

The jail in Allentown is full of tramps awaiting their Christmas present at the next term of court.

Judge Williams, of Tioga county, has decided that "the throwing of dice, playing cards, dominoes, checkers or tossing pennies to determine who shall pay for the drinks, at the bar, is a violation of the law, and all saloon-keepers, who allow it will have their license revoked."—Clarion Democrat.

President Cleveland has substantially remembered the crew of the Lehigh Valley train at Wilkes Barre that carried him on his way to Buffalo to vote. He sent Mr. Matthews, who had charge of the car, $20; the conductor who had charge of the train from here to Buffalo $25; another conductor and the brakeman $10 each, and the engineer and fireman $5 each.

Al Richards had placed his foot upon a stick of timber, being chopped in two by Ed Miller at Thos. Richards shop last Friday when the axe glanced and striking Al's foot amputated the great toe. Although the affair was purely accidental it was not the less painful and will incapacitate Mr. Richards from work for several weeks to come.

The people of Saltsburg are worked up into a feverish state of excitement since the robbery of a jewelry establishment in that place. The death of the burglar, who was drowned in attempting to cross the river, and on whose person twelve watches were found, only adds to the excitement. All tramps are given notice to quit the place in so many hours, and if not will be dealt with according to law. Keep it up and drive out all suspicious characters. That is the only remedy.

A little six-year-old son of Thomas D. Evans on Wednesday last was amusing himself by coasting down the hill on the Loretto road, at the east end of town, where the race that runs the water into the woolen mill crosses the road. When he got close to the race he was unable to manage his sled, and it and the boy plunged into the race, breaking the ice, and giving the little fellow a complete ducking. He fortunately managed to get out without assistance, and, save the cold that he got, was unhurt.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is formulating a plan of life insurance for the benefit of its employes much similar to that now in existence on the Baltimore and Ohio. The plan will make provision for the care of the employes in sickness and an appropriation to their families after death. It will be optional with the present employes whether they join, but after it becomes operative all persons accepting service on any lines of the company must become members.

On Monday afternoon a tramp asked for something to eat at Mrs. Kearns' residence, on Third street. Mrs. K. left the tramp in one of the rooms while she went to another room for some food for him. Hanging in the room was a silver watch belonging to J. C. Powell, who boarded with Mrs. Kearns. Some time after the tramp departed the watch was missed, and it was no doubt appropriated by the turnpike sailor.

On last Tuesday as Limited Express east was passing Elizabeth Furnace it struck a man named George O'Brien and fractured his skull and otherwise badly used him up. He was picked up and taken to Tyrone and from there was sent back to Altoona and taken to the almshouse in the afternoon. He is only about 18 years of age. He and a companion were trying to get on an east-bound freight train at that point, but was struck by the passenger engine before he had succeeded in lifting himself up between the freight cars of which he had hold.

Juniata county is infested with thieves as the following from the Millintown Democrat and Register testifies: Last Thursday night the turkey thieves made a circuit through the township, starting in at Reuben Moist's and taking two gobblers from him, then up the road to Daniel Auker's and took all the turkeys Daniel had, next to Jonas Kauffman's. In their attempt after the turkeys, they woke up Jonas and he turned his bull dogs loose, and they frightened them away before they got any of his turkeys. They next visited Kurtz Kauffman's and relieved him of three turkeys.

Some scamp visited the yard of Eli Dunn, in Fermanagh township, one night last week, and eloped with a lot of underwear, which was left hanging on the clothes line.

Robert J. Phillips, who cut his wife's throat in Indianapolis, last June, has been on trial there for the crime for several days. Last night the jury returned a verdict of guilty, fixing the penalty at death. When he killed his wife he cut his own throat, but not fatally. He now breathes through a silver tube in his throat, and threatens to pull it out and end his life rather than be hanged.
