As to Extradition.

JUSTICE MILLER OF THE SUPREME COURT DELIVERS AN OPINION.

WASHINGTON, December, 9.- The following is an extract of the opinion delivered by Justice Miller in the United States supreme court on Monday last in the extradition case of the United States against William Rauscher. After a statement of the facts in the case and a citation of the questions certified by the courts below, them. Farmers say that the negroes Justice Miller reviews carefully the history of extradition proceedings in this and other countries, and discuss_ es the questions that have arisen in connection therewith. He then takes up the specific treaty which is to be construed in this case, namely the treaty of 1842 between the United States and Great Britain, and, speaking for the court says: The treaty 1842 being, therefore, the supreme law of the land, we proceed to inquire in the first place, into the true construction of that treaty.

We have already seen that according to the doctrine of publists and writers on international law, the country receiving the offender against the laws from another country under that law had no right to proceed against him for any other offence than that for which he had been delivered up. This is a principle which commends itself as a necessary adjunct to the discretionary exercise of the power of rendition because it can hardly be supposed that a government which was under no treaty, obligation nor any absolute obligation of public duty to seize a person who had found an asylum within its bosom and turn him over to another country for trial would be willing to do this unless a case was made of some specific offense of a character which justified the government in depriving the party of his asylum.

It is unreasonable that the country of the asylum should be expected to deliver up such person to be dealt with by the demanding government without any limitation implied or otherwise upon its prosecution of the party. In exercising its discretion it might be very willing to deliver up offenders against such laws as were essential to the protection of life, liberty and person, while it would not be willing to do this on account of minor misdemeanors, or of a certain class of political offenses in which the government of the asylum would have no interest or sympathy. Accordingly it has been the policy of all governments to grant an asylum to persons who have fled from their homes on account of political disturbances, and who might there be amenable to laws framed with regard to such subjects and to the personal allegiance of the party.

the early part of May, and in May twenty floods swept away what the hail left. Farmers lost all of their crops except what was planted on high lands . Their cotton crops will not amount to 40 per cent. of last year's crop which was a bad one. They have no seed to plant next season, and nothing to buy with. It will be a hand fight to keep life in the bodies this winter. The condition of the whites is bad enough, but that of the blacks is worse. They have nothing and the whites are unable to help will have to leave and seek employment elsewhere. This terrible state of affairs is only in one section of Newberry-that along the Peach river bottoms.

Is imparted to the kidneys and bladher by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is most useful in overcoming torpidity of these organs. Besides infusing more activity into them, this ex. cellent tonic endows them with additional vigor, and enables them the better to undergo the wear and tear of the discharging function imposed upon them by nature. Moreover, as they are the channel for the e-cape of certain impurities from the blood, increases their usefulness by strengthening and healthfully stimulating them. In certain morbid conditions of these important organs, they fall into a sluggish tate, which is the usual percursor of disease. What then can be the greater service than a medicine which impels SU ... them to greater activity when slothful? No maladies are more perilous than 81 those which affect the kidneys, and a medicine which averus the peril should be highly esteemed.

This Balsamthroat and innamed Lungs. This Baisam-ic Compound has been used in private practice over twenty years, gaining a high reputation for curing all Lung and Throat affections with those who have used it. It is a sad reality, yet true, that two-thirds of the deaths within our midst are caused from bad colds becoming deeply seated in the vital portions of the lung tissue through neglect and improper care or treatment. When health is destroyed all enjoyment of life is lost. Then, because of these treacherous colds, which suck the life-blood by degrees, and leave the poor emaciated sufferer with no chance for relief, the reliable way is to thoroughly eradicatethe destroyer from the system By Using

A Murderer Confesses.

SANDUSKY, O., December 9.- May Porter the young woman now in jail here charged with having murdered her child by throwing it in the bay, was seen by a reporter and asked to make a statement concerning the affair. She said that the father of her habe was an Orrville traveling man who had a wife and several chi.dren. In order to shield the author of her ruin she at first gave her name as Corroll, but she is now determined to expose him. She says that the traveling man sent her away from home, and while at Lakeside she fell in love with Jerry Fahey, who is now held as her accomplice in the crime. They lived together as man and wife until the child was born. She hated her off-pring and Fahey suggested they kill st. She refused to murder the child and asked Fahey to send it to a foundling asylum. They then came to Sandusky with the intention of placing the babe in infirmary, but Fahey, without her knowledge, threw it into the bay and told her he had taken it to the infirmary. Fahey confesses that he murdered the child as above indicated. The woman is 21 years old, handsome and intelligent.
