

Art Education for Women.

"Since cultivation of art must be bred into people, and slowly assimilated by them," says Mary A. Livermore, "it is a matter of concentration that in so many American cities, a movement for industrial art education has been well begun. The woman who has a thorough art education can to-day easily find employment. The demand for art teachers is in excess of the supply. Eighteen young ladies who graduated from a school of design in one of our Eastern cities found immediate and lucrative employment. Occupation in the useful and ornamental arts will give to the rising ambition and talent of American girls a large and noble scope.

"There is an unworked mine of untold wealth among us, says Professor Walter Smith in the art education of women. We could utilize much human life, not now profitably occupied, by educating and employing women as teachers of art. There are also many branches of art workmanship, requiring delicate fingers and native readiness of taste, which could be better performed by women than men. There is, therefore, for young women obliged to think for self-support, a large and hopeful future. Industrial art furnishes them with a fitting for many kinds of employment, pleasant and profitable, labor well suited to their tastes, their strength, and capacity. They must be willing to elevate their standard of preparation; must be content to serve a long and sometimes laborious apprenticeship to their various professions.

"No investment of funds will yield so large an interest to an American city as the money given to found technical and industrial schools, where gifted and promising girls can be trained for such occupations at small expense to themselves. Their commercial value alone should give them practical importance in any community. And as an industrial art and fine art, have, in the main, the same elementary basis, whatever promotes the former must aid the latter directly or indirectly; and thus the public taste will be elevated, and the public judgment of art-matters educated.

"I have emphasized the need and value of art-education for women, because of the deficiency in this respect in our present school systems; and because it offers to the ambition of women an almost limitless help, not crowded with applicants, as is the profession of teaching.

"And when, in addition, a New England manufacturer makes the statement that the designs used in his factory cost forty thousand dollars yearly, every dollar of which goes to England, France, and Germany, and that the same designs might have been made within a mile of his mill for five thousand dollars, if an art-school had been maintained there for five years, we have a very strong reason for the conviction that the technical schools and schools of design, already doing such good work, will be increased and thoroughly efficient. When was an American accused of indifference to any question of money-saving or money-making? The difficulties in the way of art-education vanish daily. Its agencies and its area have doubled in the last six years, and are already providing employment for large numbers of women."

What Was the Holy Alliance?

The holy alliance was entered into in Paris, September, 1815, by the emperors of Russia and Austria and the king of Prussia. It was an attempt to announce a principle of government which it was expected would secure justice and prosperity and peace to Europe. It was considered that the French revolution and the supremacy of Napoleon I. was the work of men. The human laws by which the state was governed were to be purified and invigorated by a divine power.

Important New York Society Gossip.

Those who carry an empty tomato can about the streets of a big city gathering stale beer from the kegs standing on the sidewalks were said, once upon a time, to be "working the growler." But this phrase went out of general use some time ago in New York and "carrying the banner" was substituted for it. Now this phrase has been laid aside and it is "chasing the duck" that the experts in the slang now use.

Greatest Depth of the Ocean.

The greatest depth of the ocean ascertained by sounding is 5 1/2 miles (28,720 ft., or 4,620 fathoms), not quite equal to the height of the highest known mountain, Mount Everest, which measures 29,002 feet or 5 1/2 miles high. The average depth between 60 degrees north and 60 degrees south, is nearly 3 miles.

HASHED MUTTON.—Mince an onion and fry it in butter to a brown color, add a tablespoonful of flour, stir well, pour in enough stock or broth to make the sauce, with a dash of vinegar, pepper, salt and spices to taste. Let the whole get warm by a gentle simmering and keep it hot till wanted for table. Serve.

ENTREE FOR ROAST PORK.—Peel as many potatoes as will cover the bottom of a big pie dish. Sprinkle half a teaspoonful dried sage over them. Cut an onion in thin slices and spread them over this. Add salt and pepper and lumps of butter. Cover the bottom of the dish with water or milk, and bake it in a moderate oven.

QUICK PUDDING.—One quart of milk, two tablespoonfuls of Indian meal, one-half cup of molasses and salt. Let the milk come to the boiling point, beat the eggs, meal, molasses and salt together and stir in the boiling milk, then let it boil up once. This makes a good quick dessert.

CHILDIANS.—Rub with a mixture consisting of three parts of soap tincture to one of tincture of iodine, every part. Wear washed stockings. If this affords no relief, try a foot-bath, with a little mustard in the water, at bed-time.
