Colorado Justice.

Law is a boss invention for rascals of all grades. Give me a country where there is no law and I can take care of myself every time. Now, for instance, when I lived in Ohio I got a dose of law that I will never forget. I was in partnership with a man named Buttes and one morning we found our cashier missing with $3,000. He had dragged the safe and put out. Well, we started after him and caught him in Chicago, where he was splurging around on the money. I got him arrested and there was an examination. Well, all the facts were brought out, and the defense moved the case be dismissed, as the prosecution did not make out a case in the name of the firm, and that if there was a firm the copartnership had not been shown by any evidence before the court. To my astonishment the court said the plea was O. K., and dismissed the case. Before I could realize what was up the thief had walked off.

Well, I followed him to St. Louis, and there I tackled him again. I sent for my partner and we made a complete case, going for him in the name of the Commonwealth and Smith, Butler & Co. Well, the lawyer for the defense claimed that the money being taken from a private drawer in the safe was my money exclusively, and that my partner had nothing to do with it that the case should be prosecuted by me individually and not by the firm. The old bloke who sat on the bench wiped his spectacles, grunted around awhile and dismissed the case. Away goes the man again. Then I got another hitch and tried to convict him of theft, but the court held that he should be charged with embezzlement. Some years after I tackled him again, and they let him go. Statute of limitation, you see. Well, I concluded to give it up, and I did.

But about four years afterward I was down in Colorado, and a man pointed to another and said: That fellow has just made a hundred thousand in a mining swindle. I followed him and it was my old case. I followed him to the hotel and nailed him in his room with the money. Now, I said, Billy, do you recognize your old boss? and of course he did. Says I, Bill, I want that three thousand you stole from me with interest and all legal and traveling expenses. Ah, you do say he. Didn't the courts decide that—

Confound the courts, says I putting a six-footer a foot long under his nose. This the sort of legal document I'm travlin on now. This is the complaint, warrant, indictment, judge, jury, verdict and sentence all combined, and the firm of Colt & Co. are my attorneys in this case. When they speak they talk straight to the point of your mug, you bloody larceny thief. This jury of six of whom I am foreman, is liable to be discharged at any moment. No technicality or statute of limitation here, and a stay of proceedings won't last over four seconds. I want $10,000 to square my bill or I'll blow your brains out. Well he passed over the money right away, and said he hoped there'd be no hard feelings. Now, there's some Colorado law for you, and it's the kind for me. Eh, boys?—Salt Lake Tribune

No Time to Read.

We dislike very much to hear a laboring man say he doesn't have time to read, because nine times out of ten we know he utters a falsehood when he says it, and nine of the ten men who have no time to read spend their evenings loafing on the street or around the beer counter or the billiard table. The cases are very rare, indeed, where a man doesn't have time to read one or even three or four weekly papers each week if he wants to. It is because he has not interest enough in his own welfare to read and post himself on the events that are transpiring for or against him. He is content to let others do his reading and thinking for him. The class of men that claim they do not have time to read are the curse of the community in which they live. They have no minds of their own, and being as ignorant as a Hottentot they are used by the sharpers of their town and neighborhood to help them carry out schemes thwart the will of the educated and respected citizens. The man who doesn't have time to read is usually a loafer. The successful business man has plenty of time to read and post himself on matters pertaining to his business, and that is one reason why he is successful. The educated laboring man finds plenty of time to read, and without neglecting his work either. He is a man whom you will find at home evenings with the family. The nail-keg in the corner grocery is never kept warm by him while he listens or telling smutty stories to an ignorant crowd of gaping loafers. He who cannot find time to read never finds time to be a man, but always is the tool of some man who does read. When we hear a great live man say he doesn't have time to read one paper a week we always pity his wife and children to think they have such an indolent, ignorant do-little husband and father.

The Mormons Indignant.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 24.—Yesterday afternoon Marshal Dyer, the receiver of the Mormon church property, took possession of all the books and property in the office of the president of the Mormon church against the earnest protest of the Mormon attorney, who asserted that the action was unconstitutional, and the order of the court could not cover it, the property being owned by the president of the Mormon church and not liable to seizure. The receiver placed a bailiff in charge of the premises. The Mormon people view the action as arbitrary and unconstitutional.

SULLIVAN'S FISTS HAVE A SWEEP.

LONDON, November 28.—Sullivan, the American pugilist, boxed three rounds with Ashton before 5,000 persons in the Westminster Aquarium this evening. Sullivan was enthusiastically applauded and there were frequent cries of "Fight Smith." Sullivan says he will arrange articles to-morrow to fight Mitchell within five days after the final settlement. He says he will soon knock out Mitchell.

Air Break Tests.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Nearly 1,000 prominent railroad men gathered along the track on the Pennsylvania main line at Wynwood station yesterday afternoon, and witnessed a series of air break tests by the Westinghouse company. The appliance is the latest improvement in the triple valve, especially adapted to long freight trains. Fifty heavy freight cars were used. Going at 23 miles per hour, they were stopped in 14 1/2 seconds, running on 264 feet. At 30 miles per hour they were stopped in 19 1/2 seconds. It took five brakemen 75 seconds to stop it from a speed of 18 miles per hour.

DIDN'T STICK TO HIS LAST.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 27.—Henry Jones, a rich shoe manufacturer of this city, was waited on by Sheriff Merritt yesterday morning and served with an attachment for $30,000. The complainant is Miss Ella F. Twisden, of Swampscott, who sued him for a breach of promise. Miss Twisden is twenty-two years of age and said to be very attractive. The claim is that Mr. Jones proposed to the girl while she was employed by him at his manufactory in New Hampshire. The case for the plaintiff is said to be very strong, and interesting developments, are anticipated.

Court Proceedings.

The court opened at 10 o'clock on Monday morning with Judge First on the bench, while on his right was Judge Munson, and on his left Judge Roads. After the formal opening of court Judge First proceeded to deliver his instructions to the grand jury, in which he spoke of the excellent condition of the court house but called the attention of the jury to the out houses which were in bad repair, and should be examined, and the necessary repairs recommended. Miles Green was made foreman of the grand jury, and after being out only a short time returned to the court with several bills which the Judge announced were prepared in proper form.

District Attorney Meyer asked for a postponement of the case of the commonwealth against Elmer Poorman and Harvey Stratton, because of the weakness of Mr. Bryan, who was unable to appear. The request was granted.

The first case called was that of the commonwealth against John Beezer, for arson. The case was opened in a brilliant speech by District Attorney Meyer, after which the witness were called and examined the jury returned a verdict of not guilty with the county to pay cost. Judge Orvis and Clement Dale appeared as counsel for the defendant.

SECOND DAY OF COURT.
