Funeral of General George B. McClellan

New York, November 2.—At 10 o'clock this morning the body of General George B. McClellan was removed from the house of W. C. Prime, on East Twenty-third street, to the Madison Square Presbyterian church, where the last funeral services were performed by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst. Although the morning broke dark and gloomy, with occasional bursts of rain, yet hundreds of people gathered early in the neighborhood of the church and Mr. Prime's house.

The pall-bearers, consisting of Generals W. S. Hancock, General Fitz John Porter, General W. B. Franklin, General J. E. Johnston, General Anson G. Cook, General Martin T. McMahon, General S. L. M. Barlow, Hon. W. C. Ketchy, Colonel Edard H. Wright, Thatcher W. Adams, William C. Prime, Hon. A. S. Hewitt, John T. Agnew and W. C. Alsop.

Behind the pall-bearers followed Mrs. McClellan, Miss Mary McClellan, Major McClellan, Captain Arthur McClellan.

The church was filled in every part and prominent men were seen everywhere. Among them were Governor Abbott, of New Jersey; ex-Governor Ludlow, of New Jersey; General Lloyd Aspinwall, General C. P. Stone, Whittell Reid, General Averill, Judge Shipman, Generals Sheller, Cockran, Slocum, Banks, Molineux, Carlton, Swayne, Graham and Wayne Wright.

George Washington post Grand Army of the Republic, of which deceased was a member, was also present. The church was without decoration or emblems of mourning save a few flowers at the altar. The services were of the simplest description, not occupying half an hour. "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "O, Mother Dear, Jerusalem!" two of the hymns which General McClellan best liked, were sung, after which prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Parkhurst and the Fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians was read by Rev. Dr. Whittaker.

As the funeral procession moved from the church to the depot it was received with marked courtesy by the people, who hurried along the sidewalk. Hats were lifted, and many a tear fell from the eyes of veterans who once served under the dead General. The simplicity of the procession was noticeable. Nothing about it gave any indication whatever of the dead hero. There were no soldiers in line, no bands of music, no draped colors. The funeral procession, so far as any outward display was concerned, might have been that of any well-to-do citizen.

TRENTON, N. J., November 2.—The train conveying the remains of General McClellan arrived in this city at 1:30 p. m. It was met by the mayor and members of common council. There were about fifty carriages in waiting. The casket was placed in the hearse by a committee of Bayard post No. 8. The procession then formed and moved through the principal streets to the cemetery in the lower part of the city. The city bells were tolled and a salvo of guns was fired at the state arsenal. The streets were lined with people and on many houses flags fluted at half mast. The casket was placed in a brick-lined and cemented grave and flowers were scattered about it in profusion. Several elaborate floral devices surrounded the tomb. The last rites were brief and solemn. Rev. W. B. Markland, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. John Hall, of Trenton, offered a prayer. There was a large concourse in the cemetery. A mass of people were several distinguished military men and civilians.

Ward Sentenced

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Ferdinand Ward was taken into court yesterday, and after the motion for a stay of proceedings in his case had been overruled, District Attorney Martin moved that sentence be passed by the court. Ward arose and stood in front of the bar by the side of his counsel. His face was pale, but firm. He did not flinch as Judge Barrett pronounced the sentence, but stood unmoved while the court poured up on his head the words of condemnation. The courtroom was hushed, and an almost impressive silence fell upon the several hundred men who watched the prisoner with feverish eagerness. The Judge said: "Ward, you have been convicted by an intelligent and conscientious jury of the crime of which you have been charged. You have certainly had a fair and impartial trial. The jurors were most carefully selected and came on the trial of your case with unprejudiced minds. The court guarded all your rights and privileges from infringement to the best of its ability. You were convicted because you had no defense. You offered no defense to the facts. It is only a matter for conjecture why so intelligent a jury should have taken so long a time to decide your case. If your case had been that of a person wholly unknown, the jury needed not to have left their seats; on the contrary, your case has had the benefit of a more than careful consideration. You have been most ably defended by your counsel, and an address as brilliant and scholarly as any ever heard in this court was made in your defense. You were not convicted on public clamor. The jury probably delayed in its judgment because they were afraid that in some way they might be accused of being influenced by popular clamor, which tended to make that conviction doubtful. I have nothing to say to you in the way of a homily, because I think it would be wholly useless. You have shown yourself to be wholly indifferent throughout this trial to the charges which have been brought against you. You seem to experience no remorse whatever over the ruin and sorrow which you have brought to hundreds of people in this country. You have done more to unsettle public confidence in moneyed institutions than any other man in this generation. And yet through this entire trial you have shown yourself to be wholly unrepentant for the sins you have committed. This being the fact, I must simply content myself with pronouncing the sentence of the court, which is that you shall be confined in the state prison at hard labor for the period of ten years."

