THE WRECK AT MUD RUN.

Fifty-seven Dead Bodies Recovered From the D. R. R. ... WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 11.—The report sent out from here last night about the wreck at Mud Run on the Lehigh Valley Railroad was vague and indefinite but not exaggerated.

At 8:30 this evening the funeral train arrived in Wilkesbarre bearing 57 dead bodies. They had been partially prepared for burial and lay upon boards placed upon the backs of the seats in three passenger coaches. It was an awful sight, indeed, to look through the long coaches at the bodies, each covered with a white cloth, here the form of a boy of 12 years and beside it a stalwart man.

ARRIVAL OF THE FUNERAL TRAIN. As the train drew up to the depot it took a dozen policemen to keep back the frantic crowds of friends and relatives who had come from Scranton and Pleasant Valley to meet their dead. A special coach had been provided for these friends but they insisted on entering the cars containing the dead and were only stopped by force and the efforts of five priests who were on the train. One body was removed from the train at Wilkesbarre. The train then continued on its way up the Delaware and Hudson road to Miner's Mill and Scranton. The people on the special coach again began to clamor for permission to enter the funeral cars, but were again refused, it being alleged that no one had the keys.

BECOME FRANTIC IN THE SEARCH. Several who were in the search of missing friends became desperate and soon broke down the car doors and began a frantic search for their loved ones. The clothes were torn from the mangled and scalded bodies revealing the gay uniforms of the St. Aloysius men, cadets and other members of the societies. Those who knew their relatives were on board, also flocked to the cars and began rearranging the attire, or coverings of the corpses. Many were distorted and in horrible attitudes; and the friends endeavored to lessen their frightful appearance. At Miner's Mills the train stopped to leave the body of James Flynn. No lights could be obtained, and much of the work was done in partial darkness. It was as the train drew up at Pleasant Valley that the most HEARTRENDING SCENES WERE ENACTED. Ropes had been stretched about the depot and guards kept the immense throng back. The shrieks and screams of stricken friends were pitiful in the extreme. The first body carried out was that of Oscar Gibbons, 13 years old, borne in the arms of his stalwart brother. Then one after another forty-six white sheeted bodies were carried out and given into the charge of friends. The shrieks and cries of the women, and the hoarse shouts and imprecations of the men made a terrible scene. When all were removed the train again pulled out to bear the remaining dead to Scranton, Minooka and points beyond.

OFFICIAL LIST OF THE DEAD. The following is an official list of the dead who have been identified: From Pleasant Valley—Patrick Curran, aged 15; Michael Whalen, aged 12; William Hurley, aged 15; James Jackson, son of Frank Jacksyn, aged 15; James Jackson, son of Henry Jackson, aged 16; Barney Meighan, aged 18; Jno; M. There are ten bodies still unidentified. It is impossible to tell the number of wounded. Twenty-five were brought here to the hospital and a number of others who are slightly injured have gone to their homes or are being cared for elsewhere. Those seriously injured were brought here and their names were given in the afternoon dispatches. Joseph Pohl, aged 20, of White Haven, brakeman, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital at Bethlehem. He jumped before the crash came and sustained a compound fracture of the thigh. The St. Aloysius society of this city held a meeting here to night and over 500 persons were in attendance. A resolution was passed authorizing Father Crane, of Pleasant Valley, to draw upon them for $500 or $1,000, which was ready at his disposal in case of need for the Pleasant Valley sufferers.

—A thirteen-year old son of Jacob Gutelius, of Millinburg, one evening this week was flogged by his mother for some misdemeanor and sent to bed. Going up stairs he called back, "good-by mother, you won't whip me any more." Just then the sharp report of a pistol was heard and Mrs. Gutelius ran up stairs to find that her son had attempted suicide by shooting himself in the forehead with his father's revolver. The shot, however, was aimed too high and the ball only grazed his forehead and buried itself in the wall.
