The Mexican Congress.

Mexico is nominally governed by a Congress, first call d September 14, 1813, which has probably seen as many vicissitudes as any assembly on earth has ever seen in the same time. It has been chased here and there, dissolved, expelled, recalled and remodeled, until it has finally settled down into an established institution. It now consists of a Senate of about sixty members, which meets in a room in the Nation al Palace, and a Chamber of Deputics of some two hundred and twenty members, which meets in the old Theatre of Iturbide, over half a mile older and inferior goods. Goods are from the National Palace. In appearance this could hardly be distinof our State Legislatures. Their con- 'will tell better than we can write it. versation in the lobbies and on the floor shows an extraordinary degree of culture and education and both bodies are the last to which one would look for subserviency to the Exceutive.

Theoretically this Congress is elected by the people. Practically it is elected by the President. A note to the officer in command of the military district or to the political chief, a civil officer whose actual powers are coextensive with the requirements of any emergency-recommending a certain peson as a suitable subject for a Congressman rarely fails. Should it fail the error is easily corrected in the canvass or still more easily in the final returns. In the federal district -the City of Mexico and its environs-the elective system is still more charmingly simple. Should there be two candidates, which is rarely the case, the defeated candidate is the last on earth to complain or contest the seat.

A Congress so elected can be nothing but a ratifying committee. Especially must it be so in a country

-We desire to call particular attention to the Boot & Shoe business conducted by A. C. Mingle. He is deter mined to enter the fall trade at the head of the list. During the summer he reduced his stock, so as to enable him to start with a good fresh stock for fall and winter, and how well he succeeded, we will let the public judge. Mr. Mingle has had a long experience in the business, and is intimately acquainted with many of the best manufacturers in the country thereby giving him an advantage in selecting the styles at manufacturers prices, which en ables him to sell goods as low as small dealers (who are seldom in the market,) must pay jobbers or middle men for cheaper this fall than they were ever mown to be in the history of the trade. Under such circumstances it is quite useless for a representative to be independent. The result would be the loss of a good position, with $250 a menth for doing next to nothing. And should he find himself, upon some pretext, banished to Yucatan, or languishing in prison, his nominal constituents are the last ones on earth to whom he can look for redress.

Butter Making. If milk is set at home for cream, the sooner it can be set after milking, and the higher the temperature the better, as cream rises best and almost wholly while the temperature is falling. 14. Never reduce the temperature below 40 deg., as a lower temperature has a tendency to chill the product and injure its keeping quality; and it also expands the water, rendering its relative density less, Coffees, instead of increasing it. To go 5 deg. below 40 deg. would have practically the same effect as raising the temperature 5 deg, and to that extent retard the rising of the cream. 12. Skim soon as the cream is all up,or so much milk. 13. Keep your cream, if not churned immediately, at a temperature of 64 deg., or below, but not below 40 deg. 14. Churn at such temperature between 55 deg. and 64 deg., as exeprience shows you is best. Conditions vary the temperature for churning. 15. Stop churning when the butter is in granules about the size of wheat kernels. 16. Draw off the buttermilk and wash in clear water until the water runs clear, before gathering the butter. 17.
