

THINGS WELL TO KNOW AND DO.

Hot sunshine will remove scorch. The best liquid for cleaning brass is a solution of oxalic acid. Kerosene applied to unused stoves will keep them from rusting. A damp cloth dipped in common soda will brighten tinware easily. To clean knives: Cut a small potato, dip it into brickdust and rub them. Grease may be removed from silk by applying magnesia to the wrong side.

New iron should be heated at first, it will not be so likely to crack. Paint splashes may be removed from window panes by a very hot solution of soda, using a soft flannel. Mildewed linen may be restored by soaping the spots and while wet cover them with powdered chalk.

To extract paint from clothing: Saturate the spot with spirits of turpentine, let it remain several hours, then rub it and it will fall off. Javalla water is indispensable in laundry work: dip any stains in it for a moment, and then in boiling water and they will disappear. If any yellowness remains, bleach.

Boiling water made strong with ammonia and applied with a whisk-broom cleans willow chairs admirably. Soap should never be used, as it turns them yellow.

Ammonia greatly lessens the work of cleaning kitchen utensils and washing windows. Rubbing a Brussels carpet with strong ammonia water will brighten it and remove stains.

Lamp burners that have become dim and sticky can be renovated by boiling them in strong soda water, using a tin tomato can for this purpose; then scour the burners with soda and they will be as good as new.

Copperas dissolved in boiling water will instantly cleanse iron sinks and drains. A few drops of spirits of turpentine mixed with stove-blackening, lessens labor and adds polish. Kerosene in cooked starch (a teaspoonful to a quart), will prevent cloths from sticking to the irons, and gives a gloss; the scent all evaporates in the drying. (Powdered borax is good if one decidedly objects to the smell of kerosene.)

COMMON COWS AND THOROUGH-BREDS.

We believe that there is a possibility of improving our native stock of cows to a degree that will place them at the head of heavy milkers. We have known such cows that were very remarkable creamers. A. W. Williams, in an article in the New York Independent, on this subject, says:

The point to which I wish to call special attention is a series of experiments by some Onondago farmers with our native cows. Before the thoroughbreds had made any progress in that section a few men began to gather in some of the best milking cows they could find, and after testing them thoroughly, selected only the best from which to raise their future herd. As the young stock grew up everything was carefully weeded out that did not promise well. This system was practiced many years, of raising only from the best and keeping none but the choicest. In connection with this careful breeding was the most methodical feeding and good quarters for the animals, and everything done on system. The cows were milked at the same hour every day, one hand always milking the same cow, and a book was kept in which was recorded the date, the name of the cow, and the name of the milker; also the number of pounds of milk. Whenever a cow fell much below the standard it was known at once, and if the fault was the cow she left the dairy at once. The grain was all fed by one man and different cows received different quantities. How much grain to feed each cow required a nice calculation to determine. Neither size, age or the amount of milk she gave would throw any light on the subject. To a given cow a certain quantity gave the best product, more or less was a detriment. This quantity could only be determined by experiment. Thus by proper management was developed a herd of cattle much superior to the common run and quite a step toward equality with the imported stock. These cows were perfectly hardy and exactly suited to their surroundings. Certain tests made by these animals excited the wonder of the surrounding people. Thus it may be wherever people will use proper judgment in selecting and breeding, and after management dairies may be developed without great expense, and these will be free from many faults common to the thoroughbreds. I have seen excellent Jerseys; but I have seen at least one native as good as the best Jersey, which shows what is possible. We need more men now to improve our native stock, and less to ridicule them and extol the imported. I notice one great fault among milkmen. Many of them wish to buy large cows, not because they are more economical for milk, but because when done milking they bring more for beef. This is very short-sighted policy, as they cost at least as much more as they bring. The Holsteins are splendid cows, but that they will average first class for our dairies remains to be proved.

PARENTAL LOVE.

Home love is the best. The love that you were born to is the sweetest love on earth. You who are anxious to escape from the home nest, pause a moment and remember that this is so. It is right that the hour should come when you in your turn should become a wife and mother, give the best love to others, but this you will find true, that no one, not a lover, not even your husband will ever, be so tender and true, as your mother or your father.

Never again after strangers have broken the beautiful bond, will there be anything so sweet as the little circle of mother, father and children, where you are cherished, protected, praised and kept from harm. You may not know it now, but you will know some day. Whosoever you may marry true and good though he may be, he will after the love days are over, and the honeymoon has waned, give you only what you deserved of love and sympathy, and usually much less; never more.

You must watch and be weary, less you lose that love which came in through the eye, because the one who thus loved, thought you beautiful.

But those who bore you and loved you, when you were that wonderful little object, a small baby, thought you exquisitely beautiful and wonderfully brilliant, they did not care for faces that were fairer, and forms that were more graceful than yours. You were their own dear little one, petted and always regarded by them as better than you will ever be by any other one, however close may be the relation which hold you to him.—Mothers Magazine.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 18.—Near Owen township, Indiana, last Saturday, a large force had been employed on a fruit farm gathering peaches. The principal orchard is situated on a high bluff over the river and a heavy car was rigged upon an inclined plain to convey the fruit to a boat below. This car was heavily loaded, and four men took a seat on it to assist in unloading it at the bottom. The car started, and when about quarter of the way down the ropes, which held it back, broke. The car being freed dashed down the hill at a terrific speed and striking the "bumper" at the bottom was dashed to pieces. One of the men jumped off and broke his neck, dying almost instantly. The other three were frightfully crushed and two have since died, the other being in a dangerous condition.

A Gentle Stimulus

Is imparted to the kidneys and bladder by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is most useful in overcoming torpidity of these organs. Besides infusing more activity into them, this excellent tonic endows them with additional vigor, and enables them the better to undergo the wear and tear of the discharging function imposed upon them by nature. Moreover, as they are the channel for the escape of certain impurities from the blood, increases their usefulness by strengthening and healthfully stimulating them. In certain morbid conditions of these important organs, they fall into a sluggish state, which is the usual precursor of disease. What then can be the greater service than a medicine which impels them to greater activity when slothful? No maladies are more perilous than those which affect the kidneys, and a medicine which averts the peril should be highly esteemed.

WOMEN'S IRON BITTERS

THE BEST TONIC.

This medicine combines iron with pure vegetable tonic, and is invaluable for Diseases peculiar to Women, and all who lead sedentary lives. It Enriches and Purifies the Blood, Stimulates the Appetite, strengthens the Muscles and Nerves—in fact, thoroughly invigorates the system. It does not blacken the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other Iron medicines do.

Mrs. ELIZABETH BARRI, 74 Fawcett Ave., Milwaukee, Wis., says, under date of Dec. 26th, 1884: "I have used Brown's Iron Bitters, and it has done more for me than a doctor to me, having cured me of the weakness and Purifies the Blood, Stimulates the Appetite, strengthens the Muscles and Nerves—in fact, thoroughly invigorates the system. It does not blacken the teeth, cause headache, or produce constipation—all other Iron medicines do."

Mrs. LOUISA C. BRADDOCK, East Lockport, N. Y., says: "I have suffered untold misery from Female Complaint, and could obtain relief from nothing except Brown's Iron Bitters." Genitals has above Trade Mark and crossed red lines on wrapper. Take no other. Made only by DR. W. C. CHAMBERLAIN, BALTIMORE, MD.
