The Strike Over.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Two hundred strikers, few of Pinkerton's detectives and few deputy sheriffs arrived at the Western avenue car barn at 5 o'clock this morning. Half an hour later 400 police were on the ground. They were detailed from five precincts, Captain Bargeld being in command. The cars will be run out on Van Buren Madison, Randolph and Lake streets. All of the streets named will be patrolled by police and every effort be made to keep the car tracks free of obstructions. The fire department has been notified to be in readiness in case of any disturbance, when a liberal supply of water will be showered upon any parties manifesting a disposition to break the peace.

At this hour, 11 a. m., cars are running on Lake and Randolph streets. Two trips down have been made on the latter and a second trip up is now being made. Everything was quiet on the second trip down. The cars were run a block and a half a way, and the police protection was diminished. Passengers crowded the cars and fares are being taken. The strikers congregated in groups of three and for along the road and looked threateningly at the conductors and drivers. People along the route stared at the cars as if they were a new invention, and in some cases, horses were scared at the approach of the vehicles. Trouble is still feared, and it is thought that as soon as a car is left unguarded by the police that the conductor and driver may be severely hurt.

Remarkable Story.

GALVESTON, July 5.—The News of San Antonio special says: This morning near Waldon fifteen miles west of here, an east-bound freight train was struck by a waterspout.

The engineer saw the waterspout approaching, bounding along like a rubber ball, tearing up trees and everything in its way. The engineer reversed his engine to avoid the spout, whose course was tortuous, with column inclined and a rotary motion.

Just before the waterspout reached the line of the road it changed its course, and bounded along parallel to the track with frightful velocity. When opposite the train the waterspout burst, deluging the engineer, fireman and brakeman, who abandoned the train and climbed some chapparel to escape a wave of water forty feet high and about one hundred feet wide.

The engine and fourteen cars were raised bodily and carried two hundred feet from the track, while the roadbed was completely obliterated. No one was hurt. The extent of the damage has not yet been ascertained. Through trains west of here on the Sunset Road have been abandoned. The road bed and a number of bridges have been washed away by recent rains.

KELLY seems to be a sort of diplomatic monstrosity, neither Italy or Austria will receive him as minister and his own country seems to be going back on him as his government refuses to recall him. Secretary Bayard should brush the dust from his official goggles or buy a long range field glass so that he can view his prospective appointees from a distance.

FOR SALE.—Two Broom Machines—cheap. Inquire of G. M. NOLL, Milesburg, Pa.

Poor Prospects.

PAOLI, Kas., July 5.—Another heavy rainstorm visited us last night, continuing all through the day. It seems general throughout Eastern Kansas and Western Missouri, and this is the sixth day of almost cold rains. The work of gathering the wheat crop is brought to a standstill. Wheat in stacks has been ruined, and estimates place the loss in Kansas alone at 1,000,000 bushels, besides the damage to the grain yet in the fields. Corn will probably sustain little injury, but is backward twenty days as compared with the latest season for twenty years. The State Board's last estimate of 10,000,000 bushels of wheat was based upon alleged improvement in Southeastern Kansas, which was expected to partially offset disasters in the great wheat belt of the centre. This estimate took no account of the week's storm and the immense damage to stacked wheat in the favorable localities.

The Afflicted General.

Mr. M. GREGG, July 6.—The day has been spent by General Grant in doors. At 2 o'clock Dr. Douglas stated that his patient had been quiet during the morning and afternoon, but had experienced a little more than usual pain. At 2:30 he was asleep in his room. About 5 o'clock the patient walked out upon the piazza and seated himself in his chair, almost at the moment that Dr. Douglas returned from Saratoga, whether he went at 2:45. Taking a seat beside his patient, Dr. Douglas casually inquired how matters had been progressing during his absence. Whereupon General Grant wrote: "About 3 o'clock pain left me entirely, so that it was enjoyment to be awake, and I went to sleep from mere absence of pain I woke up a short time before 4 o'clock, took food, washed out my mouth and then put in cocaine, which went to the right spot the first time, and I have since had no pain until a few minutes ago."

Hon. A. G. Curtin arrived home on Saturday, and his commanding presence is frequently visible on our streets.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Swavely and young son, spent Saturday and Sunday in Renovo, the former home of Mr. Swavely.

—Wilson, McFarlane & Co., call attention to the only reliable Ready Mixed Paint in the market. The Pioneer Prepared Paint is not only superior to any Ready Mixed Paint sold but rivals pure white lead in its smoothness in durability. This paint is guaranteed by the manufacturers not to crack or peel within three years. The guarantee is not only good for replacing the paint but it will be put on if it should crack or peel within the time specified. It will be to your interest to call and see Wilson, McFarlane & Co., before purchasing either white lead or any Ready Mixed Paint.

