A Queer Combination Broken Up in Westmoreland County.

GREENSBURG, February 28.—James Brown, colored, and John Henry, white were lodged in jail at this place last night charged with having committed innumerable depredations in the vicinity of Clover Hill, in the extreme northern end of Westmoreland county. During the past three months several men have been stopped, robbed and beaten in the wilds of Clover Hill. A number of the victims beside losing considerable money were dangerously hurt. J. A. Harrison, a deaf mute, who had been attacked, identified the prisoners as having assaulted, stabbed and robbed him. Brown has served a term in the Workhouse for assault. He deserted his wife two years ago and married a sister of Henry, his fellow prisoner. Henry then married Brown's deserted wife, and the happy combination has lived in the same house for over a year. They are both crude-looking specimens and much resemble the "missing link."

A Sensational Abduction Case.

CINCINNATI, February 28.—James H. Ried has lived unhappily with his wife in this city. About two months ago he disappeared under a financial cloud, going, it is said, to Minneapolis. Yesterday he visited the home of his father-in-law, Colonel Witherson, on Walnut Hills, where his wife and four-year-old daughter Hazel live. No one was at home but the child's grandmother, and Ried seizing his daughter, put her in a carriage that was waiting outside and was rapidly driven away. Mrs. Ried has commenced proceedings of habeas corpus to recover the child and will apply for a divorce.

General Hancock's Estate.

NEW YORK, February 28.—Letters of administration on the estate of General Winfield S. Hancock. At her request James H. Tobin, of the Surrogate's office, accompanied by General Martin T. McMahon, called upon her at Governor's Island in the afternoon and prepared the papers for her to sign. In them it is set forth that General Hancock did not leave a will, and that the value of his personal property is not more than $1,000; that she and Ada, Gwynn and Almira Hancock, the children of his son, the late Russell Hancock who lived at Clarkdale, Coahoma county, Miss., are the next of kin. She also signed a bond for $2,000 faithfully to perform the duties of administratrix. Letters will be granted as soon as two bondsmen, not yet named, qualify. The amount mentioned in the application in the value of household furniture in the General's home at Governor's Island. The only real property owned by him was a tract of land in Missouri of little value, in which Mrs Hancock has a right of dower, subject to which it will be inherited by the three grandchildren. General Hancock had a life insurance policy for $10,000, in which his widow is named as the beneficiary.

Murdered by Ruffians.

PLYMOUTH, February 28.—Wesley Randall, a wagon-maker by trade, who has had a shop opposite Gabriel's blacksmith shop at the lower end of town, was badly beaten by some one or many persons somewhere in the town on Thursday night. He was found wandering about the streets litterally covered with his own blood. He had laid out all night somewhere. His head was pounded to a jelly. On Friday afternoon he went to Spry's drug store, where his wounds were dressed. He was sent to his brother Frank's house, on Welsh hill, where he died on Sunday afternoon of his injuries. He had been on a spree for a few days but was a quiet, inoffensive man. The parties who did the deed will be ferreted out. This case should have a Coroner's inquest at once, and the villains hunted to justice. He was a member of the G. A. R.

Fire in a Church.

WILKESBARRE, Pa. February 28.—Father Comerford had just begun the celebration of High Mass at St. Mary's Church this morning when a family seated in a pew on the left aisle near the altar discovered smoke issuing from the cracks in the flooring. The congregation became alarmed and were about to make for the doors, when the priest from the altar commanded them to return to their seats. This had the desired effect and a panic was averted. A bucket brigade then went to work and extinguished the fire in a short time. It was caused by a defective flue. The timely discovery prevented a serious conflagration. Eighteen hundred people were in the church at the time. The building is one of the largest as well as one of the handsomest in the State.

President Cleveland sends to the Senate a message concerning the treatment of the Chinese, and asks the legislative consideration of a very grave question. A striking fact connected with the recent outrages on the Chinese in the west is that "they are traceable to the lawlessness of men not citizens of the United States, engaged in competition with Chinese laborers."

Just here is where the great bulk of our Chinese comes in, and the constant and persistent efforts unnaturalized foreigners whose tentacles are not whit better than the celestial to create disturbance is worthy of the consideration of publicists. The "life liberty and pursuit of happiness" guaranteed by our constitution to all who seek the protection of our flag, should extend to the Chinaman as well as to any other race.

Important Action of Knights of Labor.

HAZLETON, March 1.—The District Assembly of Knights of Labor here on Saturday endorsed the action of the joint convention of Knights of Labor and Miners and Laborers' Amalgamated Association on the eight hour system. It resolved that after May 1 the members of the District Assembly in the Lehigh region will labor only ten hours for a day's work. It is understood that this action is in accordance with an understanding with the other districts and that a similar demand will be made in the Schuylkill and Wyoming region. The result of this resolution, if carried into effect, will cause an entire suspension of mining and will doubtless be the beginning of the most bitter contest between capital and labor ever witnessed in this section.

But Four Survivors.

On the six national tickets nominated by the Democrats since the war eleven names appear; one name, that of Hendricks, being on two tickets.

Of these names seven have been erased from the roll by the hand of death, and four only are left.

In 1864 McClellan and Pendleton were on the ticket. McClellan is dead and Pendleton survives, being now Minister to Germany.

In 1868 Seymour and Blair were the nominees. Both are dead.

Of the ticket of 1872, Greeley and Brown, there is no survivor.

Tilden survives of the ticket of 1876, but his colleague on the ticket, Thomas A. Hendricks, has joined the great majority.

Hancock and English were the nominees in 1880. English still lives, but Hancock has just been consigned to a soldier's grave.

Grover Cleveland is the survivor of the ticket of 1884; his colleague, Mr. Hendricks, dying a few months ago.

