Get Good Places-Senators Said to Contemplate the Course of The Commercial-Gazette with Some Nervousness.

WASHINGTON, April 2 .- It is suspected here that Murat Halstead may be renominated for minister to Germany after the senate adjourns. This is supposed to have been the conclusion arrived at at the conference of Mr. Sherman, Mr. Blaine and the president yesterday. The ad-journment will probably take place today or to-morrow.

Murat Meditates Revenge.

WASHINGTON, April 2 .- Halstead's re-WASHINGTON, April 2.—Halstead's re-jection still remains the principal topic of conversation among the politicians. Some of the senators who voted against him are already beginning to squirm over rumors that are being circulated to the effect that certain unpleasant things in their second will be multiplead in the in their records will be published to the world from Ohio. The relations of Teller, Plumb, and Ingalls to the interior department, and the election of Ingalls and Evarts to the ascovered and foiled by a Texas de senate are said to be the themes upon which Mr. Halstead's paper will soon discourse at length.

The affair has undoubtedly created some feeling of hostility between the senate and the president. It has given a chance for some of the bottled indigna-tion over nominations to escape. The Illinois senators, for instance, are enjoy-ing the president's alleged discomfiture immensely.

Senator Quay's negative vote is taken the police of Newark are deluged as a warning to the president that sena-tors must be consulted in making appointments.

Mr. Teller for Open Sessions.

WASHINGTON, April 2 .- Mr. Teller offered the following resolution in the sen-

Resolved, That hereafter all executive nominations shall be considered in open session of the senate.

He said: "I do not intend to ask a consideration of this resolution at this time. I merely offer it that it may be referred to the committee on rules. At the next regular session of the senate-if I live to be present—I intend to press that resolu-tion in season and out of season. I have never believed that there was any reason why an executive nomination should be considered by the senate with closed doors. I am satisfied that the great majoints. I am satisfied that the great ma-jority of the people of the United States, irrespective of party, are of the same opinion. I am tired of giving my rea-sons to the senate with closed doors for the votes which I give, and of seeing in the newspapers the next day on the difference of the senate with the senate with the second seeing in the newspapers the next day of seeing in the newspapers the next day entirely different reasons ascribed to me, and not infrequently no reason at all. I have never expressed a sentiment nor given a vote in the senate with doors closed which I would not give in open senate. I do not believe that any considerable number of senators desire to shield themselves from public criticism or the public gaze in matters of this kind.

WASHINGTON, April 2 .- The president sent the following nominations to the senate:

James N. Huston, of Indiana, to be James O. Churchill, of Missouri, to be treasurer of the United States.

Pennsylvania's Ex-Governor Attacked in the Legislature.

THE INSURANCE BILL CONTROVERSY

The Bill Defeated Amid Much Excitement-Mr. Wherry Springs a Surprise on the Senate-A Busy Day at Harrisburg.

HARRISBURG, March 27,-Gen. Hartranft's boiler insurance bill, known as house bill No. 10, was disastrously beaten on final passage in the house, it receiving but 52 votes. The measure has excited more attention than probably any other bill before the legislature this session. A brisk discussion arose upon its merits, which became personal. Mr. Baker, of Delaware, made some serious charges against Gen. Hartranft, and alleged that as the president of the board of trustees of the Norristown asylum he had violated the law in that he had insured the boilers of that institution in a company and had received a commission of 20 per cent. for it.

Mr. Baker exhibited the check in pay-ment of this commission. He also as-serted that the officials of the Pennsylserted that the officials of the Pennsyl-vania Boiler Insurance company, the alleged beneficiary of the bill, had made oath before the Dauphin county court that it had 10 per cent. of its capital paid in when it had not. Mr. Patterson, of Philadelphia, defended Gen. Hartranft and the bill, and claimed that Baker, who expected to take Senator Cooper's seat when the latter became collector of Philadelphia, desired to break down Gen. Hartranft, who was a rival candidate for the collectorship. Gen. Hartranft was present when the

Gen. Hartranft was present when the vote was taken and was greatly disap-pointed at the result. He authorized Mr. Bean to deny the statements made by Mr. Baker, which he did in the dis-

The following house bills passed finally: Providing for the assessment and valuasion of real estate, personal and corporate property for taxation for county, township, borough and municipal pur-poses; authorizing the councils of in-corporated boroughs to require the grading, paving, curbing and macadamizing of streets or thoroughfares, or parts thereof and assess the cost of the same on the owners of property abutting thereon

The following appropriation bills were passed: For the Pennsylvania Industrial Home for Blind Women: for the Gettysburg Battlefield association for the purchase of land; Hahnemann Medical College hospital, Philadelphia.

The Republican senators were surprised by the reading of the resolution of Wherry, calling on the sinking fund commissioners for a statement giving the names of the banks in which the moneys of the sinking fund are deposited and the amount in each. Senator Cooper promptly moved the reference of the resolution to the finance committee, which was adopted against the protests of the Democrats, who desired to put the Republican senators on record. Soon after it was discovered that the resolution had been messagod by mistake and that the house had not passed it. Among the bills passed finally by the senate were the following: To permit the incorporation of savings banks and similar institutions to encourage the saving of money, without eapital stock; extend-ing the provisions of the non-residents' wards act so that it will apply to trustees making appropriations for the soldiers' orphans' schools was reported. A con-current resolution was agreed to for the appointment of a commission by the governor to revise and consolidate the road laws of the state.

HARD TIMES FOR MINERS.

Collieries Closing and a Season of Dire Distress Imminent.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 30.-This morning the Neilson shaft, operated by J. Langdon & Co., shut down for a period of six weeks, throwing idle nearly 700 men. A half dozen other collieries owned by the Reading company, and individual operators, are working quarter time. The Henry Clay, operated by the Reading, employing 1,600 hands will be shut down in the near future, if the coal trade remains in its present inactive state. Hard times in the coal region have set in with-out a doubt. Workmen from the Schuylkill and Lycoming districts are flooding this region in quest of work, while the miners in this section invade Schuykill and Luzerne counties for employment, with disheartening results. Thousands of idle men throng the streets daily hoping for the best. Large bodies of Hungarians and Italians are leaving the coal fields daily. The store keepers complain bitterly of the hard times.

Stanley is Well.

LONDON, April 2 .-- A letter from Henry M. Stanley, dated Smupusuri, Sept. 4, 13308. has reached a friend of the explorer in Edinburgh. In the letter Mr. Stanley says he is well and in good spirits. He met Emin Pasha on the shores of Albert Nyanza. They were together for twentysix days. When Stanley left Emin Pasha the latter was in good health. Sir Francis de Winton was interviewed reparding the letter from Stapley. Sir Finneis was greatly rejoiced over the ossients of the letter, which, he says, will occupy five newspaper columns. He says it will be published today. The preservation has no knowledge of the contents of the letter.