PAINTING BLACK EYES.

Interview with a Successful Bruise Disguiser—Treatment of the Patient's Face.

The leeching and painting of eyes, discolored through misfortunes which their victims call by various names, has become quite a profitable business, the headquarters of which is situated in the center of the district occupied by the bruising fraternity.

"You see I am pretty busy," said one of Philadelphia's most successful bruise disguisers to a reporter, as he ushered a very pretty young lady out of his office and resumed his seat, placed within easy reach of the implements of his profession.

"Here are my materials," he went on pointing to a collection of tubes containing variously colored paints, and taking up a bottle filled with healthy, slimy, squirming leeches. "You would be interested to see the patients that will call here to have their disfigured beauty made perfect again. There are all kinds, from the well dressed, daintily gloved lady, who for once, uses the street cars instead of her carriage, down to the ragged pot-boy at some concert den, who has been trying his powers as a bare-knuckle boxer."

"Do your visitors tell you how they receive their wounds?"

"O yes; though I never ask. They are generally eager to explain how stupidly they ran against a door left ajar in the dark. That is almost always the story told by the ladies, although some vary it by describing the fall down stairs, caused by a torn ruff in their dress. The other morning a young lady, evidently a bride, came here with a badly swollen and blackened eye. While I was leeching it she told me how she had struck her face against the corner of a dressing table in stooping to pick up her scissors, which she had dropped on the floor. I, as usual, offered my condolence, and as I was about to apply the paint to her eyelid the door was hastily opened and a gentleman appeared, with a face very much the worse for three long scratches on the left cheek. The lady looked up, started, clenched her small hands, grew white with anger, and perhaps there would have been more blood spilt had not the new arrival, evidently recognizing my visitor, beaten a hasty retreat. There was no more talk of dressing tables that day."

"Do you remedy bruised faces as well as blackened eyes?"

"Yes; no matter what the injury is, I can generally render it invisible through my skill with the paint-pot. I never ask for names, and if possible, avoid any conversation, because in some cases where people have been quarreling and afterward applied to the courts for a settlement of their difficulties, I am apt to be called in to testify as to their appearance when they called on me."

"How often do you have to treat your patients?"

"About every three days the paint becomes hardened and crusted and the finishing has to be removed and a fresh one applied. If the eye is swollen I leech it before painting, and I can, in almost every case, entirely conceal the bruise. The paint I carefully apply with my finger, rubbing it well in, and taking great care that the blending of the colors is exact."

A Dangerous Old Hat.

Dr. Roberts, the oil torpedo man, gives an odd description of the danger which may lie in an old hat. "Speaking of nitro-glycerine," said he, the oil torpedo man, to a group of legislators in Warren the other day, "and its explosive properties reminds me of one incident of a thousand that I could relate regarding it. At the factory where the oil-well torpedoes are made we strain the nitro-glycerine through the crown of a felt hat, and when the hat has served its purpose we destroy it. One day some of the workmen, instead of destroying the hat washed it thoroughly and treated it with alkalis in order to destroy the effect of the nitro-glycerine. Then they laid it up on a shelf and forgot about it."

"Some two years afterward one of the men ran across the hat, and his curiosity was excited as to whether it would explode if struck a hard blow. He placed it on one of the iron bars that run out from the tinners' bench in the factory and struck it while his companions looked on in wonderment. He struck it twice without any result, but the third time it exploded, blew the iron arm through a brick wall, knocked the man down and broke both of his arms, and wrecked the interior of the tinshop."

An Animal Apple-Gatherer.

Gathering fruit is a frequent practice of animals, and yet there is a stratagem attributed to that "walking bunch of tooth-picks" called the hedgehog which is curious enough to deserve special mention. It seems that fruit is frequently found in the hedgehog's sleeping apartments, and its presence there is explained in this remarkable way. It is known that hedgehogs often climb walls, and run off upon low boughs, and instead of scrambling down in the same manner they boldly make a leap from the top to the ground, sometimes ten or twelve feet. They coil into a ball in the air, strike upon their armor of spines, and bound away unharmed. In taking this jump they have been seen to strike upon fallen fruit which, thus impaled upon their spines, was carried away by them, and this has given rise to the opinion that in some such way they may have stored their winter homes.

A Genuine Bull.

