mr. Schurz's address was made up of the representative English speaking people of Milwaukee. The Ladies Democratic club, 100 strong, occupied seats immediately in front of the speaker's platform. There were probably 500 600 Democrats in the audience. The rest were Independent Republicans—the very best members of the Republican party, who are just now strenuously opposing the election of Blaine.

A REPUBLICAN CONFESION.

A prominent Republican, speaking of the remarkable character of the demonstration, said: "The effect of Schurz's appearance here is really beyond computation. The rank and file of the Germans appear to have gone over entire into the arms of the Independent party. If that party had, as claimed, 2,500 members in this city last week it is a low estimate to fix its membership at 6,000. The instances of prominent German Republicans who were former supporters of Blaine, but have now come out for Cleveland, have become so numerous as to attract little attention. What was at first a wonder has become accepted as a matter of course. The conversion was fully as sudden as it was complete. Such a revolution was never before known in the State. Should the same effect follow Schurz's appearance in other parts of the State, it is admitted that the claim that Cleveland will carry the State is founded on facts."

Both Scarc and Impure.

MINERS AND THEIR FAMILIES DYING FROM LACK OF GOOD WATER.

ASHLAND, Pa., September 11.—Great alarm is felt throughout the coal regions owing to the scarcity of water. Whole towns are entirely without drinking water, and many of the collieries, unless the mine water is purified for the use in the boilers, will be forced into idleness. The little springs at Big Mine Run and the Dark Corner are completely dried up, and a terrible story of sickness and death caused by impure drinking water comes from these towns. At the Dark Corner the entire population depend on a single spring for their supply of drinking water. The spring yields about three gallons of bitter, brackish water an hour. Around this spring from 10 to 50 men and woman are gathered at day long, and at night the crowd is much larger.

The men would rather wait four hours than walk two miles to get a bucket of good pure water. There has been much actual suffering from want of water at Dark Corner as well as Big Mine Run. An unusually large number of deaths are being reported from the patches. At Big Mine Run the following deaths are reported in the past two weeks: Patrick Brennan lost two children, Michael Brennan one child, Patrick Carr one child, Thomas Carroll one child, Ned Finn one child, John Conroy one child. During the past month twelve additional deaths have been reported, making a total of nineteen deaths in one month in a small patch. There are now twelve children and four men lying seriously ill. Every other family in the place was affected. All the physicians unite in pronouncing the deaths the result of drinking impure water. In the Dark Corner five deaths have been reported and eight persons are lying ill.

Mad Waters' Work.

OVER A MILLION AND A HALF DOLLARS DAMAGE.

Eau Claire, Wis., September 11.—Both the Chippewa and Eau Claire rivers began falling at noon, after reaching the unprecedented height of twenty-six feet, three feet higher than the great flood of 1880. Every bridge on the Chippewa has gone out—five railroad bridges and five wagon bridges. In this city the loss of property is appalling. No satisfactory estimate can be made at this time. In and between Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire the loss will not fall short of $1,500,000, and many greatly exceed that sum. The Eau Claire Gas Company lose 350 tons of coal and all buildings, valued at $45,000. The business houses on all sides of the two rivers are submerged. Great apprehension is felt lest when the water recedes the foundations may be so much impaired as to crumble the walls. In this city over two hundred houses have been swept away. Only one life has been lost so far as heard from. While this dispatch is being written, three buildings on Bridge street, on the west side, have fallen.

HUNDREDS HOMELESS.

A later dispatch says: To-night relief committees have been organized and hundreds of people are being fed in the court house and gospel tent of the Y. M. C. A., while the most destitute are being taken care of at private houses. The east and west sides of the Chippewa, which divides the city, are entirely cut off from communication with each other, except by way of the Omaha Railway iron bridge, which admits the passage of foot passengers. It is situated so far up the river that a walk of four miles is necessary in reaching the business portion of the east side from the court house. Almost every family in this city loses something. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company's loss in the Chippewa Valley is not less than half a million dollars. The lumber companies all lose very heavily but the heaviest losses are suffered by poor people who have had their homes swept away. Only one life was lost in the flood here, a man named Eller was drowned while trying to rescue a sick wife.

EX-COLLECTOR SIMMONS of Boston, who went into the Democratic camp with Butler refuses to go out of it at Butler's dictation. He is well enough satisfied where he is. He says:

"I have followed Butler for many years with unvarying fidelity, because I believed in him: followed him into the Democratic party as a matter of conviction, because I believe that a change in the National Administration would be for the best interest of the country. I became a Democrat in good faith a year ago, and I am with the party in the contest."

THE white and black Republicans seem to be in a general row in the South. As in the North, the whites claim all the spoils, while their colored associates believe they are entitled to share the party plunder. On this they divide and are drawing the color line in the "grand old party" with unmistakable bitterness.
