West Virginia elects a Democratic governor.

THE INTELLIGENT COLORED VOTE.

The intelligent voters among the colthe tools of politions. Few of them to positions of honor. The Patriot says it is not to be doubted that the intelligent negroes supported the Democratic ticket at the late election. Indeed almos any negro journal supported the Republican ticket. But it seems that when the intelligence of the negro race is arrayed on the side of the Democracy, the own home to give to a friend, or even a The Women's National Industrial league ignorant men of that race go more solidly in the opposite direction. In fact the intelligent voters who break from political bondage in which the Republican party has held them are ostracised, boycotted and persecuted by the ignorant and servile creatures who delight to wear the Republican voke.

Reports come from the Virginias that negro Democrats have been ruined in business by the systematic boycott established by their race and were even subjected to whippings and threatened with death by their fellow blacks if they failed to vote the Republican ticket. A milder but nevertheless quiet and effectual boycott has been exercised in this state by Republican negroes against those of their race who declared their independence of the Republican ticket. It consists of "social" ostracism. These vengeful Republican negroes have delibcrats. Their boycott of Democratic negroes justifies a counter boycott from any day within the next two weeks," Democrats white and black. They have said be. The following letter appeared in the Philadelphia Times on last Saturday and might be of importance to some of our readers:

Facts are sometimes stranger than Fenstermacker, or as he was sometimes called John Findsermaker, enlisted in the regular army at Wilkesbarre, Pa. He was discharged from the army October, 1858. At the time of his enlistment he was a young man, probably not over 22 years of age. As his name indicates, he was of German nationality. He has recently died, leaving a fortune and without any known heirs.

At the time of his death he was about 54 or 55 years old; weight about 160; height about 5 feet 8 inches, and heavy built; rather dark completion; illiterate. "The old man"-for as such he was known-for many years prior to his death lived a very secluded, solitary life, and so died without telling any person per held a secret meeting in Chicago and who he really was or anything in regard | raised the price of paper from $30 to $35 a to his family history and without making any disposition of his large estate.

I am of the opinion he was born in Jefferson or Centre county, Pa. He was often heard to speak of "Easton on the Delaware." I am fully satisfied that his early life was spent in Eastern Pennsylvania and that in all probability he has relatives living there now. I am trying to find his heirs and if The Times will assist me by giving these statements general publicity I am inclined to think we may discover them.

HIBBARD AGAINST FRY.

Breach of Promise Suit for $100,000, Which Interests Pennsylvanians. BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 20.-The soit of Mrs.

Lydia A. Hibbard, a vivacious and mined widow of 45, against Heary C. Fry, Sr., of Rochester, Pa, to recover $100,000 for breach of promise of marriage, was called for trial here. Mr. Fry is largely interested in manufacturing enterprises in the Beaver valley, and is said to be worth $1,000,000. He is the father of five grown up children, while the plaintiff has two. Both families are prominent in the First Baptist church and in society. There are half a dozen lawyers in the case, and it is to be fought to a

Mrs. Hibbard told the story of her unfortunate love affair before a very large audience. She said Fry began paying attention to her two years ago at a picuic, when he sat on a log beside her. The first time he called, she said, he sat down close to her and gazed at her with "a very, very eager look." After discussing with her the general subject of marriage he told her she was the "loveliest mau" he ever saw.

"Part of the evening," Mrs. Hibbard said, "he had his hand on my knee, but not all the time." The second time he called she declared he addressed her as "my dear" and vowed he could not be happy without her. He complained of being lonely and wretched, and said though he loved his first wife he wanted Mrs. Hibbard, too. That evening he began to call her "Lydia" and consulted with her about the refurnishing of his house,

Mrs. Hibbard traced the courtship up to Nov. 2 last, when she and Mr. Fry took the train for Pittsburg to get married. They registered at the Hotel Anderson as man and wife, and the widow was shown to room 56. Mr. Fry went out to transact some busines and when he came back he had changed his mind about the marriage, and there was no ceremony. The plaintiff then related how she had endeavored to induce him to keep his promise, and concluded with a dramatic recital of her last conference with him, when he denounced her as a "liar" and an "adven-

ALL EXCOMMUNICANTS.

