Hung on by Her Toes.

READING, Pa., April 12.—Miss Lizzie Watt, daughter of Thomas Watt, No. 108 North Eighth street, had a narrow escape from instant death in Nolde & Co.'s stocking factory. While leaning out of a third-story window, looking at the clock in the steeple of St. Paul's Roman Catholic clarech, on North Ninth street, she suddinly jost her balance and fell out of the window. She was saved by a hair's brenath, her toes catching hold at the window ash and suspending her long enough to enable several of the other girls employed in the establishment to come to her assistance and drag her by her limbs. Afterwards she fainted and did not egain consciousness for quite a while. Miss Watt seems to be peculiarly fortimate, as she was formerly employed in the silk mill, and was one of those who left the mill about twenty minutes before it was destroyed by the cyclone of January 9.

ANXIETY FOR HER PASSENGERS.

gen for New York, with Fifty Cabin and $00 Steerage Parsonsson-The City of Chester Reports Passing Her Water Logged Hulk with No Signs of Life on

New York, April 13.-Dispatches from ship City of Chester arrived at Queenstown from this city and reported having passed the Danish steamer Danmark, abandoned, on April 8, in latitude 46 north, longitude 37 west.

The above announcement when cabled to this city created an intense excitement about shipping circles down town. The doubt as to the fate of the passengers and crew made the matter still worse.

The Danmark left Suinmunde on March 19, Copenhagen on the 20th and Christiansaud on the 26th. When she left the latter port she had 50 first class and 600 steerage passengers on board.

It being the first trip of the vessel under the Danish flag the company had advertised the trip in an exhaustive manner, and a fine collection of passengers who desired to come to this city to settle on farms in the west was secured.

Funeh, Edye & Co., of No. 27 South William street, are the New York agents for the Danmark.

Another special dispatch to the agents of the abandoned steamer states that when the City of Chester first sighted the derelict she was plunging and labor-ing heavily in the trough of the sea. She appeared to be partly filled with water, as her stern sunk almost to the water's surface, while her bow floated high. She was apparently sinking. Be-lieving that there was life aboard the City of Chester steamed around the derelict five or six times, blowing long blasts on her steam whistles at regular intervals. But there were no signs of life on board. The Chester remained in the vicinity for several hours, but saw no wreckage, and concluding that all hands had been saved she resumed her voyage.

NEW YORK, April 15 .- None of the vessels which arrived in port brought any news of the fate of the passengers of the abandoned steamer Danmark. New York, April 16.-Still there is no news of the missing passengers and crew of the wrecked steamship Danmark. The big question that now occupies the minds of marine men is, when will the National steamship Denmark arrive and will she bring news of the Danmark? The National steamship is now two days and several hours overdue. There is a possibility that the delay of the Denmark is due to her being in collision with the Danmark.

It would be a strange fate that should bring these two vessels together a thousand miles out on the wild ocean. There is no means of accounting for the way the Danmark lay in the sea when sighted by the City of Chester except by collision. Her stern was so deep in the water that the waves were constantly washing over the after deck, and her bow was so high that her keel could be Representative Dearden had intended to introduce a bill in the house appropriating enough money to pay the exbennes of the Pennsylvania national guard at the New York centennial, but a dispatch from Governor Beaver doubting the propriety of such a step prevented him from carrying out his purpose. The inspiration of the proposed bill was the kick raised in New York against the payment of the expenses of the Pennsylvania troops. Governor Beaver in his telegram to Dearden stated in effect that in paying the expenses of the national guard of this state New York would be doing what Pennsylvania has done for its troops.
