IS IT RIGHT.

BY JOHN W. KIRTON,

Is it right for men who profess and call themselves Christians to pray, "Lead us not into temptation," and then needlessly expose themselves to the influence of drinks which have tempted and ruined thousands?

Is it right for men to ask God to "Give us this day our daily bread," and then support a system that licenses men to destroy the good grain by converting it into body and soul destroying drink?

Is it right to build churches, chapels, and schools to help to save the people, and at the same time license men and women to open shops in which liquors are sold which will destroy the people?

Is it right to license a man to sell drink which will make people drunk, and then fine men and women for getting drunk?

Is it right to license men to make paupers and criminals, and then tax sober and virtuous people to pay rates to keep them?

Is it right to open a public-house and beer-shop to teach vice, and then compel rate-payers to pay for schools to be opened to teach virtue?

Is it right to derive a revenue out of a system which demoralizes and degrades the people?

Is it right to force a public-house or beer-shop upon a neighborhood when the people who live there are opposed to its being opened?

Is it right for people to wish the temperance cause success, and at the same time continue to drink and support the liquor traffic?

Is it right for any man or woman who wishes well to their country to stand aloof from the only certain cure for our national intemperance?

Is it right for a Sunday-school teacher to teach scholars to beware of dangers of the public-house, with breath smelling strong of the drink which comes from such places?

Is it right for a minister of religion to preach against drunkenness, while he continues to use the drink which alone produces it?

Is it right to admit into Christian churches, as members, liquor-sellers who, by their business, are constantly hindering the spread of the Gospel and leading professors of religion astray?

Is it right to expect God to help Christian efforts, when these efforts are tainted with the money which comes from the ruin of souls?

Is it right to do wrong and expect wrong to produce right?

Is it right to ask these questions, and, if so, what answer can each reader give to them?

GOD'S CURSE UPON IT.

All who sell liquors in the common way, to any who will buy, are poisoners in general. They murder his majesty's subjects by wholesale; neither drive their eyes pity or spare. They drive them to hell like sheep. And what is their gain? Is it not the blood of these men? Who, then, would envy their large estates and sumptuous palaces? God's curse is in the midst of them. The curse of God is in their gardens, their groves—a fire that burns to the nethermost hell. Blood! blood is there! The foundation, the floors, the walls, the roof are stained with blood.—John Wesley.
