

A STORY OF HEROISM.

A few months ago all England rang with the story of a young physician who, to save the life of a child dying with diphtheria, applied his lips to an incision made in the throat to remove the putrid matter that was choking her.

It warms the blood to hear of a single act of such heroism, but the latest accounts from Spain tells us that a whole city has rivalled this hero in self devotion and courage.

The people of Saragossa were famous for their dauntless bravery in the Moorish and Peninsular wars. The old fire apparently still burns in their blood, but in saving life, not in destroying it.

When the cholera broke out in the city, the inhabitants with one mind set at work to remove every case of want to supply every household with plentiful and nourishing food, and to give to every case of the cholera the utmost skill and care.

Individual cases of heroic self sacrifice occurred every day. The mayor was foremost among the nurses of the victims of the epidemic; the forty firemen devoted themselves night and day to the work, without a thought of her own safety, only eager to save life.

A poor washerwoman bringing home clothes to a lady whom she found in a state of collapse, in which it was impossible to warm her, threw off her dress, jumped into bed, took the dying woman into her arms, and rubbed and chafed the clammy limbs until the circulation was restored.

When the disease had spent itself the Spanish government offered rewards to the principal officials, who promptly refused them. It then bestowed the Grand Cross of the Order of Beneficence on the entire city.

One cannot help wondering what example or teaching lifted these people to such lofty heights of heroism.—Youth's Companion.

TREED WHILE ASLEEP.

"Speaking of snow," said Dick Sellers to a Denver Col. reporter, "reminds me of a trip in May, 1880, when I and my friend, the 'doctor,' were going over Marshall Pass from South Arkansas to Gunnison City."

"Early one evening, after a long day's journey through the snow, we selected a place to pitch our tent among a lot of sage brush, as a convenience for fuel, not having seen any trees since we left the top of the range."

We tied the tent ropes securely to the brush, set up our sheet-iron stove in one corner and lay out our blankets in the other.

"During the day it had been unusually warm, and shortly after supper began raining, so that we retired early and were soon dreaming of the pies and cakes we had when boys far away back in Ohio."

"So assigned were we that we neither awoke until late next morning, when I became sensitive to a cramping sensation in my neck. On opening my eyes the tent seemed to be six or eight feet above me. My feet were propped up at an angle of about forty degrees, while my neck was lodged between the limbs of a huge tree. I extricated myself the best I could, and straddling a limb, fully realized for the first time just where I was."

straight down. Our stove sat smoking in the tent directly over us on the very top branches. Crawling out to the 'doctor' I awoke him, assisted him to a stouter limb, and taking a bird's eye view of the situation, began to draw conclusions as to the best way of getting our things down, fearing to go any higher up the tree. We finally slid down to the ground, where we fortunately found our axe, which had fallen through. With this we chopped down the tree, secured our things somewhat damaged by the fall, and continued our journey without encountering any more snow.

Neuralgia of the Face.

Capt. John Orr, Pearlington, Miss., has been a most intense sufferer from facial neuralgia for over twenty years. He has had seventeen operations performed on the nerves—that is, had them divided, cut off close to the bone from which they emerge. But this never did him any good; the least touch to any part of his face or nose would cause the most fearful pain, while now he can blow his nose and wipe his face without the least fear of pain. The captain is grateful beyond measure for this unexpected and unlooked-for result.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kenner, 8 Laurel street, New Orleans, has been one of the greatest sufferers from Neuralgia of the face during the past year that we have ever heard of. From morning to night, and from night to morning, there was one constant, racking, tearing, burning pain, extending clear around her head and deep down through every muscle, tooth and bone in her face. No rest and no sleep. All physicians failed to relieve her, as well as all remedies. She was constantly in the most agonizing despair. She called on Dr. Hartman, who said the cause was chronic catarrh. He prescribed PERUNA for her and now every pain has left her. She feels like another person and can eat heartily and sleep soundly.

Mrs. C. J. Miles, Gallipolis, O., writes: "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O. My affliction has been rheumatism, located in the right arm and shoulder, of more than two years' standing, and after trying a great many remedies without any relief, I commenced the use of PERUNA, which, after using three bottles, found a decided change for the better. I continued to use it and now feel entirely well."

Huldah Ward, Wellston, O., writes: "I have been afflicted for years with that dreaded disease, catarrh. I tried a great many different kinds of medicine, but to no effect. I commenced taking your PERUNA about nine months ago, have taken about ten bottles. It is doing me much good. By its continued use I hope to be entirely cured."

Dr. A. B. Lovejoy, Dadeville, Ala., writes: "I have a fine run on your PERUNA and MANALIN. Please send me a lot of books, 'The Pills of Life.' Price $1.00 per bottle, six bottles $5.00. If you cannot get it from your druggists, we will send it on receipt of regular price. We prefer you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it do not be persuaded to try something else, but order from us at once as directed. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, Ohio."
