

Disorderly Striking Lake Shore Switchmen.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 25.—At the foot of the street crossing of the Lake Shore Railroad this morning the police on duty numbered thirty, which included every available officer of the force in the town of Lake. About twenty-five switchmen reached Chicago at midnight from Toledo, and about 9 o'clock the imported men were taken out to Forty-third street in charge of Superintendent Amsden. Shortly before 10 o'clock the officials, with the assistance of the police succeeded in attaching an engine and a caboose to a waiting freight train. The latter consisted of ten cars destined for South Bend. The crowd grew in proportions and more threatening. The police and the railroad employes were cursed and threatened with violence. In the meantime the small force was divided between the train and in guarding the switches to prevent the latter being turned so as to make impossible the free movement of the train.

Finally, responding to the cries of several leaders, the crowd rushed for the police and turned the switches in spite of the latter. The police had their clubs drawn, and used them in a few instances, but the officers were either so thoroughly astonished or overawed by the crowd at the same moment surged toward the train, which had commenced to move out, but which, passing upon the open switches, was thrown from the track the engine and all the cars being derailed. To complete the wreck, the coupling pins were withdrawn and thrown away. During the melee the police made two arrests. One of the men arrested is a member of the Executive Committee of the Switchmen's Union.

A passenger train approached the scene soon after the attack on the freight train, and one of the rioters, picking up a coupling pin, flung it at a brakeman standing on a platform. It caused no damage, however. No other demonstration of any kind was made against the passenger train operatives or the passengers.

Later eight of the new switchmen were severely beaten and left work. At 2 p. m. the crowd at Forty-third street numbered about 2000.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon fifty of Pinkerton's police appeared at the Forty-third street yards of the Lake Shore Road, accompanied by thirty switchmen. Strikers still remained in the vicinity in force, and when an attempt was made to take an engine from the round house the crowd made an effort to run a box car on the track. The police charged them, however, knocking two men down with their clubs, and placing them under arrest. A third man was also arrested who was active in the efforts to cause a blockade. The crowd then retired a short distance, and the train, abandoned in the forenoon, was successfully made up under heavy guard and run north to Thirty-eighth street, where it passed upon the main track. Guarded by fully 100 police it again proceeded south and passed out of the city.

A Fatal Accident Near Oseola.

To our Tyrone correspondent we are indebted for the following: A poor German woman named Susan Meyer, while walking on the track about one mile this side of Oseola, in what is known as the slate cut, was struck and instantly killed by engine No. 27, which was going north, about noon on Saturday. There are two tracks at this point and the noise of a train coming south at the time prevented her from hearing the approach of the fatal instrument of death going the other way.

She was accompanied by her husband, a man much older than herself, she being about 34 and he about 60 years of age. They had but recently come into the region from New York and expected to meet friends there. When they got to their destination, they found that during the suspension of work in the mine a short time ago their friends had gone to Pittsburgh. They concluded to go there, too, and, being without funds, they started to walk and were on their way when the accident occurred. When struck, the woman was walking along with her head hanging down, evidently to prevent the rain falling at the time from driving into her face, and as there is a sharp curve at that point, it was impossible for the engineer to see her. The husband, it is said, was brushed against by the engine and knocked over the bank, but was not hurt.

A Family's Peril.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 28.—A fire broke out at 2 o'clock this morning in the basement of the bakery of Andrew McMaisters in the three-story brick building 461 Fifth avenue. It was caused by the boiling over of a kettle of fat which was used for the boiling of crullers. Mrs. Elizabeth Haws, a widow, and her family, consisting of two daughters and two sons, occupied the third floor. When the fireman reached the apartments they found the widow her two daughters and a little boy in an unconscious condition. The oldest son had made his escape and notified the fireman that the rest of the family were in the building. Physicians worked hard to resuscitate the unfortunate ones. Mrs. Haws Edith, the eldest daughter, and the youngest son were afterwards removed to the College hospital and they are still in a critical condition. Gertrude the daughter, is believed by the physicians to be in a hopeless condition.

The reported arrest of Miss Emma Lute, of Suquehanna township, Cambria county, on the charge of causing the death of her illegitimate child by starvation, and which first appeared in the Johnstown Tribune not many days ago, turns out after all to be a lie from the whole cloth, though the paper in question is not to be blamed as it had no means of investigating the story. It is true, that Miss Lute gave birth to a child, which lived only a few hours, but it is not true that the unfortunate mother was arrested for the crime of infanticide. After the story appeared in the paper however, Mr. Fred Bates, who is married to a sister of the falsely accused young woman, had the remains of the dead infant disinterred and an inquest held, the result of which was the complete vindication of the unfortunate young mother. The doctor and midwife who attended her in her accouchment both testified that the child was not fully matured at the time of its birth and that owing to a want of vitality it died a natural death after an existence of nine hours. This information we have from parties fully cognizant of the facts, and it can therefore be relied upon as strictly correct thus relieving Miss Lute of a very serious charge, for which there seems to have been no better foundation than idle rumor.—Tribune.

—The Altoona Times says Harry Murray, a resident of Brimton station, was run over near that place by the Greensburg Accommodation on Saturday, about midnight and instantly killed. He is thought to have laid down across the track while intoxicated. A young man, named Goshorn, saw his danger, and attempted to pull the man off the rails, but the train was upon him before he succeeded. He made a narrow escape of his own life. Murray's head, one arm, one leg and foot were cut off.

—The same paper has this account of an accident to an engineer. On Sunday morning as William Traub, engineer in the Company's machine shop at Johnstown, was wiping the engine his right hand became caught in the machinery and before it could be extricated was badly mutilated. His thumb was taken off at the hand, the index finger fractured and crushed, and his third finger mashed.

—John Meehan, of Oseola, Clearfield county, was in Pittsburgh Monday looking for his sister Annie Meehan. He fears she is the young girl who was killed at Twenty-eighth street on June 3. The name of that girl was given as Fannie Meehan, a domestic from the East End. She appeared to be about 20 years of age and his sister was 18. She was of a roving disposition, and left home to get work in Pittsburgh. He says her sister saw her on the 7th of this month. Fannie Meehan was killed on the 3d.

—FORTH OF JULY EXCURSIONS VIA PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.—In pursuance of its usual custom the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets between all principal stations on its own, operated, and leased lines, on July 24, 3d, 4th and 5th, good to return until 6th, at greatly reduced rates. By this arrangement the great national holiday may be spent in visiting friends or in making pleasant excursions to some of the many points of interest located on the company's lines. The intervention of Sunday gives an additional day to those whose time is occupied by business, and this with the liberal limit of the excursion tickets, affords opportunity for the enjoyment of a nice holiday trip.