A youngster picked up a piece of unsharpened lime on his way to a school the other day and put it in his pocket. During the session he anned a wet sponge into his pocket and steam began to pour forth. He didn't know just what to do, the whole school was in a roar of laughter, and the frightened teacher flew to his side, thinking that his clothing was on fire, and hastened to remove the combustibles from his pocket. In doing so her hand was severely burned. He took a lecture upon his stupidity from his teacher with an air of amiability which suggested that he was satisfied if she was.

Micro-Organisms of the Earth.

In a communication to The Academic des Sciences, M. Baccant states that the presence of micro-organisms in the earth is essential to the germination of seeds. His experiments were made with plants whose seed grow on the surface as well as those which develop in the ground. The agricultural importance of his researches lies in the fact that farmers who understand this principle will avoid the use of planted soils of any substance inimical to the lower forms of organic life.

Edison, the inventor, is in good health and hard at work. In his shop he wears a gown of bed-ticking reaching from collar to ankles and does not look picturesque.

THE MATTRESS TRADE.

Feather Beds—Valuable Hair Mattresses—Wool and Shavings—"Shoddy."

During the moving and house cleaning period the question of renovating and re-vamping mattresses and ticks is an interesting one to housewives, who too frequently discover that what was purchased a year ago as a valuable hair mattress is only a combination of wool and shavings. The feather bed is still to be found in stock, but the trade is confined entirely to the country. Except for pillows and bolsters, feathers are rarely called for in the city trade. The best bed offered is a forty-pound hair mattress. There are, however, two kinds of hair which are rarely worked up separately, because one is too expensive for the average purchaser, and the other has too little body.

The better hair is made of the tall and mane of the South American horses which are raised on the plains of the Orinoco and Rio de la Plata rivers. This long hair is cut twice a year and shipped in knots to hair dealers in Baltimore, New York and Philadelphia, where it is cleaned and curled by boiling. It is then run through a machine which picks out the hairs and weaves them into a rope an inch in diameter. These ropes are sent to the manufacturer, who has them twisted by children.

Black hair is the best filling for beds known. The white is made by bleaching black or sorrel hair, and while it is worth more per pound, is not as good as the black. The bleaching process being so severe as to rob the hair of its strength and elasticity. A genuine horse hair mattress costs between $20 and $40, according to the quality of the ticking used. Cheaper mattresses are made from the hair of cows and pigs. The hair is treated in the same manner, but makes a heavy bed and one less durable than curled hair. Such beds are used in hotels in rooms that are not much occupied. A better mattress, so far as health goes, is the husk mattress, with cotton on one side. The cotton top makes the mattress soft, but it is not reversible.

A great deal of cow's hair is used by people who want a bed that will last. The hair is obtained in Chicago in great quantities, and after being washed is sent to all parts of the country. A better mattress, so far as health goes, is the husk mattress, with cotton on one side. The cotton top makes the mattress soft, but it is not reversible.

To Physicians.

We do not find fault, reproach or condemn the practice of any regular physician—this is not our mission—but we do claim that if he were to add PERUNA to his prescriptions, as directed in our book on the "Ile of Life," (and furnished gratuitously by all druggists), he would cure all his patients.

Mr. Henry C. Reynolds, Ironton, Lawrence County, Ohio, writes: "My wife has been sorely distressed for many years. Her disease or diseases and the symptoms of them have been so varied that an attempt to describe them would be more than I feel able to undertake. I have paid over a thousand (1,000) dollars for doctors and medicines for her, without any satisfactory results. We read so much about your PERUNA that I was forced to try it. She has now taken five bottles; they have done her more good than all the doctors and medicine that she has ever made use of. PERUNA is certainly a God-send to humanity."

Mrs. O. L. Gregory, Las Vegas, San Miguel County, New Mexico, writes: "I think PERUNA and MANALIN saved my life."

Mrs. Cora Engel, First House on Lazelle street, near Rich, Columbus, Ohio, says: "It affords me much pleasure to state to you the benefit I have received from your PERUNA. I had been troubled with kidney complaint and dizziness in my head for eighteen years. I tried different kinds of patent medicines, and consulted a number of physicians, but received no benefit whatever. About three weeks ago I commenced taking PERUNA. I began to get better before I had taken half a bottle. The dizziness has disappeared, and the other ailment so much improved that I am positive, after I will have taken another bottle, I will be entirely well. I feel like a different person already. A number of my friends have used it, and they think it is a wonderful remedy. My husband says it is one of the best medicines for a cough that he ever took."

A. W. Blackburn, Wooster, O., writes: "Several weeks ago a man came to me, all broken down, terribly nervous, stomach without any power to digest food. Had tried four doctors; none did him any good. Asked me to do something for him. I recommended MANALIN. He told me to-day that he has been taking it regularly, and it is now almost well. Said he would sound the praises of MANALIN far and near."
