

No Yacht Race Yesterday.

New York, Sep. 29.—This is the day set for the second contest between the Thistle and Volunteer.

A worse day can hardly be imagined. The wind is light and every object is obscured in a heavy fog. A drizzling rain is falling, and everything is damp and dreary.

Most of the sailing yachts went down to the Hook last night and anchored inside the Horseshoe. At 10 o'clock a dispatch was received from Sandy Hook stating that the steam fog whistle on the Government pier was blowing at regular intervals, and that although the fog had lifted a little, it still hid objects over 500 yards away.

The Thistle remained in the Horseshoe all last night. The ballast, two tons of which was shifted to the run, was set her down by the stern a great deal. Mr. Bell is satisfied with the vessel's trim. To lighten the racer, her davits, six in number, were sent here at the railroad dock. At 9:45 the Thistle was passing by the point of Sandy Hook, going out to the starting line. She had her mainsail and fore-sail set. The jib was in stops, and she had not set her topsail.

The following dispatch was received from Highlands at 10:05 a. m.: The water still remains very thick. The fog is so dense that nothing can be seen beyond a few hundred feet. The wind is blowing from the north by north-east, and is getting thicker; half an hour later wind fell to four miles an hour, but fog was so dense that nothing could be seen beyond a few hundred feet.

At 12:34 the Electra signalled that race is off to-day, and all the excursion boats at once put about and headed for home.

Thistle Again Succumbs to the Volunteer.

New York, September 30.—Of all races for the America's cup none ever sailed before under conditions so prevalent as to day's race, and it was ever more fairly won than this which the Volunteer defeated the cutter Thistle, over an outside of forty miles. The only regret people have who saw the race is that the Thistle was a beaten boat by a fluke or a shift of wind should have from what promised to be an overwhelming defeat. In the twenty-third race to windward the centre type told so heavily against the Thistle that the cutter was beaten ten times and forty-nine seconds. The Volunteer redeemed herself a little before the wind by gaining minutes and twenty-six seconds on the Thistle.

Corrected time of the finish is: Thistle, 5:42:56; Volunteer, 5:54:45. The Thistle fourteen minutes and forty-nine and one fourth seconds. The Volunteer two minutes and one-half seconds. On the Royal Eagle flag ship Mohican, accompanied the racers, were club Caruthers, of the Kingston club; Sir Lionel West, British consul to the United States; Captain and Mrs. Bell, of the Thistle. The board admitted that the Thistle was fairly beaten.

Prohibition Defeated in Tennessee.

Knox, Tenn., September 29.—From all sections of the State it is indicated that the Prohibition amendment passed off quietly and that the vote never cast was polled. No figures can yet be given on the returns so far indicate that the amendment in the Thistle took active participation, and in all cities and towns at the polls with free lunch and personally solicited votes. At voting place there was a wish for banners, among them being "God, Home and Tennessee vote for Mother, Wife and they have no defence; save your women and children of the appearance to the manhood of the year, to-day," etc.

At Athens, where the vote was everywhere treated as a matter of course. During the morning meeting were held at the hotel and it was ascertained that of 120 was obtained for Prohibition and the ward workers bowed their heads and sang the doxology. The returns to the Times at 8 p. m. indicate that East Tennessee will give 20,000 majority for the amendment. This makes the result appear more doubtful.

The Fault Finders.

Almost every parish has its pious woodpeckers. To these creatures there is nothing in the Lord's of Cedar Lebanon worthy of "note or comment" except its possible spots of decay. No faith in the solid roots; no delight in the spreading branches; no comfort under the sheltering leaves; no sweet-meets, no satisfaction anywhere where there is not a dainty grub beneath. Over any such spot, however unnoticeable or unimportant, they will make more ado than all other fowls in the branches thereof. From all such "the Lord deliver us."—Chicago Living Church.