Not a muscle of the prisoner's face changed while these scathing remarks were made. He bowed his head, but did not tremble or show any evidence of feeling. Ward was quickly surrounded by his friends. He put on his overcoat, took his Derby hat and left the court room accompanied by his keepers. Ward was then taken to Sing Sing prison on the 2:30 p. m. train from the Grand Central depot. He was accompanied by Sheriff Davidson and Warden Kiernan.

"An Imperative Necessity."

The following is from the report of the Philadelphia grand jury for October: "The large number of cases of wife beating and assaults on women brought before this grand jury, and the large number not reported, appear to render the revival of the whipping-post for this class of offenders an imperative necessity."

The increase in the number of cases of wife beating is attracting attention of grand juries in many sections of the country, and so marked was the increase of this species of crime that the legislature of Maryland recently passed a law punishing wife-beaters with the lash. The effect of the law has been wonderful in that state and the crime is now on the decrease.

The Pennsylvania legislature endorsed the crime, by refusing to pass a law on it. The plea of the opposition was that it was a return to the barbarism of the middle ages. Which is the relic of barbarism, the wife beater unpunished, or the whipping-post for his punishment? The recommendation of the Philadelphia grand jury should be pasted in the hats of our legislature solons.

The Genesta at Home.

HER CREW LOUD IN ITS PRAISES OVER AMERICAN HOSPITALITY.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. October 28.—The Genesta, which was defeated in the recent international yacht races for the American cup by the American yacht Puritan, arrived at this port at 9 o'clock this morning, having made the trip from New York in the exceedingly fast time of twenty days. As she sailed into the harbor she flew the three flags symbolical of her having won the three first prizes. Her appearance in the harbor was the signal for great enthusiasm. When she came to an anchor she was instantly surrounded by all manner of craft, including several yachts belonging to the Royal squadron. The men of war in the harbor saluted the victorious cutter, while the steamers tooted their steam whistles in honor of her return. Captain Carter and Captain Saunders, her navigator, and the crew were vociferously cheered.

It is learned that the Genesta's trip twenty days and ten hours, beats the record. The wind was mostly from north, northeast to west, with strong, heavy seas. The captain was compelled to heave to on two occasions, under stress of weather. The whole voyage was under reefed tryails. The only casualty was the loss of one of her jib and the big sail. The mate had his ankle broken by the tiller, but aside from this nothing happened of moment. The log shows that the best runs were made on the 12th, 13th, and 14th insts, when the cutter sailed 235 miles, 240 miles, and 200 miles respectively. The crew speak in the highest praise of their treatment and are enthusiastic in their utterances regarding the conduct of the Americans generally.

When in the Wrong Channel.

The bile wreaks grievous injury. Headaches, constipation, pain in the liver and stomach, jaundice, nausea, and a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will reform these evils and prevent further injury. It is a pleasant aperient, its action upon the bowels being unaccompanied by griping. The liver is both regulated and stimulated by it, and it is very impolite to disregard disorder of that organ, which through neglect may culminate in dangerous congestion and hepatic abscess. The Bitters should be resorted to at an early stage. Failure to do this renders a contest with the malady more protracted. Fever and ague, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, are remedied by this fine medicine and the increasing infirmities of age mitigated by it. It may be also used in convalescence with advantage, as it hastens the restoration to vigor.

A GUNNER'S GUIDE.—Appropos of the approach of the gunning season is the "Paradise for Gunners and Anglers," a neat little pamphlet issued by the Passenger Department of the Philadelphia

Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad Company, descriptive of the gunning and fishing resources of the Delaware and Maryland peninsulas. The book treats of the game and fish of this section, their haunts and habits, the localities they frequent, and gives extracts from the game laws of the region, and in fact all the information a sportsman could desire. It is embellished with engravings of game and fish, and contains an excellent map, showing the water-courses, roads, and railways of the section. It is a complete manual for the gunner or angler, who would find his sport in one of the best game-stocked portions of the Atlantic States. The book is distributed gratuitously, and may be procured by addressing James R. Wood, General Passenger Agent, Philadelphia Wilmington and Baltimore Railroad, Philadelphia, Pa.