Of the eleven, Tilden, Cleveland, Pendleton and English are the only survivors. Of the seven dead, five died since the election of Grover Cleveland to the Presidency.—Cleveland Plaindealer.

She Will Not Come Back Again.

CATAWAQUA, March 2.—Several months ago Sybilla Walbert, of Slatington, visited the home of Samuel Hess at Copley, three miles from here, and by her persuasive tongue and glittering promises of ease and plenty induced Mrs. Hess to desert her husband and family and take up her home with Herman Cape, a German peddler, employed by Osville Peters, of Slatington, as tinsmith. The tinsmith and his illegal mate were soon at loggerheads, and Mrs. Hess returned to Copley. Hess in the meanwhile had sold his furniture, quit housekeeping, and with his child entered a boarding house. Mutual friends effected a reconciliation. Furniture was purchased, and the couple again began housekeeping. Then they began to quarrel because Cape had been seen in the neighborhood many times and in Mrs. Hess's company. Cape was warned to stay away, and day after day Hess became more uneasy. During the latter's absence yesterday Mrs. Hess packed her clothes, left the house with her child, and was soon with her Lotherio on the way to Slatington. Hess is a man of good character, somewhat simple in his habits, but honest and faithful. He says "My Ann will never darken my doorway again."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 2.—Agents who have been thoroughly canvassing North and South Carolina for colored emigrants say that the colored exodus from the Southern States to the extreme West has only fairly begun. At least 3,000 are reported to be now making arrangements to leave during the present season, fully as many having already gone. They state that they are going because they are offered regular wages as farm hands, and are becoming impoverished in the South by high rents and small margins.

INTERESTING EXPERIENCES.—Hiram Cameron, Furniture Dealer of Columbus Ga., tells his experience, thus: "For three years I have tried every remedy on the market for Stomach and Kidney Disorders, but got no relief, until I used Electric Bitters. Took five bottles and am now cured, and think Electric Bitters the Best Blood Purifier in the world."—Major A. B. Reed, of West Liberty, Ky., used Electric Bitters for an old standing Kidney affection and says: "Nothing has ever done me so much good as Electric Bitters."—Sold at fifty cents a bottle by J. Zeller & Son.

—Every body is loud in praising the excellent qualities of the Apollo Range. It is the cheapest, costing less for repairs than any other; one man says it cost him but 75 cents in five years. Sold and guaranteed by J. Kyle McFarlan & Co. Persons who contemplate going to housekeeping should call on them for a culinary outfit.

Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C. March 1, 1886.—There are few persons who understand the general lack of consideration shown by the public for the physical welfare of President. Our democratic system of government tends to make the office an exceedingly trying one, in more senses than one. General Grant once said that nothing he had undergone as a soldier ever came so near killing him as the physical strain which came upon him at first as President, and that it was only by making arrangements to protect himself and secure some privacy and retirement that he survived it. At no time since he became President, until now, has Mr. Cleveland been inclined to admit that the claims upon his attention were impairing his health, or his energies. Now, however, he finds that the readiness he has evinced to meet all persons who chose to call upon him, and the patience he has maintained in listening, has been strained. Persons run to the President upon all occasions, and upon all manner of errands, and frequently upon business which could be better transacted at one of the Departments. During the forenoon each day the long row of chairs and sofas in the ante-room are occupied by persons, each awaiting an interview with the President. At twelve o'clock a crowd of hand-bakers await him in the east room, and he makes his escape, only to be pursued to his private office by importunate persons, who insist upon his granting them private interviews. This program has been carried out regularly each day, until the President finds that the physical strain imposed by the necessity of attending to the public business of his office during the small hours of the night is beginning to make itself felt upon his constitution. There will probably hereafter be fewer hours for visitors, and more time during the day devoted to public business at the White House.

During the past two or three months meetings of prominent citizens have been held from time to time to consider the advisability of a permanent American Exposition in this city, to be inaugurated as a World's Exposition in 1892, the 40th anniversary of the discovery of America. At a large and enthusiastic meeting held at Willard's Hotel, on Thursday evening last, resolutions were adopted directing the chairman to appoint a committee of twenty-one to formulate a plan in furtherance of the objects of the meeting. It is proposed to erect a grand American Museum, in the Smithsonian grounds, which be devoted to exhibits from the United States, Mexico, Chili, Peru, Brazil, and the other States of North, Central and South America. Among the other buildings proposed is one in which equal space will be allotted to each of the States to display their respective resources. An American art gallery has been suggested as the nucleus for rare works of art and paintings of historic value, which the various American governments would doubtless desire to contribute.

Senator Edmunds has introduced a bill which provides for the inspection of meats to be exported, and gives to the President authority to suspend importation from countries which unjustly discriminate against American product. Mr. Edmunds stated that some of our products have been unjustly discriminated against on the theory that they were supposed to be diseased, when it was obvious that the only desire was to exclude them.

On Friday evening last the President gave a reception in honor of the officers of the Army and Navy, to meet whom the Diplomatic Corps, members of Congress and the Judiciary were invited. The members of the Diplomatic Corps were invited by the Secretary of State, the Army and Navy by the Secretaries of War and Navy respectively, and the Judiciary at the hands of the Attorney General. No special invitations are extended to members of Congress, who are expected to consider the new general announcement of the reception as a general invitation.

The investigation, now in progress, to ascertain whether any person on the House rolls are holding places and receiving salaries without performing labor has resulted in the discovery that a number of newspaper correspondents are on the rolls as laborers, and have been receiving salaries ranging from $720 to $800 per year! The great objection to the acceptance of committee service by newspaper correspondents is that it tends to disarm them as critics, and that from the nature of their position they are in a manner bound to protect the interests of their patrons whenever occasion arises.