Still Further Amended.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 4.—The state revenue commission to-night further amended the revenue bill. The section taxing all corporations upon their gross receipts was restored as it had been in the original bill, except as it applied to railroad, canal, slackwater, and passenger railway companies, which will have to pay the three mill tax based upon the actual value of their bonds and stocks. Another amendment authorizes a tax upon the net earnings of corporations which have no capital stock. Several other changes of less importance were made. The report will be printed as amended and submitted to Governor Beaver within a few days.

If you have not paid your taxes do so at once.

The Byers murder trial was concluded in Indiana county at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon by acquitting Jacob Byers of the murder of his father. The jury went out at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, the sixth day of the trial. The defendant is a smooth-faced boy, and immediately left his home with his mother. The verdict gives general satisfaction.

—The great bargains ever offered in Bellefonte—at Corman's. The entire stock must be sold, and prices have been made very low.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

—Information is wanted of Samuel Dickinson, late a member of Company E, Fifty-third Pennsylvania Volunteers. Any one having knowledge of his whereabouts will confer a favor on a soldier's widow by addressing Mary Bingman, Glen Iron, Union county, Pa.

—The Lock Haven Express makes note of the fact that the train occupied by President Cleveland and party represents an outlay of $200,000 but its editor was not manly enough to state that Mr. Cleveland himself bears the entire expense of the trip. The Pennsylvania railroad company saw fit to furnish a handsome train; but not at the expense of the country, as that sheet would have its readers believe.

—In order to carry out more fully the intent of the proclamation of Arbor Day by His Excellency Governor Beaver by securing the united efforts of our schools—a very great proportion of which were not in session at the time of tree-planting in the spring—E. E. Higbee, Superintendent Public Instruction, appoints Friday, October 21, as Autumn School Arbor Day, and earnestly urges upon superintendents, teachers and school officers throughout the State, the propriety of using every effort to forward this important work, employing such means as their good judgment may direct. He further requests that they secure a full report of work done, in order that the record thereof may be preserved permanently among the school documents of the Commonwealth.

THE PRESIDENT'S TRIP.—President and Mrs. Cleveland departed from Washington for their western and southern trip on Friday morning. At Baltimore a large crowd gathered at the station to greet the distinguished party, and all along the route crowds of people had assembled and heartily cheered as the train sped by. At Harrisburg thousands of people gathered at the station, cannons were fired, flags waved, bands played, and a rousing reception was given. There was such a rush for the car that the train had to be started to keep off the crowd.

At Lewistown fully a thousand people greeted the presidential party as their train slowly passed the station. The president bowed from the platform of the rear car. The train passed through Huntingdon on schedule time, at 5:05 this afternoon. A thousand persons were gathered around the Union depot and flags were displayed on many buildings. The president stood on the rear platform, with uncovered head, and gracefully bowed to the throng. Mrs. Cleveland stood smiling under the door and waved her handkerchief to the school children and young ladies. Colonel Lamont also stood on the platform and recognized a few personal friends. At Millin and Mr. Union the inhabitants were out in force and waved and cheered the excursion a good speed. While passing one of the great wayside iron mills a platoon of grimy workmen rushed from their tasks and displayed their stalwart proportions stripped naked to the waist. The people of Tyrone gave a right royal welcome, nearly all ladies being in a considerable majority upon the crowded platform. Matrons held their crowing babies aloft, maidens shook their plumes and husbands, brothers and lovers split their throats with shouting. No feature of the entertaining panorama was lost or unenjoyed by the president and his wife, to every welcoming demonstration courteous acknowledgment being given.

At Altoona the first great ovation was given, when about eight thousand persons assembled at the depot to do honor to the Chief Magistrate. A platform had been erected in order that the President might meet the people but the jam was so great that it had to be abandoned, and he took the hand of many from the rear platform of the train. Mean while the bands played, men cheered, and ladies waved their handkerchiefs. Mrs. Cleveland also appeared on the platform, when a mighty cheer rent the air and the lady retired. After a delay of seven minutes the train proceeded on its way, the demonstration being repeated all along the route.
