MR. Randall is threatened with another attack of gout,

To Hon. Jne. A. Weodward, one of our representatives belongs great credit for his efforts in behalf of the State College appropriation. He has been an active and earnest friend of hat institution and has labored in sesson and out for its welfare. That institution will soon take the foremost position among colleges of its class in the United States as indeed it should. out-spoken in condemning the aggressions of capital and monopoly on his rights. To attempt to abridge its freedom, gu ranteed under the Constitution of the United States and of down a friend, always faithful and devoted to his best interests. The press of this country cannot be true to its great mission if it attempts to to endorse every action of organized or unorganized labor any more than it could be true to labor by taking sides with its enemies. If it fails to condemn the outrages and tyrangy of labor organizations its usefulness is at an end and it simply becomes a panderer to the lawless element of society. The Boycott is a weapon as danger ous to those who handle it as to those who are to be punished by it. And when used against a newspaper it is bound to fail. So-called labor leaders who live on the hard earnings of the men who toil daily to win their bread, are very sensitive to newspaper crit icism and their first resort is to Boycott the offensive paper. When labor organizations violate the rights of individuals or corporations, they should be condemned just as severely as corporotions or individuals who of their organized brothers. The man who toils in the mines, in the shops, or in the factories can lay no more claim to the honorable title of laborer than can the man who works in the store, on the farm, or in an office.

Labor is not confined to that of the hand. The reporter, the editor, the minister, the lawyer, the physician, and a hundred others are laborers, who toil night and day with hand and brain and whose claims to the name "laborer" cannot be disputed. The press speaks out fearlessly for the publish is an attack on the liberty of press. The Typographical Union of Savanaah boldly and emphatically asserts the right of the press to give "full expression of opinion upon all matters of daily concern" un an meled and suquestioned by any labor or organization. In the freedom of the press, of speech of schools and the right to worship God according to the dictates of ones conscience is so be found the secret of American liberty. any abridgement of these rights either by labor, capitol or legislative enactment is dangerous.

This has been the case on several routes in this section of the state and as the new men are all Democrats and the old men and instructors Republicans, it looks like a conspiracy to drive Democrats from the service. As Gov. Curtin is still potential with the administration he might call the attengood bounces in that direction might sons: remedy the evil. The objection of the house to the bill was that its school appropriation forced the six month's minimum term, and as the house had passed a bill looking to this result, which was defeated in the senate, it would not submit to the proposition as a rider to the appropriation bill. To get over this Mr. Cooper moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the six months bill was defeated, and it was passed, thus committing the house by its own vote to withdraw its objection to the appropriation bill.

The senatorial apportionment bill was defeated in the senate by a vote of 19 year to 11 pays. The conference committee upon the bill to build a new library and repair the capitol building reduced the appropriation from $600,-000, and it was passed finally.

Testimonial to Gladstone.

New York, May 22 -- The testimonial to Hop. W. Gladstone which his American admirers will present was shown yesterday for the first time at Tiffany's. It is a massive and solid square piece of sterling silver, three feet in height and twenty-two inches in width, surmounted by a bust of the great statesman. The appreciation of Americans of Gladstone's great work for Ireland is symbolized by a graceful female figure wearing a star spangled robe and having in the left hand an Irish harp, while the right is thrown around the base of the bust placing on it a mass of shamrock leaves. The centre of the heavy square pedestal on which the bust rests contains in black letters the words "Home Rule," with who are just going on a soute we say pension of the section referred to the Roman fasces and scales of Justice. keep your eyes open and if your would emasculate the law to such an Around this is a laurel wreath of victory sented by his American admirers."

On the back of the piece is the date of the presentation, 1887, below which s a border composed of alternate stars and shamrocks. The lower border of the front of the piece shows the lamp of earning and the word "Sapientia," and grouped with it is the Hawarden ax. Over the lamp is the coat of arms of Christ Church College, Oxford, with the "Double First" in the ornament, to commemorate the success of Gladstone in both classics and mathematics. The cost of the testimonial is $3,200, and it will be sent to England in two weeks

Two Reporters Killed.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.-T. Ray Shepherd, aged 26 years, a reporter of the Record, and Eleazer Isaacs aged 20 years, ofthe Press, were struck and killed by the Congressional Limited Express train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, which left New York at 3:15 yesterday afternoon, while they were attempting to reach the platform at the station at Germantown Junction. One of them stumbled and fell in trying to get off the track, and the other, who was just behind him, fell on top of the prostrate man, and then the train was upon them. Thomas B. Binn, a Times reporter, who had been with Shepherd and Isaacs, gained the platform in

The three reporters had been detailed to visit the State Fair Grounds to write up the picnic given to school children, by a Chestnut street clothing firm. The locality of the accident is a dangerous place, and the railroad company, for security, has fenced in the road for a long distance, and has a tunnel under its tracks for the use of passengers that they may avoid cossing the rails at grade.

WE are sorry for our Clinton county friends who have been put into an overwhelmingly Republican congressional district. Little Clinton deserved a better fate, but she can live on hope and the glory of the past.
