

Hanged for two Dozen ears of Corn.

LExINGTON November 4.—Tuck Agee was hanged in the enclosure of the Lexington jail at 12 o'clock today. On September 22, 1886, Agee murdered his brother-in-law, James Faulker, during a quarrel about the ownership of two dozen roasting ears of corn...

Sullivan Must Face Kilrain.

NEW YORK Nov. 3.—The Clipper announces the receipt of $500 from Richard K. Fox, to back Kilrain, win or lose, in his fight with Jim Smith against John L. Sullivan for $5,000 to 10,000 a side, and says: "The challenge is regular in every respect, and whatever may be the feelings of Sullivan toward Kilrain he cannot afford, especially under existing circumstances, to make response thereto that will not be recognized as fair by the sporting public of Great Britain, upon whom he will have to rely for the success of his tour abroad."

Driven into Insanity.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 4.—Pretty Clara Louise Ende, aged 16 years is a raving maniac at the almshouse in this city, and the police are investigating an affair which threatens terrible revelations. The unfortunate girl belongs in Windsor, a few miles north of Hartford, and came to this city a week or ten days ago in search of employment. She made an engagement at an employment office to go to Bristol, Conn., and while in her new place she was drugged and outraged. The house is a notorious resort known as the Valley Hotel. It is on the lonely road between New Britain and Plainville.

The wretched girl, judging from her ravings, was subject to abuse for several days. At one time she exclaimed: "You have a mother sir, and before you commit this crime think of her. I beg of you sir; don't touch me, but let me go and I will bless you." Evidently she made so much trouble at the den that she was finally placed on the cars and sent to Hartford. She was found Sunday evening wandering on the street by a gentleman who had known her parents when they resided here, about a year ago. She was dazed and bewildered. By extended questioning, her story was partly obtained, and, as she appeared to be suffering, the gentleman secured a carriage to take her home. She grew worse rapidly and was brought to Hartford to day for safety. Her insanity is of a violent type and she has repeatedly torn her clothing into fragments. Her appeals to an imaginary assailant for mercy are heartrending. The authorities are marking a full investigation of the affair and arrests will follow. The proprietress of the place where the supposed outrage occurred claims that the girl voluntarily sought the place, knowing its character. This seems improbable in view of the fact that the girl had always borne an excellent character.

Smoked Around a Powder Keg.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., November 6.—A terrible explosion was reported yesterday from Bridgeport, near here. Five men, named respectively Henry Richter, Jacob Kessler, Julius Buchholz, and John Elkas, were temporarily occupying a frame building near their work. While sitting around after supper last evening smoking their pipes a keg of powder in the room exploded from a spark falling into it. The building was wrecked and the five men scattered everywhere. Two of them, Richter and Buchholz, were killed. The other three are terribly cut and bruised and may not recover. Nothing was left of the building except some fragments. The men all had large families.

Yankee Earnestness

The old-fashioned Yankees, when they became interested in any thing, took off their coats, put their shoulders to the wheel and pushed. General Leach, a large iron-founder of Easton, Mass., was one of this class. Becoming interested in a new religious society, which had separated itself from the old parish, he made it his business to see that on stormy Sundays the minister should have a congregation. He would harness his two horses to a large covered wagon, and himself drive it from house to house until it was filled with church-goers and then drive to the meeting-house. He did business in Boston, but the Thursday evening prayer-meeting always found him present though he had to drive out to Easton, and change horses on the way. The next morning he drove back to the city and resumed his work. One Sunday, the agent of the Peace Society preached, and on Monday began a collecting tour through the town. His first call was made on General Leach.

I was interested in your discourse, said the General; "how much do you think you ought to get in the this town?"

I hope I shall get at least fifty dollars, said the minister. Well, you ought to get that, answered the General. But as our people have been pretty well taxed lately, and as your time is valuable; I might as well hand you the fifty dollars and let you go back to Boston.

Again and again the General's minister would receive a call from him on business.

I have been prospered of late, he would say, and here is a little money for the poor and sick of the town, which I wish you to distribute for me according to your own judgement.

The "little money" would be a roll of bills amounting to one or two hundred dollars. The General was very fond of singing. He hired a Boston music teacher to drill the choir one evening a week, but he himself led them on Sundays, standing with his back to the congregation and marking the time with his hand. One Sunday while the choir was practicing during the intermission, one of the General's men came galloping up, his horse white with foam. "Dis-mounting, he rushed into the gallery, and told the General that the flume of the great pond had given away and the flood was sweeping away bridges and doing immense damage.

You can't stop it, can you? calmly replied the General. Why, no! Well then let it run; let us sing another tune.—Youth's Companion.

A Flood of Bogus Money.

READING, November 6.—At midnight last night detectives lodged in jail here William Fritz, Edward Youse and Adam Miller, three well-known police characters, charged with passing counterfeit money notes and coin. The officers have obtained a full confession, giving a description of the place where the counterfeit money was made, and implicating a dozen of persons. According to the confession, Eastern Pennsylvania has been flooded with the bogus money. Further arrests are expected to follow.

The Position Selected.

GETTYSBURG, Nov. 6.—A committee from the One Hundred and Nineteenth Pennsylvania regiment to-day located the position for its monument on New avenue east of Round Top. The memorial will be dedicated in June.