Dr. McGlynn's Followers Are Considered Outside the Church.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.-The action instituted by Philip McGuire, administrator of his father, John McGuire, against the trustees of St. Patrick's cathedral for an injunction to restrain the latter from interfering with the burial of the plaintiff's father in Calvary cemetery, and also to recover $1,000 damages, was brought to trial to-day in the supren court, before Judge Beach. Mr. McGuire Sr., was a great admirer of Dr. McGlynn, and while attending a meeting of the Anti-Poverty society on Feb. 17 last suddenly fell over and died. The trustees refused to allow his remains to be buried with those of his wife in Calvary cemetery, and they were buried in Greenwood cemetery, where they have since been waiting the result of this proding by his family. The plaintiff all that his father purchased the lot in Calvary cemetery in 1870, when his mother died, pay ing $10 for it, and that the old man, being a good Catholic for many years and a regular attendant of the church, was entitled to burial there.

The defense deciares that as Father Mo-Glynn was removed from his priestly office and was no longer connected with the church, all those who followed him and acquiesced in his anti-poverty doctrine, which is antago nistic to the teachings of the church, really became excommunicants and are so consid ered by the head of the church. This view of the matter Col. Bliss, counsel for the trustees, announced had been approved by the highest authority in the church at Rome, and hence the result in this case would not only effect the burial of Mr. McGuire, but also all others who sympathize with the expriest and believe in the doctrine now advocated by him. He asserted that any Catholie aiding or assisting Dr. McGlynn placed themselves in the same position that he was, according to the highest ecclesiastical au-

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.-Mrs. Patrick Ingles by, a widow 80 years old, was found dead in her bed at 5 o'clock this afternoon. Her hands were tied behind her back, and her feet bound together by stout strips of muslin, her head being forward on her breast. She was stiff and cold when discovered. The appearance of the bedclothes and of the dead woman's features indicated that she had been deliberately strangled. The motive appears to have been robbery, for the rooms were ransacked, trunks and bureau drawers thrown about, clothing pulled down, carpets pulled up, boxes broken, and every nook and corner apparently searched. Mrs. Inglesby is supposed to have had several hundred dollars in cash, which is gone, Yesterday a stranger of 50 or 60 years, a cabinet maker by trade, and fresh from the poorhouse, called to secure lodging, but has not been seen since. The church congress has no official status; binds no one, controls no one. The discussions are on subjects selected with great care and consideration, and the writers and speakers to whom they are assigned are also carefully chosen. In such a cultured body heated wrangles are almost unknown.

A number of important questions are com-ing up for discussion during this session. Three of them are especially interesting "The Question of Race in America;" Limits of Discussion in the Church," and 'What Principles Should Govern Church Extension in our Country in Fields Already Occupied by Others." On the question of race there will be those who will urge that on account of prejudice it is best that the colored people should organize churches by themselves. Among those who will speak on this subject is Rev. Dr. A. Crummel, of Washington, D. C., r negro graduate of one of the best universities, and a man of culture. The topic, "The Limits of Discussion in the Church," will be considered from two sides;

first, that the doors ought to be thrown wide span to all discussion, no matter how startling the doctrine proposed; second, that there are many in the churches not competent to judge of the merits of a tacory or doctrine, and by adopting a harmful belief they may be injured. It is expected that the congress will be about evenly divided on the question of ex tending the Episcopal church in fields al-leady occupied by other denominations. This subject, which will be considered on Friday afternoon, is expected to bring out more warm discussion than any of the county boller inspectors from various parts of the United States will meet in this city to morrow to form a national organization, which will emleaver to regulate the handling of steam boliers, so that there will not be a epetition of the loss of life and property which has appalled the people of this country in the past. An effort will be made to ar-range a uniform system for the inspection of boilers throughout the country, and also to prevent by law the sale of old and worthless boilors for steam making purposes. The asso-clation will endoavor to have laws passed in each state which will require every engineer, even if in charge of a threshing machine, to stand an examination and take out a license.

London, Nov. 19.—Mr. Hearry George, the famous advocate of file single tex on lead, and Mr. Wilsiam Saunders, the philanthropist and ex-commoner for Hull, were not as they landed at Southampton yesterday by a large and enthusiastic designation of Endicals. They were given a very cordial reception and processed to London, accompanied by a jumilant common.
