FASHION NOTES.

The fashion for partly-open bodices has created a demand for vests, tuckers, chemisettes, gimpes and old-fashioned stomachers of every sort.

or dots in silk embroidery matching one of the colors in the striped material. A number of these new patterns have the figures on a large scale, but they are not as generally popular as the smaller designs.

The new shepherdess parasols are made of white or cream-colored satin surah, figured with dainty Watteau patterns. These are lined with old rose pink, primrose, pale chartreuse green, or white silk.

A pretty dancing dress for a young lady is made of white China crape over a slip of white faille. The long draperies of the crape are arranged in diagonal folds across the entire front of the dress.

For elegant summer evening toilets are imported figured, striped and flower-brocaded crepe lisse tissues, and Venetian silk gauzes in pale delicate tints of lilac, ivory, chamôis, dove, gray, tea rose, maize, pale blue and olive.

Transparent Spanish grenadine so light as to show the shoulders and arms through its meshes is a beautiful fabric which is made into hot-weather gowns.

A remarkably pretty tea gown is made of cream-colored "sunshiny," with antique sleeves, shirred under-slip of pale golden-brown surah.

A novel material for tea gowns is a new make of Chinese washing silk, called "sunshiny," which, though thin almost to transparency, is very firm and durable.

Many of the new tailor-made summer silks are trimmed with row upon row of pin-wide velvet ribbons.

HOUSEHOLD.

Never have a sink under a window if you can avoid it.

Keep lemons in a jar of water, to be renewed every few days.

Moisture is the greatest enemy of the piano, and it cannot be too carefully guarded against.

Hard soap should be kept in a dry place several weeks before using. It will last much longer.

Never have dark furniture for the kitchen; it shows dust much more than light and requires double the care.

Do not use cracked dishes; they absorb oils or fats from different kinds of food which render them unwholesome.

Apple Fritters.—Pare and cut into slices four or five tart, mellow apples and soak in sweetened lemon juice.

How to Boil Fresh Fish.—Clean thoroughly, rub with pepper and salt and drop into boiling water, first pinning it in a towel.

ABOUT ORANGES.

"The orange is a very deceptive fruit," said a Fulton Market fruit dealer this morning. "In nine oranges out of ten the more beautiful their outside appearances the poorer will be the quality of the fruit within."

"We could not sell the Porto Rico variety of oranges were we to label them as such," said Mr. Hall the Fulton street expert.

"How many varieties of oranges come to New York?" asked the reporter.

"The list is a long one. It includes the Havana, the Jamaica, the Porto Rico, the Nasau, Abbecco, the Louisiana and the Florida varieties.
